WEEKLY EDITORS RETURNING HOME

Were Tendered Official Farewell When Sailing From Glasgow.

DUE QUEBEC AUGUST 1

LONDON, Eng., July 28.—That the party of Canadian weekly newspaper editors who have just completed an extensive tour of the United Kingdom and Europe, had endeared themselves to all they met was demonstrated Friday when many distinguished men and women came to see them off as they sailed from Glasgow aboard the Canadian Pacific liner "Montlaurier." An official farewell was tendered them, the pipe band of the City Police playing Scottish airs while the ship moved away. The editors stated that their brief visit to Scotland was one of the most enjoyable episodes of a memorable trip, during which much good had been done in cementing the friendship existing between Canada and the Old Country, France and Belgium. Their reception at all points had been extremely cordial and much interest had been taken everywhere in their untiring expositions of the great possibilities Canada offers the settler, tourist and investor. It is felt that this missionary work is bound to bear good fruit in the future. The "Montlaurier" is due at Quebec August 1st.

STUDENTS STUNNED BY INCOME TAX

Foreiegn Students' Living Allowance Taxed in Germany.

BERLIN, July 10.—Several thousand foreign students in Germany, among them many Americans, were stunned recently when the government let it be known that students were not exempt from paying the ten per cent. income tax which is imposed upon Germans and foreigners alike. The students contend that it was always understood among them that as their incomes were derived from private sources, and not from any business carried on within Germany, the government had no intention of taxing them in any form whatsoever.

The question came to a head recently when an American, who had been studying in Dresden for two years, applied for a vise on his passport which would permit him to leave Germany. The vise was refused on the ground that the student could show no receipt indicating that he had paid a tax on the income derived from his folks at home. An appeal was made to the United States consular officials, but they were unable to aid him in his predicament.

Other Americans in Berlin, Heidelberg and other university towns, since have also taken the matter up with the United States consular officials, contending that as they were under the impression that they would not have to pay the income taxes here they had spent the money from home as fast as it came and as they have no reserve funds on hand to pay the German government the amounts they demand, they are at a loss now what step to take next. It is estimated that there are approximately 400 American students here who have been attending the various universities.

REGINA'S FIRST MAYOR IS DEAD

Chief Justice D. L. Scott, of Alberta, Held Office in 1883.

AT TRIAL OF RIEL.

EDMONTON, Alta., July 27. — Chief Justice D. L. Scott, of Alberta, died suddenly Saturday at his summer home at Cooking Lake.

Death was due to hemmorrhage, according to word received here.

David Lynch Scott was born in Brampton, Ont., August 21, 1845. He practiced law in Orangeville, Ont., of which town he was mayor, 1879 to 1880.

He moved to Regina in 1882 and was Regina's first mayor in 1883. While living there he organized a volunteer corps for home duty during the Indian and half-breed revolt. In 1885 he was one of the council for the Crown at the trial of Louis Riel. He was raised to the bench of the Northwest Territories, September 28, 1894 and afterwards transferred to Alberta on the formation of the province. Chief Justice Scott was long a member of the militia. He joined the 36th Regiment as a private in 1866, passing through all the intervening grades up to that of lieutenant-colonel, taking over command of the regiment in July, 1879.

RODE THE BUMPERS ALL OVER THE COUNTRY

Stowaway Caught When Boarding Ship For Return to England.

MONTREAL, July 28. — "How to live on nothing a year," would be an apt title for the story told to the Harbor police yesterday by 16 year old Arthur O. Sullivan, giving his address as 14 Salisbury Street, Liverpool, England, who is being held at the Canadian immigration office.

On his own admission, Arthur obtained free passage across the Atlantic on the S. S. Regina by mingling with the passengers in the third class sections by day and sleeping in the stokehole by night.

After arriving in Montreal he visited Toronto and some of the smaller cities in Ontario, and parts of the United States, travelling surreptiously on the freight cars and riding the bumpers.

He returned to Montreal and was attempting to get on board an ocean liner bound for England when his plans were interruted by the harbor police, who discovered him and took him into custody.

The harbor police concede that Arthur's story is picturesque. They believe that for a boy of his age in a strange country, the manner in which he travelled denotes ingenuity a bit out of the ordinary.

C.N.R. FLOATS LOAN.

Four and a Half Per Cent. Basis Obtains For First Time Since the War.

OTTAWA, July 28.— (Canadian Press).—For the first time since the war, it has been possible to place a considerable loan on the Canadian National Railway account on a four and a half per cent basis it was announced by Major Graham Bell, deputy minister of railways on his return from New York, on Saturday.

Two loans were effected, on a Canadian National equipment issue and the other short term loan, also for railway purposes, the two issues approximating- $30,000,000. The equipment trust issue consists of 9,3375,000 of four and half per cent 15 year equipment bonds. Heretofore, all such issues have been five per cent bonds. The present issue will be offered below 4.90 which will constitute the best rate secured for any equipment trust issue to date. In addition arrangements were made for the issue of twenty million four per cent three year gold bonds. These will go to the public at $4.40 which is also regarded as very satisfactory. Both issues are being under written by aa synicate headed by Dillon, Read and Co., and it is expected they will be placed on the New York market on Tuesday morning.

The two Canadian National Railway loans placed on the New York market this morning have met with remarkable success, it was announced early this afternoon by Dillon Reid and Company which is handling the new offerings. A $20,000,000 short term loan issued at four per cent. has been all sold, while $9,000,000 equipment issue was reported in such demand that representatives of the bond house declared the books would be closed on it before the finish of business this afternoon.

CONSERVE POWER BY NEW SYSTEMS

Recommendations Made By Power Committee Would Establish Steam Electric Plants.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(Canadian Press).—The establishment of large, centralized steam electric plant, located at strategic points, the development of large hydro electric projects and the extension of interconnection between different systems are advocated is a report made public yesterday by the engineering subcommittee of the Northeast Supre-Power Committee headed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover. The effect of these recommendations for the industrial development of the Northeast from Maine to West Virginia and Maryland, according to the committee, will be a saving of over 50,000,000 tons of coal annually, production of power at less cost, security in power supplies against interruption with losses through disturbed production and unemployment, larger reserves of power through which other industrial development need not lag awaiting power construction, electrification of transportation with an increase in its efficiency and the extension of power uses to farm and a saving of human effort.

THE BIG FIVE APPEAR HAPPY

Smiles of World's Diplomats at To-day's Conference Augurs Well For Peace of Nations.

AGREEMENT NEAR.

LONDON, July 28. — (United Press).—The "big five' 'adjourned their conference at 11 a.m, this morning, Kellogg leaving, first after which Herriot, De Stefani and Theunis appeared in the doorway and paused, chatting, on the doorstep. They were apparently well satisfied with what had happened, for Herriot, smiling broadly, shook hands with each of the others as they departed.

The conference outlook had brightened considerably over the week-end and indications of agreement on disputed points at this afteroon's session ran high the reason for the remarkable improvement in 'sentiment' was the decision reportedly reached after the week-end consultations by Premier Herriot to approve inviting the German delegation to London, with the prerogative of freely discussing the major issues, such as the economic evacuation of the Rhur as a means of restoring Germany's financial and economic structure. It was after talks with Hughes and secretary of the treasury Andrew Mellon, that Herriot agreed to this. The French Premier also agreed that the French and Belgian troops should evacuate the Rhur soon after the economic evacuation had been affected.

Praise Courage.

The Daily Telegraph praises Herriots courage for his reported change of front, which is equivalent to an open challenge to Poincare and his extreme nationalistic followers. Herriot's attitude, the Telegraph says, "will win him the whole hearted support not only of his own followers in France but of all Friends of European peace thorughout two hemispheres," owing to the magnitude of the questions now involved in the reparations conference, well gainst premature and excessive optimism and indicated that Poincare and his followers might yet organ-kand of opposition possibly forcing further delay. The British and Americans refuse to admit the possibility of ultimate failure and persistently reiterate that inauguration of the experts plan, although the most important foundation stones to European and world recovery, will be over-shadowed later by an immense flow of English and American private credits to Germany and also to France. For this reason, they say, the recovery of the world from the war is based upon these British and American financiers receiving definite assurance that no European nation especially, France, is embarking on any more adventures against Germany, like that of the Rhur.

New Proposals

New American proposals which both French and British hope will break the deadlock in the inter-Allied conference on the subject of security for the loan to Germany provided for in the Dawes' report, were made this morning during the meeting of experts of the conference.

Save Herriot.

In conference circles the belief is expressed that by this compromise bankers will be willing to withdraw their objections to guarantees for the German loan and at the same time France's theoretical right to separate action can be maintained in order to save Premier Herriot of France from political disaster. The experts will re-assemble this afternoon to consider the proposals which are intended to reconcile the British and United States bankers to the attitude of the conference delegates on defaults and sanctions under the Dawes plan.

OFFICIALS ARE AGREED.

Hughes Said To Have Intervened in Cause of Inter-Allied Peace.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, July 28.— Informal mediation by Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes is generally understood to have been the turning point in the Reparations Conference towards a spirit of renewed confidence, the Evening Standard said to-day.

Hughes left for Paris to-day, and bid farewell at the station by Ambassador Kellogg and the Allied officials, after which the "the Big Five" — Kellogg, MacDonald, Theunis, Herriot and De Stefani—went to No. 10 Downing Street, to discuss details of this afternoon's plenary session.

REBELS RETREATING.

Federal Troops Have Captured a Considerable Number of Prisoners.

RIO JANEIRO, July 28.—(Canadian Press).—Communique issued by the government to-day says, concerning the situation growing out of the revolt at Sao Paulo that legal troops continue dislodging rebels who are retreating all along the front. Federal troops have captured rifles, machine guns and munitions and considerable number of persons who all declare that discouragement prevails among the rebels who show exhaustion resulting from efforts during the last few days.

SEEK LOWER RATES.

VICTORIA, B.C., July 28.—(Canadian Press).—The Provincial Government will apply to the Railway Board immediately for a further reduction in export grain rates, a reduction in grain rates for domestic consumption, and for an order making the Crow's Nest rates applicable to eastward-bound as well as westward-bound grain.

Premier Oliver discussed the rates situation Saturday with D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the C.P.R. for western lines, yesterday.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

LADIES.

A smoking car for women is attached to one of the fast Chicago-St. Louis trains on the Illinois Central. It'll be there permanently. Traffic demanded it.

Times certainly are changing.

Maybe you'll live to see women smoking pipes on the street—some of them even chewing tobacco.

* * *

EGGS.

China exports 1000 million eggs a year, says a U.S. Government bulletin. This traffic goes on in famine years the same as when Chinese crops are sufficient. Americans and others ship relief food into China's ports as eggs and other foods move out to foreign markets.

However, we'd have the same situation in America if we had a famine—unless the government stopped exports of food by declaring an embargo. "Bolshevism!" would be the wail of many plutocrats.

* * *

SPORTS.

Old fogies, observing the tremendous crowds at baseball games, often comment that the country has gone crazy on sports.

The ancient Olympic games in Greece were held in a stadium that seated 40,000 spectators.

The Greeks, however, held their athletic meets only once every four years, in August. They wanted time to devote to improving their brains. Here we have baseball half the year and other sports the other half, with millions of people more interested in sports than anything else.

Americans do everything to excess.

SILK.

Yankee ingenuity improves everything it encounters. For thousands of years—ever since invented by the wife of a Chinese emperor—the oriental silkworm industry has continued almost unchanged. Americans are installing cold storage plants in China, where silkworm eggs will be kept at a scientific temperature and incubated at any season of the year desired.

That's improving on Nature, which philosophers say can't be done.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

SOME ODD TREES

"Down there is a mahogany forest," said Johnny.

"Mexico is different from any place we have ever been," said Johnny Jump Up to the Twins, as they flew along on Tommy Titmouse's back.

"Down there is a mahogany forest," said Johnny. "See how very large the trees are. Some are so big that twenty men holding hands can hardly reach around them.

"We don't have mahogany trees in America, do we?" asked Nick.

"No," said Johnny Jump Up, "at least not in that part of America that we live in."

"Mahogany wood is so fine," said the fairy, "that it is very expensive. It is used to make furniture, and only the finest furniture at that. If you have any tables or chairs in your house that are sort of a dark red color, no doubt it is mahogany."

Tommy Titmouse flew on with the three little adventurers.

"Look down there at those tall trees," said Johnny Jump Up suddenly. "Fly down a little closer, Tommy! Now, can you see?"

"That's the way bananas grow," said the fairy. "Only they aren't really upside down at all when you see them in the stores they are upside down—the bunches are."

"And now we are coming to another forest with still more queer trees," said Johnny Jump Up. "I wonder if you can guess their name? It is only the sap of the tree that is useful."

"Maple trees," shouted Nancy and Nick.

"No," said Johnny. "But they get the sap out of them exactly like they do out of maple trees to make maple syrup. No, these are rubber trees. They aren't made of rubber; goodness, no. But the sap that runs out soon turns hard, and that is rubber."

"What else is there in Mexico?" asked Nick.

"Come!" said Johnny Jump Up, "and I will show you." So Tommy Titmouse started off again.

"There are rice fields on that low place," said Johnny Jump Up. "Few people know that much rice is raised in Mexico, but quite a lot of it grows here."

"What kind of ice cream do you like best?" asked the fairyman next.

"Vanilla!" cried Nancy and Nick together.

"Well, those plants down there are the ones it is made out of. Vanilla, I mean. A bean grows on it and the vanilla flavoring is made out of that. Coffee grows in Mexico, too, and cotton and sugar, and most everything, I guess. Besides, its gold and silver mines are about the best in the world. And you'd be surprised at the lovely jewels found in the ground here. Opals, turquoises, emeralds, and everything."

"Mexico is a great country," said Nick.

"It is!" said Johnny. "Home, now, Tommy, if you please."

AUTO SENSE - - WHEN THE STARTER STALLS - - By Williamson

The victim in this week's strip may not have understood that a retarded spark causes the explosion to take place when the piston is further down in the cylinder on the power stroke than it would be when the explosion occurs with an advanced spark. If the spark is too far advanced the explosion may occur before the piston reaches the peak or highest point in the compression stroke. This would cause trouble.

Again, the trouble might be in the interrupter. There never was a distributor that looked exactly like the drawing in the strip, but it was made to illustrate the principle of the interrupter. Remove the distributor cap and you will be able to recognise the parts by the drawing. The cam in the centre is mounted on a half-speed shaft so that it will make a complete revolution to every two revolutions of the engine. There are as many points on the cam as there are cylinders in the engine. This gives two explosions to every revolution of the engine.

The breaker points, which send the current to the distributor, must be kept clean and properly adjusted. You were furnished with a wrench to fit them and a gauge to measure the opening. If you have lost it, get another one.

The interrupter and distributor, both of which are in the same housing, must operate with the utmost precision for every time the points open the distributor sends the spark over the proper wire to the proper plug at the proper time. If the breaken points are not properly adjusted you will have trouble. Two explosions for every revolution of the engine means, in a four-cylinder engine, for instance, that at an engine speed of 3,000 revolutions a minute, the breaker points and distributor would have to deliver 6,000 sparks, or one spark to every 1-100th of a second. You can see why the adjustment of the points is important.

MISSIONARY IN CHINA RETURNS TO PETERBORO'

Miss Lena Shearer Compelled to Give Up Her Work in Training Hospital.

WAS INSTRUCTOR.

Interesting Sidelights on the Chinese Girl Nurses and Patients.

Miss Lena Shearer, daughter of Mr. George Shearer, and sister of Mrs. E. W. Crawfodd, of 304 Maitland Avenue, has returned home for a permanent stay, after seven and one-half years' service in the foreign mission fields. She arrived in the city on Friday last.

Miss Shearer, who was sent to China by the Presbyterian Foreign Mission Board of Toronto, spent her time altogether at the Marion Bartley Training School for Nurses, situated at Kongmoon Port, on the delta of the Pearl and the West Rivers, about three miles from Kongmoon itself, a Southern China city of about one hundred thousand inhabitants, eighty miles from Canton. Spending the usual term of five and one-half years on her first trip to China, then on furlough home, Miss Shearer returned two years ago. Ill-health has forced her to give up her work, that of instructor to native girls acting as nurses in the hospital.

These girls, according to the small, dark-eyed lady who has spent some of the best years of her life among them, make excellent nurses when they become interested in the work, going about their duties with as much care and gentleness as their white-skinned sisters. The young native girls are taken in to the hospital to train, the work of Christianizi them going on as they pursue their studies. The majority of them come from distances away, and very few have the higher school training desired. They are supplied with uniforms during their course, and are paid nothing during probation. After that, for the first, second and third years, they get one dollar, two dollars and three dollars per month, equivalent to about fifty cents, seventy-five cents and one dollar of our money. The hospital at Kongmoon Port contains about sixty beds, a number of them contained in the "matshed," a sort of auxiliary building in use until better quarters can be erected, and wrought of bamboo posts, with roof and sides of huge leaves, joined together.

Native uses and prejudices complicate the lives of the nurses. Those of the Chinese patients who submit to operations go through with them in a manner similar to people of our own race, some taking the affair stoically, others protesting volubly, and the chloroform doesn't bother them overmuch. Again, a native patient will refuse to be operated on, and depart, content to bear the pain rather than submit to the ordeal. Native means to alleviate pains, such as an inflammation, include searing the flesh with a red-hot iron, to exercise the devil that causes the trouble inside, or pricking with red-hot needles. A favorite practice amongst the family visitors to hospital patients is that of rubbing the forehead or neck with a copper piece.

That the Christian Chinese have something of the same slant of mind as their lighter-skinned brethren may be gathered from their continual habit of saying "It is the Heavenly Father's will." It seems that they are very fond of attributing conditions which may be the result of their own foolishness to the will of the Almighty.

Miss Shearer, whose name in Chinese dialect is "Shi Lin Ching Kuneung," the last word meaning "Miss," the others being the Chinese adaptation of her Christian and surnames, spoke of the popularity of American-type athletics among the people, more especially of Southern China. The girls in the schools are going in for softball and volley ball games, but do not adopt the Western bloomer outfit. They cling to their conventional costume of trousers and short jacket for the games, which is probably just as appropriate.

The Chinese people do not like the restrictions placed on their emigration to this country by Canadian authorities. Anti-foreign feeling, according to Miss Shearer, appears to be increasing slightly among the people, due possibly to the influence of the virtual Governor of Southern China, Sun Yat Sen, "who is always stirring up trouble of some sort." Applicants for admission to the training school at Kongmoon have decreased in late years.

A MODERN MAGICIAN AMONG OLD SPIRITS

Spiritualistic Mediums Revealed by Book of Houdni, Magician Extraordinary.

By ALICE ROHE.

(Written for United Press.)

Houdini, magician extraordinary, mystifier de luxe, is appearing in a new role —that of author. And what makes this appearance of more than passing importance is that he has entered the field of literature as the excoriator of spiritualistic mediums. Instead of exercising spirits he is chasing them away from here. In other words, Houdini, who has for years enthralled the public by his mystifying performances, whose feats have themselves often baffled through their uncanny and supernatural suggestions—is without peer in explaining the "tricks" of spiritualistic mediums. He says in his book, "A Magician Among the Spirits", published by Harper & Brother, that he has never seen or heard of any feat performed by mediums or spirits which could not be duplicated by any competent professional magician who was given the same conditions under which to work.

The book of 280 pages is filled with the most thrilling exposures of famous spiritualistic mediums. Photographs and pictures add interest to the spirited (literally and figuratively speaking) account. The volume holds you from the first page to the last, not merely because of a technical explanation on the spiritual plane of these supernatural phenomena—but because of the valuable history of modern spiritualism.

Few people of today could have given to a book of this character so much authentic interest. For even in the instances of mediums he did not know personally, Houdini has had recourse to documents and to statements of contemporaries. For over 30 years he has been a student of psychic phenomena and, as he says, he, like everyone who has lost some beloved relative or friend, would give all he possessed for one assured word from the other side. But in all his extensive reading and study as well as in his personal investigations, his association with mediums, has he ever, he says, found one spiritualistic phenomenon that impressed him as genuine.

His book is of especial moment in these days of readjustment to the losses caused by the war, and Houdini explains the beliefs of Sir Oliver Lodge or Sir Conan Doyle as based upon that psychological fact—the will to believe—the longing for lost sons.

The revelations in this book, aside from the fascinating explanations of the methods of various successful mediums is more or less of a human document. It throws its specialized incidents against that great background of human credulity, which seems to have no race or class distinction.

The individual stories of the mediums beginning with the "mischievous" Fox sisters, the Davenport brothers, Daniel Louglas Home, Ann O'Delia Diss de Bar, Eusapia Pallidino, Henry Slade involve colorful events and character revelations that offer all the elements of real drama.

What makes the "handcuff king's" volume of genuine importance is that his investigations are not actuated by a desire to discredit psychic phenomenon. He merely wants to explain, to tell the truth, to tear down these mystifying veils which—as many of his accounts prove—lead to pitiable human bewilderment and tragedy. It is a book of authority written in an entertaining style about a subject which stimulates the interest as well as the curiosity.

BARN AND CROP OF HAY BURNED

LOSS ABOUT $4,000

WARKWORTH, July 28.—An electric storm visited the vicinity Saturday afternoon destroying the barn and adjoining buildings of Mr. Jesse Young, about one and one-half miles north of the village. Inasmuch as the buildings had recently been put in a good state of repairs the loss will be heavy, amounting to about $4,000.

The neighbors succeeded in getting the horses and poultry out of the burning building as well as part of the machinery ,a few pigs being the only casualties, the barn contained the season's hay crop already harvested. The loss was practically covered by insurance.

Games and music were enjoyed by all, after which Misses Fleeta Zuefelt, Orpha Sloggett and Blanche Baker served a dainty lunch. TRAGEDY

A cell door creaks open in the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, N.Y. An old man 72, slowly and hesitantly walks out—into the open arms of his mother, 94. She had not heard from him for 22 years. But when she did hear, she came. Age mattered not. It was just mother and son. To a mother, the child never grows up.

A mighty force, mother love. The finest thing in life. At the end of the long, long trail, there are few things else that matter. That's why no life is ever futile.

PAPYRUS WAS EASY FOR AMERICA'S BEST—WILL EPINARD' GREAT FRENCH HORSE, FALL DOWN, TOO?

Last year the widely heralded international race between Papyrus, champion horse of England, and Zev, best of the American three-year-olds, developed into a farce, with the Sinclair entry winning by four easy lengths. American turf fans are wondering what kind of race Epinard, the visiting French champion, will put up against the home stars in the coming international events.

NEW YORK, What will be Epinard's fate in the international horse duels this season?

The great French horse is now in thi country training for a series of races against the cream of the American turf.

Epinard's first start will be made at Belmont, the second at Aqueduct, the third at Latonia.

The Lationa event is likely to over shadow the other two in point of national interest because Black Gold, champion three-year-old of the current season, will be listed among the starters.

This recalls the visit of Papyrus to this country last fall. Papyrus wa greeted as the super-horse of the European turf, just as Epinard is now. Papyrus was sent against Zev the then champion three-year-old of the States, and was roundly beaten. Zev won in a canter by four lengths. Papyrus was never in the running.

Climate Beat Papyrus?

After the race, veteran horsemen expressed the opinion that Papyrus was a much better horse than the result indicated. "No horse can come from one country to another and get perfectly acclimated in less than six months' time," they contended.

How will this theory hold in Epinard's case? The French horse has only recently arrived. In less than two months' time he will be swinging into action against the fastest horses in this country. Will he succeed where Papyrus failed? Time alone can tell.

Epinard is a beautiful horse with every characteristic of a champion. Competent observers say Epinard is a much better horse in every respect than Papyrus, being sounder of legs and much longer gaited. So far the French invader has shown no ill effects and appears to be acclimating splendidly.

Black Gold's Big Race.

Some of the thoroughbreds that are sure to start against Epinard are Ordinance, Ladkin, Wise Counsellor, Zev, Grey Lag, Mad Hatter, In Memoriam, Chacolet, Chilhowie, My Own and Black Gold.

Because Black Gold has had the most spectacular record of any American horse this season he stands out as Epinard's foremost challenger, and the meeting between the two is likley to excite as much interest as the one betwen Papyrus and Zev did last year.

Black Gold has won four derby events since spring, starting with the Louisiana Derby at New Orleans Next came the Kentucky Derby at Louisville, the Ohio Derby at Cleveland and the recent Chicago Derby at Chicago.

Black Gold would have to carry 113 pounds, according to the Kentucky age scale in October. Epinard a four-year-old, would carry 122 pounds.

DOCTORS' OPINIONS.

CHICAGO, July 28.— (Canadian Press). — Clarence Darrow of the counsel for the defence of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, jr., on a trial for confessed kid-napping and the slaying of Roberts Franks, said to-day that reports printed by morning newspapers today as statements from defence alienists were only reports of physical examinations made for the information of defense experts on mentality. It was pointed out that reports published this morning contained no conclusions as to the mental conditions or capacities of the defendants. Reports were purported to have come from Carl M. Bowman of Boston and Dr. H. S. Hulbert of Chicago.

INJURY.

A window cleaner fell from the fifth floor. His lawyers say he will be crippled for life. It was claimed that he had not been provided with the safety belt, required by the law. So a jury awards him $75,000 damages.

As such things go, this is a very large judgment, so large that it attracts much newspaper attention in the east. But $75,000 in the bank at four per cent interest, yields only $250 a month. Maybe this is more than a window cleaner makes at his work. But how many of us would be willing to be crippled for life for suc ha sum?

Ancestor worship

THE Chinese pray to their ancestors. But they do more than that. They allow themselves to be guided by family tradition in their every thought and action. The principal difficulty facing the introduction of modern improvements into China is the universal objection: "This is not as our fathers did."

Imagine saying that we did not want electricity because our forefathers were satisfied with candles.

Though we never went as far as the Chinese, our conservatism in the past often went to considerable lengths. Think of the telephone, of the motor car. How much encouragement did they get at first?

Advertising more than anything else has made of us a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

Advertising today is as necessary as electricity, sanitation and rapid transit. It is more than the system by which we are kept informed of every new improvement that is to our advantage. It is the catalogue wherein, every day, all manner of articles are listed for us with their individual advantages.

Read the advertisements. Be guided by them. They will help you in making your selections. They will save you money.

To buy the new is to progress--to learn of it first is to read advertising

C. G. E. QUALIFIED FOR PLAY-OFF IN MIDLAND GROUP

Trounced Cobourg C. N. R. on Lakeside Grounds in Smart Game.

SCORE WAS 7 TO 4

Hardill for C. G. E. Fanned Eleven—Strong in Pinches.

Canadian General Electric earned the right to enter the Midland League play off by beating Cobourg C.N.R. 7-4 on their own ball park.

The game was fast all the way and was in doubt till the last man was out. The victory leaves the Electricians with five wins and one loss while their nearest rivals the C.N.R. and Raybestos have three losses apiece.

Hardill and Landymore were the pitching selections and both went the route. Each pitcher yielded eleven hits but Hardill had eleven strike-outs and was invincible with men on. The Railroaders had men on the paths in every inning but eleven of them were stranded.

The game was played on Victoria Park so that numerous doubles were made on hits into the right field crowd. Landymore had the longest hit of the game when he dropped one on the beach in deep left. Good throws by McCarney, Wolfe and Rose caught him as he tried to stretch it into a three-bagger.

Herb Wolfe and Boundy were the batting stars of the game with three hits in five times up. Wolfe numbered two doubles among his blows and started the game right by slamming the first ball pitched to center field for two bases.

Turner was the fielding start of the game. He roamed around the lumber pile in right field and pulled off some good catches. Barrie and Skitch both made great stops of sizzling grounders at second base.

The Run-Getting.

The Electricians opened the scoring in the first. Wolfe doubled and stole third and scored when Butler lost O'Grady's throw.

The railroaders got it back in their half. After Drumm missed three, Butler was on Rose's fumble. Markey walked, filling the bases and Turner lost Boundy's fly in the trees, Butler scoring, Markey ran too far around third and went out on Dugan's good relay of Turner's return throw. Bowen then missed three with two men on base.

The homesters chalked up two more in the third. Butler, first up doubled and advanced on Markey's fly to Wolfe. Rollings was safe when his grounder was played to the plate holding Butler at third. Boundy came through with the necessary single to score both runners but was left stranded when Hardill fanned Bowen and G. Butler.

The Electricians got them back with one more in the fourth. Ross walked and Rose doubled. Dugan hit to Rollings and then Ross scored when O'Grady lost the short stop's throw. G. Butler retrieved the ball and threw wild to the plate to get Rose and Dugan reached third to score on Turner's infield out.

The railroader evened it up in their half. After Landymore was out stretching a double, O'Grady and Drumm singled. They moved up on a passed ball and O'Grady scored Cobourg's last run when Butler rolled to Barrie.

The Electricians took the lead again in the sixth. Ross and Rose doubled and Dugan singled. MacPherson forced Dugan, Turner struck out and Barrie doubled. With Hardill up McPherson was nipped off third base.

Another run was added to the lead in the seventh. Wolfe singled and stole second. McCarney moved him up on his tap in front of the plate and Ross sent him in with a single.

The C.N.R. had men on in the seventh and eighth but were unable to connect. They started off after the slender lead in the ninth when Butler and Payne started the inning with singles. Hardill tightened up and Rollings best was a slow roller to first. Boundy struck out and Ross fielded Skitch's tap in front of the plate to end the game.

There was considerable kicking at the umpire's decision by both sides and Brown was ordered off in the fourth when he threatened the umpire.

$110,000 FOR GEORGES

Carpentier Has Earned $90,000 And More is in Sight.

NEW YORK, July 28.—When Georges Carpentier was flattened by Jack Dempsey they said he was through.

When he was k.o.'d. by Battling Siki they said the some thing, and repeated it with emphasis when the Frenchman lost to Tom Gibbons.

However, Gorgeous Georges since his return here less than two months ago has earned $90,000—$45,000 for each fight with Gibbons and Tunney He is to get $20,000 more for mixing with Jimmy Slattery at Buffalo as soon as he closes some minor details with Promoter Charley Murray.

Wouldn't you like to be all through—like Carpentier?

Hoyt, who had pitched a masterly game, blew up in the ninth.

Incidently the pitching record of Hollis Thurstonfi who has won ten consecutive games, was unbroken although he was taken out with his club three runs behind and Charley Robertson, of perfect game fame, was credited with the victory, in his first start since the latter part of April, when he had several bone splinters removed from his pitching arm: Score:

OSHAWA'S FIRST WIN SATURDAY IN FIVE STARTS

Pushed the Odd Run Over in Ninth With One Out.

DEFEATED PONIES

Dainty Held Kingston to Five Hits—Score Was 3 to 2.

OSHAWA, July 28.—(Special to the Examiner).—Oshawa won their first game in five starts from Donald Kelly, the fork-hand flinger of the Kingston team in the Central Ontario League Saturday at Alexandria Park by clouting out the winning run on a 3-2 score in the ninth frame.

Kelly only allowed one man to reach first base in the first three innings, Tyson hitting safe in the second but was thrown out stealing second. In the fourth Rowden got on through an error by Compeau who threw over Purvis' head at first, the runner going to second. He went to third on Murray's single and scored on Tyson's sacrifice. Oshawa again went out in order in the fifth and sixth but added one run to the score board in the seventh when Tyson singled, Dainty doubled and Roddick came through with a hit to score Tyson.

The eighth was scoreless while in the ninth the same batting order was up that scored the run in the seventh, Tyson doubled, Dainty singled and Roddick hit a long fly to Cherry in centre field and Tyson scored on the throw in and the winning run was over with one man out.

Although Kingston got men on in every frame up to the end of the fourth they were held scoreless but in the fifth Purvis and Rickman singled, Kelly fanned, Teeple singled scoring Purvis but was out stealing second and Compeau made the third out, Morrison to Wilson. In the sixth Kingston went out in order but chased their second and last run across the pan in the seventh when Nickle hit safely. Purvis hit to Murray who threw to Rowden for a double play but Kip dropped the throw, both being safe. Rickman fanned and Kelly came through with a two base clout that scored Nickle. Teepell and Compeau made the other two outs.

CANADA WON ROUND.

Tennis Team Defeated Cubans in Davis Cup Games.

Rideau Lawn Tennis Courts, Ottawa, July 28.—The Canadian Lawn Tennis team qualified to meet Japan in the next round of the American zone elimination series for the Davis Cup when Williard Crocker of Montreal won the first singles match Saturday against R. Paris, the Cuban champion by 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Crocker's immense driving throughout the series has practically won Canada the opportunity of seeking revenge for the defeat administered by the Japanese quartette in last year's play. He won his singles match, he completely outshone the other three players. His placements against Paris on Saturday brought frequent salvas of applause, and the Cuban could do nothing with them.

BIG GAME TOMORROW

Westclox and Lockworks to Meet in Crucial Fixture.

The Western Clock, after being idle for about a month, will tie in the Lockworks in their first game of the second section of the Mercantile League. Both teams are in good shape and a great game is expected.

The Westclox and the Lockworks were the strongest teams in the first half of the league and finished practicaly a tie for honors. Although the Westclox have not played for nearly a month they have been practicing regularly the last two weeks and should be in good shape for tomorrow night's battle. Both teams are confident of a win. The Westclox claims they are going to start the second half with a win but the Lockworks can't see it that way. Herb Wolfe will do the gunning for the Lockmakers, with Degraw in reserve. Lefty Connors will start for the Lockmakers with Neary in reserve.

The game will start at 6.00 o'clock sharp and it should be the best game of the season.

Rickard asks the Polo Association to extend an invitation to the Prince of Wales who will be in this country for the polo matches to attend the heavyweight fight.

Firpo has virtually decided upon Saratoga as a training ground. Wills is already established in his training camp at Southampton, L.I.

THUNDER STORM PREVENTS GAME FOR LEADERSHIP

Arrives Just Time to Block Fixture With Belleville.

LIGHTNING HITS STAND

Fans Get Some Unexpected Fireworks, But See No Baseball.

Saturday's big storm arrived just in time to make the Central Ontario League battle at Riverside Park impossible. The Belleville crew were having their batting practice and the Petes were preparing to go out for their fielding warm up when the rain came, gently at first, and then a terrific downpour that turned the diamond into a miniature lake in a few minutes. The storm did not last very long but the grounds were unfit for play afterward and the game had to be called off, to the great disappointment of the Petes and of the fans, many of whom came from out-of-town points to see the battle.

Although they did not witness any baseball the fans had some thrills, nevetheless, for in the midst of the downpour lightning struck a wire at the top of the main grandstand and the occupants got a bad scare. Two of the Petes players, Harold Cook and Jimmy Hall were shocked by the same bolt but recovered quickly.

The postponed game will be played here on Peterboro's Civic holiday, Monday, August 11th.

The Petes who have not performed at home since July 12th, will take to the road again on Wednesday, making their last scheduled journey of the season to Kingston. The Ponies will play the return game here on Saturday, while Belleville and Oshawo hook up for a two game series, in Belleville Wednesday and in Oshawa next Monday.

Saturday's postponement was a general disappointment and it is hoped the weather conditions are favourable on Saturday when Kingston will be here.

As the schedule now stands, the Petes with six games to play will play three of them away from home in the next two weeks and will wind up with two games at home. They go to Kingston Wednesday, are home for Saturday and the following week invade Belleville on Wednesday and Oshawa on Saturday. The Kingston fixture therefore is the only home fixture in four weeks and should draw a record crowd.

LIDDELL BEATEN.

Scottish Sprinter Third at Greenock Sports.

LONDON, July 27. —(Canadian Press Cable).—The Canadian Olympic track team defeated Scotland at Greenock yesterday, winning five of the nine events, H. H. Liddell, the Scottish champion, was surprisingly beaten into third place in the 100 and 200-yard dashes, both of which were won by Cyril Coaffee, Winnipeg. Liddell won the 440-yard event, and finished first in the mile relay.

AUSTRALIAN WINS

NEW YORK, July 27.—Gerald L. Patterson, of Australia, defeated Harvey W. Snodgrass of California in straight sets 6-4, 6-4, 6-2, in the final round match of the Metropolitan Singles Turf Court Tennis Championship on the courts of Crescent A.C., yesterday. Patterson thus succeeds Robert Kinsey, California as champion.

OLYMPIC GAMES FORMALLY CLOSE

Of the 361 Medals 98 Went to the United States Team.

FINLAND SECOND

OLYMPIC STADIUM, COLOMBES, France, July 28.—The eighth Olympic Games came to a formal close Sunday afteroon in the Colombes Stadium, where was fought out the main battle for athletic supremacy by representatives of forty five nations from all parts of the world.

More than 15,000 persons, which compared favorably with most of the gatherings of witness the keenest competition during the games, were present for the closing spectacle marking the official conclusion of the games which had been in progress for more than seven months.

Ninety eight of the 361 Olympic medals awarded went to the United States. Prizes were awarded for the first three places in each event, although six places counted in the point scoring.

The United States received prizes for 45 first places, twenty-six for second places, and twenty seven for third places, Finland, with thirty-seven first, France, iwth thirty-six and Great Britain with thirty-one were next on the list of the twenty-seven nations which received the prizes.

Yesterday's formalities came as something of an anti-climax to the main branches of competition, which was interesting, as well as fitting. Only a handful of the heroes of the stirring athletic games was on hand when the Olympic victory prizes were awarded to the twenty seven nations. Baron Pierre De Voubertin, President of the International Committee, made the official pronunciamento, closing the Olympic games. This was followed by a salvo of five guns and appropriate music by a band and a choir. Coming at the conclusion of th picturesque esquestrian sports, the closing ceremonies also were participated in by the competitors in these and a brilliantly uniformed bugle corps of the Republican Guard. Less than half the nations that received awards for the performances of their athletes were personally represented.

France acted on behalf of the absentees.

The ranks of the athletes and officials of all nations had been rapidly depleted last week, and it was a small band of the survivors that marched into the stadium to-day behind the flags of the victorious nations, most of which were borne, in the absence of their nationals, by French marines.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the Olympic flag was turned over to the custody of the City of Paris which will retain it for four years and then hand it over to the Dutch authorities to be used in the 1928 games at Amsterdam.

YACHTING RESULTS.

HAVRE, July 27. — Norway won the Olympic yachting competition.

Two Norwegian yachts the Sera in the eight Metre class, and the Elizabeth VI in the six metre lass, won their respective races Saturday, and thereby gained for their country the Olympic yachting title.

The allotment of points was as follows, the maximum scoring highest:

Six metre class—Norway, first, 7 points; Denmark, second, 16 points; Holland, third, 13 points.

Eight Metre Class—Norway first, 6 points; Great Britain, second 12 points; France, third, 13 points.

Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals continues at the top of the list of National League batsmen, according to the latest unofficial averages, and he is so far out in front that only an unexpected slump on his own part or a sudden sensational spurt by another will keep him from again capturing the hitting honors of the circuit. Hornsby has made a mark of .416, which is an increase over his percentage of a week ago by 6 points. There is a wide gap between the St. Louis slugger and his nearest competitor, Zach Wheat of the Robins, who is next in line with an average of .378 Wheat is followed by Cuyler of Pittsburgh, Roush of Cincinnati and Fourner of Brooklyn.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. There is a runner on first and third and one out when batsman hits long fly to the centre fielder. The runner on third believes the ball will be caught and holds his base. The runner on first is of the opinion that it will fall safe and dashes for second. The outfielder makes the catch. The runner on third, who has held his base, starts for home the moment the fly ball strikes the hand of the outfielder. The runner on first, who had reached second, dashes back to first when he sees the ball is caught. The fielder makes a fine throw to first and beats the runner to the bag, completing a double play and retiring the side. The runner on third has crossed the plate before the final out is made. Does the run count? If so, why?—B. M.

2. What is regarded as a force play? Please explain.—B. M.

ANSWERS

1. The run positively counts, if the runner from third has crossed the plate before the third out. Many fans have the impression that a run cannot score on a double play that retires the side. That is erroneous. If it is a double play in which the third out is a force the run doesn't count. There is no force about the above play. One player makes the proper play, while the other runs wild and is doubled. A run cannot score on a play in which the batter fails to reach first for the third out or the third out is a force play. The play you cite is neither.

2. A force play can only happen when base runners are compelled to advance to make room for the batsman.

The Classical Classics from East City will make the Curlers go to the limit on Tuesday night when they meet at the Exhibition Grounds in a Juvenile Series Contest. The Curlers will be out there fighting, trying to overcome the Maple Leaf's lead while the East City Aggregation have already trimmed the Curlers and the Maple Leafs in former games and are out to do the same again. They expect to hand the Curlers a right trouncing but the Curlers can't see it that way and think they will have an easy victory. Watch this East City bunch for they might have a surprise to-morrow night.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Take nothing for granted in baseball.

That is the only theory that can be successfully followed in the national pastime.

A ball game is never over until the last man is out, although it may often seem that way. Incidentally nothing takes more out of a club than to lose a game that is has apparently won.

During a recent series between New York and Washington, with the two clubs battling for first place, I saw the Washington club lose one of the toughest games of my career.

When Roger Peckinpaugh, shortstop of the Washington club, touched Outfielder Hendricks of New York for what appeared to be the 27th out of the game, Washington looked to be the winner, 4 to 3.

The crowd surged on the field as the base umpire waved the runner out, the many exits from the grandstand being thrown open.

The Washington club began to race from the field, the New York club hurriedly started for its dressing room with the signal of out from the umpire, in order to avoid the crowd. The Washington fans had already started to celebrate.

Then to the consternation of the Washington club and fans, the umpire shifted his sign to safe, the palms of the hand being extended downward. Peckinpaugh had dropped the ball. A runner had scored from second on the error, the game was tied up.

After the field had been cleared of the crowd the game was resumed.

On the very next play, a drive to right, Hendricks, who was safe because the force of his slide had knocked the ball out of Peck's hands started for the plate, hoping to score the run that would put New York out in front.

The throw beat him to the plate six feet, Catcher Ruel waiting with the ball had Hendricks blocked off, but once again he hit the dirt hard. Much bigger than the Washington catcher, Ruel was knocked unconscious, the ball rolled to the stand, and Hendricks, as well as another runner, scored.

Before the inning was over New York made four runs and cinched a game that looked like a fine win for Washington.

New York got two good breaks and won. The breaks do not always go the same way. Two years ago Sam Jones, pitching for the Yankees, lost an even tougher one than mates recently won from Washington.

The game featured the initial appearance of Ruth and Meusel after their long suspension by Judge Landis for disobeying the commission relative to a barnstorming trip.

St. Louis opposed the Yankees. Jones had pitched great ball for New York and was leading 2 to 1 when the Browns went to bat for the last time.

The first two batters were easy. Tobin, the next hitter, grounded to Pipp, who tossed to Pitcher Jones, covering first. The base runner waved Tobin out, ending the game, it seemed.

In a second the diamond was filled with fans who had surged from the stand through the exits. The players of both teams had started for their dressing room. Then the umpire reversed himself, waved Tobin safe, Jones had dropped the ball for the final out.

Before the inning was over St. Louis made seven runs, winning 8 to 2. A home run by Jacobson with the bases filled settled the game.

It certainly was a wise guy who doped it out to take nothing for granted in baseball.

U.F.Y.P.O. CLUB HELD SPORTS IN RAIN DOWNPOUR

South Monaghan Organization Had Picnic at Wallace's Point.

GOOD FOR CROPS.

Reeve Morley Smithson Presented Cup Won in Debating Last Winter.

BAILIEBORO, July 28. — On Thursday afternoon the South Monaghan U.F.Y.P.O. Club held their sports day at Wallace's Point.

Although it threatened to rain all day the rain kept off until about four o'clock and some of the sports which were mentioned on the programme were carried out.

A baseball game between Bailieboro juniors and Centerville juniors was played. The batteries for Bailieboro were Johnston and Barnard, and for Centreville, Hutchison and Dawson. The game throughout was a snappy one, several brilliant plays were made as well as numerous errors. The Centerville boys went to bat first and they played their full nine innings, but on account of the rain the Bailieboro boys did not get an opportunity to play their last inning. The score by innigs was:

Centreville .. .. 2 1 2 1 1 2 1 2 0—12
Bailieboro .....1 2 0 3 2 0 0 1 —9

Umpires were B. Dawson, K. Lang

Races Interfered

The committee in charge succeeded in getting part of the programme for races, high jumping, etc., over before the rain started. The winners for the different races were:— Boys 10 years af age and under Eddie Nattrass, Jay Whittington.

Debaters Get Cup

Mr. M. Smithson representing the Peterboro County U.F.O. clubs was present, and presented the silver cup donated by the Peterboro County U.F.O. and won for the season of 1924 by the South Monaghan U.F.Y.P.O. Club in the debating League last winter.

The cup is to be won three years in succession by one club before it can be retained. It is a handsome cup and the South Monaghan Club is very proud of having had the honour of winning it for the first year, and is in high hopes of being able to win it three years in succession.

The public speaking contest which was to have been held was postponed until a later date as a number of contestants did not turn out in the rain to be present. Also the two base ball games which were to have been played after supper were cut short on account of the heavy rain. The Warsaw girls were present to challenge the Bailieboro girls in a game of soft ball and Millbrook Juveniles were present to play the South Monaghan boys in base ball. The rain cleared for awhile about 7 o'clock and both ball games got under way, but at the end of the third innings both teams, as well as a large crowd of spectators had to seek refuge under the shelter of the car and dancing pavilion, and the rain kept up until the early hours of the morning.

The score by innings for South Monaghan boys was 1 0 3—4; Millbrook, 0 0 0—0.

In the girl's game no runs were scored by either side during the three innings.

Follis Orchestra of Peterboro was to have been present to provide music for dancing in the evening, but as the night was so very wet they did not venture out, and the young ladies of the club provided excellent music.

LAKEVIEWS PLAY COGS WEDNESDAY

Fast Exhibition Game Will Take Place at Riverside Park at 6 O'clock.

The Cognawagas, leaders of the East Peterboro Intermediate league and the Lakeviews, champions of the Junior City league will clash in an exhibition game at Riverside Park on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. Both teams are in the best of trim and are rearing to get at each other. The Lakeviews demonstrated their playing power in their last game with the Crescents for the championship, when they won by the score of 7 to 3. The Cogs have been defeating everything in front of them and with their speed ball artist Vannest on the mound they expect to come through with a win over the Lakeviews. Frank Whitehouse will do found work for the Lakeviews and they will have their strongest line up on the field for the battle.

COGNAWAGAS WON GAME FROM KEENE

The Score Was Tied Until the Seventh Inning, When the Cogs Won Out By Five to Four.

The Cogs won from Keene in an exciting game of baseball by a score of 5 to 4. The Cogs with the bases loaded in the 7th, with one out, Shadgett hit a grounder to McCarthy at Short stop, who let it go between his feet, and letting the winning run in.

Billingsley, who pitched for the Cogs., played his first League game, having 10 strike outs, while Robertson had 7 strike outs.

A double play was pulled off by Roke and Allen in the 4th, Allen caught Whalen in right field, threw to Rooke, catching Robertson off the first base.

McCarthy at short had six chances and only missed one, which cost him the game.

The Cogs played good ball all the way round. The game was held up until Keene's short stop repaired a blow out he had on his way to Peterboro.

Score by innings:

Cogs .. ..1030001—5 7 5

RACKET TOO TIGHT

Stiff Grasp One of Causes of Tennis Errors.

By MERCER BEASLEY.

Down on the courts day by day, doing our stuff, we hear many queer complaints about this and that shot, or how the stroke cannot be made. It has been drawn to my attention that in most cases the player who comes seeking advice and help is hoping that in a few minutes he will be shown the whole secret and that he will then at once improve.

This is, of course, not the case at all. The best thing is to let him hit the balls over the net, if he can, and then observe closely what he is doing. There is a way of hitting him the harder balls with a twist on them that will in most cases reveal his faults. Then its a case of building up the stroke by using what is best therein and adding to it what it lacks.

Few average players know what keeps them back. They only go by the scores of their games. They can beat Brown, but Jones or Smith, as the case may be, can beat them.

What is the main trouble with most of them? Suppose the question was sent out to all average players. Some would doubtless answer that they overhit, or that they didn't keep their eyes on the ball, or that they always faced the net when they made their strokes.

The most common fault in tennis may be likened to pressing in golf. The chief fault in tennis, in short, is holding the racket too tightly.

The balls are forced over the net by strength of wrist and by muscle and brown.

If you will tally the number of outs in any set you will be able to see that there is some truth in this statement.

Take the first serve of the average player: does he get it into the service court with regularity? He does not and he doesn't mind. He loves that first serve, for it is his one chance to soak one ball with full power without the loss of a possible point.

Get control first and then speed.

TAKE CARE OF HORSES.

Horses should be treated like humans. Provide a barrel of water on the field for drinking. Let the horses rest and cool off at noon and at night before eating. Feed one-fourth the day's hay allowance in the morning, another fourth at noon and the rest at night. Wash their necks each day with cold water containing a small amount of vinegar.

ERNEST TRUEX AS 'BABY' IS TYPICAL NEWLYWED 'SOFTY'

Plays Difficult Lead in Fox Picture "Six Cylinder Love" Now Showing Here

"Oh-o-h, baby's here."

"Baby" is Ernest Truex, the grown up featured player in the William Fox special, "Six Cylinder Love", which comes to the Regent Theatre to-night and for a 3-day run. That's what his adorable little wife (played by Florence Eldridge) calls him. She "babies" him, against his better judgment, into buying an automobile. And then the fun begins.

Along with the car, f.o.b. their bungalow, smirk the three Spongers, who live for a good time at the expense of their "permanent hosts." Along with the car come gasoline, accessory and spending expenses. Oh, yes, "baby" has a lallapalossa time of it. Then comes the inevitable smash, when "baby" rises to heights of indignant manhood and with one fell swoop orders the amazed Spongers out of his house and bawls out his wife unmercifully. She's all ready to go to mother. "Go 'head," grins "baby," with tears of fury and hurt glittering in his eyes. "I deserve to lose you, too."

But friend wife sees the errors of her ways when he doesn't entreat her to stay. Accordingly, with feminine perversity, she stays, and together through thick and thin, badly cooked food and some tears and laughs, they battle to a triumphant reward.

"Six Cylinder Love" is a picture everybody will enjoy, for it depicts a story representative of many a home to-day. It is directed by Elmer Clifton who made "Down to the Sea in Ships" and includes in the cast, headed by Ernest Truex and Florence Eldridge, Maud Hill, Marjorie Milton, Ann McKittrick, Dona'd Meek, Thomas Mitchell, Harold Mann, Ralph Sipperly, Berton Churchill, France Tweed and Grace Gordon.

AT THE CAPITOL.

STIRRING DRAMA IN "THE ETERNAL CITY" AT CAPITOL TODAY

A youth fighting desperately to bring to ruin the woman he loved —unaware of her identity.

That is the strange situation about which the story of "The Eternal City," now playing at the Capitol Theatre, revolves. It is the centre of one of the most gripping stories ever written, and is from the pen of that master novelist, Hall Caine.

George Fitzmaurice produced the story in Italy, with a cast that includes five players of stellar rank —Barbara La Marr, Lionel Barrymore, Bert Lytell, Richard Bennett and Montagu Love. This First National picture has been pronounced the masterpiece of a decade.

Bert Lytell is cast as the youth, David Rossio, with Miss La Marr essaying the role of Donna Roma.

David returns from the great war to find his sweetheart, Roma, has disappeared from her home in a small village. Heart-broken, and unable to learn of her whereabouts, he becomes a vagabond, wandering aimlessly about the country in search of the girl.

In Rome his discontent causes him to join the ranks of the Facisti, then on the verge of overthrowing the party in power. The chief objective of their wrath is Baron Bonelli (played by Lionel Barrymore), an unscrupulous war profiteer who was devoting his immense wealth to fighting the Facisti.

It was common gossip that the baron has a mistress—a sculptress. When David learned that she had executed a statue in honor of the fallen war heroes he became so indignant that he gathered a squad of former soldiers and destroyed the work of art. With the broken pieces at his feet he looked upward to a balcony of the castle and there he saw—

The denouement of this episode is one that will linger long in the memory.

AT THE ROYAL.

BIG JACK HOXIE NOW A FAVORITE OF THE KIDDIES

Jack Hoxie, Universal cowboy star, rates high with the children of Los Angeles.

Proof of his popularity was offered during the filming of "The Man from Wyoming," his latest western feature, coming next Thursday to the Royal theatre.

A party was planned by "Aunt Dolly," editor of the Junior Times section of the Los Angeles Times. Aunt Dolly probably includes a thousands or more children. They all, or most of them, contribute stories or letters to the magazine. The editor asked them to write her a letter naming their favorite screen players and she told them she would try to arrange to have the one most generally popular appear as the feature of the entertainment.

Letters poured in and nearly every player of note in the film colony was mentioned. Jackie Coogan, Baby Peggy and Jack Hoxie were the favorites and the cowboy star had a considerable edge over the youngsters.

Hoxie understands the likes and dislikes of children in general. He accepted Aunt Dolly's invitation to attend the party and spent an entire afternoon entertaining them. He wore his full cowbody regalia and his appearance was greeted with wild applause. He did a lot of fancy roping, made a talk and autographed several hundred photographs for the kids.

"The Man from Wyoming" is a fast moving dramatic story of a sheepman-cattleman feud of the western plains, written by William MacLeod Raine and directed by Robert N. Bradbury.

FLOWING GOLD

MILTON SILLS AND ANNA Q. NILLSON AND REX BEACH WROTE IT! NUF SED!

Special Juvenile Comedy 'The SILENT PARTNER'

Until You've seen "Flowing Gold" you don't know what the screen can do.

TO-NIGHT'S THE NIGHT TO-NIGHT!

"FLOWING GOLD," BY REX BEACH, AT ROYAL TO-DAY.

If a vote were taken to determine the most popular team of players in filmdom, Anna Q. Nilsson and Milton Sills would be placed among the leaders. Once again this team is to be seen, this time as the featured players of the all-star cast assembled by Richard Walton Tully for his vivid production of the Rex Beach novel, "Flowing Gold," the First National picture coming to the Royal Theatre to-day for a run of three days.

Good fortune and excellent teamwork have thrown this couple together in many notable screen productions, perhaps the best remembered of which are "The Spoilers" and "The Isle of Lost Ships."

They seem to fit so perfectly the Rex Beach hero and heroine that Tully found himself unable to consider other performers for the roles of Calvin Gray and Allegheny Briskow in "Flowing Gold."

As Calvin Gray, Sills has one of the most virile, and at the same time, most polished roles of his career. He appears as a penniless soldier of fortune, who drifts into the oil fields of Texas during the recent boom days in search of an enemy who is responsible for Gray's dishonorable discharge from the army. He finds his quarry and engaged in a stirring battle of wits.

Miss Nilsson interprets the role of Allegheny, the heroine, with her customary finesse and ability. The character is that of an awkward, unsophisticated girl of the Texas "dry land" districts, whose father suddenly becomes immensely wealthy by the discovery of oil on his farm. Under the guidance of Calvin Gray, a friend of the family, she gradually becomes a beautiful and refined young lady.

WEALTH

a lot of money, claims C. W. Barron, the Wall Street financial expert.

He says: "Ford can make more money than any one else in the world because he renders more service than anybody else in the world. He has given the cheapest transportation known for seven million families. And he is now selling his cars near cost and making money out of parts sales."

Barron's idea is that money making is incidental to and the natural result of performing service. Trouble is, many who perform the service don't get the money. How does Barron explain Tellier, inventor of cold storage, dying in poverty?

PRACTICE.

The Maple Leaf Baseball team will hold a practice at the Exhibition Grounds at six o'clock tonight. All players are requested to be on hand.

40,000 HARVESTERS WILL BE WANTED FOR THE WEST.

At least 40,000 harvesters will be required to garner the Western Canada Wheat Crop this season, according to information received at general head-quarters of the Canadian National Railways this afternoon. Of this number approximately 20,000 will have to be secured from Eastern Canada being thought that the remainder can be supplied by the three Prairie Provinces and British Columbia.

This information is the outcome of a conference held in Winnipeg today between representatives of Canadian National Railways, Provinical and Federal Governments and the Labor Board. It was also brought out at this meeting that harvesting is expected to commence in Manitoba about 20th and in Saskatchewan and Alberta about August 25th.

A furtehr meeting is to be held about August 2nd in Winnipeg to decide upon the date when the special rail fares for harvesters will go into effect. This date will be governed by the time when the farmers are prepared to accept harvesters. Representatives of Canadian National Railways were asked by the Government officials to state how well they were prepared to handle this tarffic and they were told that the National Railway System has approximately 400 cars, of the very latest tye of colonist equipment held in readiness for the handling of the excursion. In addition there are ready for service on these trains a number of specially designed lunch counter cars all of them larger and better equipped than any other cars of this type in the country.

BE A MIXER.

The other night as I sat before the fireplace I noted that the stick of wood, although it was a fine, dry piece of oak, was not burning. I tossed another piece of wood beside it, and in a moment both burst into flame. What is it the Bible says to the general effect that it is not good for man to be alone? A man, no matter how good his quality, must mix with others if he would express ganizations to tide the farmer himself most efficiently. One stick would not burn. Two sticks together sent out light and heat. There are sermons in fireplaces as well as in running brooks.—Lombard News Letter.

STATE'S CASE ENDED.

Johnny Levinson, Who Narrowly Escaped Death, Was Last Witness.

CHICAGO, July 28.— (Canadian Press).—Final pieces of testimony which State's Attorney Crowe has been building into his "mountain of testimony," in the nearing which is to determine the fate of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, jr., were reached to-day.

After the morning session devoted largely to expert identificatin of the hand writing and type-writer specimens as those made by the defendants, Mr. Crowe said that only one or two witnesses remained to be heard. One of these is Johnny Levinson, the youth who was one of the last to see Robert Franks alive and who, according to the confessions of Lepold and Loeb had once been considered as a likely subject for the plot which ended in the abducting and killing of young Franks.

OTTAWA, July 28. —(Canadian Press).—In his return from Toronto former minister of labour refuted the this morning, Senator Robertson, statements attributed to him in a despatch from Toronto, last night, in which it was stated that Senator Robertson had declared that the unemployment situation showed signs of easing up. Senator Robertson's objections to the despatch were that it attributed an opinion to him which he did not hold, because he believed the unemployment situation showed signs of being more acute than it has been since 1921.

MARITIME OLYMPICS CASTIGATE OFFICER

Declares Canadian Official Paid No Attention to Them—Mention Two Others.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 28.—(Canadian Press.) — That Martime Olympic representatives were given a very poor show at the recent Olympic by Canadian officials, was stated here by Victor McAuley, of Windsor, N.S., who represented the Maritimes in the Olympic Marathon.

McAuley particularly mentioned Captain J. R. Cornelius, head coach, although he said P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic team, and Wm. Hughes, athletic instructor at Queen's University, should also be forced to shoulder their share of the burden. Maritime men were stationed at a hotel fifteen miles from the stadium and the fare, he said, was unsuited for athletes. Capt. Cornelius and other Canadani officials and Upper Canada competitors were quartered three miles from the Maritimers and took no interest in the manner in which the men from the east were observing the training rules.

ROTARY HEARS MISS GLADMAN TALK OF FRANCE

Splendid Address Given By Brilliant Peterboro Girl To-day.

TAUGHT IN FRANCE.

Tells Rotarians Her Impressions of the French School System.

One of the most delightful addresses that the Peterboro Rotary Club has had the pleasure of listening to, was that delivered at to-day's luncheon by Miss Gretchen Gladman, the brilliant young Peterboro girl who has been on the staff of one of the prominent French school on the appointment of the French government and who gave a most interesting talk upon France in general and the French system of education in particular.

Miss Gladman possesses a photographic mind that records every impression with life like realism, the power to paint word pictures that take form before the mental eyes of her hearers, and in addition to her eloquence a gift of humor. With these qualities she was able to hold the Rotarians intensely interested as she talked of her impressions of France, of the French people, of the French temperament, of the methods of education, and of the necessity of exercising a good deal of understanding and sympathy for France in her international relationships.

It is impossible to reproduce her address in these columns and a synopsis could not do justice to the subject or the manner in which it was handled.

Of the French educational system, Miss Gladman said that it erred in one extreme as the Canadian method did in the other. The French system concerned itself only with work and study whereas in Canada, perhaps, too much emphasis was placed on sport and recreation. The French pupil of 16 or 17 years of age had a mentality fully as much developed as the Canadian of 26 or 27 years. On the other hand he was physically not as fit and he had absolutely no idea of sportsmanship or fair play as engendered by the Canadian college athletics.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Peter Westbye, who spoke of her achievements at Toronto university and the honor gained by her in being appointed by the French government.

Miss Greta LeBas was a guest of Rotary to-day, and delighted the audience with two solos most delightfully rendered.

Rotarian Joe Kenneallay announced that 46 boys had departed this morning for the Rotary Camp and that it was expected that four or five more would follow shortly.

A committee composed of Rotarians Lee, Barnes, Dr. Bucanan and Ross Dobbin, was appointed to see that the Rotarians visited the camp during the next two weeks.

Ex-president Reid Wren, who leaves on Wednesday for Chicago, was presented with a Rotary pin, the presentation being made by ex-president John Crane.

Rotarian Seels announced that the Carnival expenses had been heavier than was anticipated but that the surplus would be $900.

President J. W. McDermid was in the chair to-day and there was a large attendance.

BIG CROWD OUT TO HEAR TRIAL

Walter G. Belleghem Arraigned on Continued Case —B.O.T.A. Charge Heard.

A NEW PHASE.

With the seating capacity overtaxed and spectators standing and sitting in the aisles an array of counsel at the bar and officials in attendance County Police Court was in readiness to continue with the trial of Walter G. Belleghem at 11.00 a.m. this morning and the proceedings opened at 11.3 5a.m. when Magistrate Langley arrived. All remained despite the long delay.

There was on the docket, besides the two charges laid against Belleghem, another case to be heared today. The latter was an offence in breach of the O.T.A. Inspector Joseph Stewart prosecuting.

Belleghem Trial

On consent of Crown Attorney Hatton His Worship granted the request of J. A. O'Brien for a hearing of the liquor charge proceeded with the hearing of the offence in breach of the Ontario Temperance Act, charging Belleghem with having liquor, in his possession, other than in a private dwelling.

County Constable S. R. Pearson was the fist Crown witness called.

He reiterated his story of the events of the evening of July 5, explaining how he had, discovered a broken bottle in the defendant's car upon arriving at the scene of the accident.

The Crown Attorney then proceeded to examine the witness in reference to the conversation that took place between him and Belleghem prior and subsequent to his arrest.

This brought an objection from Mr. Gordon who declared that no evidence as to the conversation should be admitted unless it was shown that Constable Pearson warned Belleghem of his mission.

His Worship allowed Mr. Gordon to examine the witness on this point and he unearthed a new phase of the proceedings.

Mr. Gordon —"What expressions or words did you use when you arrested him?"

Witness—"I said 'You're under arrest'."

Mr. Gordon— "What reason did you give him?"

Witness—"I told him he had liquor in his possession."

Mr. Gordon—"That was your reason?"

Witness — "There was two reasons he was on the wrong side of the road."

Mr. Gordon—"Well then, on what charge did you arrest him?"

Witness—"On both."

Mr. Gordon—"You can't do that."

Witness — "I took him into custody."

Mr. Gordon —"You arrested him because he was in an accident."

Mr. Gordon—"Did you notice that he sustained a blow on the head and was bleeding?"

Witness—"Yes, he was cut."

Mr. Gordon—"Did he show any signs of nervousness?"

Witness—"No."

Mr. Gordon (reading from a typewritten copy of the evidence of Friday's proceedings)—"You swore on that occasion that he appeared to be very nervous."

Witness (pounding his hand on the stand)—"I did not, I don't care what they have down there."

Mr. Gordon—"Your answer last Friday was that 'He appeared to be very nervous, and had a great deal to say.' You pledge your oath now that he showed no signs of nervousness?"

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. Gordon—"Then, you say that the statement taken down and sworn to by Mr. Johnson is not correct."

Witness — "Well, I didn't mean that."

Mr. Gordon—"Can you read English?"

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. Hatton resumed his examination of the witness, who stated that when he arrested Belleghem, although he held the broken bottle in his hand, no mention was made of the liquor.

"I had no talk with him about liquor at all," declared Constable Pearson.

Mr. Hatton—"What did you think of his condition?"

Witness—"I believe he was sobering up, as I smelled liquor off his breath very strong."

He stated to Mr. Hatton that no remarks were made by Belleghem that would indicate which was his car."

Mr. Hatton retired, and cross-examination was opened by Mr. Gordon, defence counsel.

Mr. Gordon—"I suppose it might be said that the impact caused the bottle to break?"

Witness—"I think it was."

Mr. Gordon—"You said the liquor dripping in the car caused an odor?"

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. Gordon—"And that the cork would indicate no corkscrew had been used?"

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. Gordon—"I understand there are other ways of removing a cork?"

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. Gordon—"Do you know the methods?"

Witness—"Yes, several."

This concluded the forenoon sitting.

SILENT TRACKS TELL THE TALE OF DEATH LAVA

Scientist Reconstructs From Mute Evidence a Story of Destruction.

KILAUEA VOLCANO

Warriors Threw Rocks Into Crater and Goddess Engulfed Them.

Recent eruptions of Kilauea, causing death and injury to persons near the crater of the Hawaiian volcano, known for more than a century as "tame," recall a description by Professor T. A. Jaggar, Director of the Hawaiian Volcano Observatory, of the eruption that destroyed an army composed of the enemies of King Kamehameha in 1790. Professor Jaggar's account is based on the story written in the lava by the feet of flying warriors.

The "explosive eruption" to which Kilauea is now subject differs from ordinary eruptions in that the discharge of gas and rocks is not accompanied by lava. Explosive eruptions churn up the crater, blow the surrounding lava into dust and create avalanches from the rock quarried out of the slopes of the crater-pit by terrific subterranean forces. The rocks are hurled into the air continually and strewn over the countryside.

Professor Jaggar stated that the meteorologist of the volcano observatory near the crater of Kilauea discovered in 1920 footprints in the lava desert on the old crater of Kilauea, which proved on investigation to be embedded in patches of the fine ash of the 1790 eruption, scattered in hollows of the smooth lava of later flows. Many patches show plainly the prints of naked feet with separate toe marks indicated, from which the scientists are able to tell how the pedestrians stepped, the length of their stride and the direction of march. Professor Jaggar discerned the footprints of men, women and children, and some sharp-pointed markings made by the hoofs of pigs.

"The people were walking, some away from Kilauea, and others toward it," said Professor Jaggar, in his account of the early eruption. "There are different layers in the deposit, some sandy and others fine, which were evidently muddy at the time the footprints were made, for the whitish paste, hardened by drying, stands up in ridges at the sides of the footprints, showing exactly how the foot squashed into the mud. The hardening is partly chemical, for the air over Kilauea was full of acid gases which acted on the lime of the lava particles and thus preserved the footprints.

Footprints Preserved.

"One of the first layers that fell has foot impressions, and although this layer was buried later by other lava flows, they may be seen where heavy rains have eroded the recent layers and disclosed the earlier flow containing the marks. This shows that some of the explosive 'ash' fell after the earlier markings were made, furnishing proof that the footprints are not modern but were contemporaneous with the ash eruptions.

"The ash of a volcano is simply rock flour, turned into mud by the heavy thunderstorms that accompany an eruption. At the same time hurricanes of wind blow the dry, red-hot ash over the ground and cause the death of all within reach. The greatest volcanic disasters to life have been due largely to asphyxiation and burning by incandescent dust and sand, although persons close to the volcano have been killed by falling stones.

"All the old accounts show that the warriors of King Kamehameha's enemy, King Keous, were killed in this manner. A small fighting force of about 400 men was crossing the volcano in about November, 1790. There seems to have been no great eruption on when they arrived, for the warriors amused themselves hurling rocks over the cliffs into the crater. This made the Goddess Pele angry, and she sent up a cloud of black sand and rocks at night and chastised some of the disrespectful ones."

Caught in the Blast.

Professor Jaggar believes that on the following day King Keoua made peace offerings to the goddess of the volcano and probably human sacrifices, because he was noted for the cruel treatment of his victims, and there was a temple dedicated to Pele close by. The volcano continued its fury for two nights, and on the fourth day the King divided his army into three companies, intending to march to safety. On that morning an eruption occurred, which Professor Jaggar believes ranks with that of Vesuvius when Pompeii was destroyed. Gigantic boulders hurtled into the air a thousand feet and total darkness covered the land, illuminated occasionally by vivid lightning.

"One of these blasts caught the warriors of the middle party, travelling with wives, children and live stock, plastered them with grey ash and left them dead in life-like postures," says Professor Jaggar. "Some of the stragglers of the first party were also killed and others were burned."

Professor Jaggar states that the ash plastered over much of the countryside about Kilauea is the substance that fell in 1790. In the shore region of the Kau desert on the island of Hawaii is a sacrificial platform surrounded by pictures carved on the rock. Some of the pictures look like rude maps of the crater, its pits and lava flow. Professor Jaggar believes that much remains to be uncovered in this region, now set aside as the Kilauea section of the Hawaiian National Park.

CURVIN AWARDED CLAIM AGAINST BUYER OF FURS

Were Stolen From Plaintiff's Warehouse After He Had Sold Them to Defendant.

BUYER TOOK RISK.

No Negligence By Curvin In Guarding Furs After Transaction.

A sequel to theft of a quantity of furs from the warehouse of the Peterboro Raw Fur Company, owned by T. E. Curvin, is the judgment recently delivered by His Honor Judge Ward of Cobourg, awarding Mr. Curvin the sum of $395 with interest and costs against Victor Zender, who had purchased some of the furs but had not removed them from the warehouse. They were included in the quantity stolen. Zender had bought them on the evening prior to the robbery, but when he learned that they had disappeared he stopped payment of the cheque for $395.10, which he had given Curvin, and afterwards refused to pay for them.

Curvin entered an action for $395.10 with interest, and Zender counterclaimed for $200 damages for non-delivery of the furs.

The case was tried before His Honor Judge Ward of Cobourg on Monday ,June 2, W. S. Herrington, K.C., of Napanee, acting for the defence, and W. F. Huycke, assisted by R. R. Hall, K.C., for the plaintiff. The trial took place at Peterboro, Judge Ward presiding.

By a judgment delivered on Saturday, July 19, the plaintiff is awarded the full amount claimed and costs of action, and the defendant's counter-claim is dismissed.

The judgment is noteworthy, inas much as the decision upholds the principle, that when property in goods has passed to a purchaser and the goods are paid for by the purchaser and remain with the vendor for a time, at the request of the purchaser, the goods so left, are entirely at the risk of the purchaser.

Following is a copy of the judgment:

Review of the Case.

The facts as I find them in this action are within a very small compass. The plaintiff is a firm dealing in furs in the city of Peterboro, and the defendant is a dealer in furs in the town of Napanee. On or about the 21st day of December, 1923, the defendant and one Philip Yaffe were in Peterboro, and Yaffe, with a view to buying furs, called on the plaintiff, and some negotiations as to furs took place, having as its objective buying from the plaintiff certain furs; Yaffe inspected the furs of the plaintiff and sorted out certain of them, but no semblance of a contract was made between them. About 11 o'clock of the same evening the defendant and Yaffe went to the plaintiff and to his warehouse, with the result that among them they sorted out certain furs, to wit, 38 skunk skins, 28 mink skins, 15 coon skins and 25 weasel skins, which the plaintiff offered to sell to the defendant for $395.10. The defendant and Yaffe retired to a place where the plaintiff was not, and in a few minutes they returned, and the defendant announced to the plaintiff that he would take said furs at $395.10. The three parties named proceeded to place said furs in a bag and did so, after which the defendant asked the plaintiff for a needle and some cord, and receiving same seewd up the bag containing said furs, and made the same a closed package. The defendant then gave the plaintiff his cheque in payment for said furs, according to said offer; the cheque being dated at Napanee on Dec. 21, 1923, drawn on The Royal Bank of Canada, Napanee Branch, payable to Peterboro Raw Fur Co., for three hundred and ninety-five 10/100 dollars, and signed by Victor Zender, the defendant.

The defendant left said bag of furs in the warehouse of the plaintiff, with a request that the plaintiff should call up an express company in the morning and ask the company to call for the bag of furs to be shipped to him at Napanee, saying that he had no tags in possession to address said bag to its destination, but an express company always brought tags which they would properly fill up with the proper address and take the bag away. The defendant said that he would pay, on arrival, the proper charges. The plaintiff then said he would 'phone the express company as requested. It was probably about one o'clock in the morning of 22nd December, 1923, when the transaction above referred to was closed.

The defendant and Yaffe, on the closing of the transaction as above, went away from the plaintiff's warehouse to a hotel in Peterboro, and that night the defendant and Yaffe agreed together that because of some interest which Yaffe thought he had in the furs by reason of his having first negotiated with the plaintiff, or because of the assistance he gave the defendant in acquiring said furs, the defendant should give the said Yaffe remuneration for whatever interest he had or trouble he had been put to, and he gave him his cheque for $35.

Some time after the bagging up of the furs as stated and before morning, all the furs of the plaintiff, and the furs so bagged, were

LAWYER THREATENED TO PUNCH LEOPOLD FOR KICKING HIS SHINS

CHICAGO, July 30— Nathan Leopold, Jr., saved himself from posible physical chastisement today by exercising discretion. The slayer of an eleven-year-old boy, who had been called coward by the defense mental experts, quit cold when warned by a man his own size.

Ever since the opening of the trial last week, Leopold has been amusing himself upon entering court by slyly kicking Assistant State's Attorney Milton Smith in the shins.

Smith ignored the trick a couple of times. Then he resented. And last Saturday after court closed he approached Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for Leopold and Loeb. He said:

"If that man Leopold kicks me in the shins again I'm going to punch him in the head."

Leopold didn't kick Assistant State's Attorney Milton Smith in the shins Monday.

TOBACCO CROP PRAYERS FAIL

Ten Million Dollar Loss Feared by Farmers in Two States.

EIGHT DRY WEEKS.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 30. — Prayers for rain, fervently offered throughout Connecticut and Western Massachusetts Sunday, are as yet unanswered, and eight weeks of scorching sunshine, with unvarying withering winds, will have destroyed 80 per cent of the $12,000,000 Connecticut burley tobacco crop unless rain falls this week. An unusually large potato crop is slowly being ruined and other farm crops are suffering in the worst drought since 1871.

Members of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Growers' Association hold 24,000 acres at an average value of $500 an acre. President Joseph W. Alsop declared that the situation was critical.

"Havana seed and broadleaf tobacco have now reached a stage where the plants must receive liberal quantities of water or else complete the cycle by blossoming out and making seed,' he said. "Even if we should have rain at the present time in liberal quantities, a very large portion of the present crop would be seriously damaged. Another week of dry weather will spell disaster to at least 80 per cent of the crop.

"During the month of July the rain fall has not measured three-eighths of an inch, and almost daily drying winds have blown so that the ground is parched. Students of the weather assert that no similar condition has existed so seriously since 1871.

"The weather has gone "dry" if the nation hasn't" remarked a grower who joined other farmers Sunday in praying earnestly for a generous rain.

There will be a smaller Havana crop than in former years, even if rain comes, because it cannot overcome the present handicap. Some farmers believe their broadleaf will pick up if rain comes at once.

The weather conditions stimulated the wholesale buying by New York dealers of tobacco stored in the packing houses and there have been heavy transactions the last seventy-two hours.

CONFERENCE ON WORK PROSPECT

Unemployment Situation Will Be Canvassed—Government Pays Expenses.

MEET IN OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, July 29.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, and Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, will represent the Federal Government at a general conference on unemployment to be held in Ottawa commencing Wednesday, September 3. The purpose of the conference is to endeavor to arrive at some concrete proposal looking to the elimination of unemployment during the coming winter. Representatives of the building trades have been called into the conference in the hope of finding means of extending constructional work through the winter months on a more extensive scale than heretofore. The conference will follow the general lines taken by the similar conference here last fall in the discussion of the immediate unemployment problems.

During the past few weeks the federal department of labor has canvassed most of the Canadian cities regarding representation at the conference. The results have been very satisfactory and it is anticipated that there will be a large representation from civic bodies. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Canadian Building and Constructing Association, and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will be represented among other organizations. The provincial governments will have delegates. The expenses of delegates invited to the conference will be paid by the Dominion Government.

DOUBLE DROWNING FEARED IN RIVER

Citizens of Peterborough Are Missing From Their Homes—Hats Found.

Police have been dragging the Otonabee river just below the Nassau dam for two days in search of the victims of a supposed double drowning that occurred on Sunday night.

The missing persons are Samuel Taylor, District Manager of the Confederation Life Association, of 165 Hunter street east, and Mrs. Joseph Sharp, also of Peterborough.

Indications are that Mr. Taylor left his home about seven o'clock on Sunday night, ostensibly to proceed to Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and Haliburton. He proceeded to his office in the Dominion Bank building, where he left his suitcase. About nine o'clock, it is believed, he called upon Mrs. Sharp and they went for a drive together.

The automobile was found near the Nassau dam, and on the pier were Mr. Taylor's cap and Mrs. Sharp's hat. The car, it is said, was driven to the place where it was found about 10.30 on Sunday night.

It is thought possible that Mrs. Sharp may have fallen from the pier, and Mr. Taylor leaped to her assistance. Peculiar circumstances attending the disappearance of the two persons admit other possibilities, but the police and prominent citizens to whom the parties were well known are of the opinion that they met death by drowning. Mr. Taylor had returned to a member of the Lodge certain Masonic papers and books which he held and also the key of the Lodge room, which he had held for years. It is understood that no explanation was offered. Mrs. Sharp, on her part, visited several friends and sent flowers to some. On her bed was found a dress, neatly laid out.

Investigation of Mr. Taylor's affairs show them to be in good order. No money had been withdrawn from his account in the bank.

Detectives W. Meagher and W. Carey and Provincial Constable Maker dragged the river bed at the south entrance to the locks until a late hour last night. Other than the deserted car and the two hats, no clue has been picked up.

STATE'S CASE IN CHICAGO MURDER TRIAL COMPLETE

Mountain of Evidence Piled Up Against Leopold and Loeb.

DEFENCE IS READY.

Prosecutor Will Demand Jury If Insanity Evidence By Alienists Offered.

CHICAGO, July 30.— The State's "mountain of evidence" with which R. E. Crowe, state attorney, expects to send Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, kid-nappers and slayers to the gallows, is complete, the State's Attorney announced last night. He will close his case as soon as court convenes to-day, he said.

If the defense attempts to introduce the testimony of any alienists as to mental condition of the two millionaires' sons who have pleaded guilty, Mr. Crowe said he will immediately demand that a jury be called to determine whether the slayers are mentally responsible.

One Happy Family.

There were three happy people at the Franks murder trial in Justice Caverly's court room Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Salmon O. Levison, and John O. Levison, 9 years old—father, mother and son The streak of chance of the act of Providence that sent "Johnny" Levison home a different way from that he usually followed on the afternoon of May 21, saved him from becoming the victim of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb. After missing Levison the slayers took Robert Franks.

Even these two youths, whose childhood was spent in dreams of murder and crime, were infected by the spirit that "Johnny" brought to court. They laughed wholeheartedly at him on the stand.

They laughed when "Johnny" wrinkled his tanned and freckled and pudgy nose and naively pointed his finger at Loeb as he would point if teacher asked him who threw the spit-ball.

Sensing but not comprehending what might have been, "Johnny" climbed into the witness chair today to tell of seeing Richard Loeb at the Harvard School on the afternoon when he and Leopold were hunting for a victim.

Whatever the defense might have thought about putting him on the stand "Johnnny" had the greatest experience of his life.

Clad in sport shirt and knickers with stockings rolled to his knees brown of face, of hands and of knees, for he had come from Kennebeck Beach, Maine, where he is spending his vacation. the crowded room laughed with him as he smiled gleefully.

Justice Caverly leaned over the railing of the bench and asked. "How old are you?"

"Nine and a half," was the reply.

"You go to school?"

"Yes."

"What school do you go to?"

"Harvard School."

"Do you know what it means to tell the truth?"

"Sure."

"Do you know what it is to swear falsely."

"Yes."

"And what do they do with people who swear falsely?"

"Put them in jail."

Loeb Smiles at Intended Victim.

After he had squirmed into the high backed chair he leaned over and, with clasped hands and elbows on his knees. answered the questions of an assistant state's attorney intently.

"Do you know the defendant, Richard Loeb?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"Do you see him here in the court room and will you point him out?"

"Yes. sir."

Loeb, who just missed being "Johnny's" slayer, joined in the general smile as the boy indicated him with pointed hand.

"Will you tell the court, John, if you saw defendant, Loeb, and if you did, where?"

"I saw him at the school yard."

"Did you have a conversation with him, with Richard Loeb?"

"He just said, "hit it out."

"What were you doing at that time?"

"Playing baseball."

It is virtually certain that both Leopold and Loeb will be witnesses in their own defense. Relatives also will testify. This, it is planned will follow alienists' reports.

The defense is cautious about talking now, Both Bachrach and Clarence S. Darrow say they want some little surprises for the court There is only conjecture as to what it might be.

The audience is at least 90 per cent. women, mostly bobbed.

AMERICAN FLIERS WARMLY WELCOMED.

Above you see the three American 'round-the-world p'.n-s just after they had landed at La Bourget flying field in Paris on Bastile Day. The holiday crowds began to swarm on the field as soon as the planes touched the ground. In the group the American fliers are surrounded by high army officers and officials of the French government. They were due to take off to-day from England for the Orkneys on the first leg of their Arctic lap across the North Atlantic, and are expected to arrive at Reykjavik on Friday.

CAR HURLED 160 FEET A BY TRAIN

Stalled on Crossing — Son Killed Instantly and Father Injured.

NEAR DORCHESTER.

DORCHESTER, Ont., July 30.—A fatal railroad crossing accident occurred shortly after two o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Lee's Crossing about three miles west of Dorchester Mr. Robert Strathdee, storekeeper at Wyton and his son, Clive, a lad of 13-years of age, were returning home from visiting Mr. Strathdee's mother their engine stalled and the car stopped directly in the path of No. 12 mail train, which left London at 2:05 p.m. The terrific force of the impact hurled the heavy touring car a distance of one hundred and sixty feet and reduced it to a shapeless mass of broken steel.

The father, who was at the wheel, was thrown three hundred feet, and the son was instantly killed the body being badly mangled. The front of the locomotive was also considerably damaged.

First aid was given the injured man by the train crew and he was taken to Ingersoll Hospital.

After the coroner, Dr. Doane, of Harrietsville, viewed the remains, the body was brought to Dorchester.

At the hospital it was found that Mr. Strathdee had suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and considerable bruises. He was removed to his home last night.

BOUNDARY DISPUTE WAGES IN IRELAND

Privy Council Committee Decides It Is Impossible to Institute Commission Without Ulster's Consent.

LONDON, July 30th.—(United News).—The judicial committee of the priviy council has decided it is impossible to institute the proposed Ulster boundary commission without Ulster's consent, the Daily Express has learned. This action will necessitate new parliamentary legislation. It is likely that there will be a sharp discussion with Ireland as even President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State has threatened trouble unless the boundary is revised.

The Irish treaty which set up separate governments in Ulster and in southern Ireland, stipulated that a joint commission should be appointed to define a just boundary line between the two governments.

Portions of three of the six counties composing Ulster would be affected by such a commission's decision and if the territory were submitted to a plebicite it is undoubted that three states would substantially gain in area and population.

Ulster which functions under a government set up by the treaty, refuses to be bound by the document because she "was not a party to the making of it."

NEW LEGISLATION.

LONDON, July 30. — Legislation to amend the treaty between Britain and Ireland is foreshadowed in the newspapers.

It is stated that the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council which was recently entrusted with the task of examining the position created by Ulster's refusal to appoint a representative on the boundary commission, has unanimously decided that the only way to constitute the commission is by new legislation in the Imperial parliament which would bind Ulster and the Irish Free State governments.

FARMER'S FATAL FALL.

Scaffold Collapsed as He Finished Shingling the Barn.

MORRISBURG, Ont., July 30.—Thomas Gordon, 70, prominent farmer of this district and former well known building contractor of Ottawa, died at his home near here Tuesday from the effects of injuries suffered when a scaffold gave way from under him early Saturday evenin when he had completed the shingling of the barn.

PLANE CRASHED INTO HILL TOP

Aviator on Forest Patrol Was Descending Through Storm Clouds.

HIS NOSE BROKEN.

CALGARY, Alta., July 30.—Cutting down through the storm-banked clouds while doing forest patrol duty in his airplane in the Porcupine Hills district on Monday, George Mercer, aviator, crashed into the top of a hill that was hidden by the low lying clouds and wrecked his airplane. Mercer broke his nose but was not seriously injured.

The place where the accident occurred is at the south end of the Coleman. The airplane is one of the old types and was given to Canada by the British Govrenment. It would have been replaced this fall by a new model. The engine was working perfectly at the time and this was in no way accountable for the crash.

CHRISTMAS TREES UNDER U S EMBARGO

Fear Gypsy Moth in Quebec Trees Spreading to Vermont.

MONTREAL, July 30.— Action of the United States Department of Agriculture in imposing a quarantine on Christmas trees from the Eastern Townships of Quebec owing to the fear that the gypsy moth pest in North Vermont may spread to Quebec is not causing much anxiety among dealers in these goods in this province. It is believed that by the time the trees are to be cut the situation will have changed to permit of their export. That will not be before the month of November when considerable quantities are shipped across the line from Quebec province and the maritime provinces.

AT SUGAR ISLAND.

TWEED, July 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Philip, of Toronto, with their children, Dorothy and Bobbie, and Mr. Philip, Sr., of Dundee, Scotland, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ketcheson at Sugar Island, Stoco Lake.

RAINS REVIVE HOPES OF WEST

Alberta Looking For Average Crop—Rains General Tuesday.

A GREAT BENEFIT.

WINNIPEG, July 30. — Heavy rains of the past week throughout the prairie provinces were supplemented by further precipitation yesterday. A generous downpour was reported from points in Saskatchewan, which had suffered from the protracted drought. These districts report that the rain is urgently needed for summer fallow and that it will materially relieve the crop and feed situation.

Heavy rainfall was also general in the territory tributary to Saskatoon. In Alberta the downpour, according to reports, will prove of incalculable benefit to all crops.

The moisture was badly needed and hopes are beginning to revive that Alberta will have a considerable "come-back" and that there will be a fair average crop after all.

Light rain was general in Manitoba, but sufficient moisture has already fallen in that province for the crops in their final stage of growth.

Save Feed Situation.

REGINA, Sask., July 30. — "The grain, which was just on the borderline of danger from the prolonged drought, will be saved and crops even in the best areas will benefit," said F. H. Auld, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, when yesterday's rain had been reported general over the province.

"It has come too late to save the wheat in a few scattered areas," he continued, "but the chief value is that the feed situation is now reasonably safe. Even in the dry districts a second growth of oats will come along, which will insure the farmers feed for their stock."

Hail and Cloudburst.

SHAUNAVON, Sask., July 29. — One of the heaviest and most damaging hailstorms in the history of this district swept over Shaunavon, and the neighboring territory on Monday afternon.

Many barns were destroyed by the strong wind, while livestock was struck by lightning on several farms. No human fatalities have been reported.

The hail loss in the area affected reported as heavy, although it is impossible to estimate even approximately the damage to the crops.

The streets in the town were level with water and gardens suffered badly from the veritable cloudburst.

The storm lasted for about twenty minutes.

THE WEATHER.

Highest point reached yesterday 89 degrees (the highest of the present year); lowest last night 64 degrees (the warmest night to date.) This summer is proving to be much like that of 1920 and 1922, having little extreme heat. Rainfall last night .08 of an inch. The total rainfall last July was but three-quarters of an inch; this year the total is about 3 inches.—W.P.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 29.—George D. McDougall, for the past several years chief mechanical engineer for the British Empire Steel Corporation has tendered his resignation and will retire from the organization within a few days.

Mr. McDougall when asked today regarding his resignation, confirmed the report, adding that he had nothing further to say for the present.

BRITAIN'S CUBS TO HAVE PAW IN EMPIRE AFFAIRS

System of Dominion Representation Will Be Altered—Meeting in October.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

War Service Earned Right to be Consulted on Grave Issues.

LONDON, July 30.—The British Government has determined to alter the entire system of dominion representation, J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Colonies, declared on Tuesday in the House of Commons during the discussion on the vote for the Colonial Office. Mr. Thomas said the system of dominion representation at the present inter-allied conference was not satisfactory, and that the Government had decided to invite the dominions to send delegations to a conference which will consider the whole situation and avoid the difficulties hitherto encountered. It is hoped that the conference may be held in October.

MERITED BY SACRIFICES.
(Canadian Press Cable.)

LONDON, July 30.—J. H. Thomas, colonial secretary, was a guest of the South African club at a luncheon here yesterday, and in an address said the sacrifices made by the dominions in the war compelled recognition of the fact that in all issues of peace or war the dominions must be consulted.

"Nothing has been more painful to me," Mr. Thomas said, "than the announcements of disagreement and differences between our dominions and ourselves a few weeks ago when we were discussing the question of representation by the British empire at the inter-allied conference because the enemies of the British empire would try to take advantage of these differences for their own purpose.

"Therefore, speaking quite officially, not only as secretary of state for the colonies but on behalf of his Majesty's government, I can only say to you and to the world at large that we are determined to straighten these things out and determined to bring about a conference of all the dominions where we will sit round a table and drag these things out as friends, freely and frankly."

STATUS OF COMMISSIONERS.
(Canadian Press Cable.)

LONDON, July 30.— The question of the status of the high commissioners for the dominions and India in London has at last been settled, after a long period of doubt thereon. J. H. Thomas, colonial secretary, made an announcement of the matter in the house of commons yesterday.

Henceforth on ceremonial occasions the high commissioners will take precedence immediately after the members of the cabinets of the British, Dominion and Indian governments, Mr. Thomas stated. When no members of the imperial cabinet or cabinets of the dominions or India are present the high commissioners will take precedence immediately after that accorded to the secretaries of state by the table of precedence.

The question of the status of the dominion high commissioners has come up frequently of late years and the late Baldwin government interested itself in the problem shortly before its retirement, and asked the high commissioners themselves for their views on it. However the question was left as a legacy to the MacDonald government, which has settled it, as announced by the colonial secretary to-day.

HOUSE COLLAPSED

Three Storey Building in Montreal Tumbled Into Street.

MONTREAL, July 29.— Pedestrians, workmen and horses drawing wagons had narrow escapes from injury here to-day when a three-storey vacant building on St. Dominique street, in the downtown district, slowly collapsed and sent an avalanche of bricks, mortar and wood into the street. It is thought that the wrecking of adjacent buildings had weakened the foundations of the structure. There were no casualties.

CALLS EUROPE VAST ARSENAL

Socialist M.P. Says Nations Should Demand Truth of Menacing Situation.

LONDON, July 30.—"Europe at the present moment is a vast arsenal. At any moment some section of the community might apply the match that would plunge it into all the horrors of another great war."

Edmund D. Morel, Socialist Member of Parliament for Dundee, and well-known authority on foreign affairs utters the above warning in an amazingly outspoken interview published here, in which he shows that nearly every European country is making wholesale preparations for war.

Morel is widely known for his activity in connection with misruled races. He visited the United States in 1904 and inaugurated a movement against misrule in the Congo, and has published many books on the World War and its relation to foreign policies.

He charges that the real danger point is to be found in powerful industrial and financial interests in France, and calls for the convocation of an international conference on the armaments problem and the political and economic issues which have created it.

Extensive Output.

"There is going on at the present moment," Morel declares, "a more extensive output of war material than at any time since the peace. The chief centres of production are two—the Skoda works in Czecho-Slovakia and the Austrian State factories. French influence and French money are directing both. In the spring of this year the French owned shares in the Skoda company worth $10,000,000; the managing director and the chief technical experts are Frenchmen. I go as far as to say that France now controls practically the whole war mechanism of Czecho-Slovakia.

"War material is being produced in enormous quantities at the Austrian State factories. During the past fifteen months Yuko-Slavia has been supplied by the Austrian factories with 1,000,000 Mauser rifles, 1,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, 133 wagonloads of infantry ammunition, two wagonloads of machine guns, large quantities of field guns, and an immense amount of smaller material.

Small Nations, too.

"Rumania has placed large orders for shells, guns and ammunition which are now in process of execution. Poland is also a large purchaser, among the items already delivered to her being 35,000,000 pieces of 7.9 millimetre ammunition and 34 wagonloads of smaller ammunition.

Questioned as to how Austria manages to manufacture such an enormous amount of material in her present supposed poverty-stricken state, Morel declared: "She is being enabled to do it with the aid of the French taxpayers' money, by which I mean loans that these smaller countries are able to purchase the material.

"Members of the Little Entente are also placing orders in Britain for war materials," Moral added.

Charges "Conniving."

"Under the treaty, Austria is not a free agent and is not allowed to manufacture war materials. The orders to the Austrian State factories could not even have been placed, let alone executed, without the direct knowledge of the Conference of Ambassadors. The only conclusion is that some of the Allied Powers are deliberately conniving at it. Under our very noses French finance is making Europe into a powder magazine.

"If the Continent of Europe is to be saved from another war," Morel concludes, "the people of Britain and other countries must cease to live in a world of illusions. They must demand the whole truth, and the convocation, before it is too late, of an international conference on this problem."

CEYLON JEWELS ON EXHIBITON AT WORLD FAIR

Millions of Pounds of Jewels of All Kinds Are Guarded Closely Day and Night.

MANY SAPPHIRES.

WEMBLEY, July 30. —(Special-.—Two or three morish gentlemen sit round a little table in the Ceylon Pavilion of the exhibition—they are Mr. N. D. H. Abdul Cafoor's guardians for the million pounds worth of jewels which Ceylon has sent to Wembley to bring a little of the East's rich splendour into the drab and colorless West. If you have the Open Sesame of the journalist's pen or even the eyes of the mere lover of beauty you might be able to induce the master of the jewels to unlock that great black ponderous safe within which a King's ransom is hiding. The Queen of England, Queen Marie of Roumania, the Queens of Spain and Denmark and many other great and charming ladies have seen this treasure.

I sat on one side of the table with just a square matter-of-fact blotting pad between myself and Mr. Cafoor. He leant over and took out a little leather bag, turned it upside down and spilled what it held out on to the white blotting paper. Thirty thousands pounds worth of sapphires shone in front of me—it was as if all the blue of the heavens had been concentrated into that wonderful pool of jewels. I took up one sapphire valued at sixteen thousand pounds and rolled it across the white paper. Its beauty, as it caught the light, was beyond the beauty of an inanimate thing it seemed alive. Then Mr. Cafoor's long, tapering fingers swept the sapphires back into their bag, and out of the darkness of his safe came a great black ebony box from which he spilled eight thousand pearls upon the table. I played with them, lifted them, let them run through my fingers as if they were rice, and all the time I knew they would buy a house in Park Lane or all the motor cars at a Buckingham Palace garden party. I did not really think of that until afterwards,—it was not a very beautiful thought. The pearls had sufficient beauty in themselves to make comparisons unnecessary. Some of them were pale, pale as the throat of Milady. Some of them had more life in them and they reminded me of the first Sunday afternoon when I saw the Peter Pan statute beside the Serpentine. It had been raining and the drops of water were hanging to Peter Pan's ears like pearls such as these upon the table.

We scooped up the pearls and they all danced back into the box—some of them sad and grey, some of them yellow, like little globs of cream, and some of them faintly tinged with pink, that pink you find only on the tops of icy mountains when the first morning sun brings a blush to the chaste white cheeks of the snow.

The ebony box went back into the blackness and out came some little boxes with those nice ruffled velvet insides which are half the joy in possessing a beautiful jewel. There was a cat's eye floating a a setting of diamonds and it was worth two thousand pounds. There was a ruby, redder than a harvest moon, redder than blood and as it lay upon the palm of my hand it seemed to burn with beauty until my hand trembled. Some pieces of jewellery were so old that the pale hands and throats which first wore them long ago become dust blown to ignomony across the Indian hills. In some of them the gold was so fine and frail that it seemed to tremble like a spider's web turned into gold by the finger of Midas. Then all these were whisked away and there came one string of pearls which took thirty years to complete. It was beautiful and too wonderful to have a price in these corrupt days when we judge everything by that ostentatious pound sign which, even in the expression the printer gives it, looks like an unworthy little god which we wrongly worship. In this string of pearls, some were pink and some were grey and one was green; that dreamy green of deep sea pools filled with shafts of sunlight. One was blue, one was purple and another white—so white that the paper on which it lay looked grey and dingy. For a moment a little ivory elephant stood before me, its back covered with gems and then came another little hill of pearls strung together, perfectly matched and delicate beyond any adjectitve.

Mr. Cofoor has brought these jewels to London, half to give us a glimpse of the richness of Ceylon, and half to sell them. But, it is not with the hand or the eye of a dealer that he spills them out on the table for you in all their million pounds worth of glory—it is rather with the air of a child playing with a great treasure, a king tumbling his jewels on to the table in the days before jewellers came along to harness beautiful things into shop windows and unceremoniously attach price tickets to them.

YOUTH WAS DROWNED.

Joseph McQuade, of Seaforth, Met Death Yesterday Afternoon.

SEAFORTH, Ont., July 30. — (Canadian Press). — Joseph McQuade, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McQuade, of Beachwood, was drowned in the river about one and three-quarter miles from here, yesterday afternoon while swimming.

NOVEL METHOD TO CHECK SPEEDSTER

Bump in Roadway at Street Intersections Effectively Ends Danger.

How to force motorists to observe the speed limits on the highways and in the towns and villages is a problem engaging the attention of the municipal auhtorities all over the country. In some sections the police are relied upon to do this and the fines collected from the motorists who have "stepped on it," are believed to make a not inconsiderable part of the resources in many localities.

The trouble with this system is that only those who happen to be caught in the "speed trap," or have been spotted by an officer, contribute. Hundreds are missed and others escape through special circumstances. Some years ago there was a legend to the effect that in a certain town with newly paved streets the only ones privileged to drive through at more than 12 miles per hour, were the inhabitants, or those driving a certain make of car. Since then the streets of that delectable burg are in such shocking repair that no one dreams of exceeding a most modest rate of seed if he has any regard for the springs of his car. The holes in the pavement act as an automatic governor on the speed of all cars passing through.

It is surprising how many places use this system of curbing speeders. By leaving the roadways roughly paved or neglecting to repair the ordinary wear and tear on the main thoroughfares they ensure cautious driving and the enforcement of the regulations as to speed gives them no trouble. Rough pavements in the towns with good roads on the highways are very common in Ontario, and across the line, even in the home of good roads, New York State, but one little town in Texas claims to have solved the problem of how to have good roads and no speeding, without the use of either speed traps of a special force of police. The method is simple: Across each roadway, a few feet from every street crossing, there is a strip about two feet broad and from six to eight inches high. This can be negotiated quite easily at moderate speed but if a car hits it, when travelling at all fast, everyone in it, driver and passenger, collides very violently with the roof. After that all crossings are approached very circumspectly.

CLEAR UP BEFORE CLEARING OUT.

Motorists leave impressions of themselves at their last camping grounds.

If they don't care for anyone else following them, they leave the grounds with rubbish scattered about and camp-fire still smoldering. But they should be as considerate for others as they would want others to be for them.

Rubbish should be cleared up, burned or buried in a ditch which should be covered over. And the last smoking ash of a camp-fire should be completely deadened to avoid fire.

A Busy Day at the Bathing Beach

LOCAL EMPLOYMENT.

Opportunities For Work on the Farm Are Not Grasped.

Despite the rather acute unemployment situation prevailing in Peterboro, this city is the banner centre of the Midland district, contends Mr. Hugh Robertson, local agent of the Ontario Employment Bureau, who stated that throughout the Province industries are dull, at the present time.

"The registrations for employment have naturally slackened, as we have had little incucements of late," said Mr. Robertson.

Applications for farm laborers have been steady, and ten vacancies remain unfilled at the present time.

The local agency has averaged about eight placements weekly on the farm. Three men yesterday and two this morning were placed with farmers.

Mr. Robertson stated that farmers generally want a helper for two or three months, with an occasional applicant asking to hire by the year. A few others only want a man for a few days to help with the haying.

PECULIAR FIRE.

Cellar Full of Smoke But No Blaze.

The Fire Department received a call this morning from Mr. Carrol's residence, 788 Water Street.

"The cellar is full of smoke and we can't find any fire," the party declared.

Chief Gimblett, with a couple of men, drove quickly to the scene. On examination it was found that the ground wire leading from the switch box to a water pipe had been burning. With little difficulty the smouldering was stopped.

The electric current was still on, and it's a miracle the blaze did not spread. Electric wires, if ignited, can rapidly set a building in flames," said Chief Gimblett.

WATCH FOR "BEATS"

If you hear a constant pitch whistle while receiving, some broadcasting station, generally nearby, not transmitting on its assigned wavelength. This whsitle or "beat" is produced by the carrier waves of two broadcasting stations. Waves are assigned far enough apart to avoid this.

CAVAN PERSONALS.

CAVAN, July 30.—Mr. and Mrs J. Martin spent the week-end with friends at Cavan.

Miss Muriel Howson has returned from a visit with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clegg spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. E. Syer.

S. S. Staples shipped a car of cattle and lambs from Cavan station on Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Keegan has returned to Rochester, to resume her duties in the Homoepathic Hospital as nurse in training, after spending her vacation at her home.

Miss Muriel Matchett accompanied her cousin Miss Phyllis Franks to Lifford on Tuesday. Miss Franks will visit friends there before returning to her home at Kitchener.

COX DENIED REQUEST.

Vandenhecke Was Executed This Morning at 12.13 O'clock.

BOSTON, July 30. — (Canadian Press).—Governor Cox to-day denied the request for an eleventh hour reprieve in the sentence of death imposed on Cyrille Vandenhecke, formerly of Renfrew, for the killing of Gislain Schurman at Lawrence six years ago. He said there were no circumstances that seemed to warrant interference with the finding of the jury and the sentence of the court. Vandenhecke was executed in the electric chair at Charlestown State Prison at 12.13 this (Wednesday) morning.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

If there were no risks in business would profits be possible? Why?

Answered by

BARNET NOVAR,

Lecturer and Writer on Practical Economics.

* * *

Taking risks and running a business are as closely related as a bar of soap and a bath.

The business man, however cautious, is daily faced with the necessity of making decisions that may prove costly or profitable. He may sink a lot of money in machinery, advertising or finished products that may prove to be wasteful.

The business man always has the necessity of anticipating a future demand and supply before him and providing himself with the raw materials and labor necessary to produce the supply and meet the demand.

If he has calculated correctly he may make a profit, if not he will lose no matter how hard his efforts have been.

Were all risks to be eliminated in business the competition would become so keen as to do away with the possibility of profits.

PROHIBITIONISTS SLAIN.

Battle Between Bootleggers and Officers Was Staged.

WILMINGTON, N.C., July 30.—(Canadian Press). — A posse despatched from here to Phoenix, Brunswick County, last night, upon receipt of reports of a battle between prohibition officers and bootleggers, found the bodies of Deputy United States Marshall Lilly and City Prohibition Agent Leon George in their automobiles, two miles from town. Both bodies were riddled with bullets fired at close range, and George's police dog also was found dead in the car. The posse, consisting of fifty police and county officers, went armed with riot guns to meet any exigency.

NEWFOUNDLAND DEFICIT.

Defiicit For the Fiscal Year Is Over a Million Dollars.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 30.—(Canadian Press)—A deficit of more than a million dollars for the fiscal year ending June is shown in the report of Sir John Crosbie, Minister of Finance for Newfoundland, in the annual budget statement presented to the Legislature.

In his report the Minister of Finance states that the deficit was due in part to the removal in duties and partly to the large overdrafts which, he asserts, were avoidable if proper economy were exercised.

ENQUIRIES AT POST OFFICE

On the subject of co-operation with the Post Office there is still another way in which you can help and that is by avoiding unnecessary enquiries. Just because your friend doesn't receive that letter when you thought he would, or neglects to acknowledge it, is no proof that it is lost. Perhaps it wasn't posted. IT MAY STILL BE IN SOMEONE'S POCKET—or tucked away in a corner. First be sure it was actually posted and correctly addressed. Then, be sure that the addressee did not receive the article—if possible get a definite statement covering this.

If you neglect the above points and rush in with your enquiry, in many cases you cause unnecessary work and expense to the Post Office and delay many legitimate enquiries or hold up other mail—perhaps your own or a friends. You do not want to do that, we feel sure, so please co-operate by avoiding hasty enquiries.

PETERBORO - BELLEVILLE - KINGSTON - BROCKVILLE

AUTO SENSE - - KEEP DIFFERENTIAL LUBRICATED - - By Williamson

The differential is a rather complicated device designed to deliver the same power to each wheel when the car is making a curve and the outer wheels are required to turn faster than those on the inside. Just how the differential works is of no particular importance to the average man, for it is difficult to get to and it is usually more economical to take the car to a garage if trouble should develop in this device.

However, it is important to understand the way the power is transmitted from the shaft to the differential. There is a pinion on the rear end of the drive shaft which works against a ring gear that encircles the differential gear housing and delivers the power directly to the rear axle, except when the car is on a curve.

Unless the axle housing, which surrounds the differential housing, is kept filled to the proper level with lubricant, the wear on the pinion and ring gears will be excessive, causing what is known as a "lash." If the differential gets noisy, makes a dull hum, and lost motion is noticed in moving the car back and forth in gear, it is usually a sign of wear and play in the gears. The pinion should be moved back far enough to make a firm fit into the ring gear. If there is a play in it you may break a tooth or strip a gear by engaging the clutch suddenly or making a heavy ull. The adjustment on most cars is made by an adjusting bolt on the drive shaft, just ahead of the axle housing.

In lubricating the differential, never use a solid grease, such as is used in filling grease cups. The gear will cut a path through this and leave it packed on the sides of the housing. Use a heavy oil or grease made for this purpose.

At least once a year, the axle and differential housing should be drained, flushed out with kerosene and refilled with fresh grease.

THE CHICAGO PLAN.

The trial of Leopold and Loeb, the Chicago millionaires' sons, charged with murder, is featured by one aspect that has attracted considerable attention, and that is the manner in which the newspapers have been used by both prosecution and defence to put their case before the public.

Even before the trial got under way the newspaper readers knew all about the plans of the prosecution, what witnesses would be called and just about what they would say, and similarly the nature of the defence to be put up.

One Chicago paper actually published prematurely a report of experts that was to have been used as evidence by the defence.

The main features seem to be common property.

It is difficult to imagine a similar state of affairs in regard to a murder trial on this side of the line.

Crown attorneys here do not take the newspapers into their confidence.

They make their own plans and they develop their case in the court-room when the trial begins—not in the columns of the papers days before.

And the defence usually keeps its own campaign to itself.

The Chicago plan may provide more reading matter for the people, but whether it serves the interest of justice as well is open to question.

THE CURVE LAKE BALL CLUB.

The advent of the Curve Lake Indian baseball team into organized baseball as represented by the East Peterborough League furnishes a novel feature in connection with local sportdom.

An Indian baseball team is not itself unique inasmuch as the Hiawatha Indians years ago had a formidable nine.

But it is something new for the Indians of the district to compete in the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association series, and the Chemong club is therefore a colourful addition, very popular with those who follow the fortunes of baseball.

The Indians of the Continent have not taken to the diamond game as generally as might be expected from a race distinguished by keenness of eye and fleetness of foot, qualities developed by their outdoor life.

There have been, of course, some noted Indian baseball players.

The great Sockalexsis was one of the first to win fame in the highest ranks of the professional game, and in more modern times there have been such well-known Indian players as Chief Bender, famous pitcher when the Athletics were in their prime; Chief Meyers, hard-hitting catcher of the New York Giants, and Jim Thorpe, one of the finest all-round athletes of his time.

These, however, are the exceptions that prove the rule.

The Chemong players show the keenness of their vision in the successful manner in which they swing their bats, but they have not yet developed the fine points of fielding.

When they build up a defence equal to their offensive ability the Curve Lakers will be a dangerous team.

As it is, they are a welcome addition to the ranks of amateur baseball.

CANADA'S EXPENDITURES.

An analysis by the Citizens' Research Institute of the cost of government in Canada for the year ending March 31st, 1923, contains some interesting figures.

The current deficits of the National Railways and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine are included, as the institute believes that municipal, Provincial and National Governments should include in each year's current costs the net deficits on publicly-owned and controlled trading operations.

There are only two ways of meeting such deficits, either borrowing money or increasing taxation.

Unless it is practically certain that deficits will be wiped out in the very near future by increased revenues, the first method of financing would seem to be extremely dangerous.

The only safe way of meeting necessary current deficits on trading operations is to consider them a charge against current ordinary revenue.

The institute's figures as to expenditure are given on a per capita basis.

It cost $15.90 for every man, woman and child in Canada in 1922-23 to meet the debt charges.

Subsidies to the various Provinces represented a per capita expenditure of $1.39.

Twelve cents a head was the amount spent on subsidies and subventions to mail and steamship services.

The cost of general government, including administration of departments, cost of living, bonus, etc., was $4.09 per capita.

Military and naval expenditures, including soldiers' civil re-establishment, demobolization and pensions, etc., are figured at $7.75 per head of population.

Public works, under which head are grouped the maintenance and rent of public buildings, roads and to navigation, etc., cost $1.82 per capita, and railways and canals $1.75.

Canada spent $3.55 for every citizen in maintaining his post-office in 1922, and 76 cents per head in the administration of justice.

Colonization and immigration represented a per capita expenditure of 27 cents; agriculture, fisheries and mines, $1.02; lands and parks, 49 cents, and miscellaneous, 35 cents.

The per capita share of the deficits on the Canadian National Railways and Government Merchant Marine was $7.69, giving a grand total per capita expenditure of $46.95.

Hon. Mr. Motherwell can find no sign of a farmers' strike in Ontario. Neither can anybody else.

A STRANGE MAN PASSES.

He became a town character in Grand Rapids, Mich., and won his nickname, "Home Made," because for years he lived up to his boast that he could make every article he needed except food. As for food, he could have grown enough to keep alive. The telegraph wires neglected to say why he failed to garden. Maybe because he was so busy making things he needed.

His name was Frank Way. He died the other day at 69. They buried him in a coffin he made a year ago when his health began to slip.

Here was a man with personality if there ever was one.

We don't know what prompted Frank Way, 23 years ago, to try to make himself entirely independent of the labor of others. Psycho-analysts probably would say he had some sort of "self-complex."

He made his own shoes, hats, trousers, shirts, even his own cigars and false teeth.

Far back in the mists of time all men did this. They had to. Then they observed that, for instance, one man made arrow-heads faster than any one else—and was slow at killing wild game for food. Another had a knack for erecting houses. So each specialized at the thing he could do best—and, since he produced more than he could use, he bartered the products of his toil for the products of others.

This started commerce and specialization. It made life easier for all. Frank Way didn't need to prove that a man can be self-sustaining. It's been proven before, millions of times. The idea, of course, fires popular imagination—this being completely independent. Witness the popularity of the exploits of Robinson Crusoe. Even he, however, had to get help—his man Friday.

There's a bit of a joke on Frank Way, after all. To be "self-sustaining" over a period of 23 years, he had to work an average of 12 hours a day. And he wasn't self-sustaining at all.

He boasted that he made his own cigars. A lot of us roll our own cigarettes and fill our pipes. But we don't grow the tobacco ourselves. We don't cure it, blend it, haul it to us from the source of production. Nor did Frank Way.

It was so with everything he made. Hundreds of men had each his little share of effort represented in every bit of raw material Frank Way used—for instance, the nails he drove in his home-made shoes.

There is no independence from our fellowmen as long as we live among them and want even the simplest of necessities. We are all interdependent, though usually we stupidly forget this truth and oppose each other.

THE MARKET RIGGER AND THE FARMER.

Speculators are rigging the wheat market in Chicago and their manipulations are creating an unrest which extends far and amounts almost to panic.

The price of wheat for future delivery has been rocketting skywards lately and yesterday bearish reports of black rust and a damaging drought brought new high prices for this year's market, with a gain of more than 6 1-2 cents for July wheat and over seven cents for October delivery on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

It sounds a fair presumption at first sight to regard the sudden gain in prices for future deliveries as a potential benefit to the growers of wheat and the farmers of the Western Prairies. Their staple crop is wheat, and although the yield is not yet harvested, growers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba can make their contracts now, deliver their wheat in October and take the profit between the cost of raising their crop and the quoted price. If they planted their seed in the expectation of getting ninety cents for the harvested crop and the price today is $1.42 for July and $1.35 for October delivery, the grain grower would appear to have little to complain of.

The question is not so simple, however, as it appears to be on its face. The day has gone past when the farmer waits until his crop is harvested, draws his grain to the elevator and accepts a cheque for his produce at the price prevailing at that point on the day of sale. Market prices are sent to the grain growers by telegraph and radio and no sooner is the seed in the ground than the farmer begins to watch the fluctuations at Chicago and Winnipeg. He catches the fever of speculation and buys and sells wheat with the zest of the market neophyte.

The farmer who sells his grain while it is yet green in the blade takes a speculative risk. If the market goes higher than that at which he agreed to sell weeks before harvest, he has robbed himself of a potential profit and the speculator and the market rigger are the gainers by the difference in price. If his crop does not come up to expectations he will in all likelihood have to go on to the Grain Exchange and buy more wheat at the advanced price to make up the shortage, so that he can deliver the quantity which he has contracted to sell.

The banks who have to finance more than eighty per cent. of the wheat growers of the West naturally frown upon speculation by the grower on account of the risk which it entails, knowing that in case of loss the debt will have to be paid largely by themselves in the form of deferred payment of due notes or still more heavily in the financial ruin of the farmer. They rightly distrust such market fluctuations as are revealed in the reports from Winnipeg and Chicago from day to day. They are suspicious of frenzied buying and hectic selling which elevates and depresses sales with a panicky rapidity.

It is quite obvious that the large slice of the profit of the recently enhanced prices will be swallowed up by the speculators and not by the growers. It is an axiom in the grain trade that sudden increases in grain prices advance the price of bread to the consumer, but give the farmer no corresponding profit. This is doubly true under the conditions that exist today. There is grave suspicion that one of the American political parties is angling for the vote of the Farmers' bloc and in order to obtain this is conducting a widespread system of pernicious propaganda the chief feature of which is the publication and the telegraphing of misleading reports about Canada's crop prospects. First of all came the stories of extreme drought, and these are followed by rumors of the sudden appearance of that pest of the grain grower black rust. Whatever may be the motive that inspires them, these rumors damage the credit of the Dominion, check immigration and give grave concern to the loan companies and banks. The men who are rigging the market, whether for political or for mercenary ends or for both, are those who will benefit by the sudden rise in prices which these pernicious slanders create.—Montreal Star.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 29.—Monday's cattle at the Union Stock Yards were pretty well bought up, with a total sale of 4,507. This left about 500 head of the actual day's recipts. For the first delivery today the receipts were 58 cars, 647 cattle, 430 calves, 1,153 hogs and 646 sheep and lambs. On Monday the exporters took around 1,100 cattle. There were fat steers, stores and heifers, and the prices were $7.00 to $7.85, $6.50 to $7.25, and $6 to $6.75 a cwt., respectively. They are buying any bulls available today at $3.75 to $4.25 a cwt.

Monday's prices, except on export stuff, were no lower than last week in the butcher section, and the exports cost 10 to 25 cents a cwt. less than last week. Trade today was quiet, but prices were steady, and there was no desire among commission men to force sales. An excellent pair of calves out of the stable sold at $10 a cwt., and shows what can be had for the right quality at this time of the year.

There was only a small sprinkling of choice butcher cattle on sale and the best handyweights sold at $6.75 Good butchers' were generally $6.50, and good mediums $6 a cwt. Butchers' cows sold freely at steady prices. Good cows were $4.50 a cwt., with choice up to $5. Medium cows brought $3.50 and $3.75. Any heavy bulls were bought for export, mostly at $3.75 to $4.10. A load of 700-lb. Ontario stockers sold at $4.35 a cwt. Small, steady buying during the morning accounted for most of the stock on hand at the opening, and the hold over will consist principally of the midday delivery.

Good veals are scarce and 10 cents a pound was paid for tops.

A good sized quantity of quality calves brought 9½ cents.

Lambs primed up 25 cents today and a good many of the best ewes sold at 15¾ and 16 cents a pound. Cull lambs were 11 cents and yearlings 10 cents. John Calvert topped the market on lambs with 74 at 16 cents.

The hog market is buoyant and sellers were asking another half dollar a cwt. advance today at $9.00 a cwt. f.o.b. Prices are soaring in the States and one firm shipped three cows to Buffalo, where they met a profitable market.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 29. — Big profit-taking sales here, together with rain in Canada pulled down the wheat market today and gave a severe jolt to buyers of other grain. Nevertheless, the highest prices yet this season were reached for both corn and rye and also for hogs and provisions. Wheat closed nervous, 1-4 to 1 3-4c net lower, September $1.32 3-4 to $1.33 and December $1.35 3-4 to $1.35 7-8, with corn unchanged to 1 1-4c up, oats unchanged to 3-4c down and provisions at 12 to 52c advance.

It was a day of swift changes of front among grain traders. A notable advance in wheat quotations at Liverpool in the face of rains in Canada made the wheat opening here irregular, ranging from 1-2c decline to 7-8c gain, but heavy selling, especially on the part of houses with eastern connections, forced the market down soon, more than three cents in some cases.

Frequent rallies ensued, but except at brief intervals, the advantage remained with the bears. Export business amounting to one million bushels helped to bring about a closing rally in the wheat market and it said too that eastern interests bought back a good deal of wheat at the last. On the other hand the trade was feeling the effect of liberal marketing of newly harvested wheat both here and in the south-west. Notwithstanding big arrivals of wheat at Kansas City, however, primary receipts as a whole were smaller than was the case a year ago.

Corn showed more stubborn strength than other grain, but during much of the day was evidently responsible to wheat weakness. Warmer weather favorable for corn growth acted also as a handicap for high price enthusiasts, although a sensational advance in big values was generally regarded as likely to bring about increased feeding demand for corn.

Oats were relatively weak, owing mainly to immense sales by houses that recently have been giving the market its best support.

Rye was in good demand, with European demand apparently the chief factor.

PEOPLE DWELL IN SUGAR-CANE HOMES

It Sounds More Like a Fairy Tale or a South Seas Yarn, But It Is True.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Homes for the people made of sugar-cane. This sounds like a tale of the South Seas or fairy lore. But, according to B. G. Dahlberg in an address here, it is one of the miracles of the age that has produced the airplane, the submarine and other marvels of modern invention.

"The new synthetic lumber known as celotex," said Mr. Dahlberg, "is made of bagasse, the waste fibre of sugar cane. Out of this material which was destroyed as worthless in former years, science has evolved a fabric which, I believe, will revolutionize the home building of the world.

"It is a third lighter than natural lumber. This saves transportation costs. It is an insulator. This saves the fuel bill. It is a sound deadener. This insures quiet and privacy in homes. Children can romp without disturbing the neighbors. Noises of the outer world that wrack the nerves are shut out. Home-insulation means saner, healthier, happier people. It is water-proof, weather-proof and proof against decay.

"Our forests are gradually being devastated. Unless careful methods are taken to preserve the forests, the world will be without timber some time in the future. But there is an inexhaustible supply of bagasse in the world's sugar plantations, a supply that is renewed every year. We have wondered what would become of the world when timber is exhausted. We have wondered what the world would do for fuel when the coal mines give out. The first of these problems is now solved. In time the second will be solved also."

Mr. Dahlberg said the synthetic lumber mills near New Orleans are now turning out 1,500,000,000 feet of the new building material yearly which has found a market not only throughout the nation but throughout the civilized world.

PEOPLE OF EUROPE WIPING OUT RUINS

Allies Still Trying to Defeat Germany Over Terms of Peace.

NEW YORK, July 26 (United Press).—The tenth anniversary of the outbreak of the World War finds the allies still spending more time trying to defeat Germany over terms of peac than they did on the field of battle. The Germans, disarmed and at the Allies' mercy, are proving more formidable disturbers of a European settlement than when they were in battle array.

It took a little more than four years to crush the Germans in warfare. It has required nearly six years for the allies to reach a limited and guarded agreement concerning the annual amount of money Germany shall pay as indemnity. Even the total sum is still undecided, for the annual payments have not been given a terminal period. Even the method of making Germany pay is still in dispute, and gives no promise whatever of being settled in any number of decades to come.

The strangeness of this procedure does not mean that Europe will have to remain forever debating successive "Dawes reports." The repeated failures to make peace are the failures of the professional diplomatists. The people of Europe are themselves at peace and are movingwith increasing momentum toward restoration of normal conditions, without diplomacy being aware of it.

While European and American experts have gathered in London to continue the futile effort to find a way to keep Germany down and simultaneously let her get up, British financiers are discussing the possibility that Germany may soon establish a new gold basis currency that might supplant sterling's premier position in the international money market. It is extremely unlikely that a gold rentenmark will cause the financial centre of the world to move from London to Berlin. Nevertheless, the mere fact that London is making preparations to safeguard itself against such an attack shows how far Europe has travelled back to normal conditions in disregard of the quarrels of the diplomats.

The techniques of trade balances and making national budgets show a profit are affairs based on what the people themselves produce. Ever since the ending of the war, the European experts have got into the habit of believing that their figures are real and that they can make prosperity or adversity by a few pencil marks on a slip of paper. In reality, all the experts have been doing has been to find out how the people of Europe are producing goods and then translate these discoveries into figures. The people are producing faster than the experts can calculate, and it is this fact which holds out such high promise for Europe's rejuvenation.

The reason Germany has baffled the allies in peace far more than she did in war is because peace is creative and war is destructive. There is a limit to destructiveness; but there is no limit to creativeness. The people of Europe are creating by increasing speed which promises very soon to overtop all pre-war records.

The allies' calculations about terms of peace have been based on the assumption that they can foresee what creative forces will do. Nobody has ever succeeded in doing that. The reason why so many predictions have been falsified by the peace experts and the reason why prosperity is fast returning to Europe, despite pessimistic statesmanship, rest in the creative powers of the people. Another ten years will see the European chancelleries still exchanging notes about peace terms, while the people of Europe will have settled their economic future by getting back to work more intensively than ever before.

COLLEGES PREPARE WOMEN FOR WORK

Alumnae Secretary Finds They Don't Hold Their Own in Business World.

CLEVELAND, O., July 26.—Flat denial if the popular idea that college unfits girls for the old-fashioned "womanly" occupations is made by Miss Anna-Louise Slusser, alumnae secretary of the College for Women of Western Reserve University here.

In order to find out if college women were using their training for practical purposes, Miss Slusser sent questionnaires to 1500 graduates. Replies were received from 1407.

They showed that 1020, or 72 per cent of the alumnae are engaged in home making or teaching, and that very few are following business careers.

"The only other occupations well represented," says Miss Slusser, "are those of secretary, librarian and social worker. And to gain admission to these professions, additional study must be taken following completion of arts courses.

Big Problem.

"We don't question the excellence of the home making and teaching professions. But is is a well demonstrated fact that not every wman has the opportunity to become a home maker, and the teaching profession is a crowded one. The problem of the woman college graduate to-day is much the same as that of the old-fashioned gentlewoman suddenly cast upon her own resources: what can she do to earn her living?

"A few can afford to spend more time and money for professional trainint. They become lawyers, dentists, librarians, etc.

"But think of the business and professional opportunities open to women to-day, of which this list gives but a suggestion! The little 16-year-old graduate of business college can slip in on the strength of her varying ability to take dictation and run a typewriter, but the college woman—mature, cultivated, refined as she may be—is barred because she doesn't have the password: BUSINESS TRAINING.

Eager for Men.

"Modern business is eager to absorb all the college men who are willing to begin at the bottom. It finds all sorts of things for them to do. It never demands preliminary business training of them.

The college woman is just as willing to start at the bottom, but modern business' one place for starving women seems to be at the typewriter.

"In increasing numbers the woman college graduate wants to earn her living or must do so. If all these kinds of business need women, surely they must want the best—the college women. Is it business or is it the college which must solve the problem.?"

BELL SLEEVES.

Very wide bell sleeves and a very wide voluminous skirt characterize a French gown of figured silk which has also a very close fitting bodice, and it stops at the natural waistline.

SCALLOPED EDGES.

Scalloped edges trimmed with Valenciennes lace are very pretty on a frock of dotted Swiss in tan and white.

FLORAL PATTERNS.

One-piece dresses of white summer silk are embroidered with floral patterns or small motifs.

BANDS.

Bown and white gingham bands are used to trim a white crepe de chine dress that has long sleeves and an acordion pleated skirt.

HEE HAW AND HER NAME WAS MAUDIE

Where is That Mouse Colored Mule That Used to Cause So Much Damage.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 30.—(United Press).—Where is "Maud," the mouse colored mule that has disturbed the peace of mind of Beaver Falls townspeople since 1920 and recently caused dissension among the judges of the Superior Court?

Nobody seems to know. Town rumor has it that Maud, in a fit of temper broke away from the police and shaking the dust from her hoofs left Beaver Falls never to return.

Maud's mulish mouse colored form was first seen on the hghways and byways of Beaver Falls December 5, 1920. Borough policemen noticed her aimless wandering and took her to the police station.

Maud was cold and hungry as she stood tied near the lockup, probably dreaming of the days when she pulled an ice wagon and got at least two square meals a day for doing it. The hours passed and the question arose among the peace officers what to do with the shivering beast.

Then C. L. Householder, a citizen of Beaver Falls, happened along, and the burgess knowing Householder's kindness toward animals, he having a stable full of his own, instructed him to take Maud to his oat-bin and harbor and feed her until the owner was found.

This Householder did, and for 31 days he kept Maud and fed and kept her sheltered. Then he submitted a bill to the burgess for $19.65 to reimburse him.

"Out of Luck."

Now it seems that Householder, to use an expressive colloquialism, was "out of luck." The borough of Beaver Falls has an ordinance providing for the seizure of stray animals, but nothing is said in this ordinance about feeding and sheltering animals so seized, and the borough solicitor finally decided that the town had no authority to pay the bill.

The case was placed before the County Court, which ruled that the borough was not responsible. Householder then appealed to the State Superior Court and in the meantime decided to get rid of Maud, seeing that nobody wanted to pay for her board.

Early one Saturday morning he took Maud from her stable and led her to the police station, hitched her to a lamp post and told the burgess "Here's your mule back." The burgess wasn't so sure about it, and while he sought an opinion from the borough solicitor, the mule either broke away or was stolen and what was the last seen of Maud.

While the townspeople of Beaver Falls still speculated on the whereabouts of the mule, the State Supreme Court handed down its decision. Judge Trexler upheld the decision of the County Court that the borough was not liable to pay for the animal's shelter and board, but Judge Keller of the same court filed a dissenting opinion as follows:

"To hold that Householder can recover nothing because the ordinance does not specifically provide for the necessary care and feeding of animals it directs to be seized, I cannot agree to."

The case has aroused so much interest that the ordinance governing seizure was animals probably will be amended, but in the meanwhile the burgess and his peace officers are not so anxiously looking around for animals to seizure.

NEVER USE FEAR ON YOUNG PEOPLE

This May Jar the Juvenile Nervous System and Result in Mental Instability.

TORONTO, Ont., July 30. — Threatening disobedient children with the Bogey man, terrifying them with the policeman or scaring them with bears, lions and wild animals that eat naughty youngsters may jar the juvenile nervous system and result in mental instability later on, according to George R. Cottrelle, Supreme Treasurer of the Independent Order of Foresters in an address before a fraternal welfare conference here.

"Fear should never be used as a disciplinary measure," said Mr. Cottrelle, whose society with 165,000 members in Canada and the United States maintains a children's home at Oakville, Ont. "Some children cry when the doctor comes because they have been told he would cut their tongue out. Others have a shrinking run-away feeling when they meet a policeman because they have been trained to fear him.

"Growing childhen should be protected against fear-inspiring mental pain just as carefully as against physical wounds. A child who is originally not nervous may become so through improper training by parents.

"Bad mental habits growing out of nervousness frequently result in juvenile delinquency and crime."

Child marriages are frequent in Persia. A 14-year-old boy employed by the British army in Kermanshah in 1919 had been married twice.

Pear Salad (Individual)

One large Bartlett pear, 1½ slices canned pineapple, 1 tablespoon chopped pecans, 1 tablespoon cottage cheese, 1 candied cherry, 1 heart lettuce.

Pare the pear and cut out the core. Chop one-half slice pineapple and fill cavity. Make the cottage cheese into tiny balls and roll in chopped nuts. Put the pear on the slice of pineapple, surround with a wreath of leaves from the lettuce heart and put a cheese ball in each leaf. If any nuts are left after rolling the cheese balls add them to the pineapple stuffing. Top pear with cherry and serve.

Total calories, 284. Protein, 31; fat, 99; carbohydrate, 154. Iron, .0006 gram.

LOSE WEIGHT.

Breakfast—One-half cantaloupe, ½ cup creamed dried beef on toast, 1 sliced tomato, hot water.

Mid-morning lunch—One cup cocoa, 2 bran bread and raisin sandwiches.

Luncheon—One cup iced bouillon, radishes, olives, celery, 2 salted wafers, 1 pear salad, 2 baking powder biscuits, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup milk.

Afternoon tea—One large glass orange juice, 2 cheese and nut sandwiches.

Dinner—Four ounces broiled lean beefsteak, 1 twice baked potato, 4 tablespoons diced hoklrabi in cream sauce, 4 ounces endive with 2 tablespoons Continental dressing, 4 tablespoons pineapple water ice, 1 plain cup cake.

Bedtime—One cup whole milk.

Total calories, 3672. Protein, 397; fat, 1292; carbohydrate, 1783. Iron, .0185 gram.

This pear salad is masked with three tablespoons mayonnaise and whipped cream combined. Neufchatel cheese is used in place of cottage cheese and an extra tablespoon of nuts is added to the pineapple stuffing.

You will like creamed dried beef on toast with a sliced tomato. The tomato can be served separately or as a garnish surrounding the platter of toast.

LOSE WEIGHT.

Breakfast—Two fresh peaches, 1 bran muffin, hot water.

Luncheon—Four tablespoons vegetable hash with 1 poached egg, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 cup skimmed milk.

Dinner—One-half broiled live lobster, 1 cup shredded cabbage with lemon juice, 4 tablespoons diced carrots, 1 large slice watermelon, 1 gluten roll, 1 tablespoon melted butter.

Bedtime—One cup skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1131. Protein, 277; fat, 276; carbohydrate, 578. Iron, .0168 gram.

The melted butter is planned for the lobster.

When the carrots are tender add the juice of one orange and one tablespoon minced mint. Simmer 10 minutes and remove the "reducing" portion before adding cream for the rest of the family.

The vegetable hash should be baked rather than fried. Season well with onion and celery and serve with a poached egg mounting each portion.

The size of the peaches determines their calories but two fine fresh peaches average about 100 calories. The ordinary peach weighs about five ounces and means about 50 calories.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Breakfast—Two fresh peaches, 1 cup boiled rice with 6 dates, ½ cup cream, 1 bran muffin, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 slices French toast, 2 tablespoons maple syrup, hot water.

Mid-morning lunch — One glass egg lemonade.

Luncheon—Four tablespoons vegetable has on 1 slice whole wheat toast with 1 poached egg, 4 tablespoons cheese sauce, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 tablespoon cherry preserves, 1 tablespoon butter.

Bedtime—One cup whole milk.

Total calories, 3781. Protein, 403; fat, 1409; carbohydrate, 1969. Iron, .019 gram.

Raspberry delight is a combination of raspberry juice, lemon juice and sugar added to an equal amount of hot tea poured over crushed ice. The sugar and fruit juices have food value in carbohydrates and the fruit juices have a tonic effect. The tea merely adds to the flavor of the drink and may be a bit "cheering."

FARMERS TO PAY FOR AMOUNT OF POWER THEY USE

Rural Hydro Service in Burnbrae District to be Metred.

OBJECT TO CHANGE.

Most Consumers Have Exceeded the Power Quota Allowed on Flat Rate.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. — Hydro-electric light and power is still the main topic of discussion among the farmers of the Burnbrae, Hoard's Station and the Menie district as a representative of the Examiner found when he made a tour among those interested yesterday. There is still indecision among the customers and prospective customers of Hydro. Those who have been taking Hydro power for some years have not yet unanimously decided whether to sign the new contracts and those who had petitioned for an extension of the line are also undecided whether to carry on negotiations any further.

The substitution of the meter system for the flat rate that has prevailed for the past 12 years will the consumers say, as was stated in The Examiner Monday double their monthly bills. This may be true in some cases, where the amount of electric energy consumed was in excess of the quota allowed each customer in the old contracts. These contracts provided that the customer who paid $35 a year should use no more than 10 lights or one motor, only to run when the lights were not burning and the quota allowed was greater to the two and three horse power consumers.

Quota Exceeded

Engineer Iler of the Hydro Commission, who has charge of the Central Ontario district, told the farmers at the conference held here last week, that many of them had been exceeding their allowance and so were getting power at less than the cost of production. Some permitted their lights to burn all day while others used electric heaters not only in their homes but in some of their outbuildings. In justice to the majority of consumers, those who used only their allowance, he said, the wastage must be stopped.

What Meters Disclosed

The meters were put in about two years ago but payment on the flat rate basis continued. The meters, however, were read regularly and in this way a record was kept of the amount of electricity consumed by each customer.

Alex. Hume of Burnbrae, is one of the patrons of the system who contracted for three horse power for which the yearly charge was $75 He was one of those who never exceeded his quota and his meter shows that if he was charged on that basis his monthly bills would be smaller than under the flat rate.

This fact explains the entire situation, and it was the point which Engineer Iler sought to impress upon the consumer. If the meter system increases the rate as it would no doubt, to some of the consumers it would simply be because cerfain consumers had been getting more power than they were entitled to.

If the consumers who are objecting to the change in the system of charging can be made to understand just what that charge is intended to effect, it is likely that all objection will disappear and that the present customers will sign the new contracts and that the others who are anxious to become patrons will also accept the conditions.

There are 26 consumers of Hydro who are affected by the new rates. Of these The Examiner was unable to find any who are not opposed to change with the exception of Mr. Hume, who went on record at the meeting last week. After the matter is further discussed, however, it is likely that the new conditions will be accepted.

The consumers have until August 1st to make up their minds, the meter system taking effect from that date. They have been asked to try the new plan for a month to see just what the cost will be and it is likely that this is what will be done.

The Other Problem

Ten farmers of the district have asked for an extension of the line their understanding being that the flat rate would prevail. The Seymour Township Council was asked to pass a by-law guaranteeing the outlay for 20 years but this proposition was dropped when the farmers found that the cost system was to be changed and no action has been taken. It is expected that another meeting will be held this week for consultation.

Meyersburg Interested

Farmers in the Meyersburg district from which there is a branch here to the new power house at Dam 8, are anxious to become customers. Their action will depend upon the terms agreed upon by the Hydro in that community.

Always an Objection

Some years ago the Municipal system for lighting was changed from the flat rate to the meter cost and there was objection, consumers alleging that the cost would be excessive| There was a wastage of consumption, the monthly bills being less than under the flat rate. Lights were burned in some cases day and night, but when the meters were used the bills were less.

Service Charge

The Hydro will charge 50 per cent of the cost of the electric lines or about $50 a year for every 100-acre farm. Even at that rate it is claimed that the meter system will mean less to the consumer than the $35 a horse power that has been paid by those who have complied with the flat rate of $35 a year per horse power.

FATHER DIED TO SAVE SON

Jumped Before Engine and Threw Boy Out of Way.

BOTH KILLED.

TORONTO, July 30. — (Canadian Press).—In saving his son, Clifford, aged 14, from death under the wheels of the C.N.R. International Limited, near Rouge River Bridge, Rosebank, last evening, Joseph H. Justice, aged 42, postal worker, was almost instantly killed when hurled over a thirty-foot embankment by the train. The boy sustained a fractured skull and injuries to his shoulders and arms. Justice, who was a returned soldier, had gone with his son and Richard Henwood and his family on a picnic to Rosebank. After the meal various members separated to amuse themselves. The lad seated himself on the railway tracks, and a little to one side of the bridge. The 'flyer' approaching, Justice happened to notice his son's danger. With a rush and a shout to the boy, he cleared the intervening space between the picnic ground and the tracks, reaching the lad as the engine cleared the bridge, a few feet away. The plucky father managed to push his son from the rail, but not enough to save him from being struck by the side of the engine. Both father and son were lifted by the locomotive and flung over the embankment.

BLOW TO BARBER.

Rich Profits Bobbing Hair Will Be Stopped By False Bobs.

CHICAGO, July 30.—(Canadian Press).—Another blow has been handed the barber when he has been reaping such rich harvest bobbing and trimming ladies hair. Delegates attending the Fifth Annual Convention of the American Cosmetician's Society, declared yesterday that by September 1st., nearly everyone will be wearing false bobs. It will not make any difference what style of Bob you want, "Shingled", "Dutch", "Snakes Hips", "Bottle Opener" or otherwise, ladies will be able to get them by just calling on their favorite hair goods merchant, and because there bobs will merely slip over the hair as it is now worn, no matter whether it is bobbed or "horse and buggy style, their will be no trimming to do.

CAMPBELLFORD INSURANCE IS TO INCREASE

The Amount of Increase Will Be 15 Cents on Every One Hundred Dollars.

BEGINS AUGUST 1ST.

This Will Not Only Apply To Campbellford and District.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30.—C. A. Wilson and other insurance agents in town have been notified by the Underwriters' Association that the rate of insurance on mercantile stock is to be increased 15 cents on every $100, beginning August 1st. This new rate is not, as some people appear to imagine, to apply only to Campbellford, but is to be general. Only the more inflammable class of merchandise, such as dry goods and groceries—the latter being susceptible to damage by fire—are affected by the new rates, hardware stock and the like not being subject to the increase. The rate on buildings is to remain unchanged so far as the town is concerned.

A few years ago Campbelliford invested in an up-to-date fire apparatus, and has an efficient volunteer brigade. The loss by fire in this town is as low as that of any municipality in Ontario, according to the records. In the event of a fire in a store the use of chemicals in extinguishing a small blaze prevents loss which would otherwise be caused by water, and the same is true of furniture when a fire occurs in a private residence. In spite of the up-to-date equipment which the town possesses, the insurance rates have been raised several times since the new fire truck was purchased.

Farm Property Insurance.

The Insurance companies that belong to the Underwriters' Association have also decided to raise the rates on farm buildings. On barns and contents, except live stock, the rate in future is to be $1.00 on every $100 for a three-year policy instead of $1.25 as at present. This is on insurance of the third class, and the prices on the first, second and fourth classes are raised in about the same proportion.

On houses of the second class the new rate is to be $1.50, instead of 90 cents on every $100. The usual reduction of 10 cents on dwellings and 25 cents on barns of the buildings fitted with standard lightning rods is still to be allowed.

Business at a Loss.

The underwriters in the circular that has just been received by the agents, state that for some years fire insurance business, as far as farm buildings is concerned, has been conducted at a loss, and that the time has come when the rates must be increased or this branch of risks given up altogether. Several companies have for some time refused to accept and farm building insurance, while others, no members of the Underwriters' Association, raised their rates last November.

Mr. Wilson says that during the war the companies did not raise the rates on farm insurance although the price of almost everything else went up.

The circular states that while some farmers may object to or feel unable to pay the new schedule, they will be likely to reduce the amount of insurance carried so that their annual payments will be no greater than at present.

Temperance Workers

The Temperance people of Northumberland County will hold a meeting in Cobourg in the near future in order to organize for the vigorous campaign which it is proposed to carry on in the interests of prohibition before the vote on the plebiscite on October 23rd. When the county forces are organized branch societies will be formed in Campbellford and other places. Local option was in force in every municipality in this district with the exception of the village of Hastings long before the Ontario Temperance Act was given effect.

Ball Game Friday

On account of the large number who go to Cobourg to-day for the Masonic picnic, the Northumberland League game with Hastings which was scheduled for here this afternoon has been postponed until Friday evening at 5 o'clock.

Planting Fry

F. J. Smith received to-day 20,000 bass fry which will be placed in Crow Bay.

The same quantity was shipped to R. Lowery, who will plant them in Cassidy's Bay.

Since the opening of the season 50,000 trout fry, have been placed in the creeks of Seymour and Percy townships.

stolen by burglars, and have never been recovered.

The plaintiff, in the morning of the 22nd December, 1923, deposited the said cheque for $395.10 to his account in a bank in Peterboro, and said cheque was duty sent to Napanee for collection. The defendant, hearing from the plaintiff by 'phone that said furs had been stolen, stopped payment of the cheque, and on the twenty-fourth day of December, 1923, the said cheque was protested for non-payment, the notarial fees amounting to $2.60.

The plaintiff then sued the defendant in two branches, the first for the value of the furs, and the second, on the cheque in question.

I find the foregong as the facts in the case, and where the evidence of the plaintiff differs from that of the defendant and his witnesses, I accept the evidence of the plaintiff and disregard the evidence of the defendant and his witnesses, as in many instances the evidence of the defendant and his witnesses was very unsatisfactory.

Verdict For Plaintiff.

On the foregoing statement of facts there must be a verdict for the plaintiff for $397.70 (which includes notarial fees) and interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum from the 24th day of December, 1923, until judgment, with full costs of suit, which I so find.

Reference to the Sales of Goods Act, 1920, at the introductory portion of Section 20 and Subsection a (Rule 1) will show that it is enacted that "Unless a different intention appears, the following are rules for ascertaining the intention of the parties as to the time at which the property in the goods is to pass to the buyer:

"(a) Rule 1—Where there is an unconditional contract for the sale of specific goods in a deliverable state, the property in the goods passes to the buyer when the contract is made and it is immaterial whether the time of payment or the time of delivery or both be postponed."

I am of the opinion that this section and rule absolutely govern the case at bar, and under it when the furs were selected and the price agreed on and the furs placed in a bag and the bag fastened or sewed up by the defendant, and the price agreed upon paid (by cheque) by the defendant, the contract was absolutely complete and the property in the goods passed to the defendant absolutely. At this time the defendant had full control of the bag of furs and could have moved and taken it away without hindrance from the plaintiff. There was nothing left to be done by the plaintiff to the furs, which were in a deliverable state. It follows that the goods passed to and were the property of the defendant. The conduct of the defendant immediately after the sale, in paying Yaffe for such assistance as he gave to effect the sale and his interest in said sale shows conclusively that the defendant considered he was the owner of the goods.

The defendant in his pleas and at the trial contended that inasmuch as the plaintiff had given his promise to 'phone an express agent to call the morning following the purchase of the furs and take the package away to be shipped to the defendant at Napanee, and not doing so by reason of the loss of the furs through their being stolen, this was a condition precedent to the liability of the defendant. This is not so. The promise to so telephone was no part of the contract; it was simply an act of obligement on the part of the plaintiff, merely an act of courtesy.

At Purchaser's Risk.

It is a well understood and known principle of law that when property in goods has passed to a purchaser and the goods are paid for by the purchaser and remain with the vendor for a time at the request of the purchaser, they are so left entirely at the risk of the purchaser. This principle of law is so well known that it is difficult to find any modtrn cases bearing on the point, and one has to advert to that comparatively ancient case of "Tarling vs. Baxter," 6 Barnwell and Cresswell, page 360, which is an adequate authority for this holding. "Parker vs. Crisp" (1919) 1 King's Bench, 481, is also helpful. "Craig vs. Beardmore," 7 O.L.R., is worthy of note; and "Spartall vs. Bennecke" (1850), 10 C.B. 212, is also a direct authority on the idea that the property in the furs passed to the defendant, and that thereafter the goods were at the risk of the owner.

It may also be said as a principle of law, that the loss of the goods by being stolen does not import the relief of the defendant from loss, and that the loss must fall on to the plaintiff. The well-known maxim applies, "Ies non cogit ad impossibilis."

Warehouse Locked.

It was contended by the defendant that the plaintiff may have been negligent in guarding or caring for the furs, by reason of which negligence the loss occurred. The defendant failed completely to render a scintilla of evidence that such negligence took place. On the contrary, the plaintiff said that he had his warehouse securely locked and protected; all surely all that was required.

It was further contended by the defendant that there was no acceptance of the goods or part payment of the purchase price, and therefore the contract was void under the Statute of Frauds. The point is not arguable. Selection of the goods, bagging them up and giving the cheque is quite sufficient answer to this argument. Benjamin on Sales 6th Edition at page 257, is sufficient authority to meet this argument.

It follows that the counterclaim of the defendant for $200 damages for non-delivery of the furs, or, speaking more correctly, for not telephoning the express company to call for the goods, must be dismissed and with costs.

Ontario Birds Were Best Ever Exhibited Across the Pond.

PRESENTATIONS.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 30.—King George of England has been presented with a pen of Barred Plymouth Rock hens, part of the Canadian exhibit which won first prize at the World's Poultry Congress held recently at Barcelona, Spain, according to cable advices here. C. E. Elford, Dominion poultry husbandman made the presentation.

The birds were voted by the judges of the show as the finest specimens of their kind ever exhibited in Europe. They were bred by C. E. Hall of Tralfalgar, Ont. Aristocrats of poultrydom gathere from all parts of the world took part in the congress. A pen of white Leghorns exhibited by W. L. Ferguson of Smith Falls, Ont., took first prize in its class. This pen was presented to King Alfonso of Spain for the royal poultry establishment.

Introduction of pure bred stock and elimination of scrubs have greatly improved the quality of poultry in Canada, according to the Dominion department of agriculture. Millions of dollars are spent annually on educational campaigns and poultry raising demonstrations by the Dominion and provincial governments. Every Canadian farm now has its flock of chickens and new settlers entering the West find poultry a profitable farm sideline. Hens marketed in Canada last year totaled 194,058,385 valued at $48,490,578. This was an increase of $8,000,000 over the previous year. Ontario farmers marketed 67,685,734 dozen eggs last year, receiving a revenue of $20,305,720.

The number of poultry per farm in Canada averages 63.9, according to figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

SECRET EXPENDITURE

BERLIN, July 30. — (United Press).—Four million goldmarks, or approximately one million dollars are provided for 'secret expenditure' in the budget of the German foreign office out of a total budget of 37,000,000 marks. For the four million mark fund, no account need be given to the auditor.

The foreign office needs a subsidy of 11,000,000 marks from the state in order to balance its budget. The remainder 26,000,000 marks it is estimated, will be obtained from the income of the embassies and consulates abroad.

Germany has at present nine embassies, according to the budget. Now in this year's budget is the embassy at Constantinople.

BLACK FINGERNAILS

The women of Paris are said to be dyeing their fingernails black and then giving them a very high polish. Another fad is to tint the inside of the palm and fingers a deep rose pink.

COLORED FACINGS

Colored facings are one way of introducing color on a frock that must be dark to withstand much wear. Red and blue are both excellent choices. The white facing on black is not so practical ,but is very lovely.

PEARL BUTTONS.

Do not underestimate the trimming value of small white pearl of crystal buttons. They are seen everywhere.

CHARMING FINISH.

Strands of pearls in graduated sizes make a charming finish for the dress with the plain round or Jenny neckline.

NORTH MONAGHAN, July 30.—Saturday's storm seems to have been purely local. No damage is reported from Springville or the districts east and north of the village. The hail did much damage to garden crops in this section, tearing the leaves of vegetables and vines to shreds, and knocking the fruit from the bushes.

Ancestor worship

THE Chinese pray to their ancestors. But they do more than that. They allow themselves to be guided by family tradition in their every thought and action. The principal difficulty facing the introduction of modern improvements into China is the universal objection: "This is not as our fathers did."

Imagine saying that we did not want electricity because our forefathers were satisfied with candles.

Though we never went as far as the Chinese, our conservatism in the past often went to considerable lengths. Think of the telephone, of the motor car. How much encouragement did they get at first?

Advertising more than anything else has made of us a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

Advertising today is as necessary as electricity, sanitation and rapid transit. It is more than the system by which we are kept informed of every new improvement that is to our advantage. It is the catalogue wherein, every day, all manner of articles are listed for us with their individual advantages.

Read the advertisements. Be guided by them. They will help you in making your selections. They will save you money.

CHEMONG BASKS IN SUMMER DAY

First Real Summer Night of Year Followed Ideal Day —News of Park.

FISH RECORDS.

(By a Staff Reporter).

CHEMONG PARK, July 30.—Yesterday was a real summer day at the Park, and last night was one of the first ideal summer nights this season. There was an enormous crowd at the Rendezvous, where a special programme of dances was given. Winners in the balloon and lucky number dances were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ferguson, Miss Helen Jopling of Bridgenorth, and Miss Carrie Touchbourn of Bridgenorth.

A quiet pastime that is a favorite on one of the back lots of the Park during summer evenings is that of pitching horseshoes. Senior and junior residents take part in it with equal interest.

The Park has many pretty flowers at this season of the year. Tucked away at the rear of Mr. T. Gilgour's cottage, where a huge yellow cat sunned itself yesterday in the warm afternoon, are rows of gorgeous hollyhocks, lovely things in pink and white and red. Maroon hollyhocks are at the bend of the road that turns to the main thoroughfare, and there is a fine big bed of flaming red and yellow zinnias, bordered with white-washed stones, outside the Pavilion.

An occurrence that cast a shadow over the gaiety of the Park yesterday, at least in juvenile circles, was the tragic demise of one of the many canine pets of the summer colony. Rex, the popular French poodle of the McElhiney family, the friendly dog that contracted paralysis of the throat in some peculiar fashion a few days ago, and passed away yesterday, after unavailing efforts by a veterinary surgeon to avert its fate, was buried last evening with due ceremonial obsequies by its sorrowing small owners and a number of neighboring "mourners."

The renovated Pavilion, where a comfortable dining - room, with screened windows that look out on a pleasant view, harbored a party of young schoolboys who came down for a few days' fishing from Camp Kagawong, at Balsam Lake. The party, in charge of Messrs. Hulek, of Hamilton, and Church, of Toronto, included D. Zimmerman, S. Ambrose, E. Allworth and A. Olmstead, of Hamilton, J. Baker, J. Shapley, B. Grant, J. Rice, Wm. Applegath, J. Kennedy and J. Lee, of Toronto, P. Stewart of Philadelphia, and H. Cameron, of Sudbury.

Another visitor from the other side, Mr. M. W. Shawkey, of Pittsburgh, had some pood luck on his fishing trip this week. Mr. Shawkey also stayed at the old Pavilion.

Roy Nickren, the pianist at the Rendezvous, got a fourteen-pound lunge and a couple of six-pounders last week, and Henry Gravelle, of Bridgenorth, captured a thirteen-pound fish.

Among the transient visitors at the Park yesterday afternoon were Major and Mrs. A. P. Miller, Mrs. A. A. Perrin and party, also Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ruth, of Toronto, and Mrs. Hudson, of Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Abbott have taken the Hughes-Charles cottage, and were opening it up yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Kirn, Stewart Street, have taken the Archer cottage for the month of August.

The Misses Vera and Reta Martin of Toronto are visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Redman, at the "Parkdale," Chemong.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Hone, of London, Ontario, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Clarke at "Avalon" Cottage. Mr. Bennett is also staying with his daughter, Mrs. Clarke.

Mrs. Bollard and her daughter, Mrs. MacPherson, and family, of Toronto, are in Professor Bull's cottage in the Annex. It is about twelve years since Mrs. Bollard has been a resident at the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass, of California are guests of Mrs. Clayton Telford in the village.

Mrs. T. Gilgour entertained a few friends from the Park at bridge on Monday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. Hartshorn has returned to the Park, after a trip to Ottawa and Montreal.

Miss Marjorie Yarrow, of Belleville, is staying at Mrs. C. Perry's cottage.

Miss Quinnie Johnston has been the guest of Mrs. Gerald McClelland for some days at the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cheverill and family are occupying the cottage owned by the late Mr. A. Elliott.

Dr. Hamilton and family of Kitchener are in the Skinner cottage.

DEAD BODY FOUND.

Body of Walter Plant Found in Lonely Lake Near Chesley Lake.

OWEN SOUND, July 30. — Canadian Press. — Walter Plant, aged 55 years, a well known retired farmer of Parkhead, went on a fishing trip to Chesley Lake yesterday. When he had not returned late last evening a search was made, and his body was found in a lane leading to the lake, a short distance away. He had been dead for some hours and it is believed that he was stricken on his way to the lake.

FABLES ON HEALTH

THE VACATION LARDER

When it came time for his vacation to start Mr. Mann of Anytown might be found busily packing the family flivver with tents and blankets and cooking utensils and foods. What to take for the vacation larder is always a problem.

This depends largely upon the distance of the camp site from some handy store.

But a camper can always bank on a few old reliables; rice will take the place of potatoes and is far more easily carried. Dried lima beans are also easily carried and many good dishes can be made from them.

Dried fruits of all sorts are easily carried; prunes, apricots and apples being more generally favored.

A slab of bacon should keep with but slight attention. Hardtack, rusks or Zwieback ,substitute for bread.

Flap-jack flour is a general favorite for breakfast; also a goodly supply of coffee or tea, tinned milk and, if desired, eggs and almost all vegetables can be obtained in a dried condition.

VIGOROUS PROTEST.

Against Reported Establishment of K.K.K in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, July 30. — A vigorous protest against the reported establishment in Vancouver of a branch of the Ku Klux Klan, appears editorially in the Sun this morning.

"Membership in the Ku Klux Klan must be made a criminal offence in Canada," the paper says, "because if permitted to grow and spread, that organization will have the same cancerous effect in the Dominion as it has had in the United States. The Klan, a branch of which has been formed in Vancouver, is purely anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish organization. It has committed more bestial atrocities, provoked more bitter religious prejudices, aroused more anti-racial intolerance, and given a greater set-back to national progress than any other device of the devil."

FALLING.

The camera has caught the falling steeple of old St. John's Church in Salina, Kas., suspended in mid-air Each brick in the church, which has been razed to make room for a more modern building, represents a 10-cent contribution made by members when the structure was built 30 years ago.

HAT CAUSED DROWNING.

Hamon Pierre Jumped Into River to Recover His Headgear and Was Drowned.

KIRLAND LAKE, July 30. — (Canadian Press).—Jumping into the Blanche River to recover his hat, which had blown off while he was working on a trestle on the new branch of the Nipissing Central Railway, Hamon Pierre, a native of France, was drowned. Pierre undressed, swam out into the stream, recovered his hat, and turned back to the shore. Suddenly he disappeared under the water and did not come again to the surface. Help was quickly available, but there was no sign of Pierre, and dragging and dynamiting have not yet found the body.

FLIERS ON LAST LEG.

Left England This Morning For the Northern Coast of Scotland.

BROUGH, England, July 30. Canadian Press. — The United States Army aviators, continuing their world flight, hopped off this morning for Kirkwall, the capital of the Orkney Islands, off the northern coast of Scotland.

Thus began the first leg of their journey over the Atlantic, by way of Iceland and Greenland, to Indian Harbor, Labrador.

The six men were all in the best of health and spirits.

MOTOR SHIP BURNED.

Sixty Persons Are Believed To Have Perished in Fire.

MANILA, July 30. — Sixty natives are believed to have perished when the motor ship Agusin was burned off the coast of Camiquin Island, in the Sea of Mindanao, said a message received here.

After an Algerian wedding the bridegroom enters his home backward holding a dagger in his hand and the bride follows, touching the blade with the tip of her finger.

GIRL SUICIDE IN CAB; LEAP KILLS WOMAN

An Unidentified Passenger Drinks Fatal Poison After Hiring Taxi.

NEPHEW IDENTIFIES ONE

CHICAGO, July 30.—Sudden and violent death in mysterious circumstances came to two Chicago women—one who was found dead of poison in a taxicab, the other whose body was discovered in a loop alley, crushed beyond recognition by a ten-story fall.

Each is believed to be a suicide, although neither left any word. The woman who was found dead in the cab was young, well dressed, good-looking. The woman who leaped from the loop window was gray-haired.

The latter victim has been identified as Mrs. Tillie Daniels, 5202 Ingleside avenue. Her nephew, Felix Simons, called at the Hyde Park police station, recounting her disappearance just as the news of her death was received.

Engages a Taxicab.

The good-looking young woman, as the police reconstruct the story, stopped a taxicab driven by Samuel Cohen of 846 North Oakley avenue at East Chestnut and Lake Shore drive, giving him instructions to take her to East 43d street and South Michigan avenue.

On the journey to the south side the passenger halted Cohen at 22d street, requesting him to get her a package of cigarettes. The chauffeur complied. When he delivered the smokes to her, he told the police later, she looked normal.

Reaching the designation demanded, Cohen stopped for further orders. Opening the cab door, he found his fare crumpled on the floor, an empty poison bottle near by. She was dead.

Cohen rushed the girl to the Chicago Lying-In hospital, 51st street and Vincennes avenue, and took the body later to Ludlow's undertaking rooms at 558 East 57th street. He reported the affair to the Wabash avenue police.

Few Clews to Go On.

Capt. Daniel Murphy at the East Chicago avenue station, in whose district the girl hired the cab, and Sergts. Gallaher and Neary of the Wabash avenue police, who are investigating the mystery, have not a great wealth of material on which to proceed.

The girl, about 25 years old, was attired in a yellow georgette crepe dress embroidered with forget-me-nots. Her stockings were also of yellow silk and she wore pink silk underclothing. She was approximately five feet tall, 100 pounds in weight and had brown bobbed hair. In her brow nleather purse was $9.90 in currency, but no clews as to her identity.

Checking over their lists of missing girls, the police struck upon Miss Clara Hartley, 4145 Wentworth avenue, as a possibility. Her father, John Hartley, will view the body.

Mrs. Hartley said her daughter disappeared from home on July 16, presumably to elope with a young sweetheart who lives in the vicinity of 44th and Wallace streets. Clara was dressed very much as was the poison victim, the anxious mother said. Although the daughter is but 16 years old, she looks older, Mrs. Hartley said.

Mrs. Daniels leaped to her death from the tenth floor of the Capitol building, Randolph and North State streets, was seen to balance herself on the window sill and then, holding out her arms, leaped.

The only clew toward her identification was a torn card found in her purse, which she left in the tenth-floor washroom in the building. The name Tillie Daniels and an address on the 5100 block on Kimbark avenue were found on the card. Eight dollars in cash was also found in the purse.

Besides her purse, the woman left a handbag, her coat and hat in the tenth-floor washroom. In the handbag was a pair of pajamas. Mrs. Daniels is believed to have been between 45 and 50 years old.

SPOTTING BY RADIO

Radio spotting by army airplanes proved such a success at recent artillery practice in the Philippines that closer co-operation by this means is planned between artillery and aviation officers. Not a single radio failure was reported.

WORLD GONE CRAZY OVER FAST THINGS

In Modern Transportation One Man Is Killed Every Nine Minutes.

TORONTO, July 30.—(Canadian Press).—"The world has gone crazy about speed. People who don't have to get anywhere to-day, to-morrow, or perhaps ever, are paying excess fares for fast trains and were paying with blood of our men. Every three minutes in our modern transportation service there is a man injured and every nine minutes a man killed. They're crowding on the limited trains and heavier tonnage, but the locomotive engineer is just the same size. I wonder where the engineer of the future is coming from' Thus did Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, score modern transportation developments in the course of an address ot the Brotherhood Canadian Convention here last night. In a masterly address he analyzed world conditions and their application to the labor world, objected to certain present tendencies and gave some wholesome pieces of advice to his hearrs. "After all," he said, "the great thing is to take an interest in your country's welfare. Our greatest problem is to bring the producer and the consumer close together. From the farmer who grew the wool for this suit that I am wearing, to me, there are seventeen middlemen. There are sixteen middlemen between the farmer and the consumer and a loaf of bread. Losses too, in transport are very great. Do you know that for every pound of produce moved three pounds goes to waste." Speaker was confident that the English speaking race would dominate through all years.

ST. VINCENT'S HAD SPLENDID SOCIAL

Attractions Were Varied and Attendance Good and Brilliant Affair.

The social held yesterday afternoon and evening under the auspices of St. Vincent's Orphanage, on the Orphanage grounds, was one of the most successful and best-attended in the history of the big charitable institution. The fine weather of the afternoon and evening brought out crowds of people who filled the handsome grounds with a jolly crowd during the evenings hours and hundreds of whom patronized an excellent supper at white-clothed tables, centred with pretty vases of bright summer flowers.

There were plenty of attractions to amuse the crowd. Mr. Thomas Turcotte officiated in his usual cheerful manner as auctioneer at the booth devoted to the sale of useful and fancy articles, where dozens of pretty things were on view. Mrs. T. J. Grant, Mrs. W. J. Young and Mrs. J. A sharpe had charge of this section, assisted by the Misses D Welsh, N. Shevlin and Agnes Grant.

The arrangements for supper were in the hands of Mrs. M. Kendry and Miss M. Nevin, with representatives from each parish assisting; Mrs. H. Owen and Miss Croft from St. Peter's, Mesdames Gleeson and Morin from the Sacred Heart parish, and Mesdames Hummel, Malane, Minogue and Flynn from the parish of the Immaculate Conception.

At booths ... striped with colored crepe papers, candy, ice cream and soft drinks were dispensed. Mrs. L. McCoy was convenor of the candy booth, assisted by the Misses Stella Kearney, Mona Murphy, Aileen McCoy and Lizzie Hogan. Ice cream was in charge of Mesdames John Lynch, T. McQuillan and T La Plante, assisted by Mrs. P. J. Doris and Mrs. John Grisdale, assisted by Miss L. Mercier and Masters Gerald Fitzgerald and Joseph Scholey.

The fish pond which enjoyed a brisk patronage during the evening, was in charge of Miss Annie Simons, assisted by the Misses Josie Lynch and Vera Welsh and Masters Jack and Jim White.

Mrs. James Fitzgerald had charge of arrangements for advertising, and Messrs. John Lynch and T. McQuillan officiated at the gate.

An enjoyable portion of the programme was the excellent music rendered by the band of the Salvation Army, which played tunefully through a long evening.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor:

Dear Sir,—Please publish these beautiftul words when so many people are setting up their own gospel:
READER.

The Salvation Army has just been celebrating the 59th anniversary of the founding of that organization by William Booth in 1865, and the last issue of the Canadian War Cry reprints an address of the founder, in which General Booth states what the Army stands for. Salvation is, of course, the central doctrine of the Army's teaching, hope for the worst and the vilest of the sons of men through the redemption purchased by Christ on Calvary. Here is the Army's belief in this respect, a belief which, tthough it may sound strange and crude in Modernist ears, has yet been honored by God, and still is honored for the salvation of countless thousands of souls the whole world round.

"We believe in salvation! We believe in the old-fashioned Salvation. Ours is the same salvation taught in the Bible, proclaimed by prophets and apostles, preached by Luther and Wesley, and Whitefield, sealed by the blood of martyrs— the very same salvation which was purchased by the sufferings and agony and blood of the Son of God.

"We believe the world needs it, and that this and this alone will set it right. We want no other nostrum —nothing new. You don't need to mix up any other ingredients with the heavenly remedy. Wound and kill with the old sword, and pour in the old balsam, and you will see the old result—Salvation. The world needs it. The worst man that ever walked will go to Heaven if he obtain it, and the best man that ever lived will go to hell if he miss it.

"There is a hell. A hell as dark and terrible as in the description given of it by the lips of Jesus Christ, the truthful. And into that hell men are departing hour by hour."

There is no uncertain sound in this theology, though such teaching as this is heard all too seldom today.

FARM NEWS

MUCH ECONOMY TO KEEP DOWN TILLING COST

Prairies This Year Will Have a Very Low Cost of Production.

DIVERSIFIED CROP

Mixed Farming Now a Reality—Good Yield Will Provide Surplus Shopping.

WINNIPEG, July 30.—The recent advances in the price of grain have had a very stimulating effect on the West and predictions are being freely made that the returns from the crop of 1924 will be generous enough to enable the farmer to throw his bottle of red into through the window and prepare to make a few entries on the credit side of the ledger.

The growth this year has been slow but steady. Generally speaking the crop is from ten days to two weeks behind last year but a spell of warm weather such as Alberta got in the second half of last year's growing season will work wonders. Rain is needed in some parts of the country, but the crop generally has had enough moisture to get firmly rooted. A large proportion of the wheat is in the shot blade while the barley and oats are also doing very well and are at about the same stage as the wheat. The fall rye is headed out. A fair quantity was put in for contingencies last fall and other farmers are experimenting with millet and other unusual crops.

In Own Hired Man.

Following his resolutions regarding economy the average farmer is trying to get through his summer-fallow without hired help, having let the man go right after seeding, to be re-engaged at harvest and threshing. There is an active demand for farm help, however, by those farmers who have a lot of summer-fallowing to do and also who are being forearmed with reference to the coming harvest. Labor is fairly plentiful.

The new trend towards stock-farming is not getting much encouragement, cattle prices showing a tendency to drop off despite the fact that receipts have not been overly heavy. The more progressive farmers find themselves in something of a quandry. Realizing that scrub stock does not pay, they have started in to build up pure-bred herds. One farmer last week offered some of his ordinary grade milking stock and was offered $15 a head. The cheapest pure-bred cow he could get was $80 so that for some time the cow boarders will continue to be carried.

Dairy herds are paying current expenses and given better dairy stock the western farmer is going to be a year round purchaser instead of just a seasonal shopper (or rather his wife is, for the cream checks are household perquisites).

With strict economy in the matter of farm expenditures, excellent prospects for a good crop at a good price, a stronger tendency towards mixed farming and the western farmer is going to be in the shopping arena this fall.

Appreciates Concessions.

The resumption of the Crows Nest Pass agreement is also an encouraging factor so far as he is concerned, not so much for the actual saving on commodities, but that it is still another concession that will help him get down the cost of marketing his own crop and cut the cost of the things he must buy from eastern Canada. The question being largely one of morale, every little concession helps, and things seem to be coming his way at last. The leading farmers are also entertaining the opinion that the resumption of the Crows Nest Pass rates in toto will have the same effect as the partial concessions made some time ago; that instead of a loss it will entail a profit to the transportation companies through the greater volume handled.

Wheat And Chaff

It took George Stephenson fifteen years to make the first locomotive. Edison filled eight hundred books with records of experiments before he produced an electric light. Henry Ford worked for years before he produced his "flivver." Keeping even istingly at it will bring success to any man, whatever his business.

Four good ideals: Better cows, better care, better milk, better price.

Put "best" instead of "better" and it is better still.

If the humble cow ever aspired to trademark her products the average shopper would be amazed at the labels 'Made from Milk' which would adorn his purchases — purchases ranging from hornrim spectacles to chessmen, magazines to radio sets.

NEW THRESHING MACHINE.

Tweed Farmer Invests in a New Outfit that Causes Interest.

TWEED, July 30.—Mr. Cosmo Tufts has invested in a new threshing machine (Sawyer-Massy). This machine is a combined grain thresher and clover huller. It loks very interesting in its shiny red paint and promises to work twice as fast as the old one.

Starts New Branch

Mr. Geo. Palmateer has captured four baby foxes and has them in a pen. The pen is built over rock which has a thin covering of earth and every night the little animals dig down to the rock. During the day time they make no attempt to escape.

Scrub, Scald and Sun Every Dairy Utensil

Scrub, scald and sun all dairy utensils, and the bacteria that cause undesirable flavors in cream will call in their hearse and stage a funeral. Bacteria hate a scrubbing brush; scalding water knocks 'em unconscious and a few hours of direct sunlight completes their execution.

Simply rinsing out milk pails or separator bowls or cream cans with warm water provides such a warm, cozy incubator for the millions of bacteria present on the surface that they double their population every seven minutes. If the same utensils were scrubbed, scalded and sunned those millions would be killed rather than propagated.

Ever pull out any fence posts? Remember how they were decayed at the ground line? Bacteria are responsible largely for this destruction. Bacteria work best where there is food, a little air and where the direct sunlight is shut out. That's why they like to make their home in a cream separator bowl that is simply flushed out with warm water and left standing unwashed over night. It accounts for their presence in milk pails and milking machine parts that still have some milk sticking to them.

ALBERTA LOOKS FOR FARM HELP

United Farmers' Clubs Are Clearing Houses for Local Harvesters.

60,000 LAST YEAR

EDMONTON, July 30.—Steps are already being taken by the employment service in Alberta to secure an adequate supply of men for Alberta farms this fall when it is expected that another bumper harvest will be reaped in Alberta. A questionaire has been prepared by Walter Smitten, commissioner of labor, which is being forwarded to secretaries of U. F. A. locals in the province, and from this the officials expect to get a fair idea of the number of men that will be required to harvest the crops.

The questionnaire requests the farmers to send in the acreage in crop this year. Knowing the number of men required last fall, and the acreage in crop, the officials of the service believe that they will be able to estimate fairly accurate the number required this year.

Coping with Problem.

"In the comparatively near future the employment service will be called upon to supply the farmers with a large army of workers for the harvest season. To cope with this problem successfully, it is essential that much ground work be covered before the labor is actually required. Information must be obtained which will give some idea as to what might be the possible demand," said William Carnill, in discussing the matter.

A survey would have to be made to learn where this labor could be recruited, he said. The transportation companies would shortly require information from the employment officials so that the necessary arrangements could be made to handle the labor movement.

"Last year, more than 60,000 harvest laborers were brought to the prairie provinces," he added. "To recruit such a large number as a season when labor is in great demand by other industries is only possible when full information has been secured."

Mr. Carnill said that various methods had been adopted in the past to secure the necessary information from the farmers. Questionnaires had been mailed to individual farmers and to U.F.A. secretaries, but the percentage of replies had not been so large as was hoped for.

This year the questionnaires were being mailed to secretaries of U. F. A. locals, and they were asked simply for an estimate of the acreage in their various districts. By this method it was hoped that better results would be attained. The secretaries are being urged to mail the replies to the questionnaires as early as possible so that arrangements may be made to secure the number of men required.

SOME CUTTING WHEAT.

Farmers in Keene District Boast of a Splendid Wheat Crop.

KEENE, July 30.—The farmers in this section are busy cutting wheat which is in splendid condition.

Hail Damage.

The heavy hail storm which passed through this section on Saturday did considerable damage particularly to small garden vegetables. The hail stones were very large and so deep in some places they were still on the ground on Sunday at noon. One young lady made a small freezer of ice cream from the hail she gathered up, following the storm.

Red flower gardens are fashionable this year.

BEEF SCRAPS VERSUS SKIM MILK FEEDING

Hens Must Have Some Form of Animal Protein in Their Feeding Ration.

MILK CHEAPER

Farmer Got $1 Cwt. When He Marketed it Through His Eggs.

It is an accepted fact that hens must have some form of animal protein in their feeding ration, and this is usually supplied by beef scrap. Two years ago an experiment was started at the Experimental Farm, Nappan, N.S., to determine the relative values of beef scrap and skim milk when added to the laying ration. Two pens were made up of ten birds each, as uniform in breeding, age and type as it was possible to select. The rations fed to each pen were alike and constant except pen 1 received beef scrap and pen 2 skim-milk. The results obtained show the possibilities these are of realizing good value for skim milk by feeding more of it to the hen.

The average production from the ten birds receiving beef scrap for the two six-months feeding periods (Nov. 1 to April 30 each year) was 615.6 eggs at a feed cost of $13.75, or 26.8 cents per dozen, leaving a profit over feed cost of 97.2 cents per bird. In pen 2, the ten birds receiving skim milk over the same period had an average production of 699.5 eggs at a feed cost of $12.70, or 21.8 cents per dozen, leaving a profit over feed cost of $1.49 per bird.

Skim Milk Better.

By taking the average of two years it was found that 398.7 pounds skim milk, valued at 20 cents per hundred, and thus costing $1.20, gave greater returns than 39 pounds beef scrap at a market price of $7.24 per hundred, thus costing $2.62. If, as believed at the Experimental Farm, the increase in production from the pens receiving milk can be attributed to the value of skim milk as a food for laying hens, it would only be fair to state that the farmer had received slightly better than one dollar per hundredweight for his skim milk when he marketed it through his eggs.

As this feeding test has only been carried on for two years it does not permit our drawing definite conclusions yet. However, the results to date would lead one to believe that a part of the skim milk available on the farm can be very profitably marketed through the egg, and would seem to be a more profitable proposition than paying $7 per hundred for beef scrap in order to supply the amount of protein so essential for profitable egg production.

WHEAT POOL WAS SUDDEN SUCCESS

Handled 38,000,000 Bushels of Wheat in First Year at Good Price.

CALGARY, July 30.—The Alberta wheat pool handled more than 38,000,000 bushels of wheat in the first year of its operations. Its members got an average sale price of $1.02, basis in store Fort William. It is computed that the average price received for non-pool wheat at Fort William for the same period was 97 7-8 cents. The cost of the pool's office and administration will come out of the $1.02, this being less than ½ cent per bushel.

Grain men will, without question, carefully examine the pool's statement and make their own comparisons with results obtained by non-pool farmers. The pool will welcome such comparison. It is regarded as a remarkable performance for an organization, formed hurriedly, as the wheat pool was, to sign up sufficient acreage to sell 38,000,000 bushels of wheat in its first season, and to get the satisfactory average price that is quoted above.

It is believed that the farmers in the pool will be pleased with the results announced, and that they will especially commend the work of Mr. Chester Elliott, the provincial manager, for his success in marketing so large a volume of wheat at the price named.

FARMERS TO PROFIT.

An Increase in the Price of Wheat Will Help Whole Dominion.

WINNIPEG, July 30.—(Canadian Press).—"As most of our wheat is for export the increase in price is bound to benefit the Dominion as a whole enormously, and $1.50 wheat means not only prosperity for the farmer, but for the whole country," declared J. J. Robinson, member of the Board of Grain Commissioners, who is enroute to Regina to get information on the crop situation. "I know full well that before long we shall hear the usaul cry that increased wheat prices is putting up the cost of the breakfast tables of the world. Wheat at $1.50 will perhaps make an increase in weekly bread bill of an average Canadian family of only sixty cetns," Mr. Robinson said.

Promise Of Greatest Harvest In Many Years Raises Drooping Spirits In Manvers Sector

JANETVILLE, July 30.—Notwithstanding the backward Spring and the constant rain and cold, there is the promise of the greatest harvest that has been reaped in the Township of Manvers in years. The wheat, oats and barley are very heavy, and in some places, are lodging. The cloudy days which followed the warm rains met the bloom on the pea crop, and the pods in general are filled to the greatest capacity. The progress made by the hay, buckwheat, potatoes, corn and root crops in general, due to the favourable weather, is really amazing, while all kinds of fruit and garden products are putting forth promises of great abundance. The farmers are all happy and smiling, and six a.m. finds them whistling on their way to work.

CANNING TIME IS NEAR HERE

Each Month Seems to Bring Some Special Duty for the Homemaker.

THE EGG BASKET

Each month seems to bring some special duty with it for the homemaker, and August is no exception. This is the month when canning begins in earnest, for the August days bring us some of our choicest vegetables and favorite fruits, and so the far-seeing homemaker, thinking of the winter days to come and the important part vegetables and fruit play in maintaining the family health, sets herself the task of replenishing the "fruit cupboard."

Canning, while a comparatively recent household art—superseding the jam and preserve making days—is a process with which almost all housekeepers are familiar, as during the past few years—war years particularly—a very intensive campaign, both through the written page and by means of lectures and demonstrations was conducted throughout the country. Canning is a process of preserving fruits and vegetables by sterilizing them in airtight containers. That is, by having the bottles airtight and sterilizing the fruit or vegetables in them we may keep them preserved and fit for food.

The young housekeeper may sometimes, however, feel dubious about undertaking canning for fear her product may "spoil." There should be no danger of this if the simple rules are followed carefully. Again, some may feel the results do not justify the labor involved. To these I would say the labor is greatly reduced if one has the few but necessary utensils required, and if the equipment is always in condition ready for use.

Equipment.

This is very simple and composed of utensils found in any kitchen, with the exception of the rack suggested. This can be bought at a hardware or tinsmith shop for one dollar, and is worth many times that to the busy housekeeper. Here is the list:—A wash boiler, false bottom for boiler to keep jars from touching the bottom, or, better, a canning rack which fits into boiler and is made to hold the jars; colander, saucepan, quart measure, measuring cup, long handled wooden spoon, sharp paring knives, a plate, a clean cloth and towle. Good jars which can be made airtight and new rubbers.

After using a jar of fruit or vegetables, wash, dry and air the jar thoroughly, fit on the lid and put away. A damp dirty jar is a breeding ground for moulds and bacteria, and will give trouble next canning season.

Preparation of Jars.

(1) Be sure jars are clean.

(2) Test jars before using by putting in some water, putting on rubber and sealing. Wipe jar dry and invert on dry table. If no moisture can be seen the jar is airtight. If it leaks see if clamp needs adjusting, try another top or another rubber.

(3) Sterilize jars and covers by putting them in boiler (use rack or clean towel to keep them off bottom) and covering with cold water. Put on lid, bring to boil and boil 20 minutes. Put rubbers in a shallow vessel and pour boiling water over them two minutes before using.

(4) Remove jars from boiler as needed (handle of wooden spoon is excellent for this and should be scalded) and pack with fruit or vegetables at once.

NORWOOD CROPS GOOD.

Fall Wheat and Barley Are Reported to be Excellent.

NORWOOD, July 30.—Most of the farmer in this district report the fall wheat and barley an excellent crop. Hay, while it is not up to last year's yield is still an exceedingly good crop. The rains of last week, while hindering haying, were still very welcome and will greatly benefit the pasture land.

Home-grown raspberries are being offered at 25 cents a box, red and while currants and gooseberries are selling at 15 cents a box and black currants at 25 cents a quart. Huckleberries were offered on Saturday at $1.75 for a ten-quart pail. These and raspberries are said to be a poor crop. Beans and peas are 10 cents a quart. New potatoes are 60 cents a peck and cherries are 90 cents for an eleven-quart basket.

CATTLE KILLED.

Three Head Perished When Lightning Bolt Struck a Tree at Keene.

SOME CHEMICAL SOIL ANALYSIS

Several Ways in Which Soil Can Be Analyzed to Find Amount of Plant Food.

USEFUL PASTIME

There are several ways in which soils may be analyzed to show the amount of plant food they contain. The total amount of mineral plant food may be determined by fusion methods, or the plant food may be extracted from the soil by using strong acids. Unfortunately, the results obtained from analysing soils in this way vary considerably according to the methods used, and it must be admitted that from a practical standpoint determining the potential amount of plant food by fusing the soil or by treating it with strong acids is not of very much use in helping farmers determine what their soils need in the way of plant food. Treatment with strong acids shows ordinary soils to contain from .2 to .06 per cent. of phosphoric acid and from 1 per cent. to .1 per cent. of potash. If we assume that a certain soil contains .2 per cent. of each of these constituents we find that in the top nine inches of soil there will be 5,000 lbs per acre, assuming that nine inches of soil weighs 2,500,000 lbs. per acre. Mangels is one of the heaviest feeding crops we have, but even this crop does not take more than 48 lbs. of phosphoric acid and 290 lbs. of potash per acre, so that it is apparent that there is an abundant reserve supply of plant food in ordinary soils.

The objection to analysing soils by treatment with strong acids is that no differentiation is made between the potential and available plant food. In order to overcome this difficulty various methods of treating soils with weak solutions of acids have been suggested, and it is probable that the 1 per cent. solution of citric acid suggested by Dyer is as useful as any. Even here the results obtained do not always tally with actual experience.

Estimating the fertilizer requirements of soils by chemical analysis is of some use if one bears in mind the type of soil one is dealing with, as, for instance, that sandy soils can get along with less available plant food than heavy clay soils. Chemical analysis of soils, however, is most useful for estimating the possibilities agriculturally of new and unsettled districts. Where land has been farmed for generations the way it has been handled and its physical and bacteriological condition have so much to do with its power to produce crops that the value of chemical analysis is distinctly limited to checking up information obtained about the soil in other ways.

HAIL INSURANCE MEN TOUCH WOOD

Damage This Season Has Been Exceptionally Light in Alberta.

Hail insurance men in Alberta, while "touching wood," are congratulating themselves that the fates, so far, have been exceedingly kind. Twelve months ago—in July—one of the worst hailstorms ever known struck the province, and which cut a wide swath right from Midnapore to the international boundary, doing damage to the extent of more than $1,000,000. There was also a bad storm at Ponoka and Wetaskiwin.

Damage from hail so far this season has been exceptionally light. This time last year the Hail Insurance Board had received no less than 1,200 claims. Up to date they have only had 170, and no doubt in many cases, as the hail came very early in the season, a very considerable portion of the crop will recover.

The experience of the line companies, so far as the comparative losses are concerned, are much about the same as the Hail Insurance Board. An interesting feature in connection with the line companies is that notwithstanding the exceptionally heavy losses sustained in 1923 there are really more companies operating this season. Business so far is stated to be quite up to the average.

The new voluntary plan that is for the first time being put into practice by the Hail Insurance Board, according to A. H. Tovell, the manager, is proving quite satisfactory, and the present indications are that the board will handle quite as much business as it did last year.

ENTITLED TO HIS SHARE

It was missionary Sunday, and after it had been explained that the offering was to go to foreign missions, the collection plate was passed. One man declined to give an offering, saying he did not believe in missions. "Well, just take some out yourself," said the polite lady usher, "this offering is for the heathen."

MANY ONTARIO FARMS ARE AT PRESENT IDLE

This Big Problem is Now Being Considered by the Boards of Trade.

UNTILLED FARMS

The Farmers Are Growing Older and the Farms Are Growing Larger.

LONDON, July 30.—Townships and municipal councils, boards of trade and chambers of commerce of Western Ontario will probably be asked to send representatives to a meeting which will be held somewhere in the peninsula this fall to discuss ways and means to counteract a clearly defined tendency which if unchecked will, it is believed, threaten the prosperity of this part of the Dominion, it is announced by Lt.-Col. Walter J. Brown, of London, the president.

Prosperity in the fourteen counties of Western Ontario, as elsewhere in Canada, is dependent largely upon agriculture, yet it is claimed that the younger generation is flocking to the cities and towns, and the lack of adequate means to replace the shrinkage in the numbers of skilled farmers caused by migration, retirement and death have brought about a condition, the results of which are already sufficiently obvious to demand attention and action.

For some years the Western Ontario united boards of trade, an affiliation of many of the boards of trade and chamber of commerce of Perth, Brant, Huron, Waterloo, Kent, Essex, Grey, Lambton, Elgin, Wellington, Oxford, Middlesex, Bruce, and Norfolk, having given attention to certain broad aspects of agriculture. With the aid of township clerks of the fourteen counties above named—over two-thirds of the total of 157 township clerks having co-operated, some facts have been secured which it is claimed, not without justification, indicate a marked tendency towards reduction in the number of Western Ontario skilled agriculturists actively engaged in productive work. The farmers of the present generation are, of course, growing older and in many instances farms are growing larger, as the most likely purchaser of farm property is the neighboring farmer, and the figures which follow show that there is an obvious tendency towards increase of cleared but idle land.

The figures secured must be accepted at face value. They are obtained from a hundred independent sources and compiled merely with a view to ascertaining actual conditions.

They show that of the farms of the fourteen counties of Western Ontario, 212,607 acres are known to be for sale; farms actually vacant not including those abandoned as useless for agricultural purposes, have together 75,000 acres and there is reported also 100,000 of cleared land in pasture over necessary requirements. According to statistics secured from the Provincial Department of Agriculture's Crop Reports (1922) 100,000 acres in general field crops yields $2,000,000 annually. Of course, it can quite justly be said that an increase in the demand for beef cattle would reduce the unproductive land in pasture; that farms offered for sale may be cultivated by the present owners for many years and that increased production, if the land were fully cultivated, might adversely affect the already inadequate remuneration of agriculture at present prices for produce fo all kinds. These are, of course, circumstances which should not be lost sight of, and there are possibly other phases of the matter requiring consideration.

However, the area reported to be for sale, or in vacant farms—or in unproductive pasture—with one-third of Western Ontario yet to hear from, approximately 400,000 acres, or about one-sixteenth of the total cleared land of the fourteen counties of Western Ontario—indicates a well defined tendency toward reduction in the number of Western Ontario's skilled agriculturists and this, if admitted, is, it is claimed, a basic condition striking at the roots of prosperity which cannot be disregarded without risk.

Members of the united boards are asking where skilled agriculturists are to be found to buy and cultivate the farms now offered for sale and those of other farmers who may in the natural course of events be expected to retire. If there is a tendency detrimental to the interests of Western Ontario, it is considered folly to ignore it and Western Ontarians should, it is submitted, get together and see what can be done to check it.

Rye Taxed Ingenuity Of One Tweed Farmer

TWEED, July 30.—Mr. Earl Graham left his haying to attend to a 12-acre field of rye which had grown very tall and headed out very heavily. He tipped the table of the binder to leave about one foot of stubble, and even then the grain was too tall to go through the machine. He had to get a boy to follow and help it through. He was two days cutting it, and will have it threshed in the field to avoid the task of hauling it.

WEST REQUIRES 31,000 HELPERS

Farmers Will Be in a Better Position Than Ever to Handle Crop.

ECONOMY NEEDED.

WINNIPEG, July 30.—(Special).—Approximately 31,000 harvesters will be required to handle the western crop this year or slightly more than half of last year's total. This estimate was arrived at as the result of a conference between Prairie government, farmer organization and employment service representatives.

Following the meeting, the Canadian Passenger Association announced that 19,000 men can be had locally and from British Columbia and the remaining 18,000 will be brought from the Eastern provinces. It is expected that the harvesting will commence in Manitoba about August 20 and in Saskatchewan and Alberta about August 25 but these dates will be confirmed by the Provincial Government before August 2. At that time definite information will be given as to dates excursions should leave Eastern Canada with the harvest laborers for the Prairies. Arrangements as to rate and other conditions for labor from the East will apply the same as last year, according to the Canadian Passenger Association. Officials of the passenger and operating departments announce in this connection that they will be in a better position than ever to handle this year's harvest situation, both in regard to the movement of men and grain. New passenger cars have been built and are ready for use including the lunch counter cars where travellers can have a hot meal at reasonable prices.

CULL 2,000 BIRDS

Oxford County Fanciers Discard One-Third Fowl Examined.

WOODSTOCK, July 30.—Two carloads of poultry, the result of the Oxford County poultry-culling campaign which has been in progress for the past week, were shipped to the Buffalo and New York markets under the supervision of the local officials of the Department of Agriculture.

The campaign resulted in about one-third of the hens examined being eliminated from the flocks as boarders, nearly 2,000 hens, with a few ducks, being contained in the cars. As each farmer brought his fowl to the car he was paid a deposit, according to their weight, and a final settlement will be made after the hens are marketed and the returns received. Last year the cull hens from Oxford County topped the New York market on the day on which they were sold.

RAIN HELPS GRAIN

Cavan Haying Held Up by Downpour That Does Great Good.

CAVAN, July 30.—The heavy rain of last week has delayed the farmers with their haying, but will do good in a great many other ways as grain was ripening too quickly in the dry, hot weather, and it has made a great improvement on the gardens.

The Tame Bull And The Gun That Wasn't Loaded Responsible For Hundreds Of Tragedies a Year

The gun that was not loaded and the bull that was not cross are responsible for hundreds of tragedies or near tragedies every year. Space does not perimt the presentation of more than one of the many and frequent accounts of deaths resulting from vicious bulls. The following is a sample of three clipped from the newspaper in one week."

"Abraham Goemaat, a farmer, 71 years old, was killed by a vicious bull near his farm south of town. He was found mangled in a ditch by his children when they were returning from church. He died while being taken home."

Once while Elbert Hubbard was being shown a bunch of fiery young bulls, he asked if they were not dangerous to handle. The answer, "Not if the man has as much brains as the bull," pleased him so much he wrote it in his notebook.

To handle a bull in a timid manner is to show him you are afraid of him. Common sense precautions need not show timidity. Stay on the safe side when handling any bull, however, clean his past record may have been.

Without going into minute details about managing bulls, the fundamental rule dictates that they should wear strong rings in their noses and, when handled, bull staff should be used. It is never safe and sane management to peremit the bull to run loose with the herd. He should be given a paddock to exercise in and a good, clean, strong box stall to rest in.

FARMERS CLAIM COSTS ARE TOO HIGH FOR THEM

A Proposal for a Conference of the Financial and Other Interests.

PRICES FAVORABLE

The Farmer is Not Producing at an Average Return.

To devise means of overcoming the present agricultural depression, a round-table conference between all interests has been suggested by the Ontario Agricultural Inquiry Committee, which has recently conducted investigations throughout this province. The conference will serve, it is hoped, to discover the best methods of overcoming conditions, which, in the opinion of the committee, are doing much to prevent the proper expansion of agriculture in Ontario. A report by the committee says:

"The Agricultural Inquiry Committee has found in the farming community a strong spirit of co-operation that is ready and willing to work together with industrial and commercial interests in well-considered efforts to restore the even tenor of progress in this Province assertions made by scores of farmers who have come before it to the effect that promotion of a better understanding between the urban and rural communities is worth while.

"Briefly, what the committee has heard on every hand is that farmers are not disappointed, and have no comruled during the past three years. On plaint to make of lower prices that have the contrary, the prevailing range of prices for their products is considered high enough, other things being equal.

Farmer's Difficulty.

"The farmer's difficulty is encountered when he enters the market to buy, as buy he must, all the commodities necessary to his occupation, to his life and to the support and education of his family. The price the farmer receives does not allow him to buy to the measure of normal necessity, with the result that the farm is producing less than it did, and that the farmer is not marketing in special areas the whole of his production. He is trying to make ends meet by buying less of the implements of production and of manufactured commodities. He is not in a position to pay the wages demanded for farm help, and consequently man power and purchasing of the rural community are declining. This does not mean that the Ontario farmer is less intelligent, energetic or public spirited. He is in every respect a first-class farmer, and his sons and daughters have strong faith in the independence and dignity of agriculture.

Returns Not Adequate.

"The situation is this, that the farm is not producing an average return—except in special lines, which a large number, indeed, have been quick to enter—and that the manufacturer, the merchant and varied sources of employment feel the slackening touch of depression in the basic industry.

"The tonnage supplied by the farms to transportation companies tells the story of present conditions plainly enough. The comparative statement of commodity tonnage handled by the Canadian National Railways in the years 1923 and 1922 shows large decreases in oats, corn, barley, rye, other grains, milk products, apples, potatoes, etc.

"The Agricultural Inquiry Committee has gone to the farmer himself to learn the facts of his situation. It has found his attitude to be practical, looking in the first place to community co-operation, but anxious to promote co-operation with other interests for the welfare of all.

Favors Public Ownership.

"Cost of transportation is perhaps the biggest stumbling-block to agricultural recovery. The farmer realizes as clearly as his commercial neighbor the value of high-grade service rendered a public utility. The farmer realizes that transportation is a joint problem, calling for closer co-operation among all interests in the country, industrial, financial and agricultural. Our system of National Railways is the property of the people, and of its operating returns the people naturally expect an equitable distribution, with due regard to adequate pay for all its efficient employees. The farmer, who supplies so large a proportion of tonnage, naturally wants his place in the sun of public ownership. He would view with special satisfaction an increasing volume and variety of agricultural tonnage carried by the publicly owned railway system of Canada. The farmer favors the policy of public ownership through conviction that it will make Canada a better country for people to come to and to live in; that it will help to build up local markets where producer and consumer can meet to their mutual advantage."

THURSTON FALLS BEFORE YANKEES

White Sox Star's String of Victories Snapped at Ten.

RUTH HITS 32ND.

CHICAGO, July 29.—The winning streak of Pitcher Hollis Thurston, which had run for ten consecutive games, was broken to-day when New York defeated Chicago, 9 to 4, in the final game of the series. Thurston's record was saved last Sunday when the Yankees drove him off the mound, but lost the game because of a ninth inning White Sox rally.

Ruth's homer, his thirty-second of the season, with two men on base in the fifth, sewed up the game for the Yankees. The four-bagger of Ruth's was his thirteenth this month and ties his best previous record established in June 1921, the year he set his home run record of 59 circuit drives.

C.G.E. FIRST GAME NEXT SATURDAY

Will Play Return With C.N. R. Team at Cobourg Wednesday.

MIDLAND LEAGUE.

The first game of the Midland League playoff will be played at the Exhibition grounds on Saturday, with the return game in Cobourg on Wednesday. Canadian Nationals, the winners of the first half will be at full strength for the encounter and expect to return home with the game in the old batbag.

The Canadian Generals can't see it that way and claim that they will get the edge on the railroaders from the start of the series. The Electricians have got all the bad games worked out of their system and are right now at the top of their form.

Punch Derry will likely be back with the Lakeshore crew, but the locals can see no extra difficulty hitting in the veterans' slants while Frost and Hardill are both rarin' for action.

The game will be called at 3.30 p.m. A large number of fans should be out to see these two teams in action as the winners should go a long way in the O.B.A.A. Intermedate series.

The admission will be thirty-five cents at the gate but it is the intention of the C.G.E. Executive to sell advance tickets at twenty-five cents.

C.G.E. MEET QUAKERS IN MERCANTILE TOMORROW

The C.G.E. meet the Quakers tomorrow night at 6.15 p.m. at Riverside Park in a Mercantile League game. Both teams are going at a fast clip right now and a good game is assured the fans. The C.G.E. defeated the Quakers 1 to 0 in the first half of the race, but the Quakers are considerably strengthened in this half and have been playing better ball lately. The C.G.E. have a couple of new men looking after them in the second half and they expect to give a good account of themselves. It should be a good game.

"KNOTTY" LEEE TO COACH PONIES.

KINGSTON, July 30.—The well-known "Knotty" Lee has offered his services to coach the Kingston ball club for the remainder of the season, and the executive has lost no time in accepting his offer.

"Knotty" needs no introduction to the ball fans of Kingston and Canada, as it is a proven fact that he has no peer in Canada in the matter of inside knowledge of baseball. His past positions as managers of big league ball clubs fully attest to this.

By the older fans Lee will be remembered as one "sweet" pitcher when he was with Gananoque, especially in the season of 1901 when he pitched against George Sullivan and the famous old Ponies at Alexandria Bay in a game that was declared to be the best ball game a Kingston team ever took part in. The only ones left now in Kingston of that old guard are George Sullivan, Joe Daley and Bill Dehaney.

"Knotty" never stopped since then, jumping to big league ball where he has a splendid pitching record.

VICENTINI NEXT LIGHTWEIGT KING?

"Mongrel" Right Hand May Lead South American To Leonard's Title.

By Joe Williams

NEW YORK, July 29.—A young, sharp-eyed, fiery Chilean, who started out to be a sculptor and later worked his way into the films as a Daring Desmond in his native Santiago, is the newest wow in cauliflowerdom.

Mr. Luis Vicentini, by his recent feat of reducing the good Rocky Kansas to a state of clammy submission in 11 rounds, has leaped blithely over the domes of Dundee, Moran, Barbarian, White and Zivic as the foremost lightweight challenger in the ring.

Mr. Vincentini has something most of the other contenders lack, a destructive punch. White can punch but he is hopelessly old and worn. Mr. Vicentini is replete with youth and all the essentials that accompany it.

Crude, But He Wins

Vincentini's punch is somewhat of a novelty, if you are interested in technique. It is a right hander but it is as different from the orthodox right-hand punch as a squirrel's bark is from a mother's lullaby. It suggests at once the swinging effect employed by Firpo and the bee-line straightness sponsored by Mons. Carpentier. It is, in fact, a combination of the two.

Vicentini's great speed and agility enable him to use this curious punch with splendid effect. In some puzzling manner or other he manages to get all his body power behind the hit at the proper moment. Old Judges of boxing life their erudite paws in high scorn. "He hits like a bum," they say.

And yet when Vincentini's mongrel mauler connects the show is over. It is the cue for the janitor to come briskly down the center aisle and sweep the debris from the middle of the ring.

The full potency of this punch was observed in the knockout of the rugged Kansas. Prior to his fight with the Chilean, Kansas, in some 150 ring battles, had not even been knocked off his feet. Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, is credited with a knockout over the Buffalo Italian. It was one of those technical things. Kansas broke his hand and had to retire.

Best of all Contenders

Leonard fought Kansas four times over an aggregate distance of 45 rounds, and not once was he able to put the challenger on the canvas for a count. No one will deny that Leonard can hit. Next to Gans and Lavigne he carries more misery in his fists than any man who ever held the lightweight title. Yet Kansas was too tough for him.

Vincentini, though, was able to drop Kansas twice in less than 11 full rounds. This is proof enough that the Chilean is a great hitter, a harder and more dangerous hitter, perhaps, than Leonard.

We wouldn't bet, however, that Vincentini, in his present stage, can take Leonard. Vincentini has plenty to learn. Kansas had him whipped soundly on points up to the moment of the knockout. If Leonard had been in Kansas' shops that night he would have knocked the visitor out.

Vincentini is not ready for Leonard yet. His sense of defense is still mechanical and his left hand is a crude weapon. But he has a punch and the heart, and these are two robust qualities.

PADDOCK, RAY AND OTHERS TO QUIT

Many Olympic Notables Have Reached the End of Competititve Careers—Clarence DeMar Says His Marathon Days Are Over.

BY JOE WILLIAMS.

The Paris Olympics marked the end of competitive careers of a number of American athletes, notably:

Charley Paddock,
Jackson Scholz,
Clarence DeMar,
Alfred LeConey,
Joie Ray,
Ralph Spearow.

Paddock, once famed as the "fastest human," may grace an occasional exhibition in the future but everyone is certain the colorful Californian has taken his last gay fling at big-time competition. This has not been what you might exactly call a glorious season for the coast crack. Paddock is a golfer and plans to go after tournament honors on a serious scale.

Scholz, veteran of 10 years' running, came out of retirement last winter with one thought in mind making the Olympic team. It was probably a good thing for your Uncle Sam that the Missourian had this thought. Otherwise the showing of the Star-Spangled entry in the flat race abroad would have been drab, not to say unprofitable.

Scholz Will Retire.

Scholz realized his main ambition at Paris, and now he is ready to return to the sidelines as an observer, carrying with him delightful memories of his two record-breaking days at the Cambridge stadium and his subsequent triumph in the 200 meters in France. Scholz may compete in the A.A.U. races later in the summer. If he does it will be his swan song.

You can never tell what Joie Ray will do. The Chicago miler is through and perhaps will retire immediately, content to rest on his many laurels. Then again he may come back bristling with fight, determined to prove that his miserable showing in the Olympics was all a clammy mistake. Ray ran eighteenth in a field of 19 in the 3000 meters, supposedly his favorite dish.

Ray an Olympic Flop.

Ray is unquestionably the greatest miler ever developed in the United States. Yet he has always been an unkempt flop in the international games. Four years ago he finished eighth in the 1500 meters after leading the field three-fourths of the way. A sore muscle may have had something to do with his defeat. He ran with his left leg firmly bandaged.

Clarence DeMar said before he sailed that this would be his last marathon. The Boston sprinter, 38 years of age, finished third, leading all the Americans. The race went to Albin Stenroos of Finland. DeMar thought he was a veteran. Stenroos, it developed, is 40 years old. This may persuade DeMar to race two more years.

Spearow a Disappointment.

Ralph Spearow, Oregon sky pilot, is expected to renounce his pole vaulting ambitions for all time. Much was looked for from Spearow in the Olympics. His unofficial record of 13 feet 6 inches excited the experts. A new record was predicted. But Spearow showed little form, falling far below the average.

Alfred LeConey is another sprinter who came out of retirement to run in the Olympics. His act is just about ended. Ray Buker of Illinois is another who is ready to quit. Ditto to Blondy Romig of Penn State and Jimmy Connolly of Georgetown, to end with a partial list.

"WHITE HOPE" LOSES.

Spanish Fighter Proved a Washout Against the Australian.

PARIS, July 29. — George Cook, the Australian heavyweight pugilist, to-night defeated Ezcudun Paolino, a Spanish fighter, on points in a fifteen round fight. The Australian gave the Latin white hope a terrific lacing. Paolina, who successively in a few rounds, knocked out Paul Journee, Marcel Nilles, French heavy weights and Arthur Townley of Great Britain, had been hailed as the future world's champion by the French public and his defeat to-night by Cook, caused deep disappointment.

DONNOLLY WON NICE VICTORY FROM LEADERS

Westclox Took Short End of a 6 To 2 Score Last Night at Riverside.

MERCANTILE GAME.

Best Brand of Ball Seen in the Mercantile League This Season.

Behind the sterling pitching of "Lefty" Donnolly, the Lock Works won a 6 to 2 victory over the classy Westclox aggregation in last evening's twilight game at Riverside Park in the Mercantile League. The brand of ball was the best dished up this season in this League, and wa a fine mixture of good pitching, fast fielding and clean hitting, combined with a close score most of the way, which kept the fans keenly interested.

The alarm clock makers woke early and took the lead in the first stanza with two runs, which were pushed across by a timely two-bagger by Hensley. The game edged along with the Lift Lock crew holding the narrow margin until the third, when, with four bunched hits, two runs were bolted up by the Lock Works. The Lock Works took the lead with one more run in the fourth. Neither team counted in the fifth. In the sixth frame the Westclox were retired in order by raising high flies into "Bizzie" Thorndyke's glove out in left field. "Herbie" Wolfe replaced De Graw and the Lock Works set to work to mature three runs off his slants being added by some slow fielding on the part of the Westclox infield. Donnolly walked the first man up in the seventh, and then retired the side in order on strikes.

The Westclox usual hitting form was lacking, and they could gather but three safeties from Donnolly's offerings.

The work of the Lock Works' outfield stood out, for all three garnered in everything hit in the garden plots.

KINGSTON PONIES HERE SATURDAY

Last Scheduled Appearance of Limestone Crew at Riverside Park.

The Kingston Ponies will be here on Satuday for their last scheduled appearance of the season at the Riverside Park, and as the fixture is the only home attraction in a month, the biggest crowd of the year should see the clash. The Petes play in Kingston to-night and whether they win or lose, will have to win Saturday's game to stay in the running. The Ponies, the first half winners, are out of the running in the second half, but they are striving hard to pull themselves together to be ready for the play-off, and they can be counted upon to put up a hard fight on Saturday. Kelly will likely do the heaving for the Ponies, with Heckman getting the call for the Petes.

Mr. Firpo is bringing his own cook along this time ....As we recall the circumstances it was Dempsey who cooked his goose the last time.

SAO PAULO HAS RETURNED HOME

The Civilians Find Splendid Buildings in Ruins—Wrecked By Small Fire.

(By Bryant Power, United Press Staff Correspondent).

BUENOS AIRES, July 30.—The civil population of Sao Paulo has started returning to its homes, according to messages from Santos today, and the restoration of normal life in Brazil's great coffee capital is only a matter of a short time.

Thousands of Paulistas, wearied by days of danger of bitter civil warfare, which raged for three weeks while rebellious State troops held their city, straggled down to the highways leading from the interior to pick up the threads of daily life so rudely broken when the rattle of musketry warned them of the military outbreak at midnight, July 4.

They found their magnificent municipal theatre, one of the finest theatre buildings in the world, shattered by shell-fire, great public buildings scarred by machine gun bullets and the huge red brick Lux Railway Station in ruins. Military patrols were still active and many of the refugees were questioned before being allowed to enter the districts in which they had lived before the rebellion.

Many of the people had undergone terrible hardships camping in the open after they were driven, terror-stricken, from their homes by the Federal bombardment.

Meantime private messages to newspapers here indicated the strength of the rebellion is not yet completely broken, and that a considerable body of rebel troops which retreated from Sao Paulo City when the Federal advance became overwhelmingly strong Monday have reformed in the interior of the State. It was not believed, however, that the strong Federal forces will have.

CHARLES MATTHEWS HAS BEEN LOCATED

Police Apparently Do Not Care to Find the Ex-Deputy Treasurer.

TORONTO, July 30. — The Globe is in receipt of telegraphic advices from San Francisco to the effect that Charles Matthews, former Ontario Deputy Treasurer, is now located in California, and that his address is available for the provincial police, and other authorities should they display any desire to take steps looking for apprehension of the former official charged with violation of the secret commission act.

The Globe is also informed that news of Mr. Matthews' whereabouts was telegraphed to General Williams (head of the Ontario Provincial Police) who authorized the issuing of circulars offering a reward for the apprehension of the former deputy-treasurer.

Attorney-General Nickel is also in possession of the information.

The first intimation of locating the long wanted former deputy treasurer at the Parliament buildings, came to the Commissioner of Provincial Police V. A. S. Williams, in his office at the buildings yesterday afternoon in the form of a telegram from a San Francisco man, who stated that if a suitable reward were offered the address of Mathhews would be disclosed.

Just what reply was sent to San Francisco is not known. Commissioner Williams' reply to the questions last night were: "I'm sorry; I canot tell you anything."

Attorney-General Nickel questioned on the same subject replied "The Attorney General has nothing whatever to say."

The Globe informant of the discovery of Charles A. Matthews in San Francisco said in his telegram: "Matthews has friends, and has evidently been tipped off. Your police apparently do not care to find him."

INCREASE POSTAL SERVICE TO LAKE

New Service to be Inaugurated on August 4—Deliveries in City on Day Mailed.

The local post office authorities announce that on August 4 will be inaugurated a better postal service for cottagers in the Stoney Lake and Kawartha Lake districts. Mail from Mount Julian, Burleigh Falls, Young's Point, Juniper Island, Kawartha Park and McCracken's Landing and Lakefield will be delivered in Peterboro the same day as mailed, and mail for Toronto will also be delivered in that city on the same day as mailed at the lake points.

This service was obtained through the influence of G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, and has been sought for years.

THORNTON WAS FRANK.

Employees of C.N.R. in British Columbia Have the Company's Support.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 30. — (Canadian Press).— Speaking here yesterday Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways was quite frank in discussing charges against officers of the company made in senate by Hon. J. D. Taylor of New Westminster, B. C., "when these charges were made I took immediate steps to secure most complete information from British Columbia," he said. "I secured this from more than one channel, and from investigators in whom I had utmost confidence. I have no desire to bolster up official of the road with whom complaint may justly be found, but a the same time if the Canadian National is to have loyal, efficient service from its employees, it must stand behind its officers and men when it is of the opinion that they are working for the best interests of the company. This I propose to do until it is proved that the men in British Columbia a.. incompetent or have done yrong, they have the utmost support of the company."

APPEALS DECISION OF MAGISTRATE

Belleghem Will Be Tried on Criminal Negligence Charge in September—Was Fined To-day.

Walter G. Belleghem was fined $200.00 this moning, by Magistrate Langley, on a charge of having liquor in his possesion, in a place other than in a private dwelling house.

It was urged for the defendant that since a citizen can legally carry whiskey from his hom to his sume mer residence, and in view of the fact that there was no evidence to show the purpose of the transportation was otherwise, Belleghem should be acquitted.

His Worship, stating that he found the weight of evidence against the defendant, levied the fine.

Mr. G. N. Gordon immediately gave notice that he was appealing the judgment, and security of costs were arranged.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton strongly urged for a conviction, observing that the evidence of the constables and the circumstances of the case plainly established the guilt of the defendant.

Committed to Trial.

Belleghem will be tried on the criminal negligence charge before His Honour Judge Huycke, without a jury, on September 24th next.

Bail was arranged yesterday.

NO MORE TRACE OF TWO PEOPLE

Police and Citizens Drag the River All Day—Disappearance Remains a Mystery.

WERE TOGETHER.

Parties that searched all day today for the bodies of the two persons supposed to have been drowned in the river Otonabee at Lock 23 on Sunday night had not met with any success up until late afternoon. Chief Constable Samuel Newhall, Detective Sergeant William Meagher, Detective William Carey and Provincial Constable Norman Maker grappled over the cement surface of the canal and the rough river bed from canoes, and a host of helpers used poles from the shore in an effort to solve the mystery that involves two prominent citizens of the city, without avail.

In addition to the details already published regarding the disappearance of Samuel Taylor, District Manager of the Confederation Life Association here and Mrs. Joseph Sharp it was learned this afternoon that the fact of their being together on Sunday night is conclusively proven by the finding of Mrs. Sharp's earring on top of the gas tank under the front seat of Mr. Taylor's car. Mr. Taylor's peak cap was found on a snubbing post set in the concrete of the lock approach, and Mrs. Sharp's black hat was lying nearby. A flash-light was also found on the concrete.

Chief Newhall declared to-day that the fact of the hat being crushed and the flashlight dented indicated to his mind that there was a hasty attempt on Mr. Taylor's part to save Mrs. Sharp from falling into the river. He has formed the theory that Mrs. Sharp was falling when Mr. Taylor caught her, casting the flashlight aside, and her weight, she being much heavier than he, pulled him in.

Lockmaster's Story.

The lockmaster at Lock 23, Sherman Hill, told The Examiner to-day that on Sunday night he heard the car draw in by the side of the road near his home. He is accustomed to visitors arriving at this little natural park, and paid no more attention than to [illegible] the dogs, which were [illegible]. Next morning he saw the car parked there, and the hats lying on the cement pier, but this did not alarm him. Parties often leave their automobiles in this handy spot and go away for a day at a time fishing. Sometimes they go up the east bank of the river and return along the west, taking the entire day, and returning for the car only at night. It was, therefore, not until Tuesday morning, when he saw the car still standing by the road, that he became alarmed, and sent a message to the police in Peterboro. The police arrived and took charge of the search. The curtains were up all around the car, and it stood just off the road at the bend that leads to the lockmaster's house.

"A chap wouldn't be thanked for butting in on the parties that come here," Hill said in explanation of his not investigating sooner.

The water at the point where the hats were found is six feet ten inches deep, and farther out it deepens to eighteen or twenty feet. The current was not at all strong on Monday and Tuesday, Mr. Hill said, declaring it would have taken a log some days to travel with the current to the next lock, half a mile below.

Peculiar Circumstances

On Sunday evening about six o'clock, Mr. Robert Matchett, brother of the missing woman, told The Examiner, Mrs. Sharp left the house to call at the home of the late Will Pratt. She said she intended calling there "before Church", but whether she reached the church or not has not been ascertained. On Saturday she had sent to several of her friends bouquets of flowers, and had given to a lady friend a brooch, asking her to wear it.

Mr. Taylor had been in exceptionally good spirits on Saturday, it is said, by his stenographer, mentioning his trip to Fenelon Falls and his northern territory.

He left his books and papers in perfect condition, and Chief Constable Newhall declares the missing man did not take any money with him.

He had an appointment for Monday morning with a business agent in Kinmount, which, of course, was not kept.

Provincial Constable Norman Maker, who was first at the scene, told the Examiner that the car was facing Peterboro when found, and the key had been removed, presumably by Mr. Taylor. To bring the car to the city it was necessary for the constable to obtain another key.

Constable Maker and Detective Sergeant Meagher have tried every conceivable way of recovering the bodies, supposing them to be in the river, except by dynamiting.

The constables dived in the hope of being able to see under the water but mud washed into the canal from the river blinded them.

The search is being continued tonight with many friends of both the missing parties helping, but so far, three days after their disappearance, the mystery remains unsolved.

A WORLD'S RECORD FOR LAYING RAILS

In Two Days a Crew of Men Tore Up 29.7 Miles of Rails and Replaced Them.

ST. JOHN'S N.B. July 30.—What is claimed as a world's record for relaying rails was established by a crew of men on the Canadian Pacific New Brunswick district, last week. In two days the men tore up 29.7 miles of old 85 pound rails and replaced them with new ones.

There were 220 men in the gang and the work supervised by J. H. Boyle, superintendent at Brownville and A. O. Wolfe, divisional engineer The section replaced is between Madawaska and Brownville.

The feat is said to be one of the most remarkable recorded in railroad ing history. The first day the men laid 14.7 miles and the second day they completed 15 miles. According to all available records, the former Canadian record was 11.7 miles which exceeds that established in United States. The men were divided into two gangs, one consisting of French Canadian and the other mainly Americans residing in Maine. The French Canadians took one side and the Americans the other.

The keen rivalry existing between the two factions resulted in this remarkable achievement. The Canadian gang kept pace with their rivals for some hours and then let out finishing their side of the fifteen miles in three quarters of an hour less than their associates. The last mile they laid in the remarkably fast time of 20 minutes.

Those desirous of entering the competition should send in their entries to the Secretary of the Horticultural Society, 358 George street, or 'phone 1360, as soon as possible.

FOUR WERE KILLED

Car in Which Seven Were Riding Crashed Into Freight Train.

NEWCASTLE, Ont., July 30. — (Canadian Press). —Four persons were killed and three injured, two seriously when a motor car in which they were riding was struck by a fast freight train at Adams' crossing a few miles from here, shortly after noon to-day. Dead are:—Mrs. and Miss Burroughes of Newcastle, Mrs. Stewart, Dundas st., West Toronto and Morris Cambridge, boy of Gladstone ave., Toronto. The injured are the parents of the Cambridge boy and James Cambridge, another son. Mrs. Cambridge and her son, James are said to be in a critical condition.

GOING SWIMMING.

The advent of summer always set Mr. Mann reminiscing about the "old swimmin' hole" of his boyhood days.

Mr. Mann, you see, had never really grown up. The first real warm day always set him yearning to shed his clothes and take a long cool swim.

"Fine!" said the family doctor. "You can't beat swimming for healthful exercise. But swimming, like anything else, can be overdone.

"When I was a boy we always made tracks for the swimmin' hole on the first warm day of spring, regardless of the fact that the water was a blamed sight colder than the air. We'd shiver around for an hour or more and then go home to get a licking.

"Mother really knew more than I did. If you're going to take a plunge in cold water, don't stay in very long. Cold water is more or less of a shock to the nervous system. It's bracing for a few minutes, but after that it's enervating and sometimes dangerous.

"On extremely hot days it's always best to wait for sundown for your swim. Sunshine is one of mankind's greatest booms, but why court sunstroke by exposing yourself unnecessarily on a terribly hot day?

"Keep these things in mind when you do your swimming. The beach is a great health resort—if you use your head."

MILLBROOK LODGE I. O. O. F. PICNIC

Over One Hundred Attended Enjoyable Event—An Annual Occasion.

LIGHTNING DAMAGE.

MILLBROOK, July 30.—The picnic, under the joint auspices of the I.O.O.F. No. 308 and "Golden Sheaf" Rebekah Lodge No. 176, which was to have been held on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fallis, Fallis Line, was postponed until Friday evening on account of the heavy rain. About twenty-five reached the place of meeting the first night, but over one hundred sat down to supper on Friday evening. A most enjoyable time was spent, social intercourse, cards, and dancing furnishing pleasant recreation according to the varied taste of the guests.

This annual occasion is looked forward to with keen anticipation and much disappointment was expressed when the date first decided upon made its successful carrying out impossible because of the unfavorable weather. However, the thorough enjoyment of the next evening fully made up for the extra work involved in any postponed event, and Mr. and Mrs. Fallis were accorded a hearty vote of thanks for their generous hospitality before the well satisfied guests left for their respective homes.

Todd, resigned. Mrs. Jenkins is capable of being Principal of a "Grade A" school, and comes highly recommended by Inspector Mills.

Lightning Struck House.

During the heavy thunderstorm on Saturday afternoon Dr. H. A. Turner's house was struck by lightning, the radio wire apparently being the line of entry. Several window panes were broken, though whether the radio was damaged has not yet been learned. The family was absent at the time at their summer home, Stoney Lake.

Rev. J. J. Hutchinson and family, of Vermont, are expected this week as guests of Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan at their summer cottage, Deyell's Landing, Otonabee River. The former was a personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. Gervan during their residence in Saskatchewan.

Burnham and his sister motored to Beaverton on Saturday for the week-end, bringing their mother with them on Monday.

The funeral of the late Sergeant N. W. Hanna, D.C.M., who was recently killed in a motor accident at Port Washington, Wis., took place from the residence of his widow, 98 Erskine Avenue, Toronto, on Monday, July 28th, interment being in the veterans' plot, Prospect Cemetery. Deceased was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hanna, Millbrook. He was a member of the Originals' Club, of the G.W.V.A., and of Corinthian Masonic Lodge. He had been in business in Port Washington for some time past, but was formerly a resident of Toronto.

A number of his former comrades were present at the funeral, and officials of the G.W.V.A., including the district secretary, A. Shields. The regular troops being absent at the annual summer camp prevented the funeral being of a fully military character.

Whether it would be possible to bring the remains to Canada for interment could not at first be decided upon until efforts made in that direction, through the agency of the G.W.V.A., proved successful.

REX BEACH, AUTHOR OF "FLOWING GOLD"

First National Picture by Famous Novelist Showing Here For Last Time To-night at the Royal.

Rex Beach, whose novels of the rugged outdoors are eagerly read by millions, due to the virile creations of his fertile brain, is the author of "Flowing Gold," a First National picture, produced by Richard Walton Tully, which closes a three-day engagement at the Royal Theatre to-day. Directed by Joe De Grasse, it is enacted by an excellent cast, which includes Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Alice Calhoun, Josephine Crowell, Charles Sellon, Bert Woodruff, Cissy Fitzgerald and John Roche.

"Flowing Gold" is the phrase the author has coined for oil, by means of which thousands of persons have become millionaires. The scenes are laid in the oil country against a background of hundreds of derricks.

Beach has written many stories of stirring adventure, but none with more action and suspense than "Flowing Gold," in the estimation of unbiased critics. Among the thrilling episodes in the picture are burning of an oil well, a cloudburst, which spreads the burning liquid over the countryside, destroying all property in its path, and several breath-taking fights among the heroic characters in the story. And there is a romance, with Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson as the lovers.

ROYAL GETS "THE RED WARNING," THRILLING WESTERN, FOR THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

During his cowboy days, Jack Hoxie, Universal Western star, could shoot as well as any lad on the range. His quick draw and accurate aim probably saved the life of an assistant director of his company during the filming of "The Red Warning," the picture now showing at the Royal Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Hoxie company was on a location trip in the Sierra Nevada range in Southern California. A site for some of the scenes in the picture caused the entire company to ride their horses twenty miles on a rough mountain trail.

Victor Nordlinger, assistant to Robert North Bradbury, director, had dismounted to fix the latigo strap on his saddle. His horse suddenly snorted and jumped.

When he had sufficently recovered to protest, he observed Hoxie carelessly emptying a shell from his 45 Colt revolver. A six foot rattlesnake lay slowly writhing in the rough surface of a rock, its head virtually severed.

AT THE CAPITOL.

CLAIM "MANHANDLED" BETTER THAN EVEN "HUMMING BIRD"

In her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled," coming to the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, which Allan Dwan has made from Arthur Stringer's Saturday Evening Post story, Gloria Swanson will again prove a surprise to the public. In "Zaza," "The Humming Bird" and "A Society Scandal" critics have seen a new Swanson, one who could do more than just wear clothes well. Now she blossoms out as a comedienne of the first rank.

The comedy scenes in "Manhandled" are so well done by the diminutive star that the friends, who have seen the picture, are already congratulating her. One of the especially clever bits of comedy imitation she does in the picture is the impersonation of a Russian countess. She puts a Chaplin touch into this scene that is very interesting.

In each succeeding picture Allan Dwan, who is directing Miss Swanson, seems to find new histrionic ability in her and in "Manhandled" she combines mimicry, broad comedy, tears and pathos for one of the best character delineations she has yet brought to the screen.

BUSHEL OF LAUGHS IN MIX'S LATEST

Supported by an excellent cast, Tom Mix makes his first appearance in "Ladies to Board" at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow night. The pictures proves to be another laugh provoker on a par with "Soft Boiled" with plenty of action and Mixian thrills.

With Pee Wee Holmes as a pardner, Mix inherits an old ladies' home and, starting with this situation, the story is one big laugh after another interspersed with blood warming action. Mix does some death defying stunts ten stories in the air on the structural work of a sky scraper and rides Tony with his characteristic recklessness and trick horsemanship.

In the cast are Gertrude Olmsted, playing opposite the star; Phil McCullough, the heavy; Gertrude Claire, Fay Holderness and Dolores Rousse.

R. F. SEDGEWICK HONORED

Celebrated His 15th Prudential Birthday and Qualified For Merit Button.

Under the heading of "The Spotlight," a recent issue of "The Insurance Press," an insurance journal published in New York City, contains the following reference:

"Assistant Superintendent Robert F. Sedgewick, of the Peterboro (Ontario) district celebrated his 15th Prudential birthday in a manner characteristics of the man by qualifying for one of the coveted ordinary merit buttons significant of the $50,000 class. Mr. Sedgewick entered the Prudential service as an agent, attached to his present district, on May 17th, 1909, and was appointed to the position of assistant superintendent in the same district on February 2nd, 1910. His record since assuming his assistancy duties have been consistent in every respect. The account condition and production of the agents under his supervision are indeed a worthy reflection on his personality and business ability."

WEINER ROAST.

Fire Hall Falcons Old Boys' Re-union Held Last Evening.

The Fire Hall Falcons Athletic Association held their annual "Old Boys' Re-union" last evening in the form of a weiner roast, held at Camp Trip-A-Lee, Otonabee River. The evening was spent in dancing, games, and other amusements, in which many of the guests took part, and were enjoyed thoroughly.

The guests included about 40 people, including many "old boys" who once played under Fire Hall colors.

The re-union broke up in the wee sma' hours of the morning, enjoyed by all, hoping that next year the re-union will be a bigger, brighter and better affair than this one.

The management of the Falcons wish to heartily thank the members of Camp Trip-A-Lee for the loan of their camp for the evening, and also for the untiring efforts of those who helped to make it a huge success, also all those who helped to make the re-union, a never-to-be-forgotten one, by turning out.

REPRESENTATION OF DOMINIONS

British Statesmen Say Dominions Should Share in Foreign Policy.

LONDON, July 30th. —(Canadian Press).—The British government has determined to alter the entire system of the Dominion representation J. H. Thomas, secretary for the colonies, declared yesterday in the House of Commons, during the discussion on a vote for colonial office. Mr. Thomas said the system of Dominion representation at present inter-allied conference was not satisfactory and that the government had decided to invite the Dominions to send representatives to the conference, which will examine the entire situation and avoid difficulties, hitherto encountered.

L. C. Amery, former first lord of the Admiralty, raised the question of representation of the Dominions is deciding on the British Empires, foreign policy at international conferences. He thought it was a little unfortunate that this question of representation for the Dominions should have arisen in connection with the present inter-allied conference so soon after the Lausanne treaty incident. The make shift arrangement that arrived at the last moment was unsatisfactory, he added, because of the panel system adopted. Representation should be on footing of equality. "We ought to make it clear the British Empire as they find it and we cannot diminish the status of our own Dominions merely in order to meet conveniences of other powers. Lloyd George agreed with the previous speaker as to the importance of the matter of Dominion representation.

The accused entered the room with their customary morning smiles.

FRENCH SCHEME NOT ULTIMATUM TO CONFERENCE

Herriot Submits Final Concessions By France To Secure the Dawes Plan.

DETAILS WITHDRAWN.

None of Allies Would Assume Responsibility For Failure of Parleys.

LONDON, July 31. — The new French proposal embodying Premier Herriot's rock-bottom offer in concession to break the deadlock in the inter-allied conference, was handed to Prime Minister MacDonald at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and laid before the chief delegates, who were gathered in the Prime Minister's room of the House of Commons.

The French delegates hope that the proposals will bring the allied delegates together on methods of launching the Dawes plan and at the same time reconcile the international bankers to the security for the Dawes' plan loan to Germany.

If the new plan fails, the French say they have nothing more to offer They do not submit the scheme in any sense as an ultimatum and they emphasize that they are not looking out of the window towards a train waiting to take them back to Paris.

Hope for Settlement

Nevertheless, they maintain that the document on which their experts have labored for the last 48 hours, should provide a means of settlement Unless it does they do not know what more they can do toward reaching a settlement which will put the Dawes plan to work.

After the adjournment, the delegates declined to comment on whether the French proposal would be accepted. But from observers, who have some knowledge of what the draft contains, it is learned that it is not expected that the plan will have easy progress when it starts along the rough political surface of the Allied conference table in Downing street.

Compromises every Day

Strong objections from British sources were expected when the proposal was formally submitted to the Allied experts at noon to-day. For its being the last attempt towards reconciling the divergent views of the delegates about the best methods of applying the Dawes plan, a competent observer said that "last steps" toward a compromise were being taken every day. First Great Britain, then France, say they have given way for the last time, he added

One delegate stated at a meeting the other day that "not even another half-step" could be made and nevertheless compromise offers continue to be laid on the table and will continue to be, for no allied delegation is willing to shoulder the responsibility for breaking up the parleys which were instituted to enforce an economic program for obtaining reparation.

Plan of Evacuation

LONDON, July 31. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — The semi-official Havas agency of France is in a position to give the first summary of the Ruhr evacuation plan submitted at the inter-allied conference here, elaborated under the direction of M. Jacques Seydoux.

After the floating of a loan of 800,000,000 gold marks by Germany the French and Belgian troops could evacuate Hanen.

After the issue of each of three slices of 2,000,000,000 German industrial railroad bonds the French and Belgian troops would evacuate successively Dortmund, Bochum and Essen. If the markets were unable to absorb the issue of 2,000,000,000 German industrial railroad bonds the troops nevertheless would definitely leave the Ruhr by August 15, 1925 on condition that the Reichstag would have fulfilled all the obligations of the Dawes plan.

The arbitration formula as finally drafted will apply to disagreements of the reparations commission concerning defaults and non-execution of German industrial contracts and appeals from decisions of the reparations commission.

The heads of the delegations attending the inter-allied conference met yesterday afternoon at No. 10 Downing street and were in session until 6 o'clock.

Federal Field Surveyors Present Cheerful Report.

WINNIPEG, July 31.—Dr. K. A. Bailey, plant pathologist for the Dominion Government Department of Agriculture which is closely watching the rust situation in Western Canada, received reports yesterday from field surveyors indicating that damage to the crops from this menace to date was slight.

The cool weather accompanied by light winds according to authorities have greatly minimized the danger of rust damage.

CITY SERVANTS IN LABOR UNION

Council of Three Rivers Oppose Union of Police and Firemen.

MAYOR WITH MEN.

THREE RIVERS, Que., July 31. —Following a resolution submitted to the City Council by Aldermen Loranger and Langlois, calling upon members of the local police and fire forces to resign from their labor union or leave the force, a clash is imminent between the men and the City Council should the resolution pass.

The resolution was given an eleven-day hoist following argument between the proposers and the mayor. The latter maintained that the men were entitled to join the union if they wished and that Chief of Police Vachon had raised no objection to their doing so. He further pointed out that under the rules of the union the members were forbidden to strike.

When the resolution again comes before the council it is anticipated that there will be a lively debate.

TWO CRIMES CHARGED.

Quebec Youth Faces Manslaughter and Rape.

SHERBROOKE, Que., July 31.—Herman Girard of Richmond was held for trial before the court of King's Bench yesterday on separate charges of manslaughter and rape in connection with the death of twenty-year old Irene St. Germain.

Following the judgment handed down Wednesday morning by Judge Godbout of Beauce, at the preliminary hearing of the manslaughter charge the second charge against Girard was heard in the afternoon quite a number of witnesses being called to the stand and he was committed on the second charge.

A move was made by counsel for the defence to secure the release of the accused on bail, but this was refused by Judge Godbout.

CROWS ON A JAG.

Cows, Too, Intoxicated From Still in Woods.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 31.—Beasts of the field and birds of the air have come to the aid of Governor Pinchot's prohibition squad of State policemen, according to W. J. Delansky, Assistant Game Protector. The Protector reported to the State Game Commission how he had solved the mystery of five inebritaed crows and half a dozen intoxicated cows which nightly returned to their barn with the hiccoughs.

The loudly cawing birds led to the discovery of a still in the underbrush near Clear Run, Clearfield County. There were two coal stoves, two half barrel coolers, two barrels of mash and two dozen quart bottles. About the place were many crow and cow tracks. The Game Protector notified the State police, who confiscated the contraband.

MOTORISTS STONED

And Bullets Fired on Laurentian Mountains Highway.

MONTREAL, July 31.—(Canadian Press). — During the past week motorists on the Laurentian Mountains Highway between St. Janvier and Ste Therese have been endangered by volleys of stones thrown at their cars, and in several cases bullets have been fired, one going through the windshield of a car. When Hon. Athanase David returned from the banquet at Ste Therese last week his car was struck by stones. No one was hurt, and it was too dark to investigate where the missiles came from. Chief Lorrain of the Provincial detective force has a number of men at work on the matter.

PEGGY MARRIED ONLY FOR TITLE, COUNT ASSERTS

Expected Her to Quit Stage and Be Real Wife—Seeks Annulment.

HER FOURTH HUSBAND.

Declares Story Will Astound Court—Love Ended on Wedding Day.

NEW YORK, July 31.—As she was stepping into a taxicab in front of the Federal Building Tuesday, where she had testified at the trial of William J. Fallon, the lawyer accused of jury bribing, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, the actress, was served with a summons in an action for annulment af marriage, begun a few minutes before by her husband, Count Gustaf Morer of Sweden.

"My action in beginning an annulment proceeding against my wife,' he said " really was stimulated by a story I heard earlier in the day that she had arranged to have it published, that she had ordered her lawyer to begin an action for separation from me on the ground that I did'nt support Ler. This charge by her was accompanied by the statement that I had constantly demanded money from her since our marriage and that she even had to pay my laundry bills.

"I became incensed. There isn't a word of truth in another statement that she caused to be published that within the last few days I struck her while we were riding in a taxicab on Fifth Avenue or some place. All I want to say in reply to this last accusation against me is that it is a surprising lie. I wouldn't strike a woman no matter what she did to me. Everybody who knows me will state that I am a gentelman.

"It is because I am a gentleman that I at first decided that I would seek to avoid bringing the Countess's name into the public print in connection with the annulment proceeding, which I have had in mind for several weeks. Even now I am trying to arrange through Mr. Kohler, my lawyer, to have the hearing on my annulment proceeding held in camera because I don't want it said that I would do anything to hurt the feelings of a lady, no matter what harm she had done me.

"The complaint in the annulment proceeding will be served on the Countess in a few days. I shall not reveal th nature of the charges on which I request that my marriage to the Countess be severed, but I am frank to say that with the evidence I have accumulated, I shall astound the court.

Says Peggy Only Wanted His Title.

"How long have your domestic troubles been going on?" the Count was asked.

"I do no intend to reveal any details," he replied. 'but I do not feel that I am doing so in stating that my differences with my wife began the night of the day of our marriage. We came to the Ambassador in this city from Atlantic City on the day of our marriage and remained there for two days, when we moved to her appartment in East Sixty-Second Street."

The count who is tall and athletic and has blue eyes and straw-colored hair, paced the floor of his room as he went on. "There was no honeymoon for us. There was no love for me. Our happiness was smashed on the day we were married. She loved me up to the minute we were wed, and then I never had her love again.

"She wanted a title, and when she got it, she lost interest in me. As for myself, why I never was interested much in my title. In fact not one of my intimates in Chicago knew that I was a Count until they read of my marriage to Miss Joyce. But I went along hoying that things would come out all right."

Count Morner attributed the trouble to "her unbelievable selfishness."

"You see, I am the President of the Stomatol Company of America, a tooth paste manufacturing firm in Chicago," he said. "I had left my business to come east to marry Miss Joyce and it was my understanding that she would return to Chicago with me, give up the stage and settle down and be a real wife.

Countess Balked at Chicago.

"But when on the day of our marriage I spoke of our returning to Chicago. she said she would not go. She said she would remain here. I remained here with her until June 15 last. when I simply had to go to Chicago to attend to my affairs. My partners kindly consented to my remaining away from the business until next month, and I came back to her in three days.

"But things had happened frequently in the period that had intervened between then and our marriage. I found that she was arranging to return to the stage. According to Frank Keller, a theatrical producer she was attempting to commercialize her title. She was demanding four or five times what she formerly got for appearing on the stage because people would be more interested in her as a countess. I didn't like that, and told her so.

"She didn't come home from the Federal Court on Monday. I took her down to the court in an automobile and she was to meet me at the apartment in the evening for dinner. I got there at 7 p.m. The maid said she hadnt returned home. I waited all night and this afternoon before I decided to take action.

"Was that the first time the Countess had been away from home over night since your marriage?" he was asked.

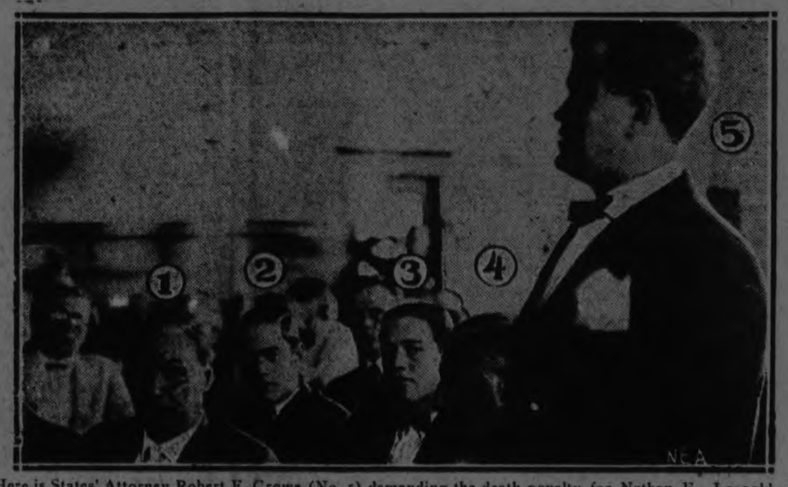
"Oh, no; but I'll not discuss that for publication. That is a matter I must not discuss because it refers to a lady. All such things will come up in the annulment proceeding."

Pressed regarding the character of the evidence with which he promised to give the court Count Morner said.

"I can't do that, although the story she has caused to be published about me has so incensed me that, were I not a gentleman, I believe that I would lose control of myself and tell it. I particularly dislike this reference to her having supplied me with money.

"Why," the Count went on. "I gave away a $250,000 estate before I left Sweden for this country. I gave it to three persons who have prospered through it since. I came to this country with $1,500 and I'm here still. I really believe I have a very wonderful future before me."

AS CROW DEMANDED DEATH PENALTY.



Here is States' Attorney Robert E. Crowe (No. 5) demanding the death penalty for Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Frank, at the opening of their hearing before Cheif Justice John R. Caverly in Criminal Court, Chicago. Leopold (No. 2) and Loeb (No. 3) appear to be little moved by the prosecutor's plea. Clarence F. Darrow (No. 1), chief counsel for the defense, is seen, with pencil in hand listening intently to Crowe's every word. Benjamin Bachrach (No 4), assisting Darrow, is sitting next to Crowe.

BRITISH PLANES CRASHED IN FOG

Two Aviators Killed in Operation on Frontier of India.

TWO WERE CAPTURED.

SIMLA, British India, July 31. — (Canadian Press).—Only two persons were killed and one injured in the series of accidents which befell a formation of six British airplanes, operating against Shabikhel, southeast of Rasmak, in the country of the Waziri tribesmen on the northwest frontier of India on Monday, according to later reports yesterday.

Officer E. Bell and passenger Slac, who were believed to have been killed in a crash at Dunkan's Point, were uninjured and have returned to Rasmak. Squadron Leader A. J. Capel, who, with A. Bell, a passenger, fell into the hands of the Waziri, and who was believed to have been seriously hurt, was not injured, and is reported to be well treated by the tribesmen.

The accidents occurred when the formation was caught in a fog on the return journey.

FLIERS ON THEIR WAY.

U. S. Globe Girdlers Reached the Orkneys on Wednesday.

KIRKWALL, Scotland, July 31.—(Canadian Press).—Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, with his band of United States Army aviators, arrived here Wednesday afternoon from Brough, England, on the first of the last leg of their round-the-world flight.

The jump-off at Brough took place at 10.34 yesterday morning, and after an easy flight under good weather conditions, nearly all the way, the planes dropped down gracefully upon the waters of Houton Bay, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and "taxied" to their moorings in the presence of a large proportion of the population of the Orkney Islands, and the officers and crew of the United States cruiser Richmond, anchored nearby.

The journey of about 370 miles from Brough was made in about five and a half hours.

FOUR KILLED IN CAR.

Hit By Train at Newcastle—Two Seriously Injured.

PORT HOPE, July 31. —Four persons, two from Toronto, were killed and three other from Toronto injured, two seriously, yesterday when a fast freight struck the auto in which they were driving near Adams' crossing at Newcastle.

The dead are; Mrs. Burroughs and her daughter, of "Bondhead," Newcastle, Mrs. Stewart, Dundas street, west Toronto; Morris Cambridge, a boy, 255 Gladstone avenue, Toronto.

The seriously injured are: Mrs. Cambridge and James Cambridge, a boy. Mr. Cambridge is not badly hurt.

The party had been down to the lake and were returning to the village. There is a clear view of the railway track, but it is understood that the car stalled on the crossing.

The injured have been brought to Port Hope Hospital.

DOUBLE SUICIDE CORONER FINDS

Samuel Taylor and Mrs. Joseph Sharpe Ended Their Lives in the Otonabee River.

BODIES RECOVERED.

Clasped in each other's arms, the bodies of Samuel Taylor and Mrs. Joseph Sharpe came to the surface and drifted down the Otonabee yesterday evening in the wake of the steamer Stoney Lake, and were brought ashore by searchers. In the party that found the missing persons wer Chief Samuel Newhall, Archie Williamson, J. Grose and Walter Tyrer.

After searching fruitlessly all day it was decided to dynamite the river in the hope of bringing the bodies to the surface, and Harry Evans had his charges prepared when the proceeding was found unnecessary.

Chief Newhall and his party had been working toward the dam below Lock 23 and were grappling long the stop-logs when their grappling irons fouled. They were endeavoring to release them when the Steamer Stoney Lake passed on her return trip from Lindsay, where she had taken the excursionists from Marmora. Shortly after the steamer passed the party noticed the bodies about a hundred and fifty yards away, floating towards the dam. When it was recognized what they were, a canoe was put out and Mr. William son towed them ashore. Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young was called and examined the bodies.

It was necessary to pry the victims apart in order to bring the bodies to the undertaking parlor. In Mr. Taylor's pockets were the key to his car which he had methodically locked before leaving it parked by the roadside, and nine dollars in cash. Rigor mortis had set in, and the forms were almost unbreakably linked in death.

No Inquest

Dr. Young told the Examiner that there will be no inquest, the cause of death being quite apparent to him. As his considered and final opinion he last night declared that death resulted from drowning in a double suicide.

"On what do you base your finding of suicide?" he was asked.

"I'm not going to tell you," was his answer.

Dr. Young added as part of his official opinion that the position in which the bodies were found excluded the possibility of one having been trying to save the other.

Mr. Taylor's wrist watch stopped at 1.34, indicating in the opinion of experts, that the water was entered between one o'clock and that time. The victims wore their overcoats.

NO HARVESTERS FROM OLD LAND

Workers For 1924 Crop Will Be Obtained Nearer Home —37,000 Required.

AVOID COMPLAINTS.

EDMONTON, Alta., July 31. Canadian Press. — There will be no more complaints from British harvesters in Alberta this year, for the very good reason that no harvesters are to be brought from Great Britain to help gather the 1924 crop. The supply of workers will be secured nearer home, the majority coming probably from British Columbia.

Walter Smitten, labor commissioner for the province, reported on his return from the harvest employment conference n Winnipeg, that an estimate of 37,000 men required in the three provinces for harvesting operations had been agreed upon and that Alberta's quota of 10,000 will hold subject to change about the middle of August, when it would be revised in accordance with crop reports on hand at that time. Of these about 4000, it is stated, could be found within the province.

CLEMENCY APPEAL.

Home Secretary Urged to Review Case of Canadian Soldier.

LONDON, July 31. — (Canadian Press).—Efforts have been made recently by certain Canadians towards inducing the Home Secretary, Arthur Henderson, to further review the case of Georges Coderre, a lieutenant in a French-Canadian battalion that was overseas in the war, who was sentenced to death for murder in England during the war.

Lord Darling, who was then a judge of the High Court of Justice, King's Bench Division, and presided at the trial of Coderre, in pronouncing the death sentence, spoke very sternly with regard to the crime of which the young French-Canadian lieutenant had been found guilty, nevertheless the Home Secretary of that time commuted the sentence to penal servitude for life.

The Canadian press understands that Home Secretary Henderson is considering the matter of reviewing the case, as requested.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

Exports to United Kingdom During June More Than Double Imports.

OTTAWA, July 31. — (Canadian Press).—Canada's imports during the month of June from the United Kingdom totalled $11,905,842, while exports from Canada to the United Kingdom totalled $28,425,774. The value of Canadian imports from the United Kingdom during the twelve months ended June, 1924, was $150,447,599, as compared with $149,682,724 during the twelve months ended June, 1923. Canadian exports to the United Kingdom during the twelve months ended June, 1924, totalled $377,478,714, and during the comparative twelve months of the previous year were $387,587,179.

LADY ASTOR'S PICTURE IN HOUSE OF COMMONS EVOKES PROTEST

Placed Beside Picture of Queen Elizabeth in Gallery of British Memorials—Represents Her Introduction to the House—"Blunder of Taste," Says Newspaper.

HER LADYSHIP DOESN'T CARE "TUPPENCE.

LONDON, July 30. — The huge painting by Charles Sims, the eminent English artist, commemorating the introduction of Lady Astor to the House of Commons, and depicting her between her two sponsors, Lloyd George and the Earl of Balfour, which was hung Tuesday in the staircase leading to the committee rooms in proximity to a picture of the House of Commons petitioning Queen Elizabeth, occasioned an animated discussion in the House of Commons yesterday.

A memorial, extensively signed by all members and all parties, protesting against the hanging in Westminster Hall pictures of living subjects without first consulting parliament, was drawn up.

Many Objections.

Both the Laborites and the Conservatives submitted questions to the House. F. W. Jowett, commissioner of Works, replying said that the decision to hang the picture, was made by his predecessor, but in view of the numerous objections received during the past few days by members of all parties he would not consent to the definite hanging of the picture until the House had expressed approval. In the meantime, he said, he would allow the picture to remain in its present position.

Sir J. L. Baird, former commissioner of works, said that the picture was hung after a consultation with the Speaker, to commemorate an important point in the development of parliamentary history. Pressed to state whether an oppportunity would be given the House of Commons of expressing an opinion before the recess, Premier MacDonald said the matter obviously should be handled in the most decent way possible. The government, he said, would do its best to do so.

Husband Arranged It.

LONDON, July 31. — (Associated Press.) — Lady Astor last evening took a hand in the warm controversy which had been raised in the House of Commons by the hanging on a wall of one of the staircases of a picture commissioned by Lord Astor, representing Lady Astor being introduced to the House by the Earl of Balfour and former Prime Minister Lloyd George, when she took her seat in 1919.

Lady Astor said the entire matter meant little to her, but she added that she believed the women of Great Britain would like to have a portrait of her in the House of Commons.

In a statement made at her home in Plymouth, she said:

"It is a matter of indifference to me whether they decide to keep my portrait in parliament or not. I did not ask that it be put there. My husband consulted with the Speaker of the House of Commons and they arranged the matter before I thought of it.

Snaps her Fingers.

"I believe the women of England would like a portrait of me to be there. It is a pity that the matter has been raised at a moment when the members of the American bar are here and they expressed pleasure at seeing the picture there. I don't give 'tuppence' whether it is put up or not. The House can do exactly as it likes."

Yesterday Frederick William Jowett, Commissioner of Works, declared that the picture would be left in its present position until he had had a further opportunity to ascertain the general opinion on the subject of the members of the House.

"Immortalize the Rich."

In an editorial on the controversy over the picture, the Evening Standard declared yesterday that if the authorities accepted everything offered to them by rich people "willing to pay the cost of their own immortalization," every available inch of space would soon be filled.

No Censorship.

The newspaper asserts that a picture which is to go down to posterity as a national memorial should be subjected to the most rigid and intelligent censorship. It continues:

"Here apparently we have no censorship at all. A rich family offers a painting in glorification of one of its members and the painting is accepted without reference to its individual propriety or to its force as a precedent. Lady Astor has made we think a bad blunder of taste; somebody else has been guilty of a bad blunder of judgment. The easiest and the best way out of the difficulty is for Lord Astor or whoever presented the picture to bow to the feeling which the unfortunate gift has aroused."

REBUILD NORMAN DAM

WINNIPEG, July 31. — Reconstruction of Norman Dam on the Lake of the Woods, an enterprise involving the expenditure of several million dollars, will be started within the next few weeks, B. W. Backus president of the Backus-Brooks Lumber Co., of Minneapolis announced to-day. With the completion of the pulp plant, it is expected that the daily output of paper will exceed 135 tons.

PREMIER'S PLEA FOR MURDERER

Personal Intercession To Arthur Henderson By Edouard Herriot.

PRESS IS CRITICAL.

LONDON, July 31.—(Canadian Press).—Arthur Henderson, Secretary for Home Affairs, yesterday received a letter from Premier Herriot of France concerning Jean Pierre Vaquier, whose appeal from a sentence of hanging for the murder of Alfred P. Jones, landlord of the Blue Anchor Hotel, Byfleet, was dismissed on July 28. In view of certain statements by British newspapers yesterday, the French Premier hastens to explain that his interposition merely amounts to a personal request to Henderson to consider the matter and that there is no political significance whatever.

Last night the Star says that Premier Herriot's interposition produces a situation as embarrassing as when Salome called for the Bantist's head on a charger. It adds: "It is well known that the Home Secretary dislikes capital punishment where any reasonable ground can be discovered for a remission. But is a personal appeal from a distinguished visiting gentleman a reasonable ground?"

The Daily Herald, on the other hand, advocates a remission of the sentence principally because the prisoner was at a disadvantage in not understanding English trial methods or even the English language.

Already the French press comment admits the prisoner had a perfectly fair trial.

CROP ESTIMATE MORE HOPEFUL

Alberta Yield May Be Nearly Twice the Previous Estimate.

RAINS OPPORTUNE.

CALGARY, Alta., July 31.—Crops on summer fallow in practically every part of the province has benefitted immensely by the recent rains. The Calgary Herald said yesterday:

Stubbled-in crops and spring plowing will not be changed greatly except in the south, where many of them will produce a fair yield.

A new aspect has been brought to the whole crop situation, however, by the welcome moisture and estimates of the Alberta yield are now placed at 70 to 80 million bushels instead of forty to fifty million.

In the south the rain arrived at a most opportune period and yields will be doubled in many instances, through better fruition of high standing grain.

The Goose Lake area from Drumheller to Harna and east of that point was saved from almost total loss by immense improvement to summer fallow crops.

In the north, rains of this week supplemented moisture that fell previously when the south was drying up and many excellent yields will result.

LOST IN BUSH FOR 53 HOURS

Ten Year Old Boy Prayed and Cried Himself to Sleep For Two Nights.

SUDBURY, July 31. —(Canadian Press).—After fifty three hours lost in the bush, Pasquelino Galardo, ten year old son of Emelio Galardo, Sudbury photographer, has turned up safe and sound, little worse for his experience. Although search parties, headed by Provincial Police and including expert bushmen and scores of Italian fellow countrymen of missing boy's father, had been two days and two nights. Boy accidentally came across farmer's son, Jack Williams, in runaway in bush who took him home. The lad still had his mother's basket of blue berries. For two nights Pasquelino prayed and cried himself to sleep, only to start out at sunrise next morning on what seemed to him forlorn hope.

Boy's face was swollen from crying while his feet, arms, and head had been badly bitten by black flies. His clothes lay beside the bed, torn and dirty from his wanderings in the bush.

FRANK AMAZEMENT AT REPARATIONS

French Formula Offered To End the Deadlock—Delegations Surprised.

LONDON, July 31. — (Canadian Press).—Frank amazement was expressed to-day by a majority of the delegates who are engaged in considering reparations proposals presented by France to the inter-Allied conference—the French formula—offered to end the deadlock, bristles with difficult and detailed technicalities and is anything but a clear statement of that country's position. All the delegations except the French and the Belgians, who presumably agreed upon the proposals, were surprised and many conferences expressed fear that the elaborate technicalities conceal a possible course, under which France could embark alone on another Ruhr adventure.

This, it is agreed especially by the Anglo-American Banking group would frustrate German and world re-habilitation which must be based upon sincere effectation of the experts plan.

The French plan filled four long pages of foolscap. Premier Herriot interposed objections to successive formulas offered by Britain, the United States and Belgium and much had been expected of him when it was announced the French would present their own plan.

The conference has been deadlocked for 12 days over the subject of who shall decide whether Germany defaults in payments under the Dawes-McKenna plan and what shall be done about it.

France proposes that if the reparations commission does not agree unanimously there shall be an appeal to a second arbitration body.

But though the midnight oil was burned in many a delegate's room throughout the night the conferees were frank to say that they were not sure from the draft what France had in mind. They are looking for the "Joker".

Counter acting this skepticism is the staunch insistence of the Anglo American leaders that the conference —the Fifteenth since Versailles— must succeed and that Herriot, a consistent proponent of a European Government is willing to accept certain modifications in the complicated French formula.

HOW MAN LOST $25,000 EASY

Money Made on Horse Races Will Slip as Fast as You Make It.

MONTREAL, July 31.—(Canadian Press).—How an experienced business man was fooled out of $25,000 in a few minutes was told in the Enquete Court here yesterday when Edward Long, alias Cappie Lewis, and George Wallace appeared, charged with stealing that sum from H. L. Chtistian, of Chicago, by a confidence trick. Christian told the Court that he was robbed of his money in this city a year ago. He described the office run by the confidence men as busy as a bee-hive, with telephones ringing, clerks chalking up bets and the cash counter with an impressive pile of bank notes. He had bet $100 on a horse which had returned two to one, and the cashier had at once paid him. Then came the real bet, continued witness, when it was suggested "we each put up an I.O.U. for $20,000 on a horse named 'Lucky Play'." The horse won. The cashier, identified by the witness as Wallace, was actually paying out the bills when a man came rushing in and protested: "How do I know that you gentlemen could have paid if the horse has lost?" Christian replied that he could easily settle that by wiring his bank. On July 31 the money came, $25,000, which he entrusted to another man to bet on another "sure thing." Instead of betting this horse to run second the money was put on to win, and was lost.

SENIOR PROBLEM

Brought to the Attention of Delegates at Canadian Union Meeting.

TORONTO, July 31.—(Canadian Press).—The seniority problem arising out of the merging by the Canadian National lines of the Grand Trunk, the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Canadian Northern and Inter-Colonial lines, was brought to the attention of delegates at yesterday's session of the Canadian union meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Grand International Auxiliary. Owing to the fact that the Grand Executive of the organization will convene in Toronto next week, the purpose of dealing with this matter, the meeting decided to await the final decision of that body. Apart from some minor matters which were dealt with speedily, yesterday's secret session was confined to a prolonged debate with respect to the selecting of next year's place of meeting, which was finally captured by Montreal over Winnipeg and Calgary.

FOUR KILLED WHEN CAR WAS HIT BY A TRAIN

Automobile in Which 7 Were Riding, Stalled on Track in Front of Freight Train.

3 IN HOSPITAL.

Driver of Car Was Looking in the Opposite Direction When Train Hit Auto.

TORONTO, July 31.—(Canadian Press.)— Four Toronto residents were killed and three others injured, two very seriously, when the motor car in which they were riding was struck by a westbound Canadian National Railway freight train about noon yesterday at a level crossing known as Adams' Crossing, about three miles east of Newcastle, Ont.

The dead are: Mrs. S. B. Stewart, 103 Evelyn Ave, Toronto, Miss Marjorie Burrows, 72 Howard Park Ave., Toronto; Morris Cambridge, aged 12 years, 255 Gladstone Ave., Toronto; Mrs. Mary E. Burrows, 72 Howard Park Ave., Toronto.

The injured: Wellington George Cambridge, his wife and son James, 255 Gladstone Ave., Toronto. They are in hospital at Port Hope. Mr. Cambridge is not badly hurt, but the condition of his wife and son is precarious.

The spot where the accident occurred has not been considered particularly dangerous level crossing as there is an unobstructed view of each side for about a mile. The car was being driven northward from the lakeshore at a rate of about 20 miles an hour and arrived at the crossing just as the fast westward freight drew near. It is thought that the driver of the car was looking in the other direction and so was unaware of the nearness of the train. The motor car then apparently stalled on the tracks and the unfortunate occupants had no chance to save themselves. The train smashed into the auto with such a terrific force that the auto was smashed to pieces and was dragged along the track for about 100 yards, the occupants being thrown alongside the track. Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Burrows, Miss Burrows and the boy, Morris Cambridge, were evidently killed outright. The bodies were removed to Newcastle, where an inquest was formally opened last night by Coroner Dr. Tucker, and then adjourned.

Members of the train crew gave first aid to the injured, and Dr. J. A. Butler, Newcastle, and Dr. M. M. Tucker, of Orono, who was in Newmastle at the time, were called and were quickly on the scene. Dr. Forest arrived later and under his direction the three injured were removed to Port Hope hospital. Late last night it was stated at the hospital that there was little hope of the recovery of Mrs. Cambridge and her young son.

FIRE DESTROYED ROSENEATH BARN

The Loss Has Been Estimated at Almost $2,000.00.

ROSENEATH, July 31.—Fire destroyed the barns of Mr. James Timlin, 4 miles southwest of Roseneath at 9.30 p.m. last night.

Included in the contents destroyed were 30 loads of hay, 2 wagons, scales, fanning mill, separator and some harness.

The buildings were partly covered by insurance and the loss has been roughly estimated at $2,000.00.

The barn was erected two years ago and was modern in structure and well equipped. No definite cause has been discovered, but it is believed that sponstaneous combustion of the hay, originated the fire.

He is returning home after an inspection of certain gold mine interests in Northern Manitoba and stated tha tin this field of activitiy a great future loomed up for Canada.

PASSION PLAYERS

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, July 31.—Obermmergau is not the peaceful village that it was before Anton Lang and his wood carving companions went to America early this year. Local opponents of the trip to the United States have gained reinforcements since the return of the Lang party some weeks ago and the town has divided into bitter Lang and anti-Lang groups.

The anti-Lang forces assert that the American visit of the Oberammergau, players was an attempt to commercialize the Passion Play, that the trip was a financial failure and they have threatened to sabotage the net production of the performance scheduled for 1932.

Anton Lang himself has held aloof from his critics thus far and refuses to answer them, contending that the charges are unfounded, and avers that the Passion Play will not suffer from criticisms or jealousies of individuals.

DEATH.

LAKEFIELD, July 31—The death occurred this morning, after a long illness, of Mrs. Walter Madill. Funeral announcement later.

NORMAN DAM IS TO BE REBUILT

Expenditure Will Reach Several Million Dollars and Wages For Several Hundred Men.

WINNIPEG, July 31.—(Canadian Press).—The work of rebuilding the Norman Dam at the Lake of the Woods, involving an expenditure of several million dollars, and employing several hundred men, will commence early this fall. E. W. Backus, president of the Backus-Brooks Lumber Co., Minneapolis, made this announcement Tuesday while visiting the company's plant at Kenora in company with a large party of American and Canadian business men. The re-construction of the dam had been made necessary to provide sufficient power for the company's new plant, which is the largest in the world. The plant at present is turning out 98 tons of paper daily, and when running to capacity, produces from one unit alone 145 tons per day. Mr. Backus stated the only limit to the output will be that imposed by power facilities. Enough pulpwood is available, he said, until the present growth reproducts itself. Arrangements have been practically completed between the Backus-Brooks interests and the Canadian Government for the construction of the dam, which will control the international water. The new dam will take the place of an old one built 28 years ago, and which is now not only in a leaking condition, but has been outgrown by the industry. It is expected from 500 to 600 men will be engaged on the new construction work, which will proceed all winter, and will take about 18 months to complete. Mr. Backus entertained his guests at the Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, and later left over the C.P.R. lines for Fort William Tuesday evening, where he will inspect the company's interests at that point. The party was accompanied as far as Kenora by Chas. Murphy, general manager of the C.P.R., as well as E. D. Cotterell and George Stephen, assistant freight traffic manager.

GAS MAY GO OUT.

The Time May Come When Alcohol Will Take Its Place.

LONDON, July 30 (United Press).—The time may come when most automobiles, aeroplanes and internal-combustion engines will be run by alcohol instead of gasoline, experts here declare.

They give assurance, however, that this will not reduce the world supply of alcohol available for human internal combustion, because the motive-power alcohol will be made from vegetable crops and wastes that are now unused for alcoholic purposes, leaving the present beverage sources intact.

"Alcohol is the hope of the future, when the problem of fuel supply for internal combustion engines becomes acute," said Sir Charles Bedford, power expert, addressing a world conference on that subject here.

He said that whenever gasoline gives out, or threatens to do so, the world can produce, very simply, all the alcohol it needs, and the wheels will go around just the same, even if another oil field is never found.

"Alcohol can be produced from almost any plant or vegetable," he explained. "When we need more alcohol all we need do is raise more plants—they can be weeds, grass, plants, that have no value for man. Waste from sugar-cane mills, sawdust, straw, cellulose waste and such stuff can all be turned into perfectly good alcohol, for engine purposes. The British empire is weak in oil, producing only about 3 per cent. of the world's supply, but it has limitless possibilities in alcohol-producing plants."

RECLAIM N. C. LANDS.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., July 30 (United Press).—At Fort Macon, where North Carolina will establish a new state park, experts will battle the ocean in an effort to reclaim a considerable acreage of "banks" land. The outcome will be of great economic importance. The first voyagers from England to this coast found the ocean and the inland sounds of Carolina separated by a strip of land more than 300 miles long, covered with forests of live oak, cedar and pine trees. The soil was rich, and the aroma from grape vines was wafted to sea on the land breezes. The protective forests destroyed in the succeeding centuries, the banks now are largely barren of any growth. Drifting sands conquered the vegetation.

Around old Fort Macon, one of the few well preserved fortifications of the old order now extant, the state will attempt to give the beach a background of green and make of its dunes a protective rampart for a growth of new forest. Experts believe "a little patience a trifle of scientific treatment," will be sufficient to "found there an example of what can be done in transforming a waste into lands such as delighted the eyes of Amadas and Barlowe, Sir Walter Reliegh's captains."

The old fortress, which protected the ports of Beaufort and Morehead City during three wars, will be preserved. Its masonry casements, magazines, redoubts, courts, etc., are in a great measure, still intact. It was a fortification of much strategic importance to the Confederate forces during the early part of the Civil War.

CHAS. F. MAGILL DIES IN BOSTON

Deceased Was Works Manager of C.G.E. For Five Years.

BOSTON, Mass., July 31. — Charles F. MacGill, long identified with the engineering world, died on Sunday at the Homoeopathic Hospital, following a month's illness. His home was at 72 Chester Road, Belmont. Mr. MacGill was born at Keeseville, N.Y., July 20, 1858. He was the son of William and Ann (Monkhouse) MacGill. He was educated in the schools of Burlington, Vt., and got his engineering training in the shops of Burlington, and the copper mines of Michigan, where he was in charge of some of the first work of the Calumet & Hecla Company. When he returned East after several years in the West Mr. MacGill associated himself with the horsenail industry making horsenails by machinery. The first nail machine was invented in his native town.

For a number of years thereafter he was connected with the Westinghouse Agricultural Works at Schenectady, which were owned by the father of the late George Westinghouse. Then he was twelve years with the General Electric Company at Schenectady and Pittsfield, and five years as works manager of the Canadian General Electric at Peterboro, Ontario. From there he went to Quebec, where he was manager of the Carrier Laine Company, marine engineers and boat builders. He was employed by the Twin City Street Railway Company in Minnesota where he remodelled the inclined railway in Duluth. From there he went to St. Louis as works manager of the Diesel Engine Company where he built some of the first internal combustion engines for the United States battleships.

During the late war he was engineer of the bayonet department of the Remington Arms Company of Bridgeport, Conn., and works manager of the Bullard Machine Company of that same city. Since then he has been retired. Mr. MacGill was for twenty-eight years a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He also was a member of Corinthian Lodge of Masons of Bridgeport, and Bridgeport Chapter of the same body. His wife, formerly Miss Charlotte E. Keeller, of Keeseville, died in 1918. His surviving children are Miss Caroline E. MacGill, a writer and magazine contributor, and Charles Frederick MacGill, trust officer of the Massachusetts Trust Company of Boston.

FIJIANS COMPLAIN

There Are Too Many Shuffling Feet in London, England.

LONDON, July 31. — The three Fiji chiefs, Vali, Sukuma and Rabici who have been visiting London for two months to pay their respects and that of their peoples to the King of England, their overlord, have only one complaint to register. There are too many people about.

"They get in the way when you walk," says Vali, "you can't go straight like you can in Fiji, and you have to keep hopping about unless you want to get trampled upon."

The chiefs will be glad, they said, when they can walk about without fear of their lives and when they can use an elevator without their hearts ascending to their mouths.

King George one morning received the chiefs at Buckingham Palace, the pompousness of which so captivated the chiefs that they forgot all the English words they knew and upset the ceremony by talking to the King in Fiji.

MATTHEWS HAS BEEN ARRESTED BY U. S. POLICE

He Was Found Running a Lunch Counter in City of Santa Clara.

MUCH CHANGED.

His Closest Friends Would Not Have Recognized Him.

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 31.—(Canadian Press).—In the presence of newspaper representatives, United States Immigration Inspectors Arthur J. Phelan, T. J. Dozier and Patrick J. Farrelly, of San Francisco, last evening, took into custody Charles Matthews, Jr., former Deputy Provincial Treasurer of Ontario. He is now held in the county jail at San Francisco, and will be held for illegal entry into the United States from Canada. At the time of his arrest he was operating a lunch-room in the city of Santa Clara.

His appearance is so changed from that given in bulletins broadcast, it is doubtful that his closest friends would recognize him. He was dressed in heavy corduroy trousers and tan flannel shirt, moustache curled up at the ends, and his loss of weight made identification almost impossible, should he have met former acquaintances. The arrest was made quietly, and he readily admitted his identity. It is understood by inspectors investigating this case that he has been in constant communication with friends in Toronto. His judgment was excellent in choosing the vocation he was engaged, and the changing of his appearance.

Speedy action was taken by the Provincial authorities to secure the return of Charles Matthews, former Deputy Treasurer of Ontario, following the receipt of information that the missing ex-official was in California. One thousand dollars in cash will be paid by the Government of Ontario for the delivery of Matthews into custody in the United States, and an additional $1,500 in cash will be paid when delivered into the Provincial custody in Ontario. This was the answer of Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General of Ontario, to a telegraphic message received on Tuesday afternoon at the office of General V. A. S. Williams, Commissioner of the Provincial Police of Ontario, from one Jack Martin, at San Francisco, promising to deliver Charles A. Matthews, Jr., the fugitive Deputy Provincial Treasurer, into custody if a suitable reward was offered.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

He ate his lunch in a hurry.

The merry-go-round in Happy Go Lucky Park was a jolly one. Nick made the music go, and a whistle went "toot-toot," and Mister Zip, the fairyman, turned a handle that started the merry-go-round. Nancy took tickets sometimes, and sometimes she held the babies so they couldn't fall off and get hurt.

And, although the animals on the merry-go-round looked as fierce as they could be, they were only made of wood and couldn't hurt you any more than a fly.

Besides, there was the brass ring. If you got the brass ring when you were whizzing past, instead of a black one, that gave you a free ride.

Of course, everybody tried as hard as ever they could to get the brass ring, you may be sure.

One day Cutie Cottontail got a job weeding a garden and, although they say that it wasn't all weeds he pulled up, still he earned enough money to go to Happy Go Lucky Park and spend it and the afternoon.

He ate his lunch in a hurry and put on his best shirt striped and away he hopped.

He bought a pack of chewing gum (really, I never knew before what it was that made bunnies wiggle their noses so), and went into the fun house and saw himself in all the fat and lean and lumpy mirrors, and got lost in the Puzzle Patch on purpose to see how quickly he could find his way out, and did a whole lot of things like that.

But all the time he was making his way to the merry-go-round, where Nancy and Nick were working. He liked the Twins and they liked him, and when he was a passenger Nick always let it go round a couple of times longer so he would get an extra long ride.

"I'm gonna stay till I get the brass ring," said Cutie, as he drew near and heard the ting-a-ling-a-ling, dum-de-dum-de-dum of the music. "And when I get it I'm gonna keep it to show to my friends. Hello, Nick!"

"Hello, Cutie," called Nick. "Hop on. You're just in time."

The little rabbit boy got on the merry-go-round and climbed up on a fierce-looking dragon with a curly tail.

"Hooray!" he shouted as the whistle went "toot-toot" and Mister Zip, the fairyman, turned the thingamadadger that started the merry-go-round on its circular journey.

What's that? What did you say? Who was it that went "hooray," Cutie or the dragon? My goodness, it was Cutie, of course, for the fierce dragon was only made of wood, and even if he hadn't been, he'd have been lashing his tail and gnashing his teeth and breathing fire through his nose, and wondering how a nice tender rabbit would taste for his dinner.

"Oh, I see! You think that's why he was saying 'hooray!' Just because Cutie climbed on his back!"

Well, maybe he would, but as I said before, how could he when he wasn't alive?

Round and round and round went the merry-go-round, and every time Cutie passed the big wooden thing with a ring in the end, he held out his hand and got one. He got so many iron rings that both his ears were full. For every time he got a ring he slid it over an ear.

And then didn't he get the brass one! "Hooray!" he shouted, louder than ever. "I'll slip this one in my pocket and take it home." Cutie was going to get into a peck of trouble.

LAXITY SOMEWHERE.

The story from Hamilton of immigrants reaching that city in an advanced state of tuberculosis and becoming a charge upon the charity department, suggests that there has been a serious slip on the part of Canada's immigration officials.

How immigrants in this condition were allowed to disembark in this country in spite of the scrutiny of medical officers requires some explanation.

Hamilton doctors say that the detection of the ailment should have been an easy matter for the experts—yet they were allowed to enter Canada and are now dependent upon the city of Hamilton for assistance.

It is to be hoped that this is but an isolated case; the consequences of a general laxity in the examination of immigrants would be serious indeed.

Why such cases could not be discovered at the point of embarkation is something that causes wonder.

That seems to be the proper place for a thorough examination, but at all events wherever the examination may be held it should not be possible for immigrants in an advanced stage of tuberculosis to find their way into Canada.

GET THEM OFF THE STREETS.

The time has arrived when the city fathers should take some definite action, and stick to it, in regard to gas-filling tanks, the number of which in Peterborough is multiplying rapidly.

These bright-coloured tanks have now made their appearance on George street, and applications for others within the business section can be confidently expected.

Other municipalities are taking steps to limit the number of tanks and to keep them away from business streets, and Peterborough will soon be forced to adopt a more rigid policy in this matter.

The elimination of telegraph and telephone poles from the main streets was only accomplished by a good deal of persuasion and negotiation.

Now it appears that gasoline tanks are going to take the place of the unsightly poles of other days.

They are more handsomely painted, it is true, but scarcely less of a nuisance than the old telegraph poles.

The streets should be kept clear of such encumbrances—at least, in the centre of the city, and certainly a restriction in the number of permits would seem to be necessary.

Otherwise these tanks will soon be as plentiful as murders in Chicago.

PROTECTING THE CHILDREN.

The Ontario Safety League continues its campaign against accidents, concentrating its effects in its latest circular upon warning parents of some of the common causes of accidents to children.

That there is need of such a campaign is shown by the fact that last year in this Province 251 fatal accidents to children under sixteen years of age occurred.

Of this number 92 were from drowning, 89 from traffic accidents, 51 from scalds and burns, 10 from gun-shot wounds and 9 from poisoning.

Parents are advised not only to teach their children how to be careful away from home, but also to be sure that they are safe at home.

Thus the league points out the necessity of keeping medicines, hot food and water, out of the reach of children.

The danger of improper use of electrical appliances is emphasized, as is the risk of having firearms in a house where there are children.

A common cause of accidents—sometimes serious—is the menace of broken glass and rusty wire, etc., around the premises where the youngsters play.

Away from home children should be taught to be careful about where they play, how they cross the streets, to keep away from fallen wires and to avoid many other dangers that lie in wait for the unwary.

Much can be accomplished by proper training by the parents, and in devoting its efforts to awakening the latter to a sense of their responsibility the Safety League is on sound ground.

BRITAIN'S BEST CUSTOMER.

A bulletin of the Canadian Woollen Manufacturers' Association declares that, according to the British Government figures just out for the first five months of 1924, Canada has taken more woollen and worsted cloth than any other country in the world from the mills of Great Britain. The figures for January to May, inclusive, 1924, are:

Exports from Great Britain of woollen and worsted cloth to her best five customers:

	Square Yards.	Population.
Canada	13,339,000	8,500,000
Japan	11,030,200	57,000,000
China	8,294,700	441,000,000
Australia	7,941,800	5,500,000
United States	7,724,400	117,000,000

These figures do not include damasks, tapestry and other furniture stuffs, wool and mohair plushes, flannels and delaines, blankets, travelling rugs or carpets, etc.

These heavy imports of finished goods into Canada are reflected in the decrease of imports of raw material to be manufactured by our home mills. The figures for the first five months of 1923 and 1924 are in lbs.:

Imports into Canada from all countries:

	1923	1924	Decrease.
Wool	11,160,000	7,930,000	3,230,000
Tops	3,746,371	2,992,565	853,806
Noils	661,779	219,351	442,428

While at the same time the re-export of foreign wool from Canada increased over three times in weight in the same period in 1924 over 1923.

HE HAS HIS GOOD POINTS.

The porcupine is protected by law in most places, a stiff fine as the penalty for killing him, because he's the only animal that a man lost in the woods can kill with a club.

Occasionally a porcupine dashes up a tree when a man approaches. But usually he stands trustingly, like a lamb awaiting slaughter.

His nose is his vulnerable spot. A sharp blow kills.

Nature overlooks no bets. She provides for everything. We realize this when we ponder that an easily killed animal is placed in the woods for lost starving men.

Nature provides for us in nearly every other emergency, barring accidents. Nearly all our social and economic problems are due to violations of natural laws. The solution of these problems is in studying natural laws, rather than by legislation.

Cities have more and more problems as they get larger, simply because they're getting farther and farther from nature.

The porcupine is man's best friend for an emergency meal in the woods. And yet the average man, as soon as he sees a porcupine, wants to kill it.

Mr. Porc, of course, isn't harming the man. But the man has a vicious streak that prompts him to destroy—when the destruction doesn't hurt the man's personal property or body. You've observed that hotel guests rarely are as careful of furnishings as they would be at home where their own belongings are concerned. Did you ever see a man wipe his shoes with a towel he owned himself?

The porcupine has the reputation of being able to throw his quills. He can't. What he does is swing quickly about, trying to smack his tail against his attacker. Soon as the tail hits, a nervous convulsion loosens the quills and the force of the blow drives them in.

Only two animals can kill a porcupine curled in a ball. Man uses a club. A fox lies on his back, sticks his long nose forward, catches Mr. Porc's nose and twists him over, kills by a bite in the neck and eats his way into the carcass through the stomach—which, like the under neck, has no quills.

THE BANKERS MAKE HARD TIMES.

International bankers, watching allied parleys over the Dawes report, oppose the right of France to take any separate action against future German defaults. They say German intergrity must be secured against another Rhur invasion before the proposed $200,000,000 loan to Germany will be safe. They are not satisfied with the plan to name an American as agent for reparation payments and give him wide powers in settling all questions of a German default. They demand much more.

These bankers, American and British are in a strong position. Politics having failed to soothe Europe, high finance has been summoned. Any settlement must be based upon a loan to Germany. The money must come from America and Britain. Neither country is much concerned about its own security from possible Gereman attacks. Britain is not greatly interested in reparations. America is not interested at all.

Angl-American money is in a position to dictate terms. If allied Governments will not guarantee the loan, then the Allies are to be asked to agree, severally and jointly, not to invade Germany except by common consent. This would, of course, mean Germany might default at will and without fear of the consequences.

World finance in anxious for any agreement that may mean peace and trade. It has repeatedly urged the wiping out of interallied obligations and the reduction of reparations. It has worked to secure American forgiveness of wartime debts. High finance is more concerned about a settlement than about reparations, the security of France or apparently, the repayment even of the proposed loan.

It opposes France, for the first necessity of France is security and the next is reparation for the terrible injuries suffered at German hands. These are not vital to England, American or the international bankers, but they are vital to France.

When bankers say the French threat menaces the safety of the German loan, the French, taught by long and bitter experience, reply that the German defaulter will pay nothing unless means are retained to enforce payment. France is unwilling to surrender the one weapon she has; she is loath to let her hands be tied and trust again in the Allies, who in dealing with Germany.

It is the same deadlock that has held for nearly six years. The bedrock of the situation has not changed. Britain, with her war fruits harvested and anxious for a return to old markets, is ready to let bygones. American will accept any settlement that does not involve her political responsibility. France, thus far unable to clinch a hard-won victory, demands security and reparations.

A compromise is possible; but this may demand from the bankers a recognition of elemental justice and of moral as well as material issues to be worth the paper on which it is written. An enduring settlement must appeal to the world's sense of justice to France as well as Germany. The common sense of the world will also demand some way whereby the proposed loan may be collected from a debtor known as a proved defaulter. In his speech at the Pilgrims Dinner Secretary Hughes said of this loan:

All discussion will be futile unless arrangements are ultimately made to satisfy the investing public.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

FRANCE PRODUCES LESS IRON

PARIS, July 31.—The claim of some economists that France is the "ironmaster of the world" is disputed by recently published figures. These show the production of iron to be 590,000 tons a month and of steel 554,000 tons. These figures are 15 per cent less than the 1923 output.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 30.—Trading at the Union Stock Yards is not improving as the week progresses Sales of cattle on Tuesday only amounted to 756, and this left over 800 on hand. The slowness of trade is conseququently due to the class of stuff being sent in, and shippers of unfinished cattle will again take losses.

Stockers and feeders are selling lower, and if there is any improvement in beef cattle prices later on, as prospects indicate, farmers with pasture ought to be buying. Neil Coutts had a nice bunch of Western yearlings he was offering at $4 a cwt. These were selected from a shipment which he picked up at $3.35 a cwt. Geo. Rowntree bought 19 steers for his farm at Woodbridge at $6.50 a cwt. These average 1,250 lbs. each.

The market was almost dead today, and low prices are being bid by the abattoirs. Butcher cows are holding steadier than other beef cattle. Baby beeves are the only butchers selling at all well, and one brought $10 a cwt. today.

Calves were not too strong today and the tops were not above 9 cents a pound with a large number of good ones at 8¾ cents. Medium calves were bought down to 6 cents and the lower prices are likely to lead to Buffalo shipments.

Lambs were also lowered about half a dollar a cwt., and only one bunch made 15¼ cents this morning with the bulk selling at 15 cents. Bucks are two cents below these prices and cull lambs are not better than 10 cents. The hog market remains quite flighty, following the grain and hog movement in the States. Price asked by sellers this morning was $9.60 a cwt. f.o.b., an advance of 60 cents from yesterday. One seller suggested that local hogs ought to be selling on a parity with Chicago, where quotations are as high as $11.25 a cwt.

NUMEROUS SOVIET WARSHIPS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 31.—Surprise has been expressed in the smaller states about the Baltic Sea at the number of ships participating in the cruise of the Russian Soviet fleet in the Gulf of Finland, which began a few days ago. Two dreadnaughts, six submarines, five light cruisers, ten destroyers, ten torpedo boats of French type and a number of repair ships have been sighted, a greater number of vessels that it was thought possible could be commissioned. All the ships appeared to be in good state of repair.

The fleet was recently sighted close to the Esthonian coast, but so far none of the vessels have appeared in Finnish waters. As the Soviet authorities are said to be anxious to make a demonstration of the inefficiency of their reorganizd navy, it is expected that the cruise will be extended to Danish and German waters.

GIRLS TURN TO BOYS ON BEACH

One Can Scarcely Destinguish Women From Men When They Are Bathing

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 31. — (United Press).—Regardless of the demure looking bathing suits sponsored this year by style magazines and higher class shops, girls will be boys!

One can scarcely distinguish women from men on the beaches where slender figures, mannish bathing suits and hair-cuts hold sway. Ninety per cent. of the bathing suits worn on the beaches about New York are one-piece affairs which are cut very short and are strictly form-fitting. Women prefer dark blue to other colors and perhaps this is because the men seem to prefer this shade. There are brilliant red, green, yellow and blue one-piece suits, of course, but these are not as conspicuous as they might be.

This season Milady wears no white belt about her waist. Perhaps that is because the men aren't wearing them. Neither does she wear stockings. Even half-socks are taboo. Fancy slippers and ankle-strap bathing shoes are not in evidence, as the plain rubber sandles are newer. The only way the 1924 feminine bather can be distinguished from her husband is sby her double chin. And with strict adherence to diet, calories, rolling, etc., the tell-tale chin will be done away with.

The latest beach game is a sort of a feminine version of "Beaver." One counts the long-haired ladies along the beach and the person finding ten such oddities first wins the "ice pyjamas." All heads are bobbed. All heads are permanent waved. There's only one thought in the feminine mind—"long may she wave!"

Soe Few Venuses.

The first glance at the bathers brings blushes to one's cheeks. Slenderness seems not to be a requisite for the form-fitting suits. There are women of dreadnaught size, parading in baby blue swimming suits which fit like the paper on the wall. There are gazelle-like persons with bare, scrawny limbs, showing scratches from recent razoring. Real venuses are none too plentiful, it would seem.

A fashion writer finds little to write about. Women are as alike as flees, all wearing one-piece suits, bare legs, rubber sandles, all bobhaired, all peeling from the sun's rays like snakes in springtime.

Occasionally someone passes, bringing with her a breath of Palm Beach, such as a string of huge pearls about her throat. Waterproof pearl chokers are a new beach fad. These aren't worn with the boyish suits, but with bathing dresses. Long rubber bathing capes of white splashed with color are occasionally worn and these have three-cornered bandanas to match which are worn over a tight waterproof can. One of the prettiest outfits seen at Long Beach was a light green one-piece suit worn with green rubber sandles and a long white rubber cape splashed with green. The young lady who wore it had glorious red hair and caused some comment among the more boyish garbed bathers.

The Rubber Vanity Bag.

One would say that the latest beach accessory was the rubber vanity bag which holds rouge, powder and lip-stick. These are colorful little bags held together with a draw string and by carrying this with her, Milady has her lips, cheeks and chin colors ever ready. Red lips and pale cheeks seem to be the rage at the beach. On sees very little rouge applied to the cheeks. That's another reason the girls appear rather mannish.

One wonders what will ever become of those adorable little dress-like bathing suits which adorned and still adorn the shop windows. Perhaps they will be worn by the fashionables at Southern resorts again next winter, but they have no friends up North this summer.

GOLD BASIS URGED ON GREAT BRITAIN

England Bound to Take Lead in World's Monetary System.

LONDON, July 30.—(AP)—"The fate of the gold standard is so much dependent upon British monetary policy, that England is simply bound to take the lead in the restoration of the world's monetary system. It is impossible for England to wait and see."

This statement was made by Professor Gustav Casel of Stockholm University, regarded as one of the greatest authorities on world monetary conditions, in the course of a lecture to the Institute of Bankers.

If the pound sterling he asserted were again put on its old gold basis the whole world would feel that the gold standard had regained something of its old reliability, and the doubts as to its reliability, and the doubts as to its trustworthiness would no longer stand in the way of a return to it.

Yet England, the speaker said, hesitated to take the decisive step. There was a general fear in the public mind in Europe that there was likely to be a new rise of prices in America. He contended that this doctrine must be that some rise in prices in America was possible, but by no means necessary.

Professor Casel said it was very much against the financial interests of the United States to allow the value of gold to be seriously depressed by an internal inflation, and still more by such a violent measure as the prohibition of gold imports.

"If the United States really feel gold imports a nuisance," Professor Casel added, "the easiest and most natural means to avoid them is to do away with the highly protectionist tariff which prevents Europe from paying her debts in commodities. With free trade, America would get more of useful commodities and less of non-useful gold."

Treasury authorities here are inclined to believe there will be no return to gold currency at least before 1929. It is pointed out there is a new price level since the war, far more money is in circulation, and there is not enough gold bullion and reserve here to meet the requirements of a reintroduced gold currency.

BEET SUGAR SUBSIDY.

Proposed in Britain To Promote Home Production.

LONDON, July 31. — Chancellor of the Exechequer Snowden yesterday announced in the House of Commons that the Government intended to introduce legislation to promote the home production of beet sugar by giving a subsidy of 10 shillings, 6 pence per hundredweight. It is believed that it will require a decade to put the industry on its feet and the subsidy will gradually be reduced to 13 shillings after four years, to 6 shillings, 6 pence, after a further four years, and will be abolished after ten years.

QUAKERS UNITE TO HONOR FOX

LONDON, July 31.—The tercentenary of the birth of George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, was celebrated at his birthplace, the village of Fenny Drayton, Leicestershire, July 5. Quakers from America and from all parts of England gathered in the village and took part in the ceremonies.

The Anglican Bishop of Peterboro sent a message to the meeting which was read by Elbert Russell, of Philadelphia, at the conclusion of his address.

A visit was paid during the day to the parish church where there still exists the font in which Fox was baptised and which was for many years used as a village horse trough.

WINE IN MUSEUM.

SPEYER, Bavarian Palatinate, July 31. — This little town on the Rhine is the proud possessor of what experts maintain is the oldest wine in the world. The wine, according to Hans Runge, a specialist in antiques, was unearthed near here among Roman ruins some 1,700 years ago and has been kept in a museum here ever since.

The department of the Speyer museum devoted to old wines also has tools for trimming grape vines, wine glasses, wine presses and other articles used for wine making by the Romans early in the third century, all being in a splendid state of preservation.

LAW AGAINST LIQUOR

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 31.—The far-sightedness of Florida's legislators of the nineteenth century is disclosed in an old law uneatherd in the archives of the state capitol here. It is an act which became effective in January, 1885, and provided heavy penalties for employes of railroads found guilty of being intoxicated while in the performance of their duty.

At the time of its enactment there were no railroads in Florida. The act, however, imposed upon the general assembly the duty of ascertaining the proper objects of improvements in relation to railroads, canals, and navigable streams; and indicates the presentiment the lawmakers must have had that liquor and locomotive combined would not make for public safety.

HERRIOT'S PLAN OF ARBITRATION ENDS DEADLOCK

Problem of Declaring Default of German Payments Seems Finally Solved.

SITUATION DELICATE

Progress Made By Conference, But Path Bristles With Obstacles.

LONDON, Aug. 1.— The deadlock in the Inter-Allied conference was broken Thursday by the proposals M. Herriot, the French Premier, submitted Wednesday to the Allied plenipotentiaries.

Following is the present situation: Under the new formula for determining Germany's possible default and dealing with the sanctions then to be applied, the Reparation Commission remains first judge of Germany's faith. But new procedure is provided in the event the Reparations Commission fails to reach a unanimous decision. If the decision should be taken by a majority vote only to accept or reject a declaration of default on Germany's part, the whole question may at the request of the minority, be submitted to a board of arbitration, consisting of three members, of which the chairman must be a citizen of the United States. No restriction is placed on the nationality of the other members, who may be nationals of the interested powers, or neutrals. The board would serve for five years.

The experts took the proposals in hand yesterday morning and remained with their task all afternoon and last night with such gratifying results that officials who are close to the conference table believed that an invitation for German representatives to come to London would be despatched to-day. After discussing with the conference delegates the methods which have been agreed upon for launching the Dawes plan, the Germans, if they give their acquiescence, will make final arrangements with the Reparation Commission for putting the new reparations project into effect. The Commission decided yesterday to sit officially in London for that purpose.

Default Obstacle.

The French plan was not entirely acceptable in the form in which it was laid on the table. But the objections to the first proposal were overcome sooner than had been anticipated, and after two hours' discussion the experts announced that the obstacle of how a German default might be declared under the Dawes plan had been removed. This question had been blocking the progress of the conference for nearly a fortnight.

The experts then went to grips with the third point in the French proposals, relating to an extension of the terms of the Versailles Treaty with regard to payments in kind, and, with minor alterations, this proposal was accepted. To many members of the Allied delegation it seemed to be too good to be true that M. Herrit's efforts were taking the conference out of its difficulties as rapidly as they appeared to be doing.

There had been plentitful predictions that the proposals were doomed before they were submitted. But hope rose when agreement was reached on the means of declaring a default. This decision meant shifting the conference difficulties from the question of possible German delinquency to the proposal for modifying the Dawes plan.

Held Misgivings.

The experts approached this point of the French proposals with considerable misgivings, for, although two-thirds of the French plan for settlement of the controversy had gained the committee's approval, entire effectiveness of M. Herriot's suggestions depended upon their complete adoption in some form approaching their original draft.

To Safeguard Plan.

To tamper in any way with the Dawes plan was considered by the experts as very risky business, and the experts went to the Foreign Office after dinner last night, determined to protect the vital organism of the plan to its last letter. The heart of the plan is the Transfer Commission, and it was said the French would be certain to meet insurmountable opposition if they insisted on drastic changes in this body, of which the Agent-General for Reparation Payments is to be the chairman.

According to one of the financial experts, the old question of security for a loan for Germany would be back in the fire if the French insisted upon applying the arbitration principle to the work of the transfer commission.

The experts went to Downing street last night, intent on completing their survey of the French proposals. At ten o'clock they were served with refreshments and then resumed their labors.

Federal Pensions For Aged Poor Favored By Municipalities Replying To Government

OTTAWA, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press.— Some measure of federal pensions for aged poor is favoured in a majority of the replies received from municipalities to a circular letter issued by the Parlimentary committee on old age pensions during the cent session.

This is revealed in a summary published in the current Labour Gazette which tabulates about forty replies received to the circular letter, which was sent to 135 municipalities in the Dominion. Of these only [illegible] five are against the proposal for federal old age pensions... Most of those replying have already extended some measure of relief to poor aged during the past few years and approve the idea of an organized and permanent system under federal control.

MATTHEWS SAYS HE WON'T FIGHT

Former Deputy Provincial Treasurer May Submit

TIRED OF HIDING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—Charles A. Matthews, jr., former deputy provincial treasurer of Ontario, under arrest here, as a fugitive from justice, told the immigration officials yesterday, that he would not fight extradiction to Canada.

Attorney General Nickle, said yesterday, that if Matthews intended to fight, government would fight, too, but he hoped the former deputy provincial treasurer would return with as little delay as possible. It is understood Attorney General believes Matthews has tired of keeping out of the clutches of the law in Ontario and is anxious to come back. "Jack Martin," who sent the telegram on Tuesday evening to commissioner Williams of the Ontario Police saying he would give Matthews into custody if a suitable reward were offered, has already given proof that he is entitled to the reward of $1,000 offered for giving Matthews into custody in the United States. There is still a further reward of $1,500 payable when Matthews crosses the border, and it is fairly certain that Jack Martin or the immigration officers working under his directions will now seek to get the $1,500 for turning him over to an officer of the Ontario Police. Matthews will be handed over to an officer of the Ontario Police, likely at Windsor, which is the point where he is thought to have entered the United States.

Inspector Boyd of the criminal department of the Ontario Police will likely be the officer to escort him to Toronto. According to investigations made by the United States immigration authorities at the request of the Ontario Police, there is no record of Matthews having entered the United States. Police and Immigration Officers here say this alone is sufficient ground for his return as an undesirable.

TRAIN HURLED TWO TO DEATH

Third Fatal Level Crossing Accident in Three Days.

DIDN'T SEE TRAIN.

MILTON, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—In the third fatal level crossing accident in Central Ontario in three days Alfred H. Terrill, and his aged father, James N. Terrill, were instantly killed at Anderson's Crossing west of Milton last evening when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by an eastbound Canadian Pacific passenger train. According to Oliver Pearson, who witnessed the accident the unfortunate men were coming east to ward Milton in a roadster about 15 miles an hour. As the car approached the crossing, which is double tracked a west bound C.P.R. express known as "The Canadian" went by evidently cutting off the sight of the eastbound train.

As Mr. Terrill, still travelling at 15 miles an hour, went to cross be hind the west bound train his car was struck by the oncoming eastbound express and hurled about 50 feet.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED.

Struck By Shunting Engine Which Passed Over His Body.

TORONTO, August 1. — Canadian Press. — Early this morning an unknown man was struck by a shunting engine in the Riverdale Park.

The engine passed over his body, which was badly mangled.

Nothing was found in his clothing which would give a clue to his identity. The body was removed to the morgue. The police are trying to ascertain whether he was a railway employee or had been riding the bumpers.'

Murdock Not Optimistic.

Says Toronto Is One of the Worst Centres For Unemployment.

TORONTO, August 1. — Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor in the Dominion Cabinet, who was a visitor here yesterday, reports the unemployment situation in Toronto, as not representative of the conditions throughout the country.

Conditions, he said last night, were very uneven, and worse in some places than in others. Toronto had, he claimed, the unenviable distinction of being one of the worst places.

Hon. Mr. Murodck's opinion of future prospects is not altogether optimistic for he feels that any diminution of the western crop will adversely affect the unemployment situation.

KILLED AT FRONT DOOR.

James Clarkson, Walking Towards His Home When Struck By Automobile.

SUMMERVILLE, August 1. — Struck by a passing automobile directly opposite his home here, James Clarkson, a lifelong resident, and a promient citizen of Summerville, was instantly killed last night, Mr. Clarkson had been out for a short drive with his cousin, Norma Clarkson, and on reaching home alighted from the automobile on the house side of the highway opposite the gateway of his residence, and started to cross the road.

According to the police he was struck by an automobile owned and driven by F. E. Layland, of Toronto, which was travelling easterly.

AMENDMENT TO IRISH BOUNDARY TREATY MOOTED

Government of Ulster Refused to Appoint Commissioner to Discuss Boundary.

PREMIER'S DILEMMA.

Debate on New Legislation Would Be Deferred Until Autumn.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — It was said last night that the Cabinet had decided to introduce a bill Monday in Parliament to amend the Anglo-Irish Treaty, but that debate on it would be postponed until the Autumn session. This plan was arrived at in consequence of a unanimous decison by the Privy Council's judicial committee that the only way to form the boundary commission provided for in the Anglo-Irish Treaty for the delimitation of the boundary between northern and southern Ireland was for Parliament to enact legislation amending the treaty and binding both the northern and the southern Irish governments to its provisions.

Premier's Difficulty.

The decision of the Judicial Committee that no alternative was open to the government to overcome the Ulster Government's refusal to appoint a representative to the boundary commission, except by new legislation, was believed to have placed Premier MacDonald in an extremely difficult position. Mr. MacDonald called together yesterday afternoon the signatories of the Irish Anglo Treaty and Colonial Secretary Thomas in an endeavour to surmount the difficulties. It was said after the meeting that the government was prepared to introduce the bill in Parliament on Monday and propose that its discussion be postponed until the House reassembled in October, since the bill was certain to excite much opposition and little time now remained for its discussion prior to the summer recess of Parliament.

Delay Opposed.

It was reported that the Irish Free State representatives at the meeting found themselves unable to agree to a postponement of debate on the bill until October, and it was asserted that Colonial Secretary Thomas would make a statement in Commons to-day explaining the government's dilemma. Gossip in the lobby of Parliament last night was to the effect that Mr. Thomas intended to renew the attempt to bring the representatives of Ulster and the Free State into fresh conference, with the hope thereby of overcoming the government's dilemna.

The Cabinet Council sat until late last night discussing the situation but no report of its actual decisions was issued.

May Cause Election.

There was some talk in the newspapers yesterday of the crisis precipitating an early election through the Conservative party and the House of Lords opposing any such new legislation as was proposed. But such a development, though it is not impossible, is believed in political circles, to be extremely unlikely because former Premier Baldwin who is leader of the Conservative Party, was a member of the government which negotiated the Anglo-Irish Treaty, and also of the government which enacted the treaty and that therefore he could hardly countenance his party's resistence to legislation needed to give the treaty proper effect.

UNDERTAKERS MEET

Propose College and All Trimmings of Profession.

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—At the convention of Saskatchewan Undertakers and Embalmers here yesterday it was proposed to establish a college for undertakers in Regina, contingent upon the Government making certain changes in the law.

A deputation subsequently waited on members of the Government, requesting that a licensing system for undertakers be established, which would include the issuing of diplomas to successful students. The proposal is for the purpose of raising undertaking to the dignity of a profession.

No one ever has discovered the secret of perpetual motion, although scientifically, nothing in existence is ever still.

TWO HEART-BROKEN FATHERS

Side by side sit these two heart-broken fathers—Jacob Franks (left) and Nathan F. Leopold Sr.—in Chief Justice John R. Caverly's court in Chicago, as the defense fights to save Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Franks' son, Robert, from the gallows. The strain they have undergone is plainly evident on the faces of both. The man in between them is a newspaper reporter in constant telephonic communication with his office.

DAMAGE BY HAIL NEAR LETHBRIDGE

Crop Suffered 25 Per Cent. Loss in Storm's Path.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—Accompanied by heavy rain in many sections of the south, a hailstorm swept through the Barons District, the Iron Springs section of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District and the north-east corner of the Canadian Pacific Railway Coaldale Irrigation project on Wednesday evening, doing about 25 per cent. average damage.

Many fields were wiped out. At Barons .75 inch of rain fell in thirty minutes. Most of the south-western part of Alberta got showers which will help fill the grain. Summer fallow wheat throughout south-eastern Alberta is generally good and will yield better than average crop.

CROP ESTIMATE.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—A western wheat crop of about 300,000,000 bushels was predicted yesterday by Andrew Kelly, president of the Western Canada Flour Mills, Limited, on his return from a tour of the prairie provinces.

JUNE STRIKE LOSS

Higher Than in May And June of Last Year.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—The number of strikes and lockouts in Canada during the month of June was twenty-two, ten more than in the month of May, says the current Labor Gazette. The time loss for June this year was greater than in June, 1923, being 244,673 working days as compared with 42,406 working days in the same month of the previous year. The disputes in June, 1924, involved 13,872 employees as compared with 6,268 in June, 1923.

The notable increase in the figures for June are chiefly due to the strike of the postal employees, which involved 9,200 workers, and a loss of 25,000 working days. The strike of the coal miners in Alberta and British Columbia involved 8,000 workers, and began on April 1, was not terminated at the end of June, and had involved to date the loss of 200,000 working days.

Wolff, former clerk and treasurer of the town of Eastview, who yesterday stood trial in the Eastview Police Court on a charge of converting $1,811, the money of the town, to his own use, was found technically guilty and was remanded until Saturday for sentence. Wolff pleaded guilty but denied any wrong intention.

BRITAIN FOLLOWS NAVAL AGREEMENT

But is Maintaining Margin of Safety, Ammon Reports.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—Naval competition and the Singapore naval base, together with Allied subjects, were discussed in a lengthy debate in the House of Commons last night, evoking an interesting apology from C. G. Ammon, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty.

Owing to the extreme pressure of international affairs the past few months, Mr. Ammon declared, the Ministers had been unable to give full consideration to the question of disarmament. But he understood that as soon as practicable, every step would be taken to call into being something in the nature of an international conference with a view to arriving at an agreement to reduce armaments. In the meantime there would be no departure from what the Government deemed the right margin of safety, while nothing would be done of a provocative nature or infringing any existing pacts.

DARROW APPEALS FOR MERCY ON GROUND OF DISEASED MENTALITY ONLY LESS THAN LEGAL INSANITY

Mitigation of the Punishment to Be Pronounced Upon the Two Chicago Youths And Not Mitigation of Their Crime is Keynote of Defense.

LAWYERS DELVE INTO JURIDICIAL LAW FOR PRECEDENTS TO SUPPORT CLAIMS

Four-Hour Forensic Battle Thursday Over Loeb and Leopold, Who Listen in Rapt Attention.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Mitigation, not of crime, but of punishment; mercy of judgment, founded not upon the cold letter of the law, but upon considerations of humanity—these were the points emphasized Thursday by the defense in the proceedings which are to determine the penalty that Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb are to pay for the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks.

Clarence S. Darrow, 67-year-old veteran of court battles, fighting for the principles he has advocated in and out of court for many years, put squarely before Judge John R. Caverly, the issue whether considerations of this character are to be written into the jurisprudence of Illinois.

"The State's Attorney's office seems to feel the universe will crumble unless these boys hang," he said.

Replies to Prosecution.

He argued in response to a lengthy contention by Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, backed by the legal lore of Thomas Marshall, indictment expert. Through a day and a haif of court procedure the prosecutor had maintained that evidence of alienists, offered by the defense, as to the degree of mental responsibility of the youthful murderers, was incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial after a plea of guilty had been entered.

"We seek not mitigation of the crime, but only mitigation of the punishment because of a diseased condition of the mind, constant in character, but no amounting to legal insanity," was the keynote of the defense.

"A showing of mental disease constitutes a showing of insanity, the existence of which must be determined by a jury. It can be brought in here only if the defendants withdraw their pleas of guilty and rely upon insanity as a defense to the crime itself," responded the State.

Four-Hour Debate.

Throughout the four hours of the court session the question was debated by the attorneys. Occasionally three or four of them would be on their feet talking at the same time, but for the most part Mr. Marshall held the floor for the State and Mr. Darrow and Walter Bachrach for the defense.

Hundreds of citations from decisions given in this country and Great Britain, some of them a century old, were offered by Mr. Marshall, and Mr. Bachrach had not finished his analysis and comparison of these when court adjourned for the day.

The court, who is holding in reserve a decision against the State which he gave Wednesday, interrupted Mr. Marshall several times to ask him to point out specifically how some of the decisions he was reading affected the present proceedings. Once, when the attorney for the State was discussing depravity of character as not being evidence of insanity, Judge Caverly said:

"Well, if it is not evidence of insanity, then it is not proper for a court toconsider it an mitigation of punishment?"

Cases Didn't Apply.

At the very outset of the day's proceedings, Judge Caverly told the prosecution that among all the cases cited Wednesday he had found none applicable to conditions which faced him.

Mr. Darrow found several opportunities to interject remarks disparaging the relevancy of the State's argument. Twice, too, he cited instances from Mr. Crowe's previous activities which he said showed that the State's Attorney had, while a judge, admitted evidence as to mentality in mitigation of punishment. In one of these cases, Mr. Crowe pointed out, the defendant had been hanged.

"Yes, but you sentenced him," retorted Mr. Darrow.

Prisoners Attentive.

Loeb and Leopold leaned forward to catch every word of their chief defender. Each flushed when Mr. Darrow reached the heights of his eloquence, but when the argument turned to its strictly legal aspects they seemed to absorb it as though it were being delivered by a university lecturer.

The boys found little opportunity to exchange their usual smiling confidences over progress of the case. They greeted their relatives with the usual nod, and during the recess held brief conversations with them.

In one of these intervals, Allen Loeb asked Dick if there was anything he wished, and the youthful defendant leaned over and whispered a desire for some stick candy. It was promised him.

Judge Caverly has repeatedly informed the State that he favors the argument of the defense; that he believes that he should be permitted to hear testimony as to the mental condition of the boys on the days on which they killed Robert Franks He says he will admit no talk of insanity from the defense—merely as to their "mental responsibility."

The State brings out volume after volume, and all afternoon reads to convince the judge that there is no degree of responsibility.

Crowe shouts:

"If this testimony is allowed, this becomes a mock trial."

Walter Bachrach, for the defense retorts:

"No provision of the law could be more mandatory than that permitting evidence in mitigation of penalty for crime to be heard."

And so they go, all day long.

First Alienist is Called

On the stand sits a perfect witness He has made not a single error, fallen into not a single trap, although on that stand five hours. He is Dr. William A. White, psychiatrist, of Washington,. He has not said a word outside of giving his name.

It was when he was sworn, at the start of the session that, Crowe leaped to his feet and objected to his being questioned on the ground that his testimony would be irrelevant and inadmissable. He asked:

"Have we go to the situation in law where a defendant can come in and plead guilty and then avoid a trial by trying to prove he was insane?

"If this is permitted and the case is appealed to the Supreme Court, the State's Attorney will have to confess error."

NORTH BAY HAS CLAIMED BURKE

Winner of the King's Prize at Bisley Worked Two Years at Northern Town.

SHARE HONOR.

NORTH BAY, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—"We have let Ottawa make a great noise about an Ottawa boy winning the King's prize at the Bisley meet and now that young man is back in Canada, it is time to let it be known that he is and has been for two years a resident of North Bay," said George W. Lee, chairman of T. and N. O. Railway Commission, this morning.

"Desmond Burke joined the engineering staff of the T. and N. O. two years ago and he got leave of absence on May 31 to attend the Bisley meet, this leave expiring September 1" added the chairman. Burke is of a very quiet nature and there were very few outside his intimates in the engineering department of the railway who were aware of the fact that Burke who won the King's prize was the same unassuming chap who works in the T. and N. O. engineering offices. His fellow employees of the railway are planning to give him a big reception on his return to duty in North Bay.

Reception Planned

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.— (Canadian Press).—Miss Stella Burke sister of Pte Desmond Burke, 19-year-old winner of the King's prize at Bisley, left for Rimouski yesterday, where she will board the steamship Megantic on its arrival and accompany her brother to Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. William Burke, his parents, left for Montreal this afternoon, where they will await the arrival of their son, and in company with Lt. Col. R. F. Parkin son, D.S.O. commanding officer of the Governor General's Footguards, will accompany him to this city on Sunday, where he will be tendered a welcome befitting the honor he has brought to Canada.

NO SECOND YEAR.

Larkin Does Not Favor Continuing the British Empire Exhibition.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press Cable).—"I am not in favor of continuing the British Empire Exhibition next year", said Hon. Peter Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, when interviewed today as he was leaving for Canada." "I may alter my opinion on my return after six weeks stay in Canada," he added.

SHOULD KEEP FAITH IN SUICIDE PACTS

Plan to Change Law That Makes Survivor Liable For Murder.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press Cable).—People who enter suicide pacts should go through with the job, declared Major-General J. E. B. Seely, Liberal M.P., for the Isle of Wight, in the House of Commons on Wednesday night, when he opposed a bill introduced by Brig.-Gen. E. L. Spears, Liberal member for the Loughborough Division of Leicestershire, to amend the law regarding suicide. The law on the matter at present provides that if two people agree to die together, and one of them survives, the survivor is charged with murder.

General Spear's proposed amendment would provide that the survivor of a suicide pact could be charged only with having committed a felony, punishable with five years' imprisonment.

General Seely, in declaring that people who entered suicide pacts should go through with the job, added that this applied to "all suicides, political and otherwise."

JUMPS FIVE STORIES.

Terrorized By Flames, Woman Plunges To Her Death.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Daniel Duke Waugh was killed this morning when she jumped from the fifth storey of an apartment building during a fire, and her husband a minister was seriously burned before being rescued.

LIFE'S FRAGRANCE.

I have just held to my nose some fragrant sweet peas. Oh, the scent of them! But the puzzling thing is: Where is the scent, for if I were to break them into a thousand pieces I would not find it, yet I positively KNOW it's there, for it has revealed itself to my senses (the sense of smell). And this reminds me of folk who ask sceptically: "Where is your Lord?" also "Where is the soul? I've never seen your God and I've never seen a soul." No; I have never seen God and I've never seen a soul, but I know there is a God and I know there is such a thing as a soul, as sure as I know there is a perfume to a rose or to a bunch of sweet peas. Why, I answer, because the FACT has revealed itself to one of my faculties—my intuition has apprehened them both.

I have met a few lives, but they are rare I know, as they are fragrant, true and beautiful, and as modest as a sweet-scented violet that hides in the long grass. Now, I know that such a life is not natural to the natural man, hence I look for the source, and I find ALWAYS in the background Jesus Christ, the inspiration and pattern for their life, and at the back of Him, God, whom He came to reveal more fully, and to make known, and as He said: "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father.—M.B.

Scene of the Double Tragedy That Cast Gloom Over City

WHERE DOUBLE DROWNING OCCURRED OF POPLUAR COUPLE

The bodies of Mrs. Joseph Sharpe and Samuel Taylor were found on Wednesday evening by searchers, who had been dragging in the Otonabee River since Tuesday. The couple were last seen leaving their homes Sunday evening. On Tuesday Mr. Taylor's car, his cap and flashlight and Mrs. Sharpe's hat were found at a picnic grounds bordering the canal between Locks 22 and 23. Taylor's car was left on the roadside, about 100 yards from the opening that leads down to the concrete wharf. (TOP LEFT) shows a view of the lock from the pathway to the car. (TOP CENTRE) the car where it was found off the side of the road at Lock 23. (TOP RIGHT) the end of Lock 23, showing the car across the river. CAMPBELLFORD NEARLY LOSES SCHOOL CHIEF

Charles Haig Has An Offer From Amherstburg at Advance in Salary.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL.

Total Cost of Magnificent Building Was $102,768.29 —All Bills Paid.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1. — Charles S. Haig, public school principal, informed the Board of Education at the meeting last night that he had been offered the principalship of the Amherstburg Public School at a salary of $2,200 a year, an advance of $400 on what he has been receiving here. This offer came to him unexpectedly, two former residents of Campbellford having recommended him for the position.

After Mr. Haig had retired from the meeting the matter was discussed by the Board, with the result that it was unanimously agreed to offer him an increase of $100 as an inducement to remain in his present position.

Mr. Haig was seen later in the evening, and agreed to accept the Board's offer. He has been in his present position for two and a half years, and his services have always been appreciated. He has been especially successful at the entrance examinations, passing his entire class of 33 at the midsummer test. Since he has taken the principalship 98 per cent. of the pupils directly under his care have been admitted to the High School. His decision to remain in Campbellford will be satisfactory, not only to the members of the Board, but to the parents generally.

All Bills Paid.

The total cost of the new High School was $102,768.29. The last of the bills were paid last night, together with a balance of $1,800 that was owing the architect. Contractor Brown received $745 to pay for the coal that was required to heat the building during the process of construction last winter, which coal he purchased on the order of Architect Coons, who gave him to understand that the Board was responsible for the cost.

This matter has been in dispute for several months, there being a difference of opinion among the members as to whether the cost of the coal should be borne by Mr. Brown or the Board. It was finally disposed of last night, when I. A. Humphries appeared before the trustees last night and informed them that he had been instructed bp his client to begin suit unless this bill, with some other items of expense, were not settled by Friday morning.

Included in the $1,800 balance paid to Architect Coons was $200 which he charged for revising the plans when it was decided to put up a building without a gymnasium or assembly room, a proposition which was abandoned when the Town Council voted a sum sufficient for the building as now completed. When the architect agreed to change his plans he had the assurance of the building committee that his charge of $200 would be paid.

Out After Revenue

Now that the High School building is free of debt so far as the architect and contractor are concerned the members of the Board are ambitious, to devise some revenue from the gymnasium, domestic science and assembly rooms. Acting on instructions the building committee drew up the following schedule of prices which were submitted to and approved by the Board last night:

For public meetings, when no admission fee is charged, for the assembly room, one evening, $20.00.

For public meetings of an educational character, where no admission fee is charged and subject to the approval of the internal committee, $5.00.

For use of assembly rooms, with dressing rooms, where admission fee is charged, one evening, $45.00; for two evenings in one week, $45.00; for three evenings in one week, $60.00.

To local organizations for use of gymnasium, manual training and domestic science rooms, the same charges as those immediately preceding are to be made. For the use of all four available rooms, the charge to be $35.00 for one evening.

All lunches must be served in the domestic science and manual training rooms.

No interference with the school organization will be allowed, and smoking in the building is strictly prohibited.

The janitor is to receive $3 per night for the extra service as public gathering will require on his part.

For School Purposes Only

Trustee Hoover, chairman of the property committee stated that several taxpayers had told him that the Board had no right to leave the building for public gatherings and to satisfy himself on this point he had written the Minister of Education, stating just what the Board proposed to do and asking for advice as to the legality of such action.

Trustee Hoover received in reply a brief official statement to the effect that a school building can be used for school purposes only.

For a time this communication appeared to dampen the spirit of thrift that inspired the members but it was finally decided that it would be possible to keep within the regulations by devoting all revenue received from this source to High School purposes only, such as procuring new supplies and fixtures.

The Electrical Centre.

George Morrison was commissioned by the Town Council to paint a sign, "All Cars parked here at Owners 'risk," to be erected on the lot belonging to the government whom permission was recently received to use the vacant space for parking purposes. Mr. Morrison has exceeded his instructions by making at, his own expense a much larger sign, to which he public spiritedly added, in large letters the inscription, Campbellford, the Electrical Centre."

This is the only sign in evidence which carries the name of the town. Motorists on tour approaching the town limits are notified to slow down to 15 miles an hour but there is nothing on the notice board to tell them whether they are coming to Campbellford or Halifax. Mr. Morrison has in common with others regretted the oversight and revealed himself of the first opportunity to remedy it as far as possible.

AT THE REGENT.

At the Regent To-night, Capt. Hyland offers a prize of a handsome electric reading lamp to the holder of the winning ticket, among the company which will be given to those who enter the theatre. These prizes will be given at every Friday night performance, until further notice.

There is an excellent bill for to-night consisting of the greatest of all screen comedies, "Safety Last," and another episode of Ruth Roland's thrilling serial, "Haunted Valley."

CHILDREN FOUND ASLEEP IN BUSH

Locked in Each Other's Arms and Often Passed By Searchers.

PERTH, Aug. 1.(Canadian Press) —After a search lasting more than 24 hours participated in by over 800 laborers, factory hands, Boy Scouts and practically all the merchants and farmers of the surrounding district, the two children of Peter Petrakos, local confectioner were last night tucked in their own beds, after having spent the night trying to find their way out of a heavy bush here. The two little girls, who are aged 3 and 5 years were found yesterday afternoon by a searching party sleeping under a tree some two miles from the spot, where their father had left them in a buggy, while he went berry picking on Wednesday. The spot where the children were found, cuddled up in each others arms, had been passed several times by searchers during their long vigil.

FORMULAS MAY SAVE GERMANY

Commander of World Flight Says There Is Lots of Time.

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Reparations Conference enjoyed a new wave of optimism to-day while waiting for the "Big Seven," as the leaders are now styled, the banking group, and finally a plenary session to approve Thursday's hard fought decisions. It is generally agreed that the formulas worked out will safeguard Germany and Europe from a repetition of France's Ruhr venture

After 15 hours of a practically continuous session, the third committee adjourned at 2 a.m. with the conferes declaring that the backbone of the deadlock apparently had been broken and that it would be possible to send an invitation to the Germans this afternoon.

The optimism was based upon the belief that after a fortnight's hammering against the French arguments, which was intensified yesterday when Premier Herriot's proposals created a storm of opposition in committee No. 3, the French now realize they must give in.

The fight on the proposal to modify the transfer provisions of the experts' plan and to provide for future amendments to the plan offered by France, lasted throughout the day.

As the British and Americans rejected proposal after proposal, the French steadily, and rather surprisingly, backed down. The Anglo-American group believed that today they would be able to win enough ground to make the proposals satisfactory. Then, no doubt, it will be announced that the French proposals have been accepted.

Stone Wall.

Maintaining the momentum imparted by the French concessions, the Inter-Allied Conference reached an agreement in committee to-day on the subject of a possible modification of the experts' plan. Committee No. 3, however, struck a stone wall when it came to the question of arranging for cash deliveries instead of deliveries in kind in case the latter became too heavy for France.

Unable to agree, the committee adjourned for lunch, to meet again at 4 p.m.

If the deadlock on this question of cash deliveries—one of the new points raised by the French delegation—is maintained the matter will be referred to the chief delegates, who will try to settle it in time to send an invitation to the Germans to-night.

DOWNEYVILLE HAD A CHURCH PICNIC

Many Visitors From Peterborough Took in Enjoyable Event.

LINDSAY, Aug. 1.—(Special). — Hundreds attended the garden party held in Downeyville on Wednesday evening under the auspices of St. Luke's church, and the event was voted the best ever held in the history of the parish. There were many present from the surrounding parishes as well as from the city of Peterboro, and the programme provided gave splendid satisfaction. The ladies of the parish served an excellent supper in the Parish Hall, and later in the evening Messrs. Wesley, Lush and Quinlan, of Peterboro, entertained the gathering.

Among the clergy present were: — His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, of Ennismore; Father Collins, and Guiry, of Peterboro, and Rev. Father Garvey, of Lakefield.

Announcement of his stand was contained in a letter to a prominent Chicago Democrat.

TOPPLED INTO WELL.

EDMONTON, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Reaching into a disused well on his farm near Tawatinaw, on the Athabasca line of the Canadian National Railway, north of Edmonton, in order to get some fresh meat which had been hung there by his brother, Jens Sorenson, a Dane, and a returned soldier, apparently over-balanced and fell down the well shaft, fracturing his skull. He was dead when found by neighbors later in the day.

WORLD PLUNGED IN DEEP ABYSS TEN YEARS AGO

Storm of War Broke Over the Nations on August First, 1914.

STILL SUFFERS.

Austria Bombarding Belgrade —Russia Mobilized and Cloud Spreading.

Ten years ago yesterday, the world was in breathless suspense on the eve of what proved to be the Great War.

Ten years ago to-day Germany threw her iron gauntlet in Russia's face and the struggle that involved the nations of the world had opened in all its fury.

Up until ten years ago yesterday, on the one hand, the diplomacy of London, Paris, Rome and St. Petersburg was employing superhuman efforts to have the quarrel betwewen Austria-Hungary and Serbia settled peacefully by the Concert of the Powers; on the other hand, the diplomacy of Berlin and Vienna insisted that the quarrel was local and concerned merely the participants. St. Petersburg could not have it so, and, that being the case, Berlin would not, nor would Paris, nor would London—when Germany would have invaded Belgium. Hence there ensued the most destructive and revolutionary convulsion of history, the fulminations of which, five years after the official peace, have not yet died away.

On July 28, 1914, just a month after the assassination of the Austro-Hungarian heir presumptive to the throne, Austria-Hungary had declared war on Serbia. Ten years ago, on July 29, the bombardment of the Serbian capital began. On the next day Germany sent a twenty-four ultimatum to Russia to countermand her mobilization orders. Thereafter every day the doors of the Temple of Janus were to open wide until they swung completely back on their hinges on Aug. 4.

On Aug. 1 Germany declared war on Russia; on Aug. 2 Germany demanded free passage through Luxemburg and Belgium to attack France; on Aug. 3 Germany declared war on France, and on Aug. 4 Great Britain declared war on Germany because Belgian neutrality had been disregarded.

On that day of universal suspense ten years ago today, August 1, the headlines of The Examiner pertinently showed the suspense and the threatening events of the day which were clearly shaping into the horrors of the morrow. Some of the headlines were:

HOPE OF LOCALIZING WAR HAS BEEN GIVEN UP.
GERMANY HAS BEEN PLACED UNDER MARTIAL LAW.
GREAT BRITAIN UNITED TO FACE THE DANGER.
GERMANS MOBILIZING ON THE FRENCH FRONTIER.

These four lines connoted in a general way what was happening in Europe. Reports of the gathering forces throughout Europe and the faint throbbing of the war drum in the far-flung outposts of the empire were told in other stories through The Examiner.

And that hour of suspense was ten years ago to-day.

EUROPE GROWING LESS OPIUM

SKOPIE, Jugoslavia, Aug. 1.—Figures issued on the opium yield this year indicate a large reduction of output.

The harvest of the drug will not amount to more than $15,000 kilograms. With the opium left over from last year, the drug for sale this year in Macedonia, its main source in Europe, will amount to about 20,000 kilograms, or about 45,000 pounds.

"DROWNED" MAN A LIQUOR VICTIM

Haliburton Man Was Dead Before Falling From Boat, Says Coroner's Jury.

POISON DRINK.

LINDSAY, Aug. 1.— Following the death of Orva Latva, a Finlander, a laborer employed in the pulp wood gang near Haliburton, who fell from a boat on July 6th, the assumption was that he was drowned. At the time Dr. Bell, Coroner, ordered an inquest and the stomach and contents sent to a Government analyst at Toronto for examination. It now transpires, as a result of the inquest held on Wednesday night at Haliburton, that Latva was dead before he struck the water, that he died from poison as the result of drinking too deeply of raw liquor, commonly referred to as home brew liquor.

A Coroner's jury, under the direction of Dr. Bell, of Haliburton, conducted the inquest, the verdict being that Latva came to his death by drowning while under the influence of liquor, at Long Lake, on July 6th.

According to the evidence of those who performed the autopsy and who examined the stomach and contents, the liquid consumed was of such a nature as to cause poison. Experts declared that Latva was in a boat along with a brother Finlander by the name of John Rytaluoma, who was one of the chief witnesses at the inquest. Several other witnesses were also examined.

OBITUARY.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 1—The death occurred yesterday morning of Florence Washburn wife of Walter Madill after an illness of some months.

Mrs. Madill born of United Empire Loyalist stock could trace her decent back to the Pilgrim Fathers and her connection, amongst others to the late Dwight L. Moody, world renowned evangelist.

Active in Methodist Church Societies in the capacity of Sunday School teacher, choir member and member of the W.M.S. and Ladies Aid her passing will create a large gap in Church circles. Her kindly disposition and cheerful personality made her a host of friends. She was a devoted wife and a loving mother in a happy family.

Besides her husband, there are four sons and one daughter surviving Holton J., Frankford, Glenn, Ottawa, (now in Dawson City as a representative of the Dominion Observatories) and Kenneth, Ivan and Bessie at home.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Saxon Washburn and one sister Mrs. L. B. Webster of Lansdowne also survive.

Funeral will take place 2 p.m. Saturday from the family residence proceeding to Lakefield Cemetery for interment, Rev. D. S. Reddick officiating.

THE DEADLY LEVEL CROSSING.

The terrible level crossing accident near Newcastle on Wednesday when four people were killed and three others very badly injured when the car in which they were passengers was hit at a grade crossing by a C. N. R. freight train, is a tragic warning to motorists in general.

Just what happened is difficult to say, but the facts are that the crossing is not a dangerous one, approaching trains on either side being visible for a long distance, and that the driver either attempted to race the train across the intersection or in his attempt to stop stalled his car between the rails.

The driver was among those killed, his life with that of three others being the price paid for a failure to observe the simple safety first slogan, hackneyed but as vitally important as when first laid, "Stop, look and listen."

The warning to motorists is plain.

If it is possible to have an accident of this kind in daylight at a crossing when on-coming trains can be seen hundreds of yards away, drivers can estimate the chances they take when they drive rapidly over level crossings, many of them affording little chance to see a train.

Daily there must be hundreds of chauffeurs who run this risk, and the miracle is not that there are so many accidents, but rather that there are not ten times as many.

HELPING THE FARMER.

The Special Committee appointed by the Legislature during the last session to investigate agricultural conditions has supplemented its promise to hold a round-table conference by calling such a conference to be held in Toronto, commencing on August 27th.

To this gathering representatives of various interests in the Province will be invited, and it is hoped that from the suggestions offered by the various representatives will come practical ideas that can be used in solving some of the problems that are harassing the farmers of Ontario.

The plan is one that should give results.

And in the interest of the whole Province results are desired.

The falling off in the purchasing power of the farmers has been reflected in dull trade and slackness in industrial circles.

The depression in rural circles has been felt everywhere, and it seems clear that anything that will benefit the farmer will also benefit the merchant, the manufacturer and the worker.

The Special Committee has heard much evidence from representatives of the farmers themselves.

A conference bringing together prominent spokesmen for many interests in the Province should succeed in bringing forward ideas of sound value that will help to mitigate some of the grievances.

STAMP OUT THE KLAN.

The reported establishment of a branch of the Ku Klux Klan in Vancouver is a matter, the Examiner believes, that concerns every citizen of Canada.

No effort should be spared to stamp out the movement before it gets a real start in this country.

The Vancouver Sun demands that membership in the Klan be made a criminal offence in Canada.

A bit drastic, perhaps, but nevertheless to be preferred to giving the hooded gentry a foothold.

There is no place under the Union Jack for an organization that holds itself superior to the law of the land, and that proposes to substitute mob justice for the ordinary administration of the law.

The Klan is anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish, and, as the Sun points out in its vigorous denounciation of the organization, "has committed more bestial atrocities, provoked more bitter religious prejudices, aroused more anti-racial intolerance and given a greater set-back to general progress than any other device of the devil that has come into the world in the last thousand years."

Strong language, but not too strong, in the opinion of the Examiner.

Canadians are satisfied with the administration of justice in this country, and have no wish to hand over law enforcement to a band of hooded unknowns whose chief object is to raise religious and racial rancour.

THE ARREST OF MATTHEWS.

The arrest of Charles A. Matthews, former Deputy Provincial Treasurer, will give satisfaction to that very large proportion of the citizens of Ontario that regarded Matthews' return to Canada as necessary to clear up many features in regard to the administration of the Province's finances, not only during the regime of Hon. Peter Smith, but previous to the accession of the U. F. O. Government to office.

The Public Accounts Committee inquiry left several matters of vital importance shrouded in mystery, and the missing Deputy was looked upon as the witness who could furnish an explanation of these features.

When he fluted from Toronto there was a feeling that the authorities had been lax in allowing such an important witness to slip through their fingers, and the charge was made in more than one quarter that the administration was not anxious to have Matthews' evidence throw upon financial operations before the advent of Peter Smith.

The action of the Attorney-General in offering $2,500 reward for the arrest of Matthews will kill such allegations.

The majority of people will agree that it is money well spent.

If the former Deputy-Treasurer can explain some of the transactions that are under suspicion his testimony will be worth much more than that sum to the people of the Province.

No British harvesters are to be brought West this year. Last year's experiment was not altogether satisfactory.

HUMAN FLIES.

For the sake of a few paltry dollars a man is willing to risk his life in the hazardous scaling of a high building, because the public, always anxious for a thrill, is ready to stand and watch him take the chance and drop nickles in his hat to thank him for causing their hearts to beat a little faster and for having been lucky enough to save his life in so doing, says the Kingston Standard. Those who stand with bated breath and stare as he progresses slowly from ledge to ledge would be the very ones, should anything happen, who would be the loudest in the protest, "It should not have been allowed." The "human fly" who is to perform in this city on Friday is a veteran of the World War, an aviator who risked his life many times when his country needed that sacrifice. But that he should be obliged to continue taking his life in his hands to cater to the desires of the sensation-loving public is most regretable. Surely some other occupation of greater usefulness and less hazard could be found. The whole thing smacks of a morbid sensationalism, the tendency that breaks out in crimes such as the Franks murder and other outrages of this thrill-mad age. It is understood that the man who is to perform in Kingston obtained permission from the authorities to climb the City Building, but has he obtained the consent of Him who gave His life in his keeping?

WHEN SHOULD WE HANG MEN?

Now that the passions aroused by the Muir case have somewhat subsided, it might be as well for thoughtful people to re-consider a little carefully what are the principles upon which punishment is inflicted by the State.

It is very, very seldom that the State would hang have somewhat subsided, it might be as well for thoughtful people to re-consider a little carefully what are the principles upon which punishment is inflicted by the State.

It is very, very seldom that the State would hang a man if it considered nothing but the man himself. A murderer must be a fiend incarnate if his friends cannot make out for him a very convincing and even heart-rending case which shows that—taking him from his youth up—he has been more sinned against than sinning. Quite usually, the net result of the plea for a condemned murderer seems to prove that, if pure justice were done, Society itself would be hanged, and not the unfortunate, often ill-educated, frequently ill-born human derelict who has been schooled in crime from the cradle. Society has no business to permit conditions which breed such creatures.

This is all very true. Social reformers are doing their best to induce Society to reform itself. Optimists think that the work is making progress. But—however this may be—it is not practicable to hang Society when one of tis "victims" kills a man. Society, after all, is all of us. Society, like each one of us, obeys the first law of nature, which is self-preservation. It obeys that law when it endeavors to attach to "murder" a stigma or a terror which will keep other people from committing this unsocial crime.

Punishment always has as its main motive the intention to DETER. Where the punishment takes the form of imprisonment, advanced communities seek to inject into it something of a reformative nature. They try to "cure" the criminal who is for the time under their control. But this is only an individual and incidental factor in punishment. It may or may not succeed. In any case it only cures one person. What the State is striving to do is to deter the thousand other persons who may be tempted to commit the same crime.

Clarence S. Darrow, who is defending the two Chicago boys who murdered an unoffending little chap "just for the experience," made an exceedingly clever move when he caused them to plead "guilty." By this tactical retreat, he did not entirely prevent the State from telling again the shocking story of the crime, but he took the emphasis away from it. He is not fighting it. He is not cross-examining the witnesses. He lets the wind out of the State's sails every little while by interjecting—"We admit that." In other words, the interest has gone out of the crime. The real fight which will attract the greatest amount of public interest will be upon the personality of the two murderers.

If Darrow thereby secures a chance, it will be because he will concentrate the attention of the jury upon the weaknesses, the deficiencies, possibly the diseased mental condition, of these two "monsters"; and so get the Court to forget that its whole duty is to Society and its first business is to DETER, but get it to give its attention rather to what is the best, the fairest, and the most just treatment of these two particular individuals. It is precisely what was done—but fatally too late—in the Muir case. No one would want to hang young Muir if he were the only person to be considered or if the Valleyfield crime were the only crime concerned. There was no excuse at all for hanging Muir unless his execution deterred many other Muirs.

That is the sole question which should decide every murder trial:

Can crimes of this character be prevented?

Will the terror of the gallows tend to prevent them?

About premeditated crimes, there is no dispute. They can be prevented if detection and punishment are made fairly sure. Crimes of passion fall into a different class. Admitted murderers are frequently released under what is called "the unwritten law." Then there are murders of circumstances—that is, those that occur, without premeditation, when a man puts himself in a position where he might kill. These should be especially susceptible to the deterring power of the hangman, for this murderer has nothing to gain and everything to lose by exposing himself to the danger of falling from the precipice.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The announcement that Chas. A. Matthews, missing ex-Deputy Provincial Treasurer, was operating a restaurant will probably suggest to the Toronto Star the idea that he was cooking something up.

The intelligence of the lower animals is sometimes remarkable. We once knew a writer of popular songs who could stand on his hind legs.—Vancouver Sun.

The price of bread is to advance in Toronto. As the Globe points out, the economists have not yet invented a formula permitting wheat to go up while bread stays down.

A THOUGHT

WHY WORRY?

Some men, says a writer in one of our exchanges, are henpecked by their wives and others are unmercifully henpecked by their business. They let little things worry them until small troubles loom big on the horizon.

There are travelling men who let train service upset them. There are merchants who let back orders unbalance them. There are fellows who believe their house service is "rotten" because a few orders have been balled up. There are other men who think the country is going to the dogs because a few bankers and statisticians are yelling wolf.

These men are henpecked and they herd with the crowd who worry unnecessarily. Don't worry or get excited. The world is not going to smash, and we are not "all in" by a long shot.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 31.—By offering some price inducements on Wednesday a fair disposal of cattle was made at the Union Stock Yards. For the day 1,363 were sold and the carry over was reduced to around 400 head. Some of the cattle sold on Wednesday were rough heavy steers, which had been on the market for the third week. Price cuts to try and effect a clearance were as high as 25 cents a cwt., following a previous drop of an equal amount. Receipts for today were only 9 cars, 87 cattle, 18 calves, 181 hogs and 173 sheep and lambs.

Today's business consisted of cleaning up of odds and ends. A few fresh butchers handyweights sold at $6.25 a cwt. and other medium to good butchers brought $5.50 to $6.00. One 1,300-lb steer was taken by a local butcher at $7 a cwt. Joe Wilson had two loads of Western stockers for which he said he was bid not much more than the price of the hides. Good butchers' cows sold from $4.00 to $4.35 a cwt. The exporters are carrying about 100 head for next week's shipment, and will buy 7 to 800 on Monday. It is expected that two or three hundred cattle will have to be carried over till Monday, when the market will be open, although it is a civic holiday.

Strong advices are going out from the commission houses today against sending in anything in the butchers' line of cattle that is not at least near finished, and of the handyweight type. Two choice baby beeves realized $10 a cwt. today.

The beginning of a nine-day Jewish holiday affected the calf market and none on offer made over 8 cents a pound. Heavy calves were lower at 5 cents.

The top paid for a bunch of lambs this morning was 14¾ cents, and the market closes with choice lambs good for 15 cents. Light sheep are in demand at 6 cents and up to 7 cents.

Hogs are thoroughly unsettled in price and a good many private deals are being made. One deck sold this morning at $10.50 a cwt. off cars. Some of the packers are predicting a drop from the sharp advance and say the price for Saturday's loading may not be higher than $8.75 a cwt. f.o.b.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 31. — Prices were advanced 1½c a bushel in the local cash oats market to-day. Business is fair in flour. There is a fair trade in millfeed and rolled oats. Prices for baled hay are unchanged. Trade in eggs is ligt. The market for butter and cheese is dull. The demand for beans is good at $3 a bushel for one pound pickers.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, July 31. — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today:
Demand 4.4125.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, July 31. — Canadian markets generally are reported to be very firm with the higher grains becomingly increasingly scarce, and prices on these grades are advancing. The United States markets report receipts of fresh eggs sufficient to meet the immediate consumptive demands but the quality is inferior in a large portion of the arrivals, with the result that the prices on the better grades are inclined to be firmer.

CHICAGO, July 31. — Cattle receipts 8,000; general trade uneven, spotty; better grades fed steers are steady to strong; others weak to 15c lower; native grassy and short fed plain quality offerings show most of the decline; top matured steers 11.65; next high 11.60; several loads, 11.25 and 11.50; handyweight 11.40; no strictly choice yearlings here; best 10.75; bulk fed steers and yearlings 8.75 and 11.00; grassy cows and heifers dull; grain fed description strong; light grassy bologna bulls unevenly lower; light canners 10c to 15c off; vealers 25c higher; packers paying upward to 10.50 and above stockers and feeders slow.

Hogs, receipts, 35,000; mostly 50c to 75c lower than Wednesday's average; closing largely 75c off, or $1 to $1.25 lower than yesterday's best prices; lightweights showing full decline; early top 10.00; bulk good and choice 150 to 240 pound average, 9.25 and 10.00; desirable 260 to 325 pound butchers 9.25 and 9.50; packing sows 8.00 and 8.25; better strong weight slaughter pigs 8.00 and 8.75; estimated holdover 25,000.

Sheep receipts 19,000; active; fat lambs mostly steady; sheep receipts 25c to 50c higher; feeder lambs around steady; bulk native lambs, 13.00 and 13.25; bulk range lambs, 13.50 and 14.00; top 14.00; bulk yearlings, 10.00 and 11.00; choice Idaho ewes 7.75; aged wethers 8.75; early sales feeder lambs 12.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 31. — Black rust news, together with indications of liberal export business, gave a sudden hoist to the wheat market today. On the bulge in prices, however, selling enlarged and brought about a material reaction. Wheat closing quotations were unsettled 3-4 to 2c net higher; September $1.32 5-8 to $1.32 3-4, and December $1.35 7-9 to $1.36. Corn finished 3-4c lower to 1.3-4c advance; oats 5-8c off to 1-8c gain, and provisions unchanged to 45c higher.

Buying of wheat quickly assumed broad proportions when shortly after the opening it was asserted that black rust in the final stages had appeared in the Canadian wheat fields. Ruptured postules on the head stem of wheat were reported at Napinko, Pierson and Melotta in southwest Manitoba, where a week ago there was said to have been no sign of head stem infection.

The northwest houses were especially heavy buyers, and so to were houses with Atlantic seaboard connections. The seaboard buying led to estimates that as much as 3,000,000 bushels had been taken for export but nowhere near that amount was confirmed. Aside from the black rust news and the export demand, dry weather complaints from Argentina were also a subject of notice.

On the other hand, holders' efforts to realize profits were the salient features at the last.

Still Mightier Spreads the Oak

IN 1871 Mutual Life assurance in force amounted to $500,000. The tree was yet a tiny sapling.

In twenty years later, total Mutual assurance amounted to $14,934,807. The young tree was well rooted.

In 1911 Mutual business in force totalled $71,020,770. The years had brought maturity.

In 1921, the amount of Mutual business had grown to the enormous sum of $228,697,566!

Today Mutual insurances in force total $269,982,566. Last year, alone, $39,040,578 in new policies was issued, showing that the big protecting tree is still growing vigorously with no limit in sight.

DARROW APPEALS

Judge Caverly said:

"I believe I have a right to know whether these boys are competent to plead guilty or not guilty."

Judge's Right Questioned

The State's attorney insists that the court has no right to judge their mental condition; that if such becomes an issue, it is his duty, under the law, to call a jury to decide on the legal— not the medical—sanity of the boys.

Crowe says that all evidence in mitigation must be in facts surrounding the case, such as provocation, but that no statute contemplates deciding whether a man is 20 per cent. 30 per cent or 40 per cent normal and then punishing him accordingly.

Judge Caverly again insists that he has a right to know the condition of the two "super-intellectual minds." He says:

"Insanity is a condition of the mind with reference to the act under investigation."

Argument of Lawyers

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall declares that the tendency of evidence to show insanity is a plea and not in mitigation.

The defense interrupts and declares that there is no intention to show insanity.

Crowe retorts:

"That is, insanity by another name. You can call it mental irresponsibility or any other name."

Bachrach is greeted with laughter when he replies:

"You can call it green cheese, if you please."

Judge Caverly asks Crowe if the court should immediately impanel a jury to decide sanity if the policeman comes in from the corner beat, and says he thinks some defendant is crazy.

Crowe's reply is:

"Well, he might know a whole lot more about it than a lot of alienists."

Judge Criticizes Citation

When the State quotes the Gene Geary case, Judge Caverly replies that if that is the sole authority for the State's argument, he will over rule the State, saying that the error in that case was the illegal waving of Geary's constitutional rights by his attorneys.

Repeatedly Judge Caverly has said that he is not going to hear any insanity testimony.

POLICE BAFFLED

"Mum" Prisoner in Bulgaria Causing Excitement.

SOFIA, Aug. 1.—(Associated Press).—The Department of Public Safety of Bulgaria is doing its best to pierce the anonymity and effect the capture of the leaders of a new organization that has been partially successful in its efforts to collect illegal revenue from banks, firms and individuals.

The name of this organization, which is collecting money in large sums, is "The Unknown Soldiers." A bank, firm or individual receives notice from this blackmailing band that it is expected to contribute, for charitable purposes, so much a month, in sums varying from 200 to 2,000 leva. Such notification is sent by mail, on paper bearing the caption "The Unknown Soldiers," and the details of delivering the money are clearly given.

Following certain visible clews the police recently arrested a young man about 25 years old. But the progress of their endeavors is barred, for the prisoner will not utter a single word.

WAR ENDED IN 1815

Over $12,000 is Paid Each Year for Pensions U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(Associated Press).—Thirty-three widows of soldiers who fought in the War of 1812 are still on the pension rolls of the Government, although 109 years have elapsed since the close of that conflict in 1815. Eight of the women pensioners died during the year ended June 30. There have been no names of soldiers of the War of 1812 on the pension books since 1905, when Hiram Cronk died in Ava, New York, at the age of 105.

The oldest of the 33 widows receiving pensions, which average $30 a month, or about $12,000 a year, is Mahala Huff, Rural Route No. 2, Louisa, Kentucky, who is 105 years old. Her husband was a private in a Virginia company of militiamen. All told approximately 35,000 widows of veterans of the War of 1812 were granted service pensions, the high water mark being reached in 1879 when there were 18,177 on the rolls.

The records of the Pension Bureau also show that Daniel F. Bakeman, who died at Freedom, New York, in 1869 at the age of 109, was the last soldier pensioner of the Revolutionary War, and Esther S. Damon, widow of Noah Damon, who died at Plymouth Union, Vermont, in 1906 at the age of 96, the last name to be scratched from the Revolutionary pension lists.

MILLBROOK CLASS HELD BIG OUTING

Boneka Bible Class Members Visited Mrs. L. W. Smith.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 1.— The "Boneka" Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School held an enjoyable outing on Tuesday afternoon, nearly seventy members and visitors motoring to the home of Mr L. W. Smith, east of the village, for the occasion.

The membership of the class is largely composed of the younger married women of the school, Mrs. (Rev.) F. W. Howard having recently consented to act as teacher until Mrs. H. Rea has sufficiently recovered from illness to resume the duties of the office.

Games of various kinds, social intercourse, asd races for both children and grown-ups, made the hours pass pleasantly. Guessing the nuumber of beans in a large jar, and also venturing an opinion as to the president's weight, were contests in which all could join, Mr. J. McKnight winning in the first instance her hazard of 1525 being the nearest to the actual number, 1547. Mrs. L. W. Smith was the winner in the second contest her venture of 160 pounds being exactlly correct.

The tea tables were laid out of doors and the abundance of good things provided were thoroughly enjoyed. The vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Smith for their hospitality was moved by Mrs. F. Smith, seconded by Mrs. J. L. Byam. After the fun and frolic a more serious note found expression as all joined in singing, "God be with you till we meet again," before the guests left for home.

Among those present were: Rev. F. W. and Mrs. Howard, Mrs. F. McMahon, Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mrs. E. A. Earchman, Mrs. Edgar Fallis, Mrs .G. Fallis, Mrs. Hilliard Lang, Mrs. D. Sanderson, Mrs. G. Locke, Mrs. W .Armstrong, Mrs. G. Freelove, Mrs. C. Garside, Mrs. W. West, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Aiken Mrs. F. W. Smith, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. G. Raper, Mrs. M Weatherup, Mrs. J. Willis, Mrs. Musprat, Mrs. E. McConsell, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. W. G. Rowland, Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mrs. J. Turner, Mrs. Howard Lunn, Mrs. Irwin Hatherly, Misses S. Hetherington, M. Widdis, J. Brock, Jean Burnham, Katherine Duncan, L. Crocker, and others.

Decoration Day.

The annual Decoratios Day service, under the auspices of Beaverton Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 249, was held on Sunday at the Stone Church cemetery, Thorah township, several hundred people motoring in from points far and near to be present for the occasion.

Among the graves decorated was that of Brother T. Corbett, of Pontypool Lodge, No. 259, Durham County, who died August 15th, 1919, aged 44 years.

Previous to marching to the cemetery members appointed for the purpose placed wreath at the base of the Soldiers' Monument in the Town Hall square in memory of two members of the Lodge who had been killed in action and are buried in France. Beautiful bouquers were also placed in large vases at the cemetery when these names were called. The Soldiers' Memorial at Beaverton, which was unveiled last June, is similar to the one at Millbrook except that a cobblestone base takes the place of the cement foundation in use here.

Mr. O.G.I. Urry, formerly of Millbrook, was among the brethern who took part in the service on Sunday. The Salvation Army Band, of Lindsay, headed the parade to the cemetery, and after the Memorial Service gave a programme of sacred music for an hour which was much enjoyed.

The Grand Secretary, Brother William Brooks, was the chief speaker during the afternoon basing his remarks upon the importance of service in relation to the life here, and hereafter.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thorndyke, their two daughters, Misses Kathleen and Ruth, and son, Master Joe, Mrs. Will Armstrong, of Cavan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brock, and daughter, Miss Myrtle, of Peterboro, had an enjoyable trip last week going as far as Midland by motor and visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Sergeant, of that town. A boat trip to Parry Sound, for which the party numbered fifteen, was a very delightful outing before the return journey was made.

Rev. D. N. McCamus, of St Mary's, was a visitor in town on Wednesday. Mr. McCamus, who was a former pastor both at Millbrook and Cavanville, is paying a brief visit to his sister, Mrs. W. Howson, Sr., at Cavan, on account of the latter's ill health. Many friends throughout the vicinity were pleased to have the opportunity of greeting Mr. McCamus who is not now in the active pastorate though he is supplying pulpit work at some point practically every Sunday, and assisted by sixty evangelistic meetings during the past winter. His last charge before superannuation was at London, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Duncan and son, Donald, who have been visiting Mr. G. A. and Miss May Duncan, for the past week, left on Wednesday morning for Cleveland where they will be guests of Mrs. Duncan's mother before returning to their home at Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. A. J. Brown left on Wednesday morning for a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Strong at their summer cottage, Bridgenorth, Lake Chemong.

Mr. and Mrs. John Black, and Miss Gardiner, of Brockport, N.Y., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray.

Largest Fish.

R. H. Edmunds holds the record for the largest fish caught is this neighborhood this season, bringing home a 'lunge that tipped the scales at almost twenty pounds on Monday evening. The catch was made in Rice Lake. So far G. Freelove holds the record for catching the largest pickerel, weighing something over six pounds, and J. Steele for the largest trout, its weight being about four pounds, in connection with the competition conducted by the local branch of the Fish and Game Protective Association.

CAMERAS WERE SET FOR FISH PICTURE

And Crowd Had Gathered—Just Then the Line Broke.

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 1.—What might have been a big fish story nearly happened last evening near Mrs. Chas. French's wharf. Two fisherman were returning from a day's sport when at this particular spot a big one got on the troll. They played him for nearly an hour, during which time about 12 other boat-loads of tourists had gathered. The excitement was intense. Mr. Robert Pearse, a guest at Sunnyside, arrived on the scene with his camera; two large landing nets were secured, and everyone waited breathless. When the final moment arrived anticipation was greater than the realization. The big one got away, breaking the line. There was difference of opinion as to the name of the fish. Some thought it was a 'lunge, while others thought it was a pickerel, as it never came above the water, which a 'lunge is apt to do.

Mrs. E. E. Plummer of Campbellford returned home last night from "Sunnyside."

Garden raspberries are selling at 20 cents a box.

Another party of American tourists arrived this week and are in camp at Spar Point.

Mrs. James Wickson and Miss Georgie are at "Bonnie Bank." Miss Peggy Dawson and Dickson Dawson and Harry McLaren of Shannonville are holidaying at the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Neill Tobin of Peterborough, who with their family are holidaying at "Algrada," spent over Sunday at Montreal.

Mrs. Chas. Armstrong of Havelock spent a few days this week at "Algrada."

Mr. Ernest McKeel of Toronto is holidaying at "Waterside."

The Misses Whibbs of Indian River are holidaying at "Athlone."

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Peterborough were recent guests at "Algrade."

The party of American tourists who have spent ten days in Mr. A. Wight's cottage, left for their various homes by motor this week.

Three young boys entered the office of the Stirling Creamery during the temporary absence of the bookkeeper and took from the till about $11.00 and when caught shortly after, it was found they had spent some of the money for candies and bathing suits.

What might have been a serious accident happened on Front street on Tuesday morning, when a car ran into Joe McIntosh, son of Mr. A. D. McIntosh. The young lad was on a bicycle when the motorist who was crossing the street struck the wheel, knocking the boy off who fell in front of the car.

TRAVEL IN HOLY LAND IS COSTLY

Room With Bath $15 in Jerusalem—Campbellford Party Arrive Home.

THROUGH PALESTINE

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1.—Mrs. T. J. Kennedy and her daughter, Mrs. Fred. Burgar, have returned from their trip to Europe, where they spent the winter, and are again settled at "Holmstead," their residence on the banks of the River Trent. Mr. Burgar, who spent over a month in England studying electrical systems, met them in Paris and made the return trip with them.

The party crossed the ocean from Southampton to Quebec on the Empress of France, which set up a new record, making the trip in 5 days and 9 hours, lapping 16 hours off her previous record, which was even then the best time ever made in covering that distance. The boat was equipped for the first time with the new automatic steering device, and from the beginning to the end of the trip no man was required to operate the wheel.

Scenes in Palestine.

Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Burgar while overseas visited not only the British Isles, but France, Italy, Egypt and Palestine. It was in the latter country, perhaps, where they met with the objects of greatest historic interest. Probably the visitors to that country do not find everything as their minds have pictured it. The landscape is covered with huge rocks, the soil is not productive—in fact, the country as a rule is not the land "flowing with milk and honey" as described by the sacred writers. In the Jaffa region, however, the place comes nearer to being a true subject of the Bible picture.

The motor roads in Palestine are excellent, fully equal to the best to be found in the State of New York. The four vast thoroughfares that were built for the travelling accommodation of the Kaiser have been put in better repair than they were when that potentate passed over them in royal state. The Campbellford tourists when they travelled these roads were fortunate enough to secure for chauffeur an ex-soldier from Canada, who was able to point out all the points of interest that are associated with Canada's part in that theatre of the Great War. On this auto trip it is easy to make 125 miles a day.

Of Sacred Memory.

The "little town of Bethlehem" is just such a place as a person would imagine it to be from reading the Bible story of the first Christmas Day. It is a peaceful community surrounded by the kind of country in which shepherds would be guarding their flocks.

Of Nazareth very little is to be seen. All that is left of the village in which the Savior spent his early years is a few houses clustered around a public well, which supplies water for the inhabitants for some distance around. Even the location of the home of the Holy Family has been lost.

Social Conditions.

Visitors to Palestine will find the British in disfavor with the natives. The Arabs have had possession of the country so long that they bitterly resent any attempt to bring in the Jews, and it is feared that this racial animosity will yet cause serious trouble. Such Jews as have already returned to Palestine have been segregated in settlements prepared exclusively for them.

Agriculturally and otherwise the country is backward. The natives are still doing their plowing with wooden contrivances fashioned from the limbs of trees and drawn by oxen. Butter is made from the milk of sheep and goats, as cows are practically unknown. Women perform some of the more laborious outside work and surprise visitors by the weight and variety of burdens that they are able to carry on their heads without apparent exertion.

One lesson, however, the people of Palestine have learned to perfection and that is how to charge tourists. The situation of Jesusalem is so elevated that rain water alone is obtainable in the city, unless brought in from a distance, and in a hotel a bathroom alone costs $15 a day. Other expenses are in proportion, so that the Holy Land must by this time be a country that has grown rich at the expense of those who spend a vacation there.

FIRST CAMPER GIVES PRIZES AT A REGATTA

Mrs. John Davidson, of Gilmour Street, First Visited Stoney Lake at Six Years of Age.

YEARLY VISITOR.

Good Boat Service Makes Upper Lake Popular as a Summer Resort.

At the Upper Stoney Lake regatta, a pleasing feature in the distribution of the prizes by the acting president, Mr. Logan Craig, of Grand Valley—one of the old-timers—was the presentation by Mrs. John Davidson, of Gilmour street, to the Misses Adams and Edmundston, of Peterborough, winners of the ladies' tandem canoe race. Mrs. Davidson was the first camper of the association at Stoney Lake, having at the early age of 6 years accompanied her parents from Peterborough on their annual two weeks' tenting at the lake and yearly, with few omissions, she has since continued.

The president called the audience attention to the long and valuable services of Mr. and Mrs. Davidson in the interest of the association.

Mr. Davidson was the first president of the association and chiefly by his efforts the government wharf and pavilion were erected. Both he and Mrs. Davidson for many years supervised the religious services and are still on the job, the latter contributing much to the success of these services. Their summer home for the past thirty three years is the beautiful cottage on Salmon Island opposite the Landing. With a view to obtain the serivces of prominent preachers, Dr. Moir of Peterborough, who is a member this year of both committees, is assisting to have the same preacher as far as possible take charge of both services, at Juniper Island in the morning and Crowe's Landing in the evening.

The Upper Stoney Lake cottagers have now a fine boat service and a three months' daily mail service.

PROSPERITY TIDE RISING IN EUROPE

Numerous Loans Floated Are Showing Productive Returns.

By J. W. T. MASON.

Enlarging foreign demand for American products, with increasing prosperity for the United States, are beginning to appear as a permanent factor in Europe's recovery. The numerous loans which have been floated in Europe since the war and continue to be floated, largely in the American market, are showing productive returns which promise to exert continuously powerful influence in setting the world to rights.

Full tide of prosperity in Europe has not yet set in, but it is commencing; and its accumulation of momentum is inevitable, as long as there are no up-sets by imperialistic statesmanship. The promise is being held out that the European chancellories intend to move continuously toward settlements of outstanding problems, simply by gradual forgetfulness of mutual antagonisms, as far as public opinion will sustain such a course. Positive constructive policies by the trans-Atlantic diplomats at their ever-recurring conferences, are improbable. But, European prosperity doesn't depend on definite assistance from temporary statesmen. If only the statesmen let the people reasonably alone, in making their own informal peace conditions, the people will find the way through increasingly cordial commercial intercourse.

This is the mood which is now prevalent throughout Europe, and it is justified by the fact that the Europeans are beginning to stabilize their standards of living at a higher point than before the war. The impasse between Germany and France and the confusion caused by the Ruhr misunderstandings, have not resulted in decreased prosperity either for France or Germany. Especially have the Germans been able to make progress, despite the crudities of the statesmanship both in Berlin and Paris. Germany is near to re-establishing a gold standard of currency, and maintaining it by the high productivity of her people.

Austria's Recovery Helps All.

The Austrian return to prosperity and the constant progress economically of Czecho-Slovakia, are having much influence upon the general recovery of self-confidence throughout continental Europe in general. The movement toward economic rehabilitation in Hungary is not progressing as rapidly as elsewhere, largely because there is a general reluctance to advance adequate loans to the Buda Pest Government. There is less assurance of stability in the Hungarian administration than anywhere else in southeastern Europe. This is due to the fact that Hungary was dismembered after the war, and the people are still sullen and resentful, and considered themselves, as indeed they are, surrounded by enemies who have taken their territory. Loans to the present Hungarian Government might be repudiated if a revolution were to bring about a change in power.

Decisive impetus to Europe's full recovery of prosperity is more likely to come from Russia than any other source. The delay in recuperation of Russia's purchasing power is the only major disquieting factor in the economic situation. Russian commissioners who have been trying to negotiate a loan in London, have not been successful because they have not been in a position to offer security acceptable to bankers. If the obstacles to successful financial rehabilitation of Russia were overcome, Europe would probably react with an immediacy that would spread in all directions.

But, for such a movement to take place, Russian loans would have to be negotiated on a sound business basis, justifying the assumption that the money would be used productively. The bankers want not only a guarantee of repayment, but they wish to feel assured that whatever loans may be made will actually contribute to general recovery of Europe. Obstacles in the way of this accomplishment will surely be overcome eventually by negotiation; and then Europe will begin to get rich quick.

IRISH PHYSICIANS OBTAIN POOR PAY

They Complain of the Very Small Pay in the Free State.

DUBLIN, Aug. 1.—(Associated Press).—The Irish Medical Association at its annual meeting passed a resolution expressing the hope that no change would be made in the system of medical registration in the Free State which would interfere with the right of medical men qualified in Ireland to practice in Great Britain and its dominions.

Dr. W. O'Sullivan, the President, said that since the establishment of their own government the Medical Association was not holding its own. The dispensary doctors were treating over 2,000,000 people in the Free State under the Medical Charities Acts and received about $80,000 for their public health work. No other country in the world, he said, paid so little. In all the circumstances, he added, "It was not to be wondered at that the people of the country were physically a third rate population when they should be an easy first. This condition, it was to be feared, would continue until they became as degenerate physically as the pigmy races of Central Africa."

Notable Potter-Craftsman at the Chautauqua

J. SMITH DAMRON

An exceptionally novel and fascinating attraction at the coming Dominion Chautauqua will be J. Smith Damron's entertainment-demonstration, "The Potter and the Clay," which gives a full and vivid portrayal of one of the oldest handicrafts known to man—the manufacture of pottery or earthenware.

In full view of his audience Mr. Damron makes vessels of clay on an old-fashioned turning-wheel, and interestingly describes the preparation of the clay, glazing, decorating and burning.

Splendid lessons on character building abound, along with much wit, humor and philosophy.

So great has been the platform success of Mr. Damron that the United States government sent him to the Panama Canal Zone to entertain government employees. He gave his entertainment fifteen times in the government club houses there.

OLD STAGE FAVORITE

London Audience Goes Wild Over Old Actor.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Associated Press).—London critics are hailing with acclaim the return of Marie Tempest to musical comedy after an absence of 25 years in straight comedy roles. Her recent appearance in a comedy-fantasy occasioned an ovation on her every entry, and after the close of the last act Miss Tempest was kept on the stage for 15 minutes while the audience, English audiences are the most conservative in the world, expressed its appreciation by a gale of hand-clapping, cane pounding and shouting.

So overcome was Miss Tempest at her reception that once, during the second act, she completely forgot her lines, and was forced to improvise for several minutes, she confessed at the close of the evening. London critics said that the enthusiasm with which she was hailed was memorable.

Miss Tempest, who is 58 years old, first appeared on the stage in "Boccacio," in 1885.

LEAGUE PLANS TO MAKE 1924 AND 1925 DISARAMENT YEARS REPRESENTING 5 YEAR EFFORT

Outline of Program Shows Ground Work Laid For Bringing End to War.

ACTION DELAYED.

An International Treaty of Mutual Defence Will Be Launched.

By HENRY WOOD.

GENEVA, Aug. 1.—With the meeting on Sept. 1 of the fifth annual assembly of the League of Nations, the latter counts on being able to whip definitely into shape the great fundamental basis for a world-wide reduction in disarmament.

In fact, the League intends that 1924-1925 shall pass down in history as "disarmament year."

The projects which the League expects to have adopted in September are the result of five years' study under the auspices of the League of the whole problem of disarmament by the leading military, naval and aerial experts, economists, financiers, governmental experts, industrials and workmen.

In the minds of those who have handled the subject for the League the projects constitute the only practical basis on which a beginning in the reduction of armaments can be attained. All idealistic projects have been swept aside and the subject brought down to a basis of concrete reality and possibility.

Down to Business.

The disarmament programme, as it has now been prepared after five years of effort, and as it will be presented to the September Assembly of the League of Nations, will be embodied largely in the four following projects:

1—The launching of an international treaty of mutual defense, conditional upon a reduction in armaments by all the signatory powers.

2—The summoning of an international conference for establishing a basis and limits of naval disarmament.

3—The launching of a new international treaty regulating traffic in arms and munitions and which will replace the St. Germain treaty that never became effective.

4—The launching of an international treaty placing the private manufacture of war material under the control of the government of each country.

Of the four projects, the first one constitutes the great fundamental basis for beginning the reduction of armaments. The idea which was originated by Lord Robert Cecil, based on the conviction that no state could be induced to reduce its armaments unless there was some other guarantee for its national security and that this other guarantee could only be provided through treaties of mutual defense, was drafted into the form of an international convention and adopted by the League Assembly last year.

Action Delayed.

In order, however, that the whole plan might be launched upon the most practical basis possible, final action was delayed until this year's assembly, in order to give all of the governments a chance to study the project and send in their observations on the subject, as well as a declaration of just how far they are disposed to go with such a treaty.

Virtually all of these replies are now in, even non-league states like the United States, having submitted a declaration of their opinion and position on the subject. These replies will be submitted to the September assembly and will enable the latter to complete the final draft of the treaty of mutual guarantee on a basis acceptable to the largest number of nations possible, and to launch it before the assembly adjourns.

Replies received to date from the various governments indicate that various aspects of the treaty will be severely attacked by various groups of states or by single governments.

For example, there will be division of opinion on whether in addition to a general international treaty of mutual defense there may also be negotiated group, and regional agreements, such as the Little Entente and the Franco-Belgian-Polish-Slovakian defensive agreements.

The French insist absolutely upon the inclusion of these group agreements in the scheme and they will certainly have the support of all other nations who have negotiated defensive alliances since the end of the war. As a consequence, the adoption of this principle of group agreements as well as a general defensive treaty, will prevail but it will be subordinated by the League to the provision that every such agreement brings with it a reduction in armaments corresponding to the amount of security and guarantee offered by the alliance.

Swiss Lead Fight.

With the adoption of this principle, another fight, led by the Swiss, will then be made on the point of whether or not the various states included in a group agreement will have the right to begin hostilities in their mututal defense, without consulting the League of Nations, or whether the latter shall have the supreme authority for putting into motion the mutual defensive arrangements provided under each group agreement.

The Swiss contend that if the states in each group have to right to decide for themselves when they are attacked and to begin their mutual defense without consulting anyone but themselves, that Europe will be little better off than before the war, and at the mercy, as far as the starting of a war that may involve all Europe is concerned, of any group of states that may consider itself the victim of aggression.

The Swiss will insist that the council of the League of Nations have the supreme right to decide, both in the general treaty of mutual defense and the group treaties, which state is the aggressor and to set in motion the armaments provided for mutual defense in such a case.

The Scandinavian countries and other small more or less neutral countries, which, at the present time, maintain very little armaments, will also attack the whole project from another point of view. They will insist that under such a scheme they would be obliged to maintain bigger armaments as their portion of the contribution for general mutual defense than they maintain at th presen time. They will insist, therefore, that such a project would have for result the increasing instead of the decreasing of their armaments.

No Compulsion.

However, as none of these states will be obliged to subscribe to the treaty unless they want to, and as its backers have already declared that it would be ridiculous to suppose that it would be applied in such a way as to force anyone to increase their present armaments instead of to reduce them, it is not considered probable that the opposition from this source will have much weight.

It is regarded certain that that portion of the treaty which provides for continental self-defense will be retained integrally. Under this provision the signatories of each continent would arrange for their own mutual defense and would never be called upon to send troops or armaments to protect signatories on another continent.

In this manner both the North and South American countries would never have to fear that they might be called upon to participate in an European or Asiatic war.

Who Signs?

The general treaty of mutual guarantee and defense will also become effective on the different continents as follows:

For Europe, as soon as five European countries of which three are permanently represented on the council—namely, England, France, Italy—have signed it.

In Asia, as soon as it has been ratified by two Asiatic states of which one—namely, Japan—is permanently represented on the council.

In North America, as soon as it may be accepted by the United States.

In Central America and the West Indies, as soon as it is ratified by two Central American states and one from the West Indies.

In South America, as soon as it is ratified by four South American states.

In South America and Oceania, as soon as it is ratified by two states in that division.

The launching of this treaty by the September assembly and the establishing of the basis of reduction of armaments that is to take place under it, will constitute by far the greatest achievment of the League to date in the domain for which it was fundamentally created—namely, disarmanent and the maintenance of peace.

Naval Disarmament.

The next step in the programme to be acted on by the assembly will be the summoning of an international conference on naval disarmanmet. Progress towards this end was both made—and delayed—by the Washington naval disarmament conference. The success of the latter led leaguers to believe that the principles of the Washington agreement might be extended to all of the smaller powers that were not signatories to the Washington agreement.

The assembly of last year accordingly ordered the council to proceed along that line. Unfortunately, the League's conference of naval experts at Rome demonstrated absolutely that the principles of the Washington agreement, and which were practical and acceptable, to the five big powers of the world, would never work out for the rest of the smaller powers.

Although a failure from this point of view, the Rome conference was, nevertheless, a success from the point of view of developing other lines along which the problem might be approached.

As a consequence the September assembly is expected to summon an international conference, which, instead of striving to arrive at a limitation of naval armaments on the basis of the status quo, as in the Washington agreement, will endeavor to arrive at a solution on the basis of principles fully recognized and established in the covenant. These include special consideration for the geographical and political position of each state; it s coast-line, its defensive needs, etc., etc.

S. A. States May Agree.

On these different lines the League hopes that the South American states will be able to reach an agreement amongst themselves for the limitation of their armaments on a basis of equality—namely, Argentine, Brazil and Chili would maintain equal forces.

The smaller Mediterranean and Balkan powers, such as Greece, Turkey, Roumania, Spain, Portugal, etc., etc., would then arrive at their own basis of limitation.

The Baltic states, which have an entirely different naval problem to face, would also establish their basis amongst themselves.

Russia Unprovided For.

This would leave Russia virtually the only great state not provided for. However, as her political and geographical position is entirely out of the class of that of the above states, and as she is manifestly one of the great powers of the world, and her naval forces must be established on that basis, Leaguers are hopeful that she can eventually be included in the arrangements with the other five big powers that for the time being are provided for under the Washington agreement.

The assembly also expects to launch an entirely new treaty covering international traffic in arms and munitions to replace the St. Germain one, which never became effective owing to the refusal of the United States senate to ratify. The United States has officially participated in the drafting of the new treaty that will come before the assembly and thus it is hoped that this cause of war may be definitely regulated at once.

Finally the assembly will launch still another international treaty, placing the private manufacture of wa material, which is conceded to be one of the big causes of war, under government control. The project as prepared, will, it is believed, be acceptable to governments and war material manufacturers alike. Thus the incentive of big producers of war material to incite, cause and prolong wars, as a means of creating an outlet for their production, will be removed.

With these four projects adopted, the League will feel that it has done all that can be done for the moment towards launching a new era of reduction in armaments, and that future progress towards complete disarmament will rest largely with the individual governments themselves.

And Only Three Were There!

There were 34 chairs around when the Last Man's Club, composed of survivors of old Company B, First Minnesota Volunteers, gathered for its annual reunion in Stillwater, Minn. But 31 were vacant and 30 of them were draped in black. Only four of the original 34 members of 1886 still live. And one, Emil Graff, St. Cloud, Fla., was confined to his wheelchair and couldn't come. The three who made the trip were Peter Hall, Atwater, Minn. (left); John Goff, St. Paul (centre), and Charles Lockwood, Chamberlain, S. D. The old bottle of wine, saved through the years, will be finished when only two remain and the club disbands. Next September the American Legion, at its national convention in St. Paul, will entertain the surviving members.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE STORY OF ANOTHER BRASS RING

There she was on top of a ladder.

Mrs. Cottontail, Cutie's mother, was cleaning house the day he went off to spend the afternoon and all his money at Happy Go Lucky Park.

If she needed him once she needed him a dozen times, and, as she said, there he was, off galivanting around just when she needed him the most. She needed him to bring the tack hammer, and she needed him to hold the stepladder, and she needed him to go to the store for more soap, and she needed him for everything.

And there he was off having a good time and not once thinking that he might be of use.

The more tired Mrs. Cottontail got the crosser she got and she got talking out loud to herself.

"I do wish that Mister Zip and his park were at the bottom of the sea," she scolded. "And Nancy and Nick and everybody and everything in the park. Then maybe Cutie would stay at home sometimes when he's needed and not be off spending good money on trash."

She forgot how well she liked to pack up a basket sometimes and go to the park with the family for a day's rest and fun.

But she wasn't any different from other people, after all, for some way or other when people are tired and busy they always think other people have no right to have any fun.

But as for Cutie, I do think he'd no business going off and not helping his mother when she had so much to do. If he had just waited—

But there! This story is beginning to sound like a lecture and this is no place for lectures.

Well, anyway, whileMrs. Cottontail was scolding and scolding, the doorbell rang.

There she was on top of a ladder with a curtain in one hand trying to get it fixed on a curtain pole.

She had to put the curtain down while she answered the door.

It was Mister Stamps, the postman, bringing the mail.

She put the mail on the hall table and went back to her work, grumbling about days she was expecting letters and nothing came and the very day she was so busy 'n all, didn't she have to stop and go to the door.

Then she went back to her curtain hanging.

"Where's that brass ring I had in my hand?" she said. "Where is it, I'd like to know. There were seven and now there are only six. Now the curtains won't match! Oh, dear! Did ever anybody have so much trouble!"

She put up the last curtain as well as she could and then went to get dressed and then she got supper.

Cutie came home hot and tied and happy just in time. And after that he went to bed.

"I'm awful tired, Ma," he said. "Say, I tore my pants today. Will you fix 'em, please. I caught them on a nail."

"Sure I will, Cutie," said Mrs. Cottontail kindly, for after all she wasn't really cross at all, and she loved Cutie like everything.

So Cutie went to bed and Mrs. Cottontail did the dishes and then sat down to mend Cutie's trousers.

"Why, I declare, what's this?" she cried, feeling in one of the pockets and hauling out a brass ring. "Why, I declare, it's that curtain ring I lost today. I wonder where he found it!"

And the good rabbit lady went at once and slipped it on the pole and fixed her curtain right.

BUILDING CRASH HURTS 30.

One May Die Following Fall of Structure in Woonsocket.

WOONSOCKET, R.I., Aug. 1.—The collapse of the main building of a $1,000,000 group under construction for the Branch River Wool Combing Company Wednesday caused injuries to thirty persons, twelve of whom were taken to hospitals. It was said that one laborer might die.

There were fifty men in and about the structure when the steel frame and supports of the saw tooth roof buckled, dropping a large portion of the roof to the ground. The arm of one man was severed. Many escaped by running, a map on a tower having been indications of the accident in time to give the alarm.

The building was a one-storey structure with basement 392 feet long and 238 feet wide. The Branch River Wool Combing Company is a subsidiary of Prouvost & Lefebvre of Roubaix, France. Its plant is at Branch Village on the outskirts of the city.

HUGE SUSPENSION BRIDGE ERECTED

Will Provide a New Channel of Traffic Between Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Construction work on the great Delaware river suspension bridge, according to officials of the commission directing its erection, is keeping pace with the schedule set by the engineers who designed it, making it probable that July 4, 1926, the sesqui-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, will see the new artery of traffic opened between Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The bridge, with a span of 1,750 feet between towers, according to the engineers, will be the largest of its kind in the world. More than a mile and a half in total length, its towers, already in place, reach 385 feet above the surface of the Delaware River.

Draped from the monster cables, each of which will be 29½ inches thick, the floor of the bridge is to be 135 feet above high water, providing passage for the largest craft without altering their top hamper.

The bridge will be 125 feet wide and will accommodate four tracks for trolley and rapid transit lines and a roadway for six lines of vehicles. Two walks for pedestrians will be built above the roadway. The cost of the project is estimated at $32,783,000, divided between Philadelphia and Camden, and the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

At its present stage, the structure presents the appearance of a bridge without a floor. The towers and anchorages are in position, and the two shores linked by temporary cables on which a narrow footpath for workmen has been laid. Both shores of the river are alive with men and resound to the clatter of machinery, the grind of concrete mixers and the sharp exhaust of hoisting engines. Tons of concrete are being poured daily in the construction of the great anchorages. A wide swath has been cut into the heart of Philadelphia and the heart of Camden to clear the way for the approaches to the bridge. Historic churches and buildings have been moved or demolished to make way for this twentieth century project.

PEER RUN LAUNDRY

Lord Douglas Has Shocked the Others of His Class.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Although the occupations of members of the peerage are many and varied nowadays, Lord Cecil Douglas has shocked the others of his class by opening a laundry under his own name. Lord Cecil is a brother of the Marquis of Queensbury, and the interest which his business venture has aroused has already been gratifying to the cashier of the establishment.

The members of the Queensbury family have always been noted for their versatility. Lord Cecil's father emigrated to America where he worked on various newspapers; his uncle Lord Alfred Douglas was editor of "Plain English"; a great uncle entered the priesthood, another uncle was a hotel owner, and his grandfather was a patron of boxing and author of the famous "Queensbury Rules."

SHAPE OF RAIN DROPS.

FRIEDRICHSHAVEN, Aug. 1.—(Associated Press).—What is the shape of a rain drop? is a question which lately has been discussed at length by German scientists. It isn't exactly round, and to this they all agree.

Paul Javoy, chief engineer of the Zeppelin works here where the ZR-3 is nearing completion for its delivery flight to Lakehurst, N. J., has taken moving pictures of rain drops which he says show that they are flat on the top and on the bottom, due to pressure of the air, while the sides are convex. In other words, according to Engineer Javoy, falling rain drops as to form might be compared with an apple placed in a press and flattened on its top and bottom to about half its ordinary height.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

REV. DR. GRANT'S OPINION.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir.—Referring to your editorial of 22nd instant in which you quote Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant as being in favor of the plebiscite, it would appear to be only fair for the attention of your readers to be directed to the important fact that Dr. Grant's opinion is entirely different from the opinion so strongly held by The Presbyterian Church in Canada, which, as you are aware, usually gives every question very careful and thorough consideration before venturing to express an opinion thereon.

The exact wording of the resolution which was adopted by the General Assembly is as follows:

"Whereas, notwithstanding the difficulties in the way, the Ontario Temperance Act has proved to be of great assistance in improving the economic, social and moral conditions of the people of Ontario, therefore the General Assembly is of the opinion that before the electorate is asked to express judgment on the merits of the Ontario Temperance Act, this law should be given reasonable time, under the most favorable conditions, and that unless requested by such disinterested organizations as Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, Wholesale and Retail Merchants' Associations, National Councils of Women, &c, no action be taken, looking to the repeal of this act."

I trust that, with your usual spirit of fairness, you will please publish this letter. Yours very truly,

—J. C. Smith.

PROHIBITION AND PROGRESS.

The coming referendum is likely to result in favour of Prohibition. The Prohibitionists of the U. S. cannot afford to have Ontario at their very backdoor open for the transportation of Liquor. They are subscribing heavily to the O.T.A. defence fund, it is said. Prohibition would be impossible in the U. S. if defeated in Ontario.

Now, it is well known that I do not believe in anything which disregards and overrides the natural or private rights of unoffending people. But prohibitionists do not agree with that view. They maintain that all rights which stand in the way of the greatest good to the greatest number must disappear.

So that the right of a private individual in his own house to do as he sees fit about liquor is denied him. No one, of course, ever disputed the right of the public to do as it thought best with its own public rights.

The question at issue is wholly one of private or home rights.

Prohibition enters the home. It is the first time since the liberty of the home was won that this liberty has been questioned. It is by Prohibition now denied.

A new order, therefore, "has come to town." The old order of private rights is driven out by Prohibition in favour of the new order of the Greatest Good to the Greatest Number. This means that the greatest number, the majority, has decided to do as it pleases with the old-time private rights of others. Now, then, I come to my point. The principle of Prohibition cannot stop at the abolition of liquor, and if the private rights of people concerning it. It is capable of extension to all rights which stand in the way of the good of the majority.

Labour is at the crossways. It has been patient and fairly willing. It has rebuked force wherever Reds have advocated it. Now, let Labour learn from the Prohibitionists that Labour, being in the majority, has a right to deprive others of their rights for Labour's good.

In a word, the whole of the Old Order stands ready to tumble down. Labour finds that reasonably steady employment is not forthcoming. It cannot live as things are going on at present. Something must be done. Why not join up with the Prohibitionist in smashing up the Old Order? Instead of fighting their theory and their practice let Labour join with them in establishing it—if Prohibitionists will agree to apply the theory to other rights than simply those to drink liquor. Let Labour see to it that Prohibition is sustained and then let Labour see to it that the principle is applied to all other private rights where necessary to the good of Labour.

Do you see my point? Prohibition will be sustained in Ontario anyhow. It is to the interests of Labour suffering from continued unemployment to overturn the old order as Prohibition did and to "run" the goverament and people and the rights and possessions of the people for their own good. Here is the door left wide open to you—the door of opportunity. Have we heart enough to take advantage of our chanceto bring about with the help of the Prohibition of liquor the prohibition and confiscation of whatever we think best for "the greatest good of the greatest number"?

—J. H. Burnham.

TOURISTS CAMPS PAY

That free tourists camps maintained by cities pay in business brought to those towns is shown by a recent survey of 48 such camps by the American Automobile Association. The average amount spent by each tourist is estimated at about $5 a day, while all its costs the city to maintain the camp is about $10 a day.

ZOO AUGMENTED

Strange Cargo Taken From a Norwegian Freighter.

HAMBURG, Aug. 1.—The strangest cargo unloaded here in years was taken off the Norwegian freighter Randsfjord recently. It was a consignment of animals from Abyssinia for the Berlin zoo.

The cargo included dromedaries, jackals, panthers, leopards, 30 large apes, 24 porcupines, giant tutles with a combined weight of 2,500 pounds, and 80 smaller animals of prey of various descriptions.

The unloading proved no easy matter. The camels, for instance, simply lay down on the upper deck and refused to walk down the gangway. The finally had to be lifted off bodily with the aid of pulleys and cranes. A leopard managed to aim a vicious blow with his paw at one of the expert tamers of the zoo who had been hired to assist A long scar on his forehead bears evidence that the leopard aimed straight. Every animal had to be inspected by an official veterinary before ia was allowed to land.

NO PRICE RAISE IN BREAD HERE

Abnormal Rise in the Wheat Market Has Set Flour at New High Level.

LOCAL OPINION.

Toronto bakers anticipate an increase in the price of bread before the end of the present week.

The rapid increase in the price of flour has naturally increased the cost of producing bread, but Peterborough bakers have taken no action and are patiently waiting for developments, in the hope that conditions will adjust themselves to normality.

In the last two months, the price of flour has risen from $6.20 to $8.20 per barrel an increase of 32 per cent.

The advanced cost in the production of a large loaf as a result of the rise in the price of flour is about 2 1-2 cents, according to the estimate of two local breadmakers.

"We don't want to raise the price of bread only to lower it again," said one baker. "The bakers are seriously affected," said another, "and we will have to exercise great caution in buying."

The Examiner learned that some of the bakers, the larger producers are still using flour purchased sever al months ago when the market price was low. The sudden inflation in the market has not proven a hardship to these men but seevral of the local bakers are buying flour at its present price.

A local miller in speaking to the Examiner to-day opined that flour would not return to its former low price for years to come.

In giving his opinion, he attributed this reason to the fact that Canadian wheat is growing in popularity and consequently finding a wider range of markets. He also stated that the demand for Canadian wheat was slackened somewhat last year due to the decreased buying powers of European nations.

He was of opinion that the price of flour after the harvesting of this year's crop of wheat would range from $7.00 to $7.25 per barrel, when the fall market became settled.

The present inflation in the price of flour is without foundation according to this millers' opinion. Reports of alarming growing conditions for this year's crop were probably responsible, but an average yield is now anticipated as a result of recent reports of the general conditions pre vailing throughout the west.

A REMEDY FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

It Is Impossible To Cure a Chronic Disease in a Day or Two.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(British United Press).—The Labor Government possesses a remedy for unemployment in Britain Chancellor Snowden announced in the House of Commons Wednesday but added "it is impossible to cure a chronic disease in a day or two".

The long expected statement regarding the government's policy on unemployment was made in the course of a debate on the appropriation for the Ministry of Labor. Stating most emphatically that the government would alleviate the situation if given time the Chancellor of the Exchequer said the utmost was already being done to revive foreign trade and thereby to lessen unemployment in the three great industries, shipping, engineering and the cotton trades. He urges fuller development of the national resources, also "the scientific organization of production and the elimination of waste".

Mr. Snowden expressed the approval of the greater electrification of industry and announced that the government would introduce a bill next year under which an attempt would be made to regularize distribu tion of power, at a cost of £10,000,000.

He further stated that the government approved a program of road improvement, the cost of which had been set at £13,500,000.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT POLICY IS REVIEWED

Construction of New Roads and Development of Electricity Was Proposed.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—At the instance of the Liberals of the Government the unemployment policy was reviewed in the House of Commons Wednesday by Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Among the proposals published there were those that fore shadowed the construction of new roads and the development of electricity. "We are bound to face the intensified competition of the world's trade, so we must do everything possible to cheapen and improve pro duction," said Mr. Snowden. The Chancellor of the Exchequer ,in urging the railways to re-condition, re-equip and electrify their lines, said that the government had decided to revive the Severn barrage scheme, which if undertaken, would be one of the most difficult engineering feats in history.

FOUR MEN SHOT IN KLAN FIGHT

Riot Followed a Demonstration of Ku Klux Klansmen —Meeting Resented.

SCORE ARRESTED.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press). —Four men were shot here early yesterday when hostile crowds clashed with between three thousand and five thousand members o fthe Ku Klux Klan who held a meeting lasting into the early morning on a hill in the neighboring town of Groveland. State and local police at length quelled the disorders taking into custody 23 men including three of the wounded and confiscated some arms and ammunition.

Klansmen from Worcester, Boston, Springfield and other cities attended the gathering and a large number of them were apparently former service men wearing army uniforms.

WHAT BEARS DO FOR ODD SNACK

Hungry Beasts Entered Miner's Hut and Eat Him Out Of House and Home— Went Through Roof.

A BIG MEAL.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press). — George Rochefort, prospector, with a camp on Snake Creek, thirteen miles from the Algoma Central Railway at Pangis, told yesterday the most extraordinary story of what bears will do when in need of food. On July 12, while Rochefort was out working on his claims, bears entered his camp and left it bare of all provisions he had for the summer. Rochefort believes that they entered the hut through the roof. They first tore four logs off the roof and ripped down the stove pipes. A large metal pot filled with beans in preparation for the prospector's supper was emptied, and the bears also tore the bottom completely out of the pot. They took four loaves of bread, three quarts of beans, one pound of butter, five pounds of meat, four pounds of flour and one pound of tea. When Rochefort returned home he found the door of his cabin battered down and not a bite to eat left.

FLAPPER SCORES ONE ON MOTHER

Flapper Dresses Looked Like Chorus Girls' Dancing Gowns.

By HEDDA HOYT.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 1. — (United Press).—Here they are girls! The latest dresses of Flapperdom!

Accordian pleated frocks, from neck to hem with baby sleeves and Empire waist lines! The first time we saw a couple of girls wearing them on Broadway, we thought the show was out and the chorus girls were wearing their costumes home. Again we saw them on Fifth Avenue and presumed that they were home-made and that the wearers didn't know that the low waist-line is the vogue. But—at the Ritz we ran across a couple of debbies wearing them and we knew that their name was Fashion.

They aren't common enough at present to definitely state whether they will remain in style or not, but suffice to say, they are the last word in Flapperdom and as cute as can be on some girls.

There was one little Miss in her 'teens with a frock of red crepe de chene pleated from rounding neckline to hem in the tiniest pleats imaginable. Her sleeves were tiny, puffed affairs, also accordian pleated—just little shoulder puffs. A red ribbon sash appeared at a very high waist-line and this tied in front in a tailored bow with the two long streamers falling to the hem of her skirt.

Another Miss wore a similiar frock of Nile green pleated chiffon at dinner the other night. There is no trimming whatever on these frocks, and except for color they are all made very much alike. They remind one of frocks "Our Nell" might have worn. Only Nell would have worn a long, black cape over hers when she came home on a cold wintery night.

For the past seasons the younger girls have been dressing exactly like their mothers. This new silhouette may prove a lucky stroke on their part, to depart from mature lines. We'll venture to say that the Empire waist-line won't be becoming on matronly figures, so daughter will have no one in the family to cramp her style if she selects the new Flapper frock.

Fashion Notes.

Beaded cotton voile frocks are decidedly lovely for summer, since they are simple enough to be worn any time and yet sufficiently dressy for semi-formal afternoon occasions. The beading, of course, is always done in white, as colored beads on pastel frocks are not for street wear this season.

* * *

For evening wear women are wearing real flowers on the left shoulder, instead of the artificial corsage which is usually worn at the waist-line. Red roses are generally chosen and these are especially lovely on the black and white or all-white frock.

* * *

White beaded handbags are carried by many of the smartly gowned women who wear summery frocks for street wear. There has never been a season in recent years when so many cotton frocks have been worn for street wear. Organdies, voiles, mulls and linens are all pressed into service as warm weather advances. Fifth Avenue is one mass of color and the dark silk dress is becoming passe.

* * *

In choosing white silk stockings it is a good plan to select those of heavy weave, rather than of gauge weight, since the leg is anything but pretty when the flesh shows too plainly through the stocking.

* * *

Skirts are really growing shorter about New York, although they are not as short generally as they were two years ago during the short-skirt vogue.

* * *

Long gloves aren't being worn at all this season. Short-cuffed gloves are popular and these are worn with short-sleeved frocks as well as with long-sleeved ones. The majority of women, however, wear no gloves on warm days.

* * *

From Paris comes the chiffon gloves which are designed to be worn with the sheer, summer frock. White chiffon is the favorite, although all the nude toned which are used for hosiery are mentioned as being popular.

WHAT WORLD FLIER WANTED— CIGARETTE AND ICE WATER

By Milton Bronner.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — An American army airplane with the figure "2" painted on it comes roaring from the south, circles two or three times around the great Croydon Aerodrome and then settles gently on the ground.

A few minutes later two other American airplanes land on this British field.

They have made history. Four hundred and three years ago a Portuguese named Magellan in command of a fleet of Spanish ships, made similar history. The little vessels of wood and equipped with a few sails, were the first to circumnavigate the globe. And this tiny fleet of three airplanes, led by Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, has reported part of that performance.

With pieces of stick and yards of linen, some steel and some aluminum, propelled by powerful engines, these daring latter-day Magellans had gone three-quarters around the globe when they landed in London.

An what do you reckon was the first thing Lieutenant Smith did when his machine stopped? He ducked his head out of the cockpit, jammed a cigaret into his young face and enjoyed a smoke.

Perhaps some day an imaginative historian will attribute to Smith some very fancy words as he stepped out of his machine onto British soil. Let an imaginative chronicler tell what he ready said:

"Id like to drink."

"What, whiskey and soda?" asked one of the attaches of the aerodrome as a matter of course.

"No, pard, I said I wanted a drink. A long drink. A cold drink. Water with ice in it."

And that was that. And it was said with such fervor that Frederick Sterling, first secretary of the American embassy who was deputizing for Ambassador Kellogg, forgot his speech of welcome—if indeed he had one. All he did was to shake Smith's hand and say—"Howdy!"

Came a solemn moment when the united army of British reporters corralled Lieutenant Smith, took him off to the British Customs Bureau, away from the autograph-hunting crowd, and began firing questions at him concerning the trip.

"The worst part of it all was in Northern Alaska, said Smith. "There we encountered the Woollies

LIEUTENANT LOWELL SMITH AND MRS. MacLAREN.

—winds that blow 70 miles an hour and then suddenly stop and then just as suddenly begin again— icy cold, whipping sleet and snow into your face.'

"Pardon," says a polite Briton. "you say these winds are called the willies?"

"What's that," asked the Briton blankly.

Enters the woman reporter. She beams brightly at Lieutenant Smith and pops the great question—"What is the first thing you are going to do when you land in New York?"

Smith looks at her quizzically for a moment and then drawls—

"Prepare to hop off for San Diego.

* * *

There was a pathetic side to the London welcome to our fliers. Mrs MacLaren, wife of Squadron Leader MacLaren of the British Air Forces, who also started on a world flight, congratulated Smith and his companions upon their success. She thanked them for some favors they had helped secure for her husband.

Then the anxious wife was revealed. She knew the terrific fight with the elements that our men had when they crosed the North Pacific. She knew her own husband was in those same regions at that very moment. And she sought comfort by asking our men whether they thought MacLaren was in much danger.

Smith proved himself a gallant diplomat. He told the pretty young wife the truth about the dangers at this time of year and yet in such a way as not to add to her fears.

And that very evening the papers reported MacLaren was overdue and that Japanese war vessels were seeking traces of him, in the desolate waters around the Kurile Islands.

RUIN FROM WAR TOID BY WITTE

Said in 1914 the Great Struggle Would Make Europe America's Slave.

KAISER AND CZAR.

BERLIN, August 1.—"If war comes America will impose her will upon Europe seize hegemony over the European Continent and finally become a lord wielding the power of life and death over the Old World." Those words were spoken ten years ago, a few days before the outbreak of the World War, by the late Count Witte, once Russian Premier and one of the men who signed the Peace Treaty between Russia and Japan in 1905 at Portsmouth, N.H., according to a Russian journalist who says that Witte made the statement quoted in the course of an interview which he gave him.

Another striking statement also attributed by this journalist to Witte is that the German Kaiser stationed a yacht at St. Petersburg during the Russian Revolution of 1905, with steam always up, ready to whisk the Czar away if he should be placed in imminent peril .The journalist in question is Ilya Trotzky, who represented the Russkoye Slovo, then the leading Russian newspaper, in Berlin when the World War broke out.

On the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the war he has contributed to the Berliner Tageblatt the text of an interview which he says he had in July, 1914, with Count Witte, then living in retirement at a small German watering place. Witte made his remark about the Czar, the Kaiser and the latter's steam yacht in seeking to show that the Czar would be entirely averse to having war in Europe in 1914 because he remembered only too well the bloody days of 1905 in Russia.

Regarding the World War Count Witte is thus quoted:

"I feel sure that neither England nor America will participate in the war. But if things should turn out contrary to expectations, I can already foresee Europes' sad fate. The war will be prolonged and bloody. Europe will be bled white and ruined She will become a slave paying tribute to America. All Europe's gold will cross the ocean."

During the interview Witte harped as he often did elsewhere, on the necessity of an alliance of France, Germany and Russia as Europe's only hope. "War will be Russia's death," he is quoted as saying.

Witte also said that Sukhomlinoff, the then Russian War Minister, was "an idle chatterer" and the Grand Duke Nicholas, Commander of the Russian armies, "an arrogant braggart of whose military talent I have grave doubt." He is also quoted as saying that the Czar would never be allowed to command the Russian armies because the Czarina hated him.

"Russia will be the first country to fall under the wheel of world history," is another grim prophecy attributed to Witte.

TRAGIC DEATH APSLEY WOMAN

Mrs. Sophia Tanner, Highly Respected Pioneer of Chandos, Passes Away.

APSLEY, August 1, — Death came with tragic suddenness on Tuesday to Mrs. Sophia Jan Turner the wife of Thomas Tanner, one of the best known and highly esteemed pioneers of Chandos Township. Mrs. Tanner has been for some time subject to heart attacks, but was in her usual health when in the act of preparing dinner, she collapsed. Restoratives were applied and Dr Shepherd was soon in attendance but she quietly passed away in about two hours from the time of the attack without regaining consciousness The high esteem in which she was held by the whole community was evidence by the great number of residents that attended the funeral, which was held at St. George's church, Apsley, of which the deceased was a staunch and faithful life long member.

On Thursday morning the service was conducted by the Rector, the Sev. C. Spence. The body was interred in the churchyard, the bearers being four brothers, Robert, Charles, Philip and Frank also George Johnston and Glen Nichols, sons in law.

Besides these, there are left to mourn her loss, her husband, three sons, Harry, Frank and George and five daughters, Mrs. Alf. Airriess in Saskatchewan, Mrs. George Johnston, Chandos, Mrs. Glen Nicholls, Chatham and Ada and Edith at home. There is also a sister Mrs. Clapperton living in Port Arthur.

DROUGHT MAY KILL OFF TROUT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 1.—The prolonged drought in California has made water in the mountain streams so low that trout are threatened with extinction and efforts are being made to sustain their life, according to the State Fish and Game Commission.

The shrinking of the streams has made the trout as easy prey to anglers, and animals and birds have found it no longer difficult to catch them. The number of the various species of trout is estimated to have diminished alarmingly.

CALLS DAUGHTER ON DEATH BED

Daughter Missing and May Be in Kawartha District.

Mrs. James Hunter, with a party of American tourists, is somewhere in Canada, travelling in a Reo touring car, license number 35,427.

Her mother in Columbus, Ohio, is on her death bed, calling for her daughter.

It was broadcast from WGY, Schenectady, last night, that Mrs. Hunter was one of a party of tourists, who left for Canada. It is most probable that she came direct to Ontario, and may possibly be in this vicinity at the present time.

All efforts are being made to reach her.

GARDEN PARTY.

Lawn of Mr. and Mrs W. Lytle, Gilmour Street, Was Scene of Pleasing Event.

A miniature garden party was held yesterday afternoon on the lawn at 461 Gilmour street, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lytle, from three to six o'clock, by the Help-a-Bit Club, an energetic group of small girls. The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Margaret and Betty Lytle, Chrissie Forrest and Hilda Sullivan. Refreshments of cake and lemonade were served on the European plan, the Misses Helen Archambault and Helen Donoghue assisting. An amusing incident of this part of the affair was the fact that one small gentleman demanded a refund, because he had left a piece of cake uneaten. Needless to say, the demand was ignored, as it was noticeable that the committee in charge had no intention of making a refund, a shortage of change being also quite noticeable. The fish-pond, for which the articles had been made by the children, was quite an attraction, and the candy booth added wonderfully to the receipts. The proceeds which amounted to $6.07 will be given to the Peterboro Health Association, for their camp at Jackson Park.

WITNESS MAKES CORRECTION.

In regard to the report of the trial of Walter G. Belleghem, published in Tuesday's edition of the Examiner, County Constable Samuel Pearson desires to correct a reference made to him.

Mention was made of the abnormal depletion of the liquor found in the bottle by Constable Pearson and referred to at the trial, which he attributed to evaporation.

The report read that it was stated by the witness that three inches of liquor remained in the bottle, when found by Constable Pearson and it is this statement that he wishes to correct.

At Friday's hearing Mr. Pearson testified that there was probably a half a cup full of whiskey in the bottle when found by him which would only measure to a little over an inch and not three inches, as stated.

TELL IT TO JESUS.

St. Matthew 14:12.

O, thou who has sorrow, of dire crushing weight,
Affliction, distress of mind, body, estate,
Soul distracting troubles, or heart-wearying grief,
For which morn brings no solace and night no relief;
When joy from thy bosom a far-flight has flown,
Go, tell it to Jesus, to Jesus alone.

To a frail fellow-mortal, O wherefore disclose,
The cares that oppress thee, thy worries and woes,
For why, every traveller has each his own share
Of the hardships and burdens of life's road to bear,
So, if way-worn, discouraged, downcast thou'rt grown—
Just tell it to Jesus, to Jesus alone.

If the friend you so trusted, and cherished and loved,
False, faithless, unworthy, thy friendship has proved,
From the world hide the wound, yes, hide it from sight,
There is One who knows all, and the wrong will requite,
His friendship for all earthly pain will atone,
Then tell it to Jesus, to Jesus alone.

When those linked to thy heart, by love's shining bond
Have passed from they side to the country beyond,
Or should life's hopes and pleasures all fade and decline,
And dark be the prospect on earth that is thine,
Both gladness and light for His love's ones are sown,
Then tell it to Jesus, to Jesus alone.

Go carry the cross, howe'er heavy it be,
So low that the world scarce its shadows may see,
But little 'twill profit to raise it on high
To the cold gaze of each and all passers-by;
To seek human comfort the weak soul is prone,
But tell it to Jesus, to Jesus alone.

Thy sins and thy sorrows, hide not from His view,
He knows thy temptations and frailities, too,
In infinite mercy He died in Thy Throne,
Then tell it to Jesus, to Jesus alone.
—Mrs. A. F. Calder, Peterboro.

CIVIC OFFICE PICNIC.

Young Ladies Display Their Prowess at Pleasant Afternoon Affair.

That the young ladies of the civic offices are excellent trencher-women and that they can shine in other ways than those connected with their dairly round of ledger and typewriter, was amply proven at the picnic held yesterday at the T. A. S. Park, for the officials and staffs of the various city offices. About twelve of the members attended and were taken down to the park in Mr. George Perks' launch.

The outstanding episode of the occasion was the water melon-eating contest, in which the young ladies competed vigorously. The idea was to award prizes to those able to get away with a portion of the African's favorite fruit in the quickest time, and the event was described by spectators as being a remarkably juicy competition. Mr. George Perks acted as judge, and the watermelon was donated by Mr. Harry Evans. The prizes, given by Mr. F. W. Miller, went to first, second and third-place winners: the Misses Alice Jackson (box of chocolates), Helen Burgess (box of creams), and Grace Primeau (a "24-hour sweetmeat").

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

COBOURG, Aug. 1. — It is now stated that the party of unfortunate motorists who figured in the terrible accident near Newcastle early yesterday afternoon had started to motor to Cobourg. It is very seldom there has been a year when so many regrettable accidents have happened as has been the case locally in the first seven month of 1924, and the same appears to be true in other parts of the country as well.

Car Alleged Struck By Bullet.

Mr. Wannamaker, of Frankford, reported to the Belleville police that while he was in Cobourg some days ago a bullet struck the metal portion of the steering wheel of his motor car while he was driving on the highway, and glanced off without hitting Mr. Wannamaker or any of the other occupants of the car. The framework is stated to show where the bullet struck. No explanation of the occurrence is given, and there is apparently no local information concerning it.

Car Badly Damaged.

Mr. B. P. Selby's car was badly smashed in a motor accident near Whitby on Tuesday night. Mr. Selby had turned out to pass a truck, and just as he got up even, was confronted by a car coming from the opposite direction. To avoid a head-on collision, he wheeled into the truck, and was struck by the other car as well. No person was injured.

Mr. Joseph Haig Injured.

Mr. Peter Haig, Reeve of Haldimand Township, received a message recently that his brother, Mr. Joseph Haig, who resides at Alexandra, Alta., had been seriously injured in a motor accident. It is stated that the car in which Mr. Haig and three others were riding, turned turtle and that he had his shoulder bone and several ribs broken, and that one of the fractured ribs penetrated the lung. Mr. John T. Haig, leader of the Conservative group in the Manitoba Legisuature, is a son of the injured man.

One Year For Having Drugs.

Two men by the name of Nolan (alias Crawford) and Lewis appeared before Police Magistrate Horsey at Bowmanville yesterday, charged with breaches of the Narcotic Drug Act. The Magistrate found them both guilty, and sentenced them to twelve months' imprisonment, and fined them $500 and costs, or in the event of non-payment of the fine and costs, an additional imprisonment of six months. Mr. T. F. Hall, K.C., conducted the prosecution on behalf of the Dominion Government, and Mr. W. F. Ward, of Bowmanville, defended the accused.

The Birds Did the Work.

Blackbirds are usually regarded as a nuisance, but sometimes they do something to retrieve this. Recently a Cobourg householder was awakened by the pecking of birds apparently on the roof of the house. Investigation showed numerous blackbirds perched on the eave-troughing, pecking away at a merry rate. Across the way at a neighboring house a similar performance was going on, another squad being on the job, while the ground below was literally covered with dead leaves. About a half bushel of these were gathered up from verandah and lawn, which showed that the birds performed a real task in cleaning out the eave-troughs. The neighboring householder had a similar clean-up. It is supposed that the birds were searching for insects for an early breakfast.

Farmers' Heavy Loss.

During the severe storm of rain and hail that passed over Haldimand Township a few days ago, four head of cattle belonging to Mr. Gillespie, who resides near Shelter Valley, are stated to have been struck by lightning and killed. The storm seemed to go in streaks. Another farmer a short distance away had his barn struck, and a large pig was killed.

MATTHEWS COOKED BEST HAMBURGER

California Correspondent Interviews Former Deputy Provincial Treasurer.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Charles Matthews, Jr., former Deputy Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, now under detention by the immigration authorities in San Francisco, and awaiting voluntary deportation to Canada, is the very best cook of Hamburger steak in California.

He says so himself, according to a despatch from San Francisco to Toronto.

A correspondent there has been interviewing the former Ontario official on his lunch counter activities in California since his departure from Ontario, following revelations before the Public Accounts Committee. The despatch says that the officers of the United States Immigration Department have been engaged in an unsuccessful search for Matthews' living quarters. It is suggested that he earned a fair living during the last few months, in an itinerant lunch wagon, from which he sold succulent hamburgers to the laborers of Santa Clara. He had a partner under the name of Edward Bennett, who has disappeared since Matthews' arrest. Matthews himself spurns the suggestion that this partner was the "Jack Martin" who wired the Ontario police the tip as to Matthews' whereabouts. Matthews is said to have told the correspondent that he felt like a "captured dog" but that he had no guilty feeling and was confident that everything would come out all right.

As to the "bond scandals" in connection with the Ontario Provincial Treasury, Matthews declined to be questioned. He had referred the whole matter, he said, to his counsel in Toronto, J. Seymour Corley.

LAKEFIELD TRAIN HITS MILK WAGON

Arthur Rusaw Jumps From Vehicle and Narrowly Escaped Death.

WAGON WRECKED.

Coming south on Barnardo avenue hill about 8.45 this morning Arthur Rusaw barely escaped death when the milk-waggon he was driving was smashed to pieces, when struck by a Lakefield bound train.

The driver jumped from the waggon, when he saw destruction inevitable. The horse too, escaped injury with the exception of a couple of small cuts. At the moment of the collision just a part of the waggon remained in the path of the train. Milk and glass were scattered about the road, leaving the waggon a wreck.

Mr. Rusaw is employed by Mr. D. Stewart the owner of the waggon who lives about two miles from the city on the west side of Chemong Road.

It is understood that about 125 bottles of milk were lost and 150 empty bottles smashed.

DEFENCE MAKES POINT IN TRIAL

Slayers' Lawyers Obtain Ruling After Two Days of Argument.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—Judge John R. Caverly over-ruled the objections by the State to the alienist testimony offered in mitigation as to punishment by the attorneys for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb. The result which came after more than two court days of argument was a decided victory for the defence, as it established the right to give testimony on mental disease short of legal insanity, "not as a defence but in mitigation of punishment." "It is the court's duty to hear this evidence," said Judge Caverly. "It is not his duty to reject it before he had an opportunity to hear it. The objection by the State is over-ruled." The decision was momentous in the legal annals of the State as no exactly similar situation could be found by attorneys for either side in Illinois records. The field opened by to-day's finding was more extensive than in the cases which bordered it.

CAUGHT BY MOWER.

Two Girls in Danger—Mower Blade Struck One, Who May Lose Leg.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 1. — Vera Exley, aged 17, daughter of John Exley, a farmer, near Delaware, was brought to Victoria Hospital yesterday evening, suffering from a badly mangled right leg which was caught in the blade of a mower. Miss Exley and a girl friend, Miss Cassidy, went out into a field on her father's farm to take pictures of a mower at work. She apparently did not know that the blade of the mower worked about six feet out from the side, and when the horses, which had become frightened, dashed toward her, she did not step far enough away to allow the machine to pass. She was caught by the knife and hurled to the ground, the blade mangling her leg, cutting clean through tendons and almost severing the bone.

At the hospital she was operated on by Drs. Woods and Stevenson, and it is hoped to save her foot. Miss Cassidy, who is a student in training at Guelph Hospital, sustained a slight cut on the leg.

ASKS AUTHORITY FOR PLEBISCITE

W. E. Raney Asks What Has Transpired to Convince Premier Ferguson.

..TORONTO, Aug. 1 (Canadian Press).—Demanding that Premier Howard Ferguson tell the public what transpired in the last three months since the conclusion of the Ontario legislature session to convince the government that the province desired to go to the expense of taking a plebisite on the Ontario Temperance Act. and declaring that to the Legislature should have been left the decision as to whether another popular vote should be taken on the liquor question. W. E. Raney former Attorney General of Ontario and a member of the present Legislature, has to-day expressed his opinion on the matter in an open letter to Premier Ferguson.

Says Waste of Money.

Mr. Raney pointed to a statement of the Premier in the Legislature that he "did not know whether the Government would ever act under the enabling legislation, but to provide for the contingency of a vote you included an item of five hundred thousand dollars in the estimates for the year." "The other day you announced that you had made up your mind and that the vote would be taken in October." "Under these circumstances now I would suppose that you would have felt under some obligation to tell the electors what it was that transpired between April and July to convince you that there was a sufficiently manifested desire for a change in the law to justify so great an expenditure in a year when your treasurer estimates that there will be a deficit of six million dollars, not to speak of an expenditure of a million dollars or more by the temperance people (if they can raise it) to defend the law, and of a sum, nobody knows how great, by the liquor trade in an attack."

Ferguson Replies.

Premier Ferguson, in replying to the criticism of W. E. Raney regarding the decision of the Government to take another vote on the Ontario Temperance Act, intimates that the former Attorney-General is more interested in the political controversy than in the real temperance advocacy. "The Goverrnment is representative of the people of this province, and is desirous of securing an expression of an opinion from them," said the Premier. "We have asked them to express their views on October 23. Whether the Government's course is a wise one will be decided by the electorate at the proper time. Mr. Raney is evidently determined to drag party politics into the temperance issue. I am genuinely sorry for a man of his temperament."

Thomas Announces in British House an Effort to Solve the Boundary Dispute.

LONDON, Aug. 1. — (Canadian Press).—Colonial Secretary Thomas announced in the House of Commons to-day that the government proposed immediately to introduce legislation giving effect to the Anglo Irish treaty and to press for the passage of that legislation through Parliament regardless of consequenes to the government. He said he had invited President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State and Premier Craig of Ulster to confer with him on the subject. He expressed hope that Ulster might yet see its way clear to appoint a representative on the boundary commission, but if it did not the legislation would be proceeded with. He hope that there would be no passion or feeling in discussion.

Mr. Lloyd George promised that the government would have his support and that of his colleagues if they took steps to carry out the terms of the agreement between the Free State and Britain.

COUNTY COUNCIL RAISE A RUMPUS

Councillor's Receipts Alleged to Have Been $15,000 —Elora Official Busy.

ELMIRA, Aug. 1.—Notwithstanding midsummer heat and the fact that election time is still five months away a considerable political rumpus has been raised in Wellington County Council as a result of the publication of the remuneration received in 1923 by the various Reeves and Deputy Reeves. The publication of these figures, amounting in all to $15,000, follows a refusal of the County Council at its June session to publish the total amounts received by the members each year. This refusal was made when a resolution recommending publication of such amounts in the annual statement was defeated 13 to 8.

W. O. Mendell of Elora, a member of the Council of that village, secured the figures for 1923. In a published statement he gives the total remuneration received by each of the twenty-three Reeves and Deputy-Reeves of Wellington County, the amounts ranging from $2,487.15 to $159.45, and totalling, it is alleged, $15,000.

He also alleges that quite often the Reeves travel in the county car but do not fail to charge the 15 cents per mile mileage. After showing that certain members of the County Council got $20 a day mileage Mr. Mendell concluded by saying, "You will readily see that $20 is not a bad earning for a day, many a work man has to work a whole week for this and a farmer has to sell a good many hogs at 8 cents a pound to net him $20."

Reeve T. B. Farrell of Peel Township, who was interviewed by a reporter regarding these matters, admitted readily that he had received $836.15 in 1923 and he declared his belief that he had earned every cent of it. He said that the opposition of the majority of the Reeves of Wellington County to the motion to publish the remuneration they had received was that the resolution did not go far enough as they wanted an itemized account only published showing from what sources the totals were received. Many of the Reeves are now voluntarily issuing explanations and itemized accounts through the local papers of the County.

There has been long standing complaint that the County rate is high, making taxes in the municipalities in Wellington County heavier than in Elmira and Waterloo County points.

WEIRD IDEAS OF RELIGION ALLEGED IN WILL DISPUTE

Macclesfield Marine Store Dealer's Life Under Review

BURIAL OF DOG

Fifteen Bibles in House—Sword and Dagger on Two

That he read the burial service over a dog, and said rats were as good as Christians, were among the allegations made about the late Thomas Wild Fawkner, whose will came before Mr. Justice Horridge and a special jury in the Probate Court.

He died in February 1923, leaving £8,500. His executor, John Bennett, the plaintiff, propounded a will of November 1920. His three sons, the defendants, asked for pronouncement in favor of a will dated August 19, alleging that he was of unsound mind when the later will was made.

Mr. Willis, K.C. (for defendant), said Fawkner was a religious man, and conducted a men's Bible class until December 1900, whe he was put in a mental home.

RATS AND CHRISTIANS.

The plaintiff in cross-examination was asked:—

Did he ever mention that animals were just as good as Christians so far as he was concerned?

Did you have anything to do with his burying a goose or dog, or with his reading the funeral service over the dog?

Did you ever hear that he said of rats that they were just as good as Christians?

Did he mention that children were little devils and ought to be drowned at birth?

Did you know that he refused to sell some goods in his shop because they were wanted for children?

To all these questions witness returned a negative.

"SOUL ON FIRE."

For the defendants, Mr. Bucknill read notes made by the superintendent of the Chester County Asylum concerning Fawkner when he was there in 1900. He had a delusion that:—

He had committed an unpardonable sin.

His blood must be shed to save the world.

The end of the world was immediate.

His soul was on fire.

He dashed his head through a pane of glass, thinking that there was a conspiracy among the officials to make him a devil worshipper.

At another mental home he said he heard the wailing of lost souls from the other world, and that evil spirits were trying to turn him into a beast.

He thought he was surrounded by evil spirits, that he knew the devil, who was walking about in human form, and that he had a mission on earth greater than Cromwell. He escaped from the home and was brought back.

Mrs. D. Fawkner, the widow, said although the testator thought he was a religious man, he was not. They had some 15 Bibles in the house. Two were open at the Psalms and Revelations, and on each was a short sword or dagger.

After the burial of a favorite dog, "General," he read part of the burial service. He would not have rats killed as he said they were better than Christians.

Her husband would not allow her to buy from a firm named Nixon, because, he said, he was a son of old Nick. (Laughter.)

The hearing was adjourned.

PROOF OF PUDDING TAKEN LITERALLY

Rice pudding was served in the Mayor's and City of London Court to the Recorder of London, Mr. Alderman Jacobs, counsel for the plaintiffs and the defendant, an expert witness, and to a barrister waiting in another case.

The Recorder literally applied the old saw "that the proof of the pudding is in the eating" in a dispute between two Mincing lane firms as to the fitness of a parcel of Madagascar rice for human food.

One expert said it was suitable, and another said it was not. He ordered a sample of the rice to be made into a pudding by the Guildhall chef during the luncheon interval.

After tasting the pudding, and hearing legal argument, he decided that it was fit for human consumption, and gave judgment for the plaintiffs, who were suing for the value of a consignment.

BOY HIT SHELL; JUMPS TO GLORY

As the result of an explosion of a 14 lb. live shell at a Willesden iron dump three boys received severe injuries.

One of them—Arthur William Bason (12), Harrow road, W.—died later in West London Hospital.

The other two—Sidney Millar (16), errand boy, Litchford gardens, Willesden, and Frank Watts (11), Kenmont gardens, Willesden—are in hospital in a critical condition.

The boys were playing at the dump when one of them struck the shell several times with a sledge hammer, and a terrific explosion followed.

PLIGHT OF POOR "RICH" BANKRUPT

It was stated of the debtor in a judgment summons for £220, heard at Westminster Court, that he lived in Park lane. This was given as proof of means.

Debtor, however, said his wife held the lease and paid the £2,500 a year rent.

He had no income, but his wife allowed him pocket money.

He admitted that he had a bank account. There was $1 to his credit. (Laughter.) His debts were $25,000.

When a company that had been formed got on its legs he would have money, he added.

A committal order to pay $30 a month was made.

The death is reported of Joseph Bates, aged 52, former champion skater of the world.

HISTORIC RELIC OF LONDON TO PASS

Brewery 300 Years Old Gives Place to New Wharf

Another of London's historic relics is to disappear.

It is the Hour Glass Brewery, which, having stood in Upper Thames street, near Cannon street Station, for 300 years, is to make way for a new wharf, which is to be one of the largest on the riverside.

The site has had picturesque associations with the City since the Middle Ages, for the Black Prince had a royal residence here.

The famous brewery itself dates from the time of Elizabeth, and is said to be the oldest in London.

According to Stowe, it was built by one Pot, an apt name. Goldsmith speaks of its beer as "black champagne." Shakespeare, Pepys, and Dr. Johnson, all in turn, no doubt, quaffed its refreshing draughts.

In the Great Hall, formerly used for storing beer, the century-old clock still goes on ticking.

Malt was still lying on the floor of the old mill until a few months ago.

The site has one other curious feature, a nameless church with but one entrance, and that through a public house, a modern building adjoining the ancient building.

CHOKED BY A PEA

COTTON NAPOLEON'S ASSETS ARE AUTO

Statement of Sir William Hopwood's Affairs is Filed

Deficiency £140,823
Assets. . One motor-car value £50..

These are the main facts in the statement of affairs filed in Manchester by Sir William Hopwood, of Shaw, near Oldham, who used to be known as the "Cotton Napoleon."

Sir William attributes his failure to guaranteeing bank overdrafts for cotton mills, and depreciation in the value of shares owing to the depression in trade. He has not yet filed any account in explanation of his deficiency.

AT WORK AT EIGHT.

At the age of eight years Sir William worked in a mill, and he made his way until he was a director of thirty-one cotton spinning mills with a capital running into millions.

His fame became world-wide during the great cotton boom of 1920, and at that time it was stated of him: "Bill buys cotton mills like another man buys bottles of beer."

In the early days of the boom he was to be found in his six-roomed house working at his plans in his shirt sleeves. He was known as the shirt-sleeve millionaire. He gave at least £50,000 to charitable institutions. He was knighted two years ago.

WOODBINE WILLIE'S VIEW

Woman: That is so.

WIFE FORGETS NAME

BRITAIN'S 'EMPIRE PAGEANT' IS GORGEOUS SPECTACLE STAGED BY 15,000 PERSONS

"The Pageant of the Empire," of which the first part was shown at the Wembley Stadium on Saturday last, is claimed by the promotors to be the most elaborate exhibition of the sort that ever delighted spectators. They did not exaggerate it much. Fifteen thousand people take part, twelve performances will be given, and the show has been wrought out with such great care and is presented with such exactness that each performance requires three evenings for completion.

Enough to say it cost $500,000 to stage the show and the pageant master is Frank Lascelles, who occupied the same position at the Coronation Durbar before King George and Queen Mary in Delhi in 1912.

To sumptuous costumes, realistic scenes and historic accuracy is added the presence of some of the most beautiful and brainest English women, while many have been drawn from the overseas dominions.

Margot Asquith, whom America remembers so well and with such good reason, enacts the role of Queen Elizabeth and, lest the part prove too arduous, Lady Irene Curzon, whose mother was a Leiter of Chicago, alternates with her. The lovely Lady Diana Cooper appears as the wife of King Henry VII., Elizabeth of York; Admiral Mark Kerr taking the part of her spouse. The daughter of William Lunn, Director of Overseas Trade in the British Labor Cabinet, a splendid woman, poses as Brittania; in her train are Lady Alexandra Curzon, Lady Irene's equally charming sister; Lady Kathleen Rolle, the Hon. Mr. Arthur Crichton, Mrs. Dudley Coats and Lady Violet Benson.

The Marchioness of Linlithgow, whose husband is Civil Lord of the Admiralty, represents Scotland. She is attended by Lady Dalhousie and Lady Dalkieth, who was Miss Mollie Lascelles and so a kinswoman by marriage of the Royal Family. Lady Dufferin and Lady Masserene arranged the Irish procession—a legendary one—and Lady Kylsant is the presiding genius of Wales and worthy of that romantic country.

In other gorgeous processions Lady Dorab Tatan typifies India, Mrs. Beardmore Canada, Lady Cook Australia and the Ranee of Sarawak her husband's domain. The Ranee, clever and artistic, a daughter of Viscount Esher, married the third Rajah of Sarawak, son of the late Sir Charles A. Brooke, second Rajah.

Many distinguished men take part, too. Descendants of Capt. Cook and Gen. Wolfe represent their famous ancestors, while Lord Lawrence, son of that Lord Lawrence of Indian fame, represents a Maori chief. Lady ner of New York.
mer of New York.

Lady Furze, the wife of Sir William Furze, chief administrative officer of the pageant, is Catherine of Aragon in the very dress Mrs. Siddons wore when that famous actress assumed the royal part. Lady Polson and Lady Griffiths-Boscawen lend grace to the show; so does Viscountess Torrington, who played the Indian Ayah in the "Green Goddess," her first appearance on the professional stage after an apprenticeship in a Dublin amateur dramatic society.

EARL OF LONSDALE COMES UNDER FIRE

Dumb Friends' League Meeting Scene of Uproar

RE-ELECTED

Heat Develops Over Recent Proceedings in Rodeo Case

The Earl of Lonsdale was hissed as he left the annual meeting of Our Dumb Friends' League, held at the Central Hall, Westminster, after remarkable scenes of disorder.

The first scene occurred when the insult offered to Sir Edward Marshall-Hall, K.C., after the Rodeo case heard at Hendon Police Court, was referred to by Sir William Grey-Wilson, who said that as an indication of the extraordinary view taken by some people, defending counsel who appeared in the Rodeo case was met with the taunt of "Traitor, traitor!"

A section of the audience raised cries of "Hear, hear!" and "So he is!" The speaker retorted. "Have we reached the stage where a man who defends a murderer is to be charged with murder?"

This was also greeted with cries of "Hear, hear!" and Sir William continued: "Then I have no arguments to advance to cranks who are able to take that view"—a statement received with cheers and counter-cheers.

RE-ELECTED.

Lady Lumb opposed the re-election of Lord Lonsdale as president on the ground that he saw no cruelty in the Rodeo. Was it right, she asked, that such a man should be president of a humane society?

Lord Lonsdale was re-elected, and said that everyone was entitled to his own view.

When Lord Lonsdale refused to accept an amendment to one of the motions put forward several people rose and shouted at the chairman. Lord Lonsdale retorted that he was in charge of the meeting and quiet was restored.

When Mrs. Bradshaw tried to move that the addresses of members be accessible to other members, Lord Lonsdale said that could never be, and Mrs. Bradshaw remarked, "This is more a secret society than a philanthropic organisation."

Mrs. Herbert, interrupted by Lord Lonsdale when supporting Mrs. Bradshaw, exclaimed: "Don't be rude!" and Lady Lumb referred to "Star Chamber methods."

The motion was lost.

When Lord Lonsdale left for the House of Lords there was some hissing and booing.

Rubber Suit Pulls Down Girl Trying To Swim Channel

Miss Zetta Hills, known as "The Mermaid of Wembley," has failed in her attempt to swim the Channel. She had covered seven miles, having been in the water five hours.

Dressed in a rubber suit, which completely enveloped her body, and weighed 11 lb. Miss Hills set out at 6 a.m. from Folkstone. Her father and mother were in the boat which accompanied her.

When Miss Hills started off the sea was smooth, but afterwards became choppy. The swimmer's rubber suit took in water at the neck, and pulled her down.

The tides were also missed, and when the attempt was given up she was being carried towards the English coast.

Miss Hills was quite fresh when she left the water.

WASHED OVERBOARD AND BACK AGAIN

Captain A. Cooper, of the auxiliary yacht Brynhild, owned by Mr. Sidney Greer, has just returned home to Gosport after a remarkable experience in the Gulf of Lyons.

In a heavy gale the decks were swept by huge waves, and Captain Cooper was washed overboard, and thrown back to the deck on the crest of another wave. He was shaken and winded, but not seriously injured.

TUDOR CUP $19,000

A silver Tudor cup 4¼ inches high sold at Christie's for $19,000.

OIL COMPANY HAS HEAVY DEFICIENCY

Whole of Anglo-Burma Capital of $2,500,000 Lost

HAD NO ASSETS

Device to Get People's Money, Said Official Receiver

Serious statements were made by the Official Receiver concerning the affairs of the Anglo-Burma Oil Company (Limited) at the meeting of creditors and shareholders in London.

Liabilities were put at $80,000, and assets, a bank balance, of 50 cents. The total deficiency was $2,580,000 with regard to shareholders.

The Official Receiver said that the whole of the company's capital of $2,500,000 had been lost, the directors having parted with shares of that value in exchange for $8,500 in cash, and a number of shares which were practically worthless.

A large number of the company's shares had been sold at a premium, but so far as he could see the company never had any assets behind it. In fact, it would appear to have been a device to extract money from the pockets of the public.

DIRECTORS' RESPONSIBILITY.

The directors were largely responsible for the failure of the company, and they had not properly exercised the functions entrusted to them.

Unless it was possible to obtain money by way of proceedings against the parties liable—regarding whom he could offer no opinion at the present time—there was no prospect of anything being recovered.

Answering a shareholder, who asked who received all the money disbursed by the company, the Official Receiver said that he thought the shareholders could tell it that the promoter made as much money out of the company as anyone; it could not be put higher than that.

The Shareholder: Is there any chance of getting anything from him?

Official Receiver: He is at present engaged on the other side of the road—in Bankruptcy Buildings.

The case was left in the Official Receiver's hands.

BEES AT FUNERAL.

Just as a coffin was being lowered into a grave at Thundersley, Essex, a swarm of bees settled on the wreaths placed upon it. The mourners hastily stood back, and a pause was made in the service till the bees had flown into an adjacent tree.

NEW SKELETON OF MONSTER, BARGAIN

A 10,000,000-year-old fossil skeleton of a prehistoric monster, the Iguanodon, and some 2,000 fossil insects, roughly 4,000,000 years old, are the latest acquisitions of the Natural History Museum, South Kinsington.

The Iguanodon is considered a bargain by the authorities. "We got him for £2,500," Dr. Bather told the Westminster Gazette, "and it is the finest specimen in existence; almost every bone is here.

The skeleton was found at Gurnet Bay, Isle of Wight, where the insect fossils were also found."

The leg-bones, fitted together, said Dr. Bather, are nearly as long as a fairly tall man. Some animals of the species attained a length, from snout to tail, of 30 feet, but the museum specimen is smaller than this. It was really much more harmless than it looks, and confined itself to a diet of tree-tops—how many it needed for one meal must be left to conjecture.

"The 2,000 insect fossils, include those of butterflies, moths, and ants, and are very little different from present-day insects."

The resolution to reduce the vote was defeated.

DICK TURPINS OF THE GASOLINE ERA

In place of the vanished highwayman a new type of raider now works on the roads. Birmingham police have lately received a number of complaints from motorists that they have been brought to a stop through the theft of petrol supplies.

A motor-cyclist who was caught helping himself to a can of petrol from a car outside an hotel pleaded that he had run short. He was bound over.

TAXPAYERS IN BRITAIN

The Chancellor of the Exchequer has informed Sir John Marriott that the number of persons with incomes above the exemption limit for the year 1923-24 was provisionally estimated at 4,700,000, of whom it was estimated that 2,500,000 would actually pay income tax.

BIBLE ETHICS IN BUSINESS NEEDED

Lord Leverhulme Discourses on Science, Religion and Commerce

BISHOP CRITICISED

Clergy Should Recognize and Teach Scientific Basis of Religion

Lord Leverhulme, in his Messel Memorial Lecture before the Society of Chemical Industry at Liverpool, discoursed on science, religion, and business.

For too long, he said, the Bible had been forced on mankind as something that had to be accepted in its entirety and had produced a paralysing effect on its true value.

Men of science once freed from the thraldom of the church, wrong interpretation, and maladministration of the Bible, had made more progress in raising the level of comfort and happiness of mankind in the last two centuries than was achieved by the Church in the preceding centuries of her almost complete control.

In the past they had seen nations brought to the verge of collapse through an excess of religious zeal, just as today Russia was on the verge of collapse through ignoring the teachings of religion.

If it could be said that religion had not kept pace with the achievements of science, still less had industrialism in modern manufacturing activities kept pace with religion.

Improved methods of production had not resulted in improved conditions for the workers, and until manufacturers could overcome the limitations of their outlook on the human element in production, it would be a drag on science in its efforts to confer better living conditions on mankind.

Future production rested on giving more attention to the man behind the machine than to the machine.

Manufacturers could only get the close touch necessary with their man power through religion. No manufacturer today ignored the hard facts of natural or economic laws, but to ignore the ethical laws of the Sermon on the Mount, to give poor working conditions in factories, and keep wages down to their lowest limit, was considered good business, and was regarded as the sign of a clear, hard-headed business man.

Labor and trade unionism also seemed to think that short hours, short output and high wages were good business. Both were ignoring the hard, ethical laws of the Sermon on the Mount, and would as inevitably come to grief as if they had ignored the law of gravity.

Service to others was the only true road to happiness, and all the suggested Socialistic short cuts to welfare and happiness had been tried over and over again, and had always ended in the increasing human misery and wretchedness.

Christians had neglected the fundamental truths of their religion, and it was unfortunately a fact that bishops and clergy of all denominations had almost universally acted, and some even spoken, as though the teachings of Christ were not applicable to modern communal life.

This ignoring of a sound ethical teaching seemed to be due to a certain maudlin emotionalism directly introduced into religion by the Church. It had brought religion into disrepute with scientists and business men. Such emotionalism had no foundation in Christ's teaching, for He always acted and spoke as a scientist would.

It was for the clergy to recognize the scientific basis of religion, and teach those facts.

While it was true that we rely on science for our present comfort and well-being, we had made no ethical advance, and still relied on brute force and costly armaments, made more brutish and costly by science, until their ruinous modern costliness was the only check on their use to the extinction of mankind. There must be side by side with scientific investigation and advance ethical discovery and development, and until those two worked together there would be no secure peace, happiness and development.

COCK-FIGHTERS ELUDE POLICE

Irish police surprised a crowd of 3,000 people engaged in cockfighting at Killeter, near Longford, but were unable to arrest any of them.

Spies gave warning of the police approach, and the cockfighters made off across a drawbridge spanning a river, which they raised, thus cutting off pursuit.

Two cockfights are said to have taken place, over which hundreds of pounds changed hands.

The spectators came from all parts of Monaghan, Cavan, Leitrim, Roscommon, Sligo, and West Meath.

DEATH PENALTY ON IRISH EX-OFFICER

Companion Gets 11-Year Term With Ten Lashes for Bank Raid

The terrible affair with which the name of Batlinglass has been associated since January last, when a raid was made on a bank and a member of the civic guard was killed has been finally disposed of at Dublin assizes. Felix McMullen was found guilty of murder, and sentenced to be hanged.

Peter Jordan pleaded guilty to armed assault with intent to steal. His counsel made a powerful appeal to the Judge on his behalf.

Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy said a powerful and serious responsibility rested on his (the Judge's) shoulders.

Prisoner was sentenced to 11 years' penal servitude, to be preceded by 10 strokes of the lash.

Both were ex-officers of the National Army.

In his charge the Judge asked the jury, as this was the beginning of an effort to produce a reign of law and justice, to do their duty according to their oaths. The law from the earliest days had cast around the peace officer the ægis of its protection. Here, after an effort to complete felony, the accused were pursued, and if one of them had caused the death of that officer both were guilty of murder. That was exactly what occurred here, and the facts were unquestioned and unquestionable.

WOMEN DOCTORS.

Two thousand British women doctors are expected to attend the first congress in London next year of the international organization of women doctors now being formed at Geneva.

Heavier Rifles for Next War Planned By Ordnance Dept.

Those who propose to take part in the next war will be interested to know that they may have heavier rifles to carry around, although most ex-Service men will agree that the rifle used in the late war was quite heavy enough for comfort.

The announcement is made by General the Earl of Cavan, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, who, presenting prizes at Bisley, read the following letter from the Master-General of Ordnance:—

Although the short rifle proved its worth during the late war, we are still engaged in trying to improve that rifle, and fresh patterns with a heavier barrel and aperture sight are being developed.

We are also trying other types of action to see whether they are superior to the Lee-Enfield action. The problem of a satisfactory military self-loading rifle has not yet been solved, but investigations are still going on.

OCTOGENARIAN HERO

John Thomas Smith, age eighty-three, a Reading biscuit factory pensioner, plunged fully dressed into the Thames at Caversham and rescued from drowning a girl who was sinking for the third time. The rescuer was greatly exhausted in his effort and nearly collapsed in the water.

MANY EVICTIONS AT WALHAM GREEN

Tenants of Condemned Cottages Cling to Miserable Dwellings

Distressing scenes were witnessed at Walham Green, London, when the occupants of seven cottages were evicted by [illegible]order[illegible] of the Fulham Council.

The cottages were condemned a long time ago, and the owner has refused to accept any rent for the past 18 months, but the tenants, failing to find other accommodation, clung to their miserable dwellings until forcibly removed.

By their action the council have rendered from 40 to 50 persons homeless.

Following a demonstration, when a large crowd stormed the Town Hall, it was announced that the council would allow the use of part of the hall to the evicted people, in addition to a house in Townsend road. The furniture of the tenants was later removed to the Town Hall.

ROMAN VILLA $7,500

Representaives of the National Trust met the members of the Bristol and Gloucestershire Archaeological Society at Chedworth Roman villa, on the Cotswold Hills, near Cheltenham, to receive the formal transfer of the villa, museum, and custodians' house to the Trust. The villa remains are the most interesting and complete in the country.

The public subscribed $7,500 for the purchase.

SOME BOOK PRICES

At the sale of the Macgeorge library at Sotheby's a first edition copy of "Gulliver's Travels" was sold to Mr. Gabriel Wells, of New York, for £725. A first edition copy of Shelley's "Queen Mab" realized £100, and "Adonais, An Elegy on the Death of John Keats," £350.

PROHIBITION BILL KILLED BY BISHOP IN LORDS DEBATE

Dr. Hensley Henson, of Durham, Declares Measure Proposed to Treat Liquor Interests Unfairly

The Bishop of Durham, better known, perhaps, as Dr. Hensley Henson, is responsible for the nearest approach to a sensation that the august dignity of the House of Lords permits itself.

He launched a scathing attack, first on his brother bishops and then on Prohibition, and wound up with a vividly worded warning to the Church about the danger of creating what he called "sham sins."

"When the conscience is diverted to sham sins," he said, "it begins to lose its moral perspective. There is the greatest possible danger in legislation which offends the conscience of the citizen."

Incidentally he advanced the original argument that the increasing popularity of motoring was making England sober, but that was only one of the many good things with which an arresting speech was packed.

NEW "DRY" PUSH.

The occasion was still another debate on the euphemistically christened Liquor (Popular Control) Bill introduced by the Bishop of Oxford. It is really a prohibition Bill, and the importance which the peers attached to what is undoubtedly the opening of a new "dry" campaign was shown by the fact that the third day of the debate drew a greater attendance than one is accustomed to see.

The second reading was defeated by 166 to 50.

The debate went quietly along the calm, reposeful course that is customary in the House of Lords. It seemed to be drawing to an uneventful close.

A bishop rose from the first of the three benches—an alert, black-haired, human looking figure.

In a couple of minutes the word had gone round that the Bishop of Durham was killing the bishops' bill. M.P.s trotted along the corridors to listen. The space round the steps of the Throne was crowded. Nobody—unless, perchance, some of the other bishops—regretted being there.

Dr. Henson started straight in.

"It is of real importance," he said, "that it should not be supposed that the unanimity of the Episcopal Bench is complete or that it represents in this matter the settled judgment of the Church of England."

There was a titter, which grew as he went on to declare that Episcopal unanimity was rarely represented by wise legislative proposals and rarely representative of the general judgment of the Church of England.

Then came a dig at the bishops' "whip." "I dislike," he said, "the fashion of Episcopal round-robins to the nation. They are far less impressive than they are misleading, because people put their names to this kind of thing for a variety of motives. If I cross-examined them as to the precise significance of their signatures I have no doubt that the variety of the response would be even more impressive than the unanimity."

He announced that not only as a member of the House of Lords, but as the Bishop of Durham, he was going to vote against the Bill.

"It enshrines," he said, "the principle of Prohibition—for local veto is that—and this principle is an unsound one, for it carries positive law into a region where positive law ought not to enter.

"HYPOCRITICAL."

"To determine one's own choice of food and drink is one of the essential franchises of self-respecting manhood, and must call for the exercise of responsibility and due consideration for the interests of others. That franchise cannot rightly or wisely be taken away.

A further reason for his opposition to the Bill was that it proposed to treat the liquor interest unfairly.

He ended with what was perhaps the most sensational of his many outspoken statements. "The only real thing that can defeat the victory of temperance in this country," he said, "is the bigotry and unwisdom of ne-total fanatics forcing coercive legislation on the people."

Late Lord Pirrie's Surrey Mansion is To Be Sold Soon

The late Lord Pirrie's magnificient Surrey mansion, Whitley Park, is to be sold by auction in the autumn. The house was built at a cost of $3,500,000 by the financier Whitaker Wright, who committed suicide after being sentenced to imprisonment for fraud. Lord Pirrie secured the estate for $1,000,000.

There is a golf course in the grounds, and under the waters of the lake is a wonderful hall with glass walls. There is a theatre in the ballroom.

TREASURES GUARDED WELL AT WEMBLEY

Staff of 200 Picked Detectives Employed in All Buildings

The guarding of Wembley's treasures, valued at many millions of pounds, is a task controlled by one man, Major Crookes, and his staff of nearly 200 specially picked assistants.

The guard, which patrols day and night throughout the ground and the various palaces and sections, is composed of ex-Metropolitan Police detectives, Commissionaires, members of the Veterans Corps and others.

All the Dominion and over-seas sections are guarded by their own staffs.

Patrolling firemen, with tell-tale clocks to record their movements, also assist in the guarding of the treasures.

In the Ceylon section, where there is more than £1,000,000 worth of jewels, a team of natives performs the daily and nightly task of protecting the table on which there is £500,000 worth of gems, the rough sapphire worth £25,000, and other valuables.

South Africa, with its exhibit of £250,000 worth of jewels and sack of rough diamond rock, at present unvalued, also takes care of itself. India and Canada, boasting each more than £100,000 worth of gems, the latter with a 3-tons rock of silver ore valued at £5,000, are also self-guarded.

When the palaces and halls shut for the night they are all securely locked up, and behind their iron gates are the men who patrol every corner and register their patrols on special time-sheets and clocks. To "break in" to the British Empire Exhibition would be a task few professional burglars would care to attempt.

WOMAN'S GIFT TO FOUND LADIES' HOME

Miss Anne Langstaff, a wealthy Southampton woman, who died at the age of 87, has bequeathed her entire fortune of $150,000 to found a home for distressed gentlewomen of her native town.

She specially stipulates that the building is to be called Langstaff House, as she had strong objection to the use of the titles "Home" or "Hostel."

Directions of her will stipulate that inmates who have attained the age of 55 shall be entitled to board and lodging, heat and light, but shall pay for their own personal laundry expenses, and for any special foods and medicines, shall not be absent from meals without permission, and shall do no cooking in their rooms.

HOUSING SITUATION

A woman complained to the Willesden magistrates that, although she let a small flat to a man and his wife for 10s. on condition that they did not sublet, she found that they had sub-let to 16 other people.

SECRET OF EARLY MARRIAGES TOLD

"I am told that good boy workers get married soonest, because mothers set their daughters after them," said Judge McCarthy at Pontefract.

He was judging a father's claim in respect of a 16-year-old youth who was killed at Frickley Colliery.

The employers estimated that the boys' worth to his parents was £50—three years' earnings.

"Why limit it to three years?" asked the judge, who awarded £150.

BAN ON ACTORS IN CORELLI WILL

Creates Trust to Preserve Her Home for Visitors

LEAVES $120,000

Declares Herself Adopted Daughter of Late Charles Mackay

Miss Marie Corelli, the novelist, of Mason Croft, Stratford-on-Avon, left $120,000.

All her property is left for life to her "dear life-long friend, Miss Bertha Vyver."

The executors are Miss Vyver and Miss Corelli's literary agent, Mr. Alex. Strachan Watt, of Hastings House, Norfolk street, Strand.

One of the most interesting paragraphs in the will relates to Miss Corelli's adoption.

"I hereby declare" (she states) "that as the adopted daughter of the late Charles Mackay (who adopted me in infancy as his daughter, and was the only father I ever knew) I have no living person who has any claim upon me or my estate, the terms of my adoption having been of complete surrender."

Miss Corelli empowered Mr. Watt to deal with all copyrights of her work and her correspondence, "which he and his successors shall most faithfully guard and hinder for sale and publication."

On the death of Miss Vyver Miss Corelli bequeathed:

To the City of Perth the silver cruet stand engraved with the crest and initials of her adopted father Dr. Charles Mackay; also the walking stick used every day by Sir Walter Scott, and presented to her adopted father by William Laidlaw (Sir Walter's secretary).

FOR DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Miss Corelli directed that "nothing whatsoever be sold or disposed out of Mason Croft, and that all books, pictures, furniture, curios and household goods shall be kept intact and carefully preserved as they now are."

She asked her trustees to secure the sanction of the Board of Trade to the formation of a company, to be incorporated upon the lines of those of "The Leighton House Association," to preserve the land on her estate as "a healthy space and air zone," for the benefit of the people of Stratford: "now endangered by the overcrowding of buildings entirely disadvantageous to the well-being of the population."

"The trust," the will continues, "is to be a permanent one for the benefit and service of distinguished persons visiting Stratford from far countries, and also as a meeting place as and when required by the President of the Royal Institution of Great Britain for the annual or provincial gatherings of scientists connected with that institution . . . absolutely excluding actors, actresses, and all persons connected with the stage.

She also left many generous bequests to servants.

LIPTON'S STORY OF BOY AND CLOTHES

A good story of a little boy who, with a black cat, formed the staff of his first shop was told by Sir Thomas Lipton at Glasgow.

"The boy," he said, "was shabbily dressed, and one day I gave him a sovereign to buy a new suit of clothes. The boy never came back. Meeting the boy's mother in the street a week later, I asked her the reason why the boy had not returned.

"'Well,' she replied, 'he looks so respectable now that he has been able to get a very much better job.'"

Sir Thomas told the story at a meeting of his shareholders of Lipton, Ltd., who congratulated him on the recent honor conferred on him of the freedom of Glasgow.

TENNIS TALKS

Don't Try to Murder First Service Ball.

By MERCER BEASLEY.

Why is it that most every player hits his first service ball out of court? Why aren't there more service aces? Here is a question that has been up for a hearing many times, but always without satisfactory explanation. First of all every player wants to score an ace when he serves. It's his one big chance to win a point without having the ball returned.

Hence, he will smash away at the first service ball with extraordinary power, and it promptly exceeds the speed limit and goes out of court.

I have noticed that the first service ball of most players is their fastest ball, it's their speed ball, their message of fear that they hurl at their opponent.

But I have also tabulated the balls from service that go out, and I find that there are more faults called on the first service balls than on any other ball.

This is all wrong. Tilden rightly warns against a fast first service, with its slower trailer, the second service. The player who pounds away at his services is only making trouble for himself. For when there is a fast first service going out of court, fear and other feelings of restraint enter into the second service which reduces its effectiveness and usually brings a double fault.

The greatest services are those that are placed. They carry the perplexing bounces that make it hard to hit back with power. We see the services of even the greatest players returned at times by the lesser lights.

My figures of many important matches show that there are more double faults served than service aces.

It is a fact that the average player has no great trouble returning the services of the stars. Why? Because the star players have found out that two service balls of even speed are better by far than one fast and one slow.

ANOTHER FUR AUCTION.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—The Dominion Fur Auction Sales Company, capitalized at $250,000, has been formed by Winnipeg men for the purpose of holding auction sales of furs in Montreal. The first sale is planned for next February.

FIRPO PITCHES CAMP

Other Fighters Leave Sulphur Springs When Argentine Arrives.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, N.Y., Aug. 1.—(Canadian Press).—Nestling among the foothills of Saratoga, far from the white lights of Broadway and the prying eyes of the curious, the training camp of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, was pitched yesterday.

Directly in front of the White Sulphur Springs Hotel where Firpo is staying, a regulation ring has been set up, surrounding seats giving the place an amphitheatre effect.

A bit of professional jealously marred Firpos' arrival. The South American found Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, Bartley Madden, New York heavyweight and Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, in training at the camp upon his arrival. The trio left when Firpo arrived, claiming they did not want to share their spotlight with the South American. They found other quarters near the Firpo camp.

BANTAM HALF WON BY YOUNG KIWANIS

Finished First Part of Schedule Without a Loss.

The Browntown team gave the Maple Leafs their third straight loss in the Bantam League when they defeated them 4 to 1 at the Exhibition Park last evening. It was a close hard fought struggle as the score indicates and the fans were dished up a real game of ball.

Last night's game brought the first half of the Bantam League to a close and the Kiwanis came out on top with three wins and no losses. The Young Cops were second with two wins and one loss. Great interest was shown in the league and good crowds took in the games. The second half should be even better than for the first, for all the teams are playing at their best right now. Every team in the league dishes up a good brand of ball, and the scores have all been on the small side. Maple Leafs and Browntown, the two teams which finished in the cellar will most likely give a better account of themselves in the second half. They lost several of their games by the narrowest possible margin, and with any kind of luck in this half should turn in some wins.

The following is the standing of the league:

	Won	Lost
Kiwanis	3	0
Young Cops	2	1
Browntown	1	2
Maple Leafs	0	3

Games next week:

Tuesday — Kiwanis vs. Young Cops.

Thursday— Browntown vs Maple Leafs.

The games next week will supply the fans with some great ball. On Tuesday the Kiwanis and Young Cops meet. The Kiwanis won the first half and the Young Cops finished second. The only game lost by the Young Cops was when seven of their regular players were away. Both teams are raring to go and it should be a real battle.

On Thursday Browntown and the Maple Leafs will clash. Both these teams finished at the bottom of the heap and each are anxious to get away to a good start in the second half. A good game should be the outcome.

The fans should turn out and see these games, as the boys play just as good a brand of ball as the senior clubs, but they are playing within their class. It is just a miniature edition of a senior game.

Dawson of the Thistle will be out of the game for a while owing to the leg injury he sustained recently. This is Bob's first accident in all the years he has been playing.

TUNNEY NO MATCH FOR DEMPSEY

Light-Heavyweight King Showed Little Class Against Carpentier.

By Joe Williams

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Say what you will about Georges Carpentier. Call him actor, faker, has-been: But hand him this much credit; as a trial horse he is a complete success.

You ring fans should be interested in trial horses. A trial horse is a fading fighter who tests the skill and fixes the status of a championship contender.

Carpentier came over from France and battled Tommy Gibbons at Michigan City, Ind., two months ago. Gibbons had gone 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey, king of the heavies, and was manoeuvring for a return fight. One way to convince the public that he deserved it would be to knock out Carpentier. You know what happened. The Frenchman stuck the limit, limping through the last two rounds on a sprained ankle. Result: Exit Gibbons as a possible Dempsey conqueror.

Long Bout Helped Tunney

Next came Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion. Mr. Tunney talked earnestly and profoundly of a match with Dempsey. The Carpentier battle was arranged with that idea in view.

Shrewdly Tunney's manager, Billy Gibson, insisted on a 15-round bout The Frenchman had proved that he was still good enough, physically, to go 10 rounds against Gibbons, but maybe he would find the longer route tougher.

It is hardly necessary to recall the main details. Tunney won by a knock out in the fourteenth round. It was a legitimate knockout. This writer sat within 15 feet of the scene and saw nothing that might be interpreted as a foul action on the part of the American, either by knee or fist.

Carp's Energy Gone

Carpentier had simply spent his energy—limited enough to begin with —and was a wide-open mark for any sort of attack. Had the conditions been reversed, in them matter of youth and stamina, I have no doubt but that the Frenchman would have won by a knockout before the sixth round.

Tunney has little genuine class and talk of matching him now with Dempsey is ridiculous. He is a fair body puncher with a neat left hook but is ordinary at long range. He is not a natural hitter and his punches lack the snap and kick that come with perfectly delivered, well timed blows. That dash and spontaneity will find in the instinctive fighter is lacking, too.

Here's One for the Book

Once during the tempestuous tenth round when the Frenchman went down for a count for the first time, Tunney showed his utter amateurism by feinting Carpentier while the latter stood absolutely helpless with both arms dangling at his side. Imagine that, Imogene!

The idea of the feint in boxing is to make your opponent lead or open up. But there was Carpentier with both hands motionless at his side, and Tunney feinting him! All Tunney had to do was to walk over and paste him and the show would have been over.

You can check Tunney definitely off the Dempsey calling list along with Gibbons, and thank Carpentier, the trial horse, for another illuminating demonstration. It saves you from a lot of ballyhooing and bun combe that would have come later.

EXPRESS CO. V. FONTAINES

Opening Fixture of Outlaw League to be Staged This Evening.

If the baseball fans around these parts want to see a good ball game they should attend the clash between the Dominion Express team and Fontaine's Service at the Oval at 6.30 tonight. This will be the opening game of the Outlaw League. Last night Fontaines were scheduled to play Cooneys, but owing to unforseen cirsumstances Cooneys were unable to field a team. Fontaines had a full team on hand and could have had the game by default, but refused take it. However, tonight will open the league, and both teams are ready. Some good players will be found in this league. Fontanes claim they have a slugger who would make Babe Ruth look like a German mark beside a Canadian "jit." They say this boy hammers 'em a mile. Both teams are confident of a win and after about a month's practice are in good shape. The league is a little late in getting started but the boys say that they did not wish to open the league until they were in good shape.

The game will start at 6.30 and will be played at Nicholls Oval. Two good umpires have been secured for the league and will perform tonight.

MT. PLEASANT GAMES.

The Baseball Team From Mount Pleasant Were Twice Victorious.

On July 28, Mt. Pleasant and Scott's Corners clashed in a game of ball, which was won by the former, the score being 9-2. It was a game that was featured by fast fielding and good hitting.

Bryans was on the mound for Mt. Pleasant and turned in a great game. He pitched air-tight ball and was backed by good fielding, and the best the opposition could get off his delivery was two runs.

Boyd Craw dished them up for Scott's Corners and twirled a nice game. He held the heavy-hitting Mt. Pleasant crew to nine runs and with a little better support, the score against him might have been smaller.

The teams lined up as follows:

Mt. Pleaasnt—H. Jamieson, 2b; H. Lowes, 3b; Eric McLean, 1b; W. Bryans, c; G. Shields, cf; Ray Boyd, rf; D. Hayes, lf; A. Bland, ss; Bryans, p.

Scotts Corners—A. Craw, 1b; H. Foster, 2b; C. Seymour, 3b; W. Seymour, ss; J. Webber, rf; W. Swain, lf; O. McNabb, cf; B. Craw, p.

On July 29 the Mt. Pleasant team motored to Omemee and clashed with the Omemee aggrgeation in an abbreviated contest. The score stood 4-4 when the game was called at the end of the sixth inning, on account of darkness. It was a great contest and the fans were treated to a great exhibition of ball.

Bryans, pitching his second consecutive game, having twirled against Scott's Corners yesterday, again turned in a fine exhibition, as did A. Stevenson, who was on the rubber for Omemee.

Mount Pleasant lined up as follows: H. Jamieson, 2b; E. McLean, 1b; H. Lowes, 3b; W. Bryans, c; R. Boyd, sf; N. Fee, lf; H. Gardiner, cf; D. Hayes, ss; A. Bland, ss.

Umpire—Austin Hayes.

Forty-three games has been played in the league, which carries a total of 86 points, which is divided and equalized as follows: 17 wins, 34 points; 15 lost games, 30 points, and 11 drawn games, 22 points—when totalled gives 86 points. There has been 79 goals scored in the league this season already. Richmond heads the scoring list.

FORM, THAT'S THE FINNS' ANSWER

Don't let anybody tell you that form means nothing. It means everything, whether the sport be billiards, swimming, golf or running. Whenever you meet an example of the contrary, put it down as the inevitable exception that proves the rule.

The recent Olympic games proved conclusively that the Finns are the greatest runners in the world. This picture shows the finish of the 5000-meter run. Paavo Nurmi is stepping across the line the winner, with Ritola right back of him in second place. Both are Finns. Nurmi won the eevnt in the record time of 14:31 1-5. Ritola was only a whisper away.

Note the similarity in the form of the two Finns, the positions of the arms, the feet, even the angle at which the heads are carried. The facial expression are alsot identical, too.

The camera caught both runners at a moment when both feet were off the track at the same time, indicating uniformity in stride. As the dotted line shows, Nurmi and Ritola are almost equally gaited as to the length of their stride.

ALNWICK COUNCIL TURN DOWN GRANT

Agricultural Society Cannot Hope For Grant This Year —Almost Unanimous.

ROSENEATH, July 31. — On Saturday, at the July session of the Alnwick Township Council, George A. Dawe and Charles Brown, president and vice-president of the Agricultural society waited upon the council in regard to a grant for the fall fair. Mr. Dawe said that the fair did not pay for itself and that without outside help it could not exist. Mr. Brown pointed out that this was the only fair of its kind in West Northumberland, and that it took time and money to run it. He said he counted this a good thing for the community and the idea was to set aside a reserve fund with which to build a new hall in the course of a few years.

Reeve Honey said that he voted against it last year and had not changed his mind since. He thought that the time to ask for money with which to build was when it was under construction.

Councillor Arnold thought that the council gave to much last year, not realizing it was considered an annual grant, and he thought that last year's grant should cover two years

Councillor Blodgett could not see his way clear to vote for a grant this year.

Councillor Shearer favored a grant of $50.

Councillor Parker thought that in giving a grant they were imposing extra taxes on people who could not afford to pay more.

Vice-president Brown said that they had come for aid to the representatives of the people, for which the society was working, but he saw it was a hopeless case.

On resolution of Councillors Arnold and Blodgett, the council decided to give no grant. When the yeas and nays were taken the whole council with the exception of Councillor Shearer voted for the resolution.

Mr. M. Davey was present asking for tile to put in the ditch in front of his property, which he was given on resolution of Councillor Shearer and Arnold.

Mr. Joseph Kelly, an American resident at Shearer's Point was present and signed the agreement between himself and the Township of Alnwick re the erection of a gate across the road in front of his property for water conveniences during the summer months.

Mr. John Duff and Mr. John Robins were given letters of occupation for certain unused road allowances between lots 20 and 21 in the 4th concession and lots 16 and 17 in the 5th concession.

Mr. Richard McCracken voiced a complaint against a certain stable, which was in the way at McCracken's Landing, and the council promised to look up the old road agreement.

The following pathmasters returned their lists: C. Linton, Ed. George and Percy Parker.

Reeve Honey, who was a delegate to the Good Roads meeting in Cobourg recently, gave a report of the proceedings. He thought that a bylaw should be prepared for the next township election for the ratepayers to decide whether or not they would abolish statute labor.

The reeve gave notice that at the next meeting the township rates would be struck.

On resolution of Councillor Parker and Arnold, Reeve Honey, also Councillors Blodgett and Shearer were appointed a committee to inspect bridge at Stoney Creek with power to act.

Reeve Honey was appointed a committee to look after the repairs for the township buildings.

On resolution of Councillors Parker and Shearer, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:

KINGSTON HERE TOMORROW WITH LEE AS COACH

Veteran Baseball Expert Now in Charge of First Half Winners.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

Manager Solomon to Shoot Heckman Back at the Visitors.

Although Petes defeated the Kingston crew on Wednesday, tomorrow's game at Riverside Park with the Ponies should not be viewed as a soft snap for the Solomon aggregation.

The Ponies are now in charge of Knotty Lee, one of the shrewdest baseball men in Canada, who has been engaged to tune up the Kingston gang for the play off.

"Knotty" knows his job—and with the material he has in Kingston he may be expected to get results.

He saw his squad in action Wednesday and can be counted upon to show something new in tomorrow's game.

The Petes, however, need the fixture in the worst way to keep up in the race with Belleville. The Trunks are going at a hectic clip and the home talent cannot afford to falter.

Lee is expected to send Ted Gallagher in against the Petes tomorrow while Manager Solomon will shoot Heckman back at the Ponies.

It should be a real game and in view of the Petes great record on the road the biggest crowd of the season should welcome them back to the home lot.

The fixture is billed to start at 3 o'clock sharp.

This is the only home game for the Solomon crew until Civic Holiday, the Petes playing in Belleville and Oshawa next week.

ROSENEATH WON FROM BRIGHTON

Got Past Shannon For Nine Hits in One Inning—Score 13 To 5.

SPLENDID GAME.

ROSENEATH, Aug. 1. — Roseneath defeated Brighton on the home grounds on Wednesday 13-5. Shannon pitched the entire game for Brighton and after the first inning when Roseneath got to him for nine runs he pitched good ball holding the locals to four runs for the rest of the game. He only allowed three hits in this bad inning, but his support was poor considering the class of ball that Brighton has always played. Shannon struck out five walked one and allowed eleven hits.

Dunnett the southpaw who pitched for Roseneath pitched a grand game striking out three walking three and holding his opponents to six hits .Davey at short and Thackeray at first played their usual good game also Leach at third. Turner made two good catches one a wonderful catch which he made after a hard run back. R. Thackeray as catcher played errorless ball. The feature play of the game was a smart double play Bates to Thackeray. Solomon at third and Haliday at second were the pick of the visitors.

In the eighth inning Dr. McKee made a home run on a ball lost in the grass at the left field foul stake. In the fourth inning after Brighton had filled the bases with two gone, Brown got a two bagger to left field which Armstrong dropped clearing the bases and reaching third on the throw in and scoring a minute later when Bates let Scrivers' hit go through.

Roseneath got nine runs in the first innings on a walk, three singles and a lot of juicy errors. They got three more in the fourth on four singles and a two bagger and another in the seventh on two singles.

Score by inning:

Brighton	0	0	0	4	0	0	0	1	0	—5

LEE WILL MAKE PONIES HUSTLE

Veteran Coach Says Kingston Has Material, But Will Have to Speed Up.

ARE HERE TO-MORROW

KINGSTON, Aug. 1.— Looking prosperous, hale and hearty, and immediately recognized by many old friends, despite his long absence from the city, "Knotty" Lee, regarded as the best versed baseball man in Ontario, sat on the local players' bench at the Fair Grounds Wednesday night, and expressed himself as pleased with the material on the team, but felt that the players were capable of putting up a better brand of ball.

"They're a good team, but you can't win if you don't hit," said "Knotty." "The team wasn't hustling enough Wednesday night, and with a few hits, they couldn't get anywhere. Kelly is a fine pitcher, and the game he twirled was good enough to win nine times out of ten. The players need brisker practice, and should show up a great deal better. They have the ability, and can hit, but they simply have to get more ginger in their play if they expect to win many games."

"Knotty" pointed out a dozen places in the game of Wednesday evening where good baseball would have made a very great difference and also said that he had found a lot of little faults in the individual players which need immediate correction. He intends getting to work on the boys at once and hopes for success with them.

Under his rule the players will have to pay more attention to their physical condition and that at once. They will also have to learn to use their heads as well as their feet.

If the players will give the new coach the attention he merits there should be a big improvement shortly and things should look much better for the Kingston Club.

MIDLAND LEAGUE GAME.

C. G. E. and C. N. R. in First Game of the Play-Off.

All roads will lead to the Exhibition Park to-morrow afternoon when the Canadian Generals and the Cobourg C.N.R. hook up in the first game of the Midland League play-off. Every game between these two teams has been a hair-raising struggle, decided by the odd run.

Manager Primeau has his team on their toes and is confident of victory. The railroad crew are anxious to get sweet revenge for the trimming handed them on their own grounds last Saturday. The game will be a hard-fought encounter from start to finish.

The second game of the home-and-home series will be played at Cobourg on Saturday, August 9th, instead of Wednesday, August 6th, as previously announced.

LEAFS HANDICAPPED.

Several Players Away on Holidays and Bantams Had Two Games This Week.

Maple Leafs notified the President of the City League three days ago that they would be unable to place a team on the field against the Curlers last evening. Several of the Leafs are away on holidays, and the Bantam Leafs had to play two games this week. Under these circumstances, the management of the Leafs asked for, but was refused, a postponement of the Juvenile game.

EAST PETERBORO LEAGUE.

NORTHUMBERLAND LEAGUE AVERAGES

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31.—The following is a list of the batting averages of the regular players on the Northumberland League team for the first half of the schedule, no account being made of the standing of several who started the season but dropped out after one or more games:—

	A.B.	R.	H.	Per cent.
Weston	30	10	20	.666
Holmes	51	16	23	.438
Hume	42	16	17	.405
Scott	29	9	11	.379
Eagleson	43	10	16	.370
Armour	28	11	10	.357
Blakely	43	10	15	.349
Shillinglaw	33	2	10	.333
Iby	12	3	7	.333
Poyser	22	5	7	.314
Nesbitt	25	3	3	.120

Weston was injured early in the season and took part in only six full games. Nesbitt may stand at the foot of the list but he is one of the heavies hitters in the team, and his long flies to the outfield have brought in more runs than the sofa singles of many of the other players. The score-book shows more 7's, 8's and 9's after Nesbitt's name than record the performance of any other member of the team. A jinx has followed him all through the season, but his fielding average, whether he worked behind the bat, in the outfield or infield, shows clear.

Extra Base Hits.

Home runs—Holmes.

Three-base hits—Holmes (3), Poyser, Blakely.

Two-base hits—Holmes (7), Weston (5), Scott (3), Shillinglaw (3), Hume (3), Poyser, Eagleson, Armour.

FEARS FOR BASEBALL.

Umpires Must Improve or Game Will Be Lost To The Country.

ORLAND, August 1. — The game between Colborne and Orland was played here on Wednesday. The umpiring was not considered satisfactory and caused great annoyance.

It looks as if the time had arrived when neutral umpires should manage the games else the national game will sink into a slough from which it will be impossible to rise.

A. Zufelt refused on account of the decisions to pitch further.

The scor: was as follows:

Colborne	02040104 6
Orland	00203123 0

CHINESE WERE EASY

Overwhelmed By Australians in Davis Cup Tennis.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(Canadian Press).— Australia defeated China in the first two singles matches of the Davis Cup play on the courts of the Crescent A.C., in Brooklyn today. Gerald Patterson won from W. Lock Wei, captain of the Chinese team, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, and Pat O'Hara Wood downed Paul Kong, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

The Australians outclassed their opponents in every department of play. In the first set Patterson scored 25 points to Wei's 7, and in the second the totals were 27 to 14 in the Australian's favor. Wei sprang a surprise by out-volleying Patterson in the first game of the third set but his opponent soon recovered and captured four games in succession.

Wood took all six games from Kong in their first set and the first five in the second. He completely confounded the Chinese with his brilliant placing. There was never any doubt as to the outcome of the match.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. Batsman receives a base on balls. He goes to first base and the ball is returned to the pitcher. The runner, after reaching first base, makes a false dash for second. The pitchers snaps the ball to the first baseman and the runner is touched before he can get back to the base.

Is the runner out, or after a base on balls is given is play suspended until the next batter takes his place in the box and the pitchers gets on the rubber in a position to pitch?—D.D.

2. With a runner on first and one out, the batsman hits a long drive to left. When runner on first reaches third, he is in doubt as to whether he should try for home and hesitates momentarily. The coacher at third lays hands on him, yells for him to keep going and finally pushes him in the direction of the plate.

The relay to the plate is wild and both runners score. It is doubtful if perfect handling of the ball would have gotten the runner at the plate. What is the proper ruling —D. D.

ANSWERS

1. The runner who reached first on a base on balls makes himself liable to be put out when, after reaching first, he makes a dash toward second base. Play is not suspended in such a case until the next batter gets in the box. The ball is in play and the runner is out.

2. No consideration can be given the fact that a perfect play at the plate would not have retired the runner. When the coacher grabbed the runner and pushed him toward the plate, he committed an interference that automatically retired said runner.

M'CRACKEN'S REGATTA

LAKEFIELD, August 1. — The annual regatta at McCracken's Landing was held yesterday afternoon. Beautiful weather favoured the occasion and the vicinity of Victoria House was the mecca of excitement on the lakes.

"On to the regatta," was the prevailing by-word and parties arriving by land and water from all directions gathered into an immense crowd. The old rivalries existing in different sections of the lakes, has disappeared and been supplanted by a keen competitive spirit and fraternal fellowship which were greatly in evidence yesterday.

The grounds of Victoria House were eattractively decorated with flags and overhanging streamers. "Jack" Strickland graciously allowed the spectators to view the races from the grounds at Victoria House and loaned his yatch "Twin" to be used for the judges stand.

Land annd water events comprised the programme, the former leading in entries, the latter in thrills.

Probably the most unusual and popular performance of the regatta was th tug-of-war between Uncle Sam and Jack Canuck, the latter triumping after an iron man struggle.

Members of the regatta committee whose untiring efforts were largely responsible for the marked success of the affair were H. B. Ringle, (chairman) A. S. Choate, secretary, G. Graham, J. C. Strickland, E. H. Jones, J C McCarthy and R O. Bailey.

Badges were provided to everyone without charge and old and young alike entered into the spirit of the occasion with the same enthusiasm.

J. O. McCarthy was official announcer and at the close of the programme prizes were presented to the winners by Mesdames H. B. Ringle and J. C. Strickland, Chairman H. B. Ringle in a short address extended the committee's appreciation to the contestants and thanked the large gathering for their attendance.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

At present the New York Giants appear to have the edge in the National League. Unquestionably McGraw's club is the class of the field.

The commanding lead assumed by the Giants has tended to lessen interest in the race. The experts are already conceding the Giants the right to represent the National League in the world series.

What about the American League?

At one time, with the race just about half over, only five games separated the first and seventh-place clubs. Most unusual.

Since then certain clubs have slumped and are no longer getting serious consideration as pennant contenders. However, in a league where there are so many evenly matched clubs as in the American, there is always a chance for the dark horse to come through.

Will New York, picked by most of the experts to win, be able to land its fourth consecutive pennant?

What are the chances of the Detroit Tigers? Cobbs' team finished second last season, has only the pennant to shoot at.

Will Washington be able to hold up?

What about the other dark horses in the race?

Pitching is the deciding factor in every pennant race. The slump of the Yankee's pitching staff is what tightened up the American League race more than any other one thing. The team that gets the pitching in the home stretch will emerge the victor.

The slump of the New York pitching has caused pennant hopes to blossom forth on a number of American League clubs.

Recently Manager Ty Cobb of the Detroit club, in an interview on his pennant chances, remarked thusly:

"All other things being equal, the breaks of the schedule favor my club.

"I regard the west as having the strength of the American League. New York must meet the west in about two-thirds of the remaining games on its schedule.

"New York has already played 56 of its 77 games with the east. The Yanks have much tougher going the rest of the way than Detroit."

Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees is hopeful that the experience and seasoning of his team will carry him to his fourth pennant. The Yanks have been through three tough races and profited much thereby.

Other American League managers are not taking seriously the belief of Managers Cobb and Huggins that the race is confined to their two clubs.

No doubt each one believes that if he can remain within striking distance there is always a chance.

It's a long way until October. A lot of things can happen.

HOLLAND'S PRISON

THE HAGUE, Aug. 1.—The "outdoor prison" system here has been officially announced a success, and the Dutch government has made arrangements to extend the idea to various parts of the country. This decision came after an experiment which has continued more than a year, and it is reported, of all the prisoners placed on their honor not to escape, and during which time they were allowed much freedom, not a single individual abused the trust.

The experiment began when 60 prisoners were drafted to the town of Veenhuizen to convert moorland into cultivated fields, and they showed themselves very much interested and industrious as well. The men were not supervised or guarded in any way. The foreman of each gang was, however, not a prisoner, but a workman who joined voluntarily.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

The well-liked Tom Mix, the gentleman with the large hat and the line of Western conversation is on the screen at the Capitol Theatre for the last three days of this week. His wonder horse, Tony accompanies him in the opening scenes, but is not as prominent in "Ladies to Board" as in most of the Mix features. The scene opens in the Western country where the hero usually shines to the fullest advanage, but shifts later to the little town of Burrington, in Vermont, where the "ladies to board" have their place in the picture.

As Tom Faxon, the heir to an Old Ladies' Home which he is expected to manage, Tom Mix has a new type of production. Possibly his admirers would prefer to see him in his usual role of a hard-riding, gentlemanly cowboy, but there is plenty of action in "Ladies to Board." The heroine, Edith Oliver, played by Gertrude Olmstead, is the sweet, refined sort of young lady that provides a splendid foil for the hero's "man of action" methods, and Tom has a boon companion in Buck McGinnis (Gilbert Holmes) a gentleman with a thirst for hard liquor and a pair of sore feet that play a stellar role in most of the scenes. Buck becomes enamored of the lady superintendent of the Home, and woos her in peculiar ways.

Tom and Edith are conspirators in a plan to bring back an erring son to his mother, one of the inmates of the Home, and they go to Boston to teach Evan Carmichael a lesson, and show him the evil tenor of his ways A chase over the skeleton of a skyscraper transpires, with Tom doing several rapid-fire stunts, such as dropping from overhaed to the top of a moving taxi, and shooting up a gay studio party. He also resorts to desperate measures to bring Carmichael back to his aged parent, but the production ends happily for all concerned.

There is a double comedy offering, as well as some interesting travel pictures. "Out of the Inkwell" is one of the popular black and white animated cartoon efforts, with a midget performer putting out fires and releasing burly convicts from prison. Ben Turpin in "Yukon Jake" provides some real laughs in a comedy that has some clever moments, and is a conglomeration of snappy bathing ladies in Arctic waters and a husky rivalry for a fair maiden.

AT THE ROYAL.

DARING RIDING FEATURES HOXIE'S NEWEST WESTERN.

Horseback riding on a wholesale scale furnishes one of the big punches to "The Red Warning," Jack Hoxie's latest Universal Western thriller, which opened last night at the Royal Theatre.

This picture is probably the best "straight" Western that Hoxie has ever done and although there is no outstanding dramatic acting in the picture there are several dramatic situations of worth. It is filled with rapid action and some of the riding scenes are unusually spectacular. Scenically the picture is one of the most attractive of the season. The desert shots against the rugged mountain background are particularly beautiful.

It may well be classed as a different type of Western. The story reflects two distinct themes, which involve search and ultimate finding of a "lost" gold mine, and cattle rustling.

The comedy, "Taxi-Taxi," is filled with laughs, and "The Eagle's Talons" has as many thrills as usual. This promises to be an excellent chanter-play. There has been a noticeable improvement in the selection of programmes at the Royal lately, and the ever-increasing patrons are not slow to appreciate the fact. Thos. Ince's super-comedy, "The Galloping Fish," coming on Monday, is creating a lot of local comment in advance, and promises to be a real novelty in filmdom.

"GALLOPING FISH" IS A COMEDY HIT.

Thomas H. Ince has discovered a sure-fire way for "putting over" a comedy.

Take a trained seal, three 'comics' with an international following, an all-star cast and a fearless director. Set them all in friendly rivalry trying to outdo each other in the number of laughs they can "put over."

Result—"The Galloping Fish," Ince's comedy special released by First National, running at the Royal Theatre on Monday next.

Most producers are satisfied if they can get one really funny characterization in a picture. Ince has a half dozen in his new production who keeps the ball rolling until the audiences literally rock with laughter. Louise Fazenda, Syd Chaplin, Ford Sterling and a trained seal are the rivals who put over the clever situations.

The story starts out with a timid little man. He is a timid little bridegroom who unexpectedly spunks up at the wrong moment and has a quarrel with his bride who hastens home "to mama." And that is the beginning of twenty-four harrowing hours for "Freddy," who promptly becomes entangled with a "Diving Venus" and her "fish" and winds up floundering about in a spectacular flood.

"Freddie" the seal gets him into even deeper trouble because he bears the same name. Incidentally that seal is about the cleverest comedian who has made a bow on the silver sheet in many moons. He registers derision and mirth and anger with unmistakable emphasis. Miss Fazenda handles him as if she had been dealing in fish all her life, while the timid little man, played by Syd Chaplin, keeps out of his way with a gusto that seems far from forced.

Stunning theatrical sets, a beautiful "tank" act with a dozen bathing beauties assisting Miss Fazenda and "Freddie," the seal; and spectacular flood and underwater shots mingle thrills with the chief entertainment of laughter and keep the seven reels rolling along to the accompaniment of uproarious hilarity from the audience.

AT THE REGENT.

WILLIAM FOX WESTERN STAR HERE IN NEW COWBOY ROLE.

Charles Jones, the William Fox western star, has scored another personal triumph in "Western Luck," his latest feature picture which was shown for the first time in Peterboro last night at the Regent Theatre.

The action in this production shifts from a Western ranch to the money centres of Wall Street. The advance notices for this picture described it as a wild riding romance of western pluck and luck and it comes up to this description in every respect.

Jones has an opportunity in this picture to display some of the horsemanship which first made him famous. Before entering the movies the cowboy star was a champion trick rider and won many rodeo prices in the West. His riding always wins approval from the fans and his admirers will find much entertainment in his latest picture.

Beatrice Burnham, who will be remembered as Jones' leading lady in "Trooper O'Neill," has the leading feminine role in "Western Luck." The other principals include the following players: Pat Hardigan, Tom Lingham, Edith Kennick, J. Farrell McDonald and Bruce Gordon. George Beranger directed this production.

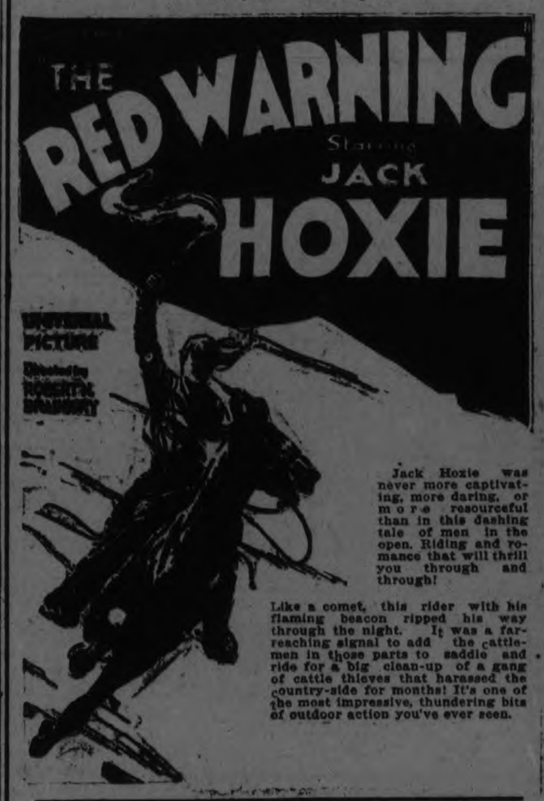
THE RED WARNING

Starring JACK HOXIE



Jack Hoxie was never more captivating, more daring, or more resourceful than in this dashing tale of men in the open. Riding and romance that will thrill you through and through!

Like a comet, this rider with his flaming beacon ripped his way through the night. It was a far-reaching signal to add the cattlemen in those parts to saddle and ride for a big clean-up of a gang of cattle thieves that harassed the country-side for months! It's one of the most impressive, thundering bits of outdoor action you've ever seen.

THIS MAKES THE MOTOR SEEM SLOW

Aeroplane Speed of 1,200 Miles an Hour is Predicted.

STOCKHOLM, August 1. —(AP) —Flights between Europe and America in two hours at an altitude of 10 miles and with 2,000 horsepower motors, are forecast by S. Lindequist, a well-known Swedish airplane constructor, in a statement published by a leading Stockholm paper.

One of the greatest aims in aviation in the immediate future should be to cut down the flying time between continents, says Mr. Lindequist, and this probably can be done by flying at extremely high altitudes. The effect of gravitation decreases with the increase in altitude, and it has been estimated he says, that plane which has a speed of 100 miles an hour near the surface of the earth can attain a speed of 1,200 miles an hour at an altitude of about 10 miles.

At such a height the rarity of the atmosphere would constitute a disadvantage both to the ordinary motor and the ordinary propeller. But this difficuly can be overcome, declares Mr. Lindequist, by using a propeller with the blades, so that the pitch of the blades could be altered with the density of the air, and by using special compressors for the decrease in barometric pressure at high altitudes. Such a motor would probably have to develop about 2,000 horsepower. Mr. Lindequist declares that the problems of the adjustable propeller and aerial compression motor can be solved.

SEEKS TO BUILD FOREIGN TRADE

Irish Free State Using Envoys For This Purpose.

DUBLIN, August 1.—(AP)— The debate on the estimate recently in the Dail showed that the total cost of the Free State Ministry of External Affairs is $321,246. Of this amount $143,945 is spent on foreign representatives. The main purpose of the latter is the improvement of Sree State foreign trade, which, it is claimed, has increased to $806,346.

The representative at Washington is approved as a special case and Minister Desmond Fitzgerald said it was expected that the Washington office would pay for itself. The cost of passports from the United States is to be $10.

ALL NIGHT SESSION.

Americans Believe Invitation For German Participation Will Be Issued.

LONDON, August 1. — (Canadian Press).—Experts of the inter-allied reparation conference indicated early this afternoon that they expect to settle all outstanding problems of the conference up to them for a solution before the afternoon was over.

The experts who did not leave Downing Street until 2.16 this morning, returned to their task at eleven o'clock and during two hour session adopted the French proposal for the modification of Dawes plan. "We'll finish up this afternoon," said Owen B. Young, of Dawes committee. If experts conclude their work this afternoon, their reports will be submitted to plenary session of conference to-morrow.

American's in touch with the conference believe the invitation to Germany will be despatched to-night.

The probblem of transfers alloted to transfer commission under the Dawes plan is still causing trouble. If the experts are unable to overcome the difficulty on this point this afternoon, the ussue will be referred to the chief delegates.

Mr. Patrick Hobbins, of Detroit, is in the city attending the Hickey-Hobbins wedding.

OPTIMISM KEYNOTE KIWANIS LUNCHEON

Hopeful Outlook Entertained By To-day's Speakers.

Kiwanians held their midsummer luncheon at noon to-day and will not meet again until the first Friday in September, when the regular fall luncheons commence.

"Happiness as a Virtue," was the subject dealt with by Rev. Mr. Whitfield of Goderich, who stressed the necessity for a general expression of of optimism, at the present time, on account of the current depression which will inevitably rise, in-view of the promising outlook entertained for Canada's future.

Miss McGreary, who is in the city, paving the way for the Dominion Redpath Chautauqua, outlined the programme for the five days during which they will be here.

Another speaker in the person of Rev. A. D. Ricardson, addressed the Kiwanians, touching upon the life of Cecil Rhodes, commoner and Imperialist whom he stated so believed in the confederation of the Anglo-Saxon races, that he left his fortune in scholarsips to be used in the interest of the same.

It was shown that man's highest hopes have been shattered by the war and depression has followed, as a natural result, in accordance with historical precedents. The speaker observed that as spiritual and moral progress have not kept pace with mechanical and material progress mental depression is the sequel.

President "Jack" Marshall occupied the chair and announced that the Hamilton Convention would be held on September 5th.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes, Miss Agnes Hayes and Miss Gladys Noird motored from Detroit, to visit Mr. and Mrs. David Dennie, Armour Road. They were accompanied by Miss Mae Dennie, who is spending her vacation with her parents.

ALLIES AGREED ON DAWES PLAN OF REPARATIONS

Only One Technical Point Remained For To-day's Session to Settle.

INVITING GERMANS.

Successful Completion of Negotiations Expected By Next Week End.

LONDON, August 2. — A complete programme for launcing the Dawes reparation settlement plan was agreed upon by the inter-allied conference during a 30 minute plenary session at the foreign office this morning. The allied premiers and United States Ambassador Kellogg took up the technical point with which the experts had vainly struggled in two all night sessions, and after modifications which Premiers MacDonald and Herriott accepted as a compromse, a settlement was reached.

When the agreement was reached the wearied experts who have slept little during the last 48 hours, left the conference room and the chief delegates began framing an invitation for the German government to send a delegation to London.

Prime Minister MacDonald will hand the invitation to the German embassy this afternoon, and Foreign Minister Stressmann, and his colleagues are expected to reach London on Monday night.

Meanwhile the conference will take a recess with the exception of the jurists committee which are drafting the results of the fortnight's work so that the document can be summitted to the Germans.

The conference will enter its final phase with the arrival of the Germans who will be asked to express their opinions on the programme for putting the Dawes scheme into operation.

After the Germans have been heard a protocol embodying the program will be signed by the allies and Germans, it is expected, and then the reparation commission will make its appointments and set up the organization necessary for carrying out the Dawes proposals.

Although the delegates to the conference are worn out by reason of the long hours they have worked during the last few days, they do not begrudge the Germans an extra day, for high authorities here believe Mr. Hughes will give the Germans words of advice about the attitude they should take when they appear at the conference table to discuss the methods the conference has adopted for inaugurating a new reparation era. High authorities here express the belief that the Germans will be warned to do nothing in London to obstruct the conference, adjournment of which is expected to take place at the next week-end.

Arbitration The Key

The magic wand of arbitration, held in the hands of the French, and waved over the conference table Thursday and Friday has wrought wonders for Inter-Allied diplomacy. Differences which last week threatened to break up the parleys have disappeared, and even among the Allied delegations there are expressions of surprise and wonderment that the task which for days seemed to be impossible has been accomplished. Last night delegates and official and unofficial observers expressed the opinion that the conference results are sound economically and financially, and that the Dawes plan will be put to work without loss of any of its effectiveness.

Tributes to Herriot

From all quarters there come the highest tributes to the conciliatory attitude taken by the French delegation. Premier Herriot's principle for arbitrating difficulties which may arise has carried the day, although nearly every point in the proposals he submitted Wednesday afternoon has been altered, but not to an extent that the French Premier has endangered his political position at home or that credit can be detracted from the French efforts to bring the conference to a successful termination so that the Dawes proposals can be given the earliest opportunity to prove their worth as a remedy for Europe's economic ills.

Th experts, including Mr. Logan and Mr. Young, of the United States and Mr. Fraser, of Great Britain, who sat around the Downing Street conference table until the early hours of Friday morning, returned at 11 o'clock in the morning and worked throughout the day, with only interruptions for meals, over Mr. Herriot's plans, so as to have them acceptable to all the delegates.

When the experts left Downing Street yesterday morning the French proposals had been adopted to the point involving modification in the Dawes plan in case a defect should appear and threaten its efficiency. Proposals for minor modifications were accepted without prolonged debate; but when the French urged that the powers of the Transfer Committee be submitted to their general scheme of arbitration there developed very strong opposition, because this committee is the heart of the Dawes plan and is to be organized as an executive body.

PAGAN PHILOSOPHY.

In Schools Which Two Chicago Youths Attended.

ATLANTA, Aug. 2. — Georgia's House of Representatives yesterday considered a favorable report from its committee on education on a bill to withdraw all State funds from any institution in which the Darwinian theory or any similar theory of evolution is taught.

Representative Pope styled the theory of evolution as 'rotten stuff.' Representative McCrory said if he was descended from a monkey he was ashamed of it, but didn't think he was. He said he believed God created man and monkeys.

Representative Covington said: "The only thing wrong with those Chicago youths, Loeb and Leopold, is that they went to schools where they were taught pagan philosophy. If those old alienists told the truth they would tell that too."

Covington said he did not believe a wagon load of mud could be left in the road and "by its own inherent evolutionary powers" become something "all dressed up and running for the Legislature."

CHILD TOPPLED OUT OF WINDOW

Overbalanced While Leaning Out of Second Storey Window in Montreal.

THREE OTHER DEATHS.

MONTREAL, August 2. — The body of 7-year-old James Martin who has been missing from his home at Cote St. Paul since last Thursday, was found in the Lachine Canal here on Friday afternoon. He had last been seen playing on the canal bank.

When he fell from a second story window at his home on Vinet street here yesterday, John Dubrule, aged 3, suffered a fractured skull, and died at the Western hospital several hours later. The child was leaning out of the window when he overbalanced.

Harry Ridge, aged 19, of 1617 Ontario street east, died of a fractured skull at the Royal Victoria Hospital Friday afternoon. He was working on a scaffolding when he missed his footing, and fell a distance of about twenty feet.

Six-year old George Bertrand, of 518 Beaubien street, died in the St. Justine hospital yesterday from internal injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile at Cedars, near here, last Monday.

SYNTHETIC LUMBER.

Artificial Lumber is Made From Crushed Fibre of Sugar Cane.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.— (United Press). — Synthetic lumber is the latest discovery according to B. S. Dahlberg, a manufacturer, who addressed a gathering of business men here. He said:

"This artificial lumber is made fram bagasse, the crushed fibre of sugar-cone once destroyed as useless. Sugar-cane fibre from the annual crops in the United States and Cuba is sufficient to manufacture 50,000,000 feet of lumber every day.

"Synthetic lumber has advantages over natural wood. It has one-third the weight of pine. This means cheap freight costs and ease in handling. It has the insulating value of cork. This means cooler homes in summer and warmer homes in winter. "It is a sound-deadener, absorbing one-third of all the sound waves that strike against it."

GRANDPARENT'S TRIP.

From London, England With Nine Young Grandsons.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 1. — To travel all the way across the ocean with his nine grandsons ranging in age from eight to sixteen, is the unique experience of Henry Durell, of London, England, who is at present visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gravelle, of Glenburnie. They arrived in Montreal on Sunday and will shortly go to Toronto and Niagara Falls returning home by way of New York. The grandsons are members of three families and it is a singular thing that all the children in those families are boys; Mr. Durell has been in the lumber business in London for fifty five years.

AUTO COLLISION LAKEFIELD ROAD

NARROW ESCAPE.

About 9.45, last night, a motor accident occured on the Lakefield road when a 4-cylinder touring car, driven by Alfred Higgins of Lakefield and a 6-cylinder touring car, driven by C. H. Lowf of Toronto, collided just at the bend in the road, a short distance north of the watering trough, about one half mile, north of the city limits.

Mr. Higgins was coming south and the Toronto car travelling north when the accident happened and although both left front wheels were torn off in the collision, no one in either car were injured.

The fenders were badly bent on each car and the lighter car sustained a broken axle and spring.

Riding with Mr .Higgins were his wife and a young lady and with Mr. Lowf, Mr. Tebb of Toronto.

Provincial Constable Norman Maker arrived at the scene of the accident at 10 pm., and took measurements of the road, regarding the positions of the cars.

ALLIED PREMIERS TEN YEARS AFTER 1924

A most unusual picture of three premiers of Europe taken at their first meeting. Left to right they are Premiers Theunis of Belgium, Herriot of France and MacDonald of England. This photograph was taken as the European nations came together to discuss the Dawes report.

For two weeks they have been wrestling with the details of putting into effect the famous Dawes plan of collecting reparations from Germany while assisting in restoring her finances.

Thrown together ten years ago by German aggression, these nations are now engaged in the rehabilitation their vanquished enemy, while in the background United States forces of diplomacy and gold are exerting a powerful influence for the success of perhaps the most important diplomatic conference since the Peace Treaty at Versailles.

Cable despatches this morning promise a complete success for the conference in the practical agreement of the Premiers on the function ing of the Dawes plan. Meanwhile Germany had accepted the Dawes scheme without reservation, and her representatives are to-day being invited to London next week to confer with the Allies.

PERFECT CRIME WAS LOEB' AIM

Regarded Himself as the Master Criminal Mind of the Century.

CROWE HITS BACK.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 2.—The object of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb in killing Robert Franks was to commit a "perfect crime," Dr. William A. White, Washington, D.C., alienist, testified Friday at the judicial hearing of the two young intellectuals for the murder of the fourteen-year-old schoolboy.

Dr. White said Loeb told him that he and Leopold had discussed committing a murder long before Franks was killed, and had considered various persons, including their parents. But they decided that to kill a member of the immediate families would hamper free movement.

Object—"Perfect Crime."

"The real object in the murder was to commit a "perfect crime," Dr. White testified. "The idea was for the master criminal to do a good job. It was to be thoroughly and completely planned and be the object for great concern in the immediate vicinity. There was to be no clue. An intellectual feat was to be accomplished."

Dr. White sketched the dream life of Loeb. He described a succession of phantasies, which he said existed in the mind of the youthful defendant.

Began Lying Early.

"He looked upon himself," White said, "as a master criminal — the master criminal mind of the century—directing great bands of criminals in underworld activities.

"He also thought himself a great detective. He plotted great crimes and then imagined himself as the detective, unfolding the plot and capturing the criminals."

White also told how Loeb walked the streets, giving secret signs to his imaginary criminal band, directing what houses to rob.

The witness said Loeb admitted being an inveterate liar and had started lying at an early age.

Sneered At Law.

Robert E. Crowe, State's attorney, struck back at Clarence S. Darrow, and Walter Bachrach, attorneys for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

"I was in doubt, as I listened to Mr. Darrow, whether he realized he was in a courtroom and not arguing before a legislature," said Mr. Crowe.

"And Mr. Bachrach," continued the prosecutor, "would bar the State's attorney from the courtroom and make of this, not a trial, but an experiment.

"The defence would have us say these boys who have sneered day after day at representatives of the law, have not blood in their hands, but jam."

Painted As Babies.

Mr. Crowe said the defence had pictured Leopold and Loeb, not as "intellectuals who in their self-imposed superiority have rejected God," but as "innocent babes who still believe in Santa Claus."

Mr. Darrow had chided me because I sentenced a confessed criminal to death when I was on the bench," said Mr. Crowe, "but I was following the law."

CONTEST NEW SEAT.

Hon. Chas. Stewart To Be Candidate in West Edmonton.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 2 — (Canadian Press). — Opinion in political circles yesterday seems to point to the fact that Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, may shortly announce his candidature for the new Federal seat of West Edmonton, which covers considerable territory in the Stony Plain and St. Albert district.

Mr. Stewart, it will be recalled, was elected a member of the House of Commons for the seat of Argenteuil in Quebec Province at a bye-election held March 2, 1922.

The Minister of the Interior is at present in Alberta, and is spending a few days on his Killam farm before returning to the city, when some definite announcement may be expected.

PRIME MINISTER WILL VISIT CITY

Hon. G. P. Graham and Hon. Charles Murphy Also Promise To Be Here.

LIBERAL PICNIC.

The visit of Sir Wilfred Laurier and Sir John A .McDonald to Peterboro will recall pleasant remembrances of great occasions in the history of Peterboro to members of the older generation.

Extensive preparations are under way for just such another event. Thursday afternoon, August 28 has been set as the date, when Liberals of the district, under the auspices of the Local Liberal Association will gather from all sections, to a pic-nic beng held in Peterborough.

The Right Honorable McKenzie King Prime Minister and Honorable George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, will be here for the occasion, as well as Honourable Charles Murphy, Post-master General who has promised to attend if at all possible.

Permission has been granted by the City Council to allow the Liberal Association to decorate the streets for the occasion.

Two bands will be in attendance and a sporting programme that will allow all to participate iis being arranged.

INJURED ALONE IN HOUSE.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Alone in the house at 24 Yeomans Street, here, Miss Symons, an aged lady, slipped and fell to the floor, breaking her hip bones. She lay six hours before the family returned and the doctor summoned.

FARMER DIED IN STIRLNG POND

Samuel Ross of Huntingdon Township Had Threatened To Take His Life.

MISSING IN MORNING.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Samuel Ross, aged 63, first concession of Huntingdon, was found in a small pond known as Mud Lake, Friday morning, about 3 miles from Stirling. He was last seen alive Thursday night by his brother. Yesterday morning he was missed and the discovery of his death was made by Mr. Lindsay Bird. The Provincial police were notified at Belleville, and O. T. A. Inspector Naphin and Provincial Constable S. Elliott left for the scene with Coroner Dr. W. W. Boyce.

Death is believed by the police to be due to self-destruction, although from his mental state it is difficult to say whether it was intentional or accidental. Mr. Ross, it is said, had made threats against his life. He had got up before five o'clock and taken a boat and gone out on the lake. When the relatives began the search they found the boat on the lake, and further search revealed the body naked, lying on the bottom, the body being easily visible from the boat.

CROPS DAMAGED.

Northern Saskatchewan Reports Most of It a Total Failure.

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 1. — The Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company to-day issued the following statement on the crop situation:

The week of July 18 to July 25 was extremely warm over the entire province. Areas already stricken with drouth suffered severely. Many reports were received that oats and other coarse grains would make very short crops. A few showers only at scattered points.

Since July 27 most districts in the provinces have enjoyed very heavy rains, while much of the crop in Northern Saskatchewan will be a total failures, the rain will help fodder and late crops of oats.

THE WEATHER.

Although this is the second day of August, the thermometer was at 44 degrees this morning. While no frost was noticed on the high ground it is quite possible it made its appearance in lower sections. Highest point reached in July 89 degrees; lowest 47 degrees. A gentleman in a position to judge who has done some travelling in sections west of the city has told me that on the whole he never saw the crops look better. Fall wheat was extra, hay good, and other grains most promising.—W. P.

MATTHEWS WAS HAPPY.

Liked Santa Clara and Was Making Good.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Charles J. Matthews, Jr., Canadian official, held here on a charge of entering the country illegally, but wanted in Ontario on a charge of violating the Secret Commission Act, likes California. He particularly likes Santa Clara, in which town he was arrested, because he says it reminds him of rural communities of similar size in Canada.

Matthews, who was operating a lunch wagon when arrested, also indicated he liked that occupation.

"I was quite contented and happy and was making good until officers arrested me," Matthews told reporters.

NEWSBOY'S DEAL MEANS FORTUNE

Had Sold Papers in Wall Street and Learned Its Ways.

DISCOUNTING NOTES.

NEW YORK, August 2. — Beating the Street at its own game, a Wall street newsboy has just turned a deal the closing of which will make him a millionaire.

It is another instance of fact outfictioning fiction; another instance of an Alger success come true.

But Charles H. Greenhaus, 25-year old wizard, who now occupies the spotlight of the financial district, is not interested in these analogies. He never had much time for reading and still less for dreaming.

"I began working on the street," he says, "when I was seven. My family was poor. My father worked as an operator in a ladies' waist factory. My first job was selling papers on Wall street.

"I hung around the curb from after-school hours till dark, and I learned a lot about the men who bought papers. I watched them buy; I learned how they thought. I came to size them up pretty well. For even in buying a newspaper, a man gives signs of the workings of his mind.

"I stuck it out at school as long as I could. But by the time I had reached the sixth grade the family was so short of money I had to quit and get a full-time job.

"After a spell in a printing office the call of the street got me again. I went to work as a messenger. What I didn't learn about the workings of finance as a newsboy I soon learned in my new job."

Once Near Death.

Marriage and the pressure of establishing a home took him off the Street. Greenhaus went into the automobile business, working as a mechanic. A serious accident curtailed his new activity. He was almost killed in a smash up.

After many months in an hospital he came back to the Street, seeking a way to capitalize the knowlege that he had acquired.

"I stuck around looking for the opportunity that is supposed to come. Finally it came—and I grabbed it."

It seems that former Governor Haskell of Oklahoma had ordered brokers all over the country to buy up the stock of the Middle States Oil Corporaton. When $5,500,000 of these securities were ready for the delivery, the Governor found that he could not pay for them.

Through an arrangement with the stock and curb markets, a controlling interest of Southern States Oil, of which the Middle States corporation was a subsidiary, was deposited with a trust company, which issued $5,384,000 in secured gold notes at 7 per cent. cash to be paid to the brokers instead of cash.

"This was a strain on some of the brokers," explains Greenhaus. I figured out that they would sell these bonds at a good discount for cash. I bought some and took options on more."

Swinging Millions on $2500.

The young wizard then spent the rest of his $2500 to circularize the 200,000 stockholders offering them $1 in gold bonds for every dollar of stock.

In the turn over he was able to capture the large discount at which he bought the notes.

The scheeme looked so easy that the courts interposed an injunction restraining the young man. But he instituted a counter-action bringing in fistsfull of the gold certificates to prove his faith.

Just as soon as this is won Greenhaus hopes to cash in his millons.

"The first thing I will do," he says, "will be to buy myself a seat on the Exchange, and sit in with the big boys to whom I once sold papers."

But he will not change his home life much.

"We are pretty happy now," he says, "my wife ,my two kids and I. We have a nice little home in Hillcrest, Long Island; we have a small car, and enjoy life as much as any. So why change it?"

INDUSTRIES OF NORTH ONTARIO PUSHING AHEAD

Business Generally Is Encouraging, Reports Commissioner of T. and N. O. Railway.

MINING IS ACTIVE.

Railway and Power Developments Have Been Advanced This Year.

OTTAWA, Aug 2.—Mining is active, the agricultural outlook is hopeful and business generally is encouraging in Northern Ontario said Lieut Col. L. T. Martin, D.S.O., of Ottawa, one of the commissioners of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, who returned yesterday from a trip over the T. and N. O. system and as far as Mile 64 on the extension beyond Cochrane.

Colonel Martin said that his recent visit to the north has more firmly convinced him of the great possibilities and opportunitites in that rich area extending northward from North Bay. One of the chief objects of his trip was to look over the construction work going on beyond Cochrane and on the branch lines. On the main lines the track is laid as far as Mile 64 out from Cochrane, and by about the middle of this month it will be completed to Mile 68 , which is to be the terminus for the present. Further extensions are receiving consideration. Before the end of this month both passenger and freight traffic will be extended to Mile 68.

Four Million Plant.

The Hollinger Power Development plant which is being built at a cost about $4,000,000 is progressing and by the end of the Fall will be ready for operation. The New 85 mile power line will be able to serve additional power to a number of municipalites in the district. Then at Quinz the Northern Canada Power Company has just completed developments and is now in a position to furnish more power to the mining districts.

Referring to agricultural settlement in the Cochrane district, Col. Martin, said that the settlers in the new colonies are doing well, especially the one at Maffatt, where 35 families from Bruce County, Ont., went last year.

Railway Extension,s

By the end of September, the new branch line to the South Lorrain will be completed and in operation. On the Kirkland Lake Branch steel is laid as far as Mile 25 and engineers are completing the location to the Rouyn district.

"When does the T. and N. O. expect to extend the line to Rouyn?" the Colonel was asked.

"That I cannot say definitely at present, but it is under consideration and an announcement may be made later on," he answered.

Improvements on the main line are being made to the road bed and in other ways. For 120 miles, 90-pound rails have replaced those of lighter weight.

Altogether prispects are that the commission will have a good report to make at the end of the year.

Colonel Martin said that Lake Temagami is becoming a popular resort At the present about 1,500 people from all parts of the continent are camping in the district.

BAKERS BOOST BREAD PRICES

Flour Increase Causes Bread To Advance One Cent in Montreal and Toronto.

NO CHANGE HERE.

Housewives in Toronto and Montreal learned from their breadmen yesterday, that the all important commodity has risen one cent per small loaf.

Bread now retails at 20 cents a large loaf in Toronto and 21 cents in Montreal. Campbellford has followed suit, and on Monday bread will advance one cent.

In London, where the retail price is nine cents for a 24-ounce loaf, bakers have decided not to raise the price.

Moose Jaw bakers have decided not to increase the price of bread while the present stocks of flour last.

An informal discussion on the matter was held in Regina on Thursday, between bakers from Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Regina, when the foregoing decision was reached.

Local Developments.

The local price of 20 cents per large loaf is only exceeded by the advance retail price, prevailing in Montreal.

Bread retails in several Ontario cities at 9 cents for a 24-ounce loaf, and the local price of 10 cents is in accord with the average advanced price in the larger centres.

It is not expected that there will be any variation in the local market, according to the opinion of Peterboro bakers.

Mr. H. E. Trent, secretary of the Canadian Bread and Cake Association, made the statement in a newspaper interview on Thursday, that the price of bread generally remains staple, even though that of flour may go up. He explained that this is due to the fact that large firms usually buy their stock in advance.

POULTRY PARASITES.

If internal parasites infest the brooder house, move it to a new place 50 or 100 feet away. Confine the chicks in the house for a day or two and they will readily accept their new quarters.

DARE DEVIL WORK BEFORE PARENTS

Three Aviators Have Met Their Death By Showing Off.

PARIS, Aug 2.—(United News).—A desire to be a dare-devil in the eyes of their adoring parents had lead to several deaths from airplane crashes this week. The latest was on Friday when Lieut. Pinsol crashed while flying over his home near La Teste, the plane fell through a crowded cafe and several customers were killed.

Pinsol was on an unauthorized flight and was going through many dangerous air monoeuvers so his mother could watch him in action. On Wednesday, Sergts. Rapin and Nicly were flying over a crowd near Bourg-la-Reine. In the crowd was Sergeant Rapins' parents. The plane crashed. Nicly and two women were killed and Sergeant Rapin and his mother were fatally wounded. The two sergeants were on an unauthorized flight and were also "showing off" before home folks.

DELEGATES ARRIVE FOR SCIENCE MEET

Sir Napier Shaw Remarks That His Paper on "If the World Goes Dry" Does Not Refer to Prohibition.

QUEBEC, August 2.— (Canadian Press).—Upwards of three hundred delegates of the British Association for the advancement of science arrived here yesterday afternoon on the Cunard liner, Caronia from England. They were welcomed by Col. W. Bovey, of Montreal, in charge of reception arrangements.

Sir Napier Shaw, famous British meteorologist, said he found it impossible to stay away from the Canadian meeting though really he should have remained in England to organize a similar meeting as that of Toronto, in Australia. He will deliver an address at Toronto on "if, the world went dry" and joculary demarked that he was not referring to prohibition but atmospheric dryness.

GIRL STABBED BY FOREIGNER

Man Jumped From Taxi and Stabbed Girl on King Edward Steps.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press). — Following a chase down town this morning, John Rufino, taxi cab driver, rooming on University Avenue, was arrested by Constable Button and charged with stabbing Beulah Rufino on the steps of the King Edward Hotel. Constable Button saw Rufino, he states, raise his hand and strike at the woman as he was passing along King Street. The woman fell and Rufino darted off, but was too slow for the speedy constable.

the question whether financial manoeuvres in Germany were occurring to defeat the Transfer Committee in its work resulted in prolonged debate that finally resulted in an agreement that if the Transfer Committee men should be divided evenly—that is, three to three,—on such an issue, then the question might be put to arbitration.

The French still urged the right of one dissenting member of the Transfer Committee to demand arbitration, and a formula finally was arrived at which stipulates that if accumulated funds under the Agent-General's control in Germany have reached five billion marks or the Transfer Committee stops the accumulation before that sum is reached, as provided by the Dawes report, than one dissenting member of the committee has the right to appeal for arbitration as to whether financial manoeuvres are taking place in Germany to defeat the Dawes plan programme.

Technical Question

The British delegates at the conference table held out that there should be two dissenting members of the Transfer Committee before arbitration could be had, and at 10.30 o'clock last evening the experts returned to Downing Street to argue out this highly technical question, upon which the conference hangs.

The Americans were confident an agreement would be arrived at as soon as the British delegates had conferred with their chief delegates It was decided, however, that if an agreement was not reached to-night, the experts would reassemble at 10:30 o'clock to-morrow morning for the purpose of concluding their work prior to the plenary session, which is called for 11.30 o'clock.

FARMER FATALLY HURT.

MONTREAL, Aug. 2—(Canadian Press).—Isaac Conyo, 76, of West Chazy, N.Y., twelve miles north of Plattsburgh, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he fell on the pole of a horse-drawn hayfork in his barn. He died a short time afterwards.

NUXATED IRON

It is the organic iron in your blood that takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood, like fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without sufficient organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good.

Organic iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, may be had from any druggist under the name of "Nuxated Iron." In tablet form only.

Millions of people are using Nuxated Iron with great benefit, their experience proving that it increases the strength and endurance of weak nervous, run-down people in many cases, in two weeks' time.

If you want that virile force, that stamina and strength so necessary to great success in practically every undertaking in life, you owe it to yourself to commence taking Nuxated Iron today.

GIRLS RETURN FROM CAMPING AT MOIRA LAKE

Forty Healthy Girls Testify to Benefits of the Guide Camp.

LEARN TO SWIM.

Civic Holiday Was Decided On For Monday Next—Day For Picnics.

To-day sees the closing of the Girl Guides' ten day holiday at Moira Lake. About forty girls, ages ten to fourteen, have been in camp with five officers, the Chief officer in charge being Mrs. Branscombe. The sports officer, Miss Ruth Sinclair, reports that the girls have made wonderful progress in swimming. Ten of them passed their Life Saving examinations yesterday, while the majority of them can swim at least fifty yards. Their improvement reflects great credit on Miss Sinclair's instruction.

Daylight saving has been in force at the camp so that the girls could follow that good old maxim: "Early tobed, early to rise." That the truth of the adage had been realized is self evident, when one looks at the brown healthy faces of thegirls and hears of their sports.

A "stunt" evening was held last night, to which the friends of Community Camp were invited. To-day the Belleville Shriners arrived with their cars to take the girls home, the Rotarians having brought them out.

Garden Praty

A very successful garden party was held the other evening by the Anglican church at Bannockburn. A unique feature of the occasion was the outdoor movie, when several reels of Lorna Doone were shown, and the ever popular Charlie Chaplin.

About thirty cadets left town on Wednesday for camp in Picton.

A number of citizens attended the circus in Belleville yesterday and were well pleased with the performance. Though a small show, the animals were particularly well trained Special mention might be made of the fine horses, eight of which danced a quadrille in remarkable fashion the trained seals, one playing God Save the King, without a mistake, and the beautiful snow-white polar bears and the two white dogs which performed with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Texas are the guests of the former's mother, Mrs. A. Thompson.

COUNSEL'S ADVICE.

Yesterday Told Authorities He Would Return to Canada Without Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—After word late yesterday from his attorney in Toronto Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former Deputy Provincial Treasurer of Ontario held here on a technical charge of illegal entry to United States, announced he would fight extradition proceedings if any are brought by the Canadian authorities.

Advices received here from Toronto said that Matthews was wanted there in connection with alleged irregularities in the disposition of bonds. Matthews was arrested at Santa Clara on Wednesday and told the immigration officials then that he would not fight extradition. With the receipt of word from Seymor Corley, K.C., Matthews retained counsel here and announced his determination to fight extradition proceedings.

CONFERES AGREE INVITE GERMANY

Invitation Sent This Afternoon Will Bring Representatives to London.

LONDON, August 2. — The plenary session of the allied conference here to-day reached an agreement to forward an invitation to Germany at once to send delegates to the conference, according to authoritative information from a source close to the conference.

Optimistic reports indicate that an agreement had been reached and that the tangled German reparations question was finally well on the way to a settlement through the application of the programme of the committee of experts headed by General Chas. Dawes of the United States.

The Conference accepted the reports of its first and third committees to-day.

The invitation to Germany will probably be sent to Berlin this afternoon and the German delegates will start for London to agree to the new programme.

The German government has already declared itself in favor of the Dawes report in principle.

FIRE NOT SO BAD.

Janes' Bros.' Veneer Factory at Cavanville Still Stands.

MILLBROOK, August 2. — It was reported that the James Veneering Factory of Cavanville, was destroyed by fire earlier in the week, and that the company did not intend to carry on business in Cavanville any longer.

Mr. C. B. James wishes it to be made known that the factory still stands unscathed by the flames and that it was the warehouse located about 200 yards away from the factory, that was burned. The loss was covered by insurance.

Mr. James further states that the company has no present intention of leaving Cavanville and has had large shipments of raw material made for the purpose of proceeding with the business.

KIRKWALL, Orkney Island, Aug 2— (United Press).—The American round the world fliers have returned after taking off for Iceland. The Americans came winging back circling over Kirkwall at 10.15 a.m.

The dispatch does not say whether all the fliers returned or whether Lieut. Nelson is missing, as reported in an exchange telegraph despatch in London.

Another dispatch from Kirkwall at 2 p.m. said, "It is surmised that Lieut Nelson is proceeding to Iceland. The cruiser Richmond steamed out of Houton Bay for Iceland at 10.15 a.m.

POLITICAL TENSION.

One Civilian Was Killed and Five Wounded in Riot.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. —(United Press).—Political tension was higher to-day following a riot between civilian and militarized police and firemen in which one civilian was killed and five wounded. The fighting took place near the national Palace when police and firemen attempted to disperse a procession demonstrating against high taxes.

HERE AND THERE

COME-BACK

Destroy an ant-hill. Or a beaver dam. Come back in a week. Patiently it has been rebuilt.

Germany, practically driven from the high seas after the war, is steadily building up her merchant marine. Her six leading steamship companies now have ships with a gross tonnage a third as big as before the war. And two-thirds of what they have now has been built since the war. Germany is paralyzed as a great power. But only temporarily.

GOLD.

The flood of gold into our country from abroad comes faster. It's at the rate of almost half a billion dollar a year, or much more than a year ago.

Bankers discuss the unwisdom of America corralling all the gold in the world which seems to be the tendency. Maybe they exaggerate the danger. Talk of other nations discarding gold as a basis of their money systems is "hot air." The adoration of gold is stronger than money systems, stronger even than governments.

SUNSHINE

A medical expert warns women that wearing small hats in hot summer months will ruin their complexions. He talks about "actinic rays" in summer sunlight, and thinks the complexion needs shade such as furnished by the old-fashioned sunbonnet.

Sunlight never hurt anybody. It may freckle the face, but that's a cheap price for the powerful currents of health that stream down with sunshine. The ultra-violet rays from the sun are the best remedy for diseases such as tuberculosis. A naked sun bath is excellent medicine. But it has little or no value if the light comes through a closed window. Glass insulates.

SICKLY

Sickness among Americans keeps them from work so much that it's equivalent to a million workers being idle all the time. So claim insurance experts.

A greater loss is in decreased efficiency by people who, feeling "under the weather," still go about their work. Only a 100 per cent well man can do 100 per cent efficient work.

Most corporations are beginning to realize this and are doing all they can to make working conditions more healthful. It's a commercial proposition with them usually, a matter of dollars and cents. But that doesn't matter. Results are what count. Overwork, by the way, is the greatest health destroyer.

HAIR

In a Pennsylvania town, school teachers with bobbed hair are denied the customary 100-a-year salary raise that goes to teachers with unbobbed hair—which is less sanitary and less sensible. If the bobbed hair is confined in a net, no penalty.

What has a haircut to do with education? Parents are back of the protest against bobbed hair. They claim children have less respect for a woman who shears her locks. That's ridiculous. The "less respect," if any, probably is contagiously acquired at home.

SALVAGE.

Uncle Sam's sales of surplus army and navy supplies are getting down to the bottom of the pile. The War Department, chief auctioneer, has recovered nearly three billion dollars this way.

Some of the supplies brought more than they originally cost. Others sold for less than a cent on the dollar. Most of the stuff went dirt cheap.

In marketing the three billion dollars' worth of supplies, the government has spent two million dollars advertising. Personal salesmanship, without advertising, would have cost many times as much. It pays to advertise.

The interest in the baseball game is growing and everywhere one goes about town men are practicing pitching and catching. One man says it is an excellent thing to have to practice every evening as it relieves him from chores at home.

The Houston Co. played the Pickups in a fast game, the score being 10 to 7 in favor of the Houston Co In the sixth innings the Houston Co. pitcher retired the Pickups on three balls.

The Orioles played the Stars, the score bing 8 to 4 in favor of the Stars. C. Davy is captain of the Stars; J. Quinn is captain of the Orioles.

VAIN SEARCH FOR FORGOTTEN PLACE

Stranger in Belleville Taxied For Hours—Nobody Knew Him.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Driven about for hours from place to place in a taxi, the driver knowing not where his fare wanted to go, an elderly man was brought to the police station by a taxi man, James Phillips, who took that step in a last effort to learn something of the man's identity.

The man remained at the station until Friday morning and was then permitted to leave, there being no charge against him. He gave his name as MacDonald and his home as New York. He told the police he was dazed and had no recollection of where he intended going.

It is believed the stranger came in on a train Thursday night. He got into the car and kept directing the driver from one place to another. He would tell the driver what place to stop at. In some places people had to be roused, only to learn about the mystery. Nobody knew the man.

In all, nearly thirty miles were covered in the search for the place which the man had forgotten. He had a sum of money in his pocket when brought to the police headquarters.

The mystery remains unsolved as the man was not under arrest at the station but was merely given an evening's lodging. Nobody came to lay a charge against him. The taxi man had not charged any fare up against the man.

CIVIC UNIONS.

Down in Three Rivers, Quebec, they are fighting over the old question of whether the municipal police and firemen should be permitted to continue their labour unions.

The problem is one of many angles.

It is easy to understand how it might be difficult to enforce discipline in a police force that is organized as a union.

And yet, on the other hand, there are many people who think that civic employees should be permitted to organize themselves together for the protection of their interests and for the purpose of "collective bargaining."

The Three Rivers wrangle is simplified by the fact that under the rules of the policemen's union the men are forbidden to strike.

That removes one of the most important objections to civic unions.

It would be intolerable to have a city's protection against fire or against criminals jeopardized by the ever-present threat of the fire brigade or the police department going on strike whenever they wanted more money or whenever conditions arose that were not agreeable to the members.

The non-strike rule in Three Rivers removes this danger, and the clash over the matter is merely as to whether or not civic employees should be unionized.

THEY'RE COMING BACK.

According to statistics published by the Dominion Department of Immigration, former Canadians are returning to this country from the United States at the rate of 5,000 a month.

The repatriation of ex-citizens in such numbers will go a long way toward making up for the exodus to the United States last year, which attained formidable proportions and was regarded as a serious drain upon Canada's population.

The Canadians who are coming back have discovered that the stories of the ease with which splendid positions could be found and of the huge salaries paid across the line were not altogether true, and that there were disadvantages unthought of when they decided to try their luck over the border.

They have also found out that it is possible for the United States to have its periods of depression just as they occur now and then in this country.

And so many of the Canadians who left are coming back—to the satisfaction of those who realize their value to Canada and have no desire to have such material permanently lost to Canada.

It is natural that when industries are busy on one side of the border and dull on the other that there should be a considerable movement of people to the country offering the best chances of employment, and the return to Canada of 5,000 ex-Canadians every month is an indication that conditions here are looking brighter than in the United States.

DEATH AT THE CROSSING.

The level crossing menace continues to grow more serious, with three terrible accidents in three successive days in Central Ontario alone, and others recorded from different parts of the Continent.

What is to be done about it?

It is easy, on one hand, to say that there ought to be no grade crossings, and on the other, to point out that automobile drivers do not exercise sufficient care.

Both observations are true, of course, but the mere assertion of the truth does not help matters if nothing is done to make the crossings safe and to remind drivers of the deadly peril that faces them at these places.

The wiping out of all level crossings would solve the problem, but the cost of such an improvement, if undertaken immediately, would be prohibitive.

The worst of the death-traps should be protected, however, and the gradual abolition of the grade crossings should be regarded as essential.

In the meanwhile, however, it is necessary to concentrate efforts to compel caution on the part of motorists in view of the fact that unprotected crossings are all too numerous.

The fault in the majority of accidents lies not with the railway, but with the driver of the vehicle seeking to cross the rails.

In some sections in the United States the plan is being adopted of erecting a barrier near railway crossings, forcing drivers to guide their machines at a reduced speed as they approach the danger spot.

A general following of this method in the case of particularly dangerous crossings would have a very appreciable effect in reducing the number of fatalities, for the most reckless driver would be compelled to slow down and the approach of a train could not be overlooked.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

That Canada will have to look forward to a winter marked by more than the usual unemployment in spite of indications that conditions are improving, seems inevitable, and the action of the Federal Government in summoning a conference of representatives of building interests, manufacturers, labour organizations and municipalities is a commendable effort to decide upon a course of action.

It is not expected that out of a conference like this a permanent policy satisfactorily solving the whole problem of unemployment can arise, but at least the coming together of representatives of the various interests should bring forward valuable ideas that can be developed before the problem because acute.

Hon. Jas. Murdock, Minister of Labour, says that the unemployment situation at present is very uneven; in some centres the conditions are acute, in others about normal.

It is safe therefore to say that when such is the case in mid-summer with outdoor work at its height much more serious conditions can be expected when the cold weather comes.

Peterborough, as compared with other cities, has been rather fortunate this summer in the matter of unemployment, but it is too much to hope that we will escape the problem next winter.

The Ottawa conference is therefore of much interest locally, and there will be a general desire for the development of some policy that will relieve the situation.

"Passing the buck" from Federal Government to Provincial Government and on to the municipalities and then back again along the same chain does little to help the unemployed, so that a conference intended to seek a sound way out of the difficulty is welcome.

RUTHLESS SOVIET.

More than $60,000,000 have been spent by the people of the United States in extending relief to the famine stricken areas of Russia. Canada's contribution to the work of mercy has not been insignificant. It is characteristic of the humanitarianism of the two nations that, though they have not approved of the form of government in Russia, they have not let their prejudices in this regard restrict their charity, says the Hamilton Spectator. Now news has come by way of Berlin that the authorities at Moscow have established a strict censorship over news relating to the latest famine. It is known that hundreds of thousands of the peasantry are suffering acutely, not because of poor crop conditions at home, but because their ruthless Government leaders disposed of the splendid harvest abroad and created a food shortage that has already resulted in an appalling death toll.

It is declared that the intent of the censorship is to prevent the world from learning of the plight of the famine-stricken people at a time when the Soviet leaders are striving to obtain world recognition. In other words, they are prepared to sacrifice their own people to fulfill their own selfish ambitions for power. Much of the relief that was provided Russia was in the form of wheat. Russia having exported her own harvest, it would be ridiculous for the United States and Canada to again dispatch grain-laden ships to the famine zone. The new world can now only sympathize with these sorely-oppressed people whose leaders have made it extremely difficult for them to be again extended the hand of succor.

THE OCTOBER CONFERENCE.

The British Government has taken the right course in treating seriously the dangers that may suddenly spring up to alarm us—and possibly some day to wreck us—in the uncharted area of Dominion representation on Imperial delegations. We have had two recent demonstrations of what can happen in this hitherto little considered field; and no friend of Imperial unity—or, indeed, of continued Canadian existence—will relish the notion of risking any more of them.

It is very easy to make a telling case against Canadian persistence—if any one is foolish enough to do so. No British Government, of whatever party, has ever been so foolish as to try. Still there is a sense in which Canada has but little right to be represented. These International Conferences are practically all based upon the theory that the programs of the Powers engaged in them will be backed, if necessary, by military and naval force. Military force, given time enough, can be improvised; and Canada has shown that she can and will do it. But naval force, which is the chief arm of British power, must be prepared in advance; and Canada shows few signs of making adequate preparations of this sort.

We reverse the old American complaint—we demand representation without taxation, i.e., without paying our dues.

* * * *

But there is another way of looking at it.

Canada's indifference to naval power is a local condition. Neither Australia nor New Zealand enjoy the same detachment. They have no big neighbor to protect them from the only visible naval menace, awakening Asia. Consequently they build navies of their own; they contribute to the support of the Imperial Navy; and they are deeply concerned in such naval projects as the base at Singapore. This shows the reaction of the normal Overseas Dominion. Our reaction is abnormal, and for a very definite reason.

Some of us are very ashamed of this; but it will not help matters to ignore the facts. The problem before Empire-builders—as contrasted with mere futile critics of human weaknesses—is always how to take advantage of such conditions as may exist in order to secure the maximum amount of Imperial unity and co-operation. British statesmanship is always doing this all over the world; and its success in blending often unlikely forces into united and friendly support is the reason we have an Empire at all. If British statesmen had been contented to find fault with local inconsistencies and inexcusable delinquencies and even starting absurdities in the conduct of the peoples whom it was striving to weld together into an Empire, they would have suffered the fate of all barren critics, abysmal failure.

* * * *

The problem before them—and before us, in this case—is to wring success out of even the most unpromising conditions; and ours are certainly not that. This is especially easy in our case because the opponents of Imperial co-operation—if we may bluntly term them such—have blundered into exactly the wrong attitude toward this question of representation. If they wanted to keep out of "the quarrels of the Empire" and "free from Old World entanglements," their obvious course was to refuse to have anything to do with Leagues or Conferences dealing with these quarrels and entanglements. The shrewd Americans—whom many of them admire so much—saw this very clearly. Wanting to keep out of Europe, they refused to go into the League, and only meddle with international conferences when there is money to be made. —Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Complaints about cool weather in Ontario lose their force in the face of the announcement that Italy has had snow, the first on record during the summer months.

It is rumoured that Sir Adam Beck is to go to England to enter into hydro-electric operations. There is still plenty of work along this line for him in Ontario, however.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—The market at the Union Stock Yards was overloaded with cattle again this week and except in a couple of instances such as baby beeves and good to choice handyweight butchers prices declined further on those of the previous week. Receipts for the four days were close to 7,000 head and about 300 were left from last week. Commission men struggled hard against any reductions on Monday, but on heavy exports they had to give way and there was a drop of at least 20 cents a cwt., with a couple of the best loads topping the market at $7.80 a cwt. No others brought over $7.50 and the bulk of the steers were obtained close to $7.

Heifers for exprot cost from $6.25 to $6.75 and a fair number of stores averaged about $6.50. The Old Country market has dropped a dollar a cwt. on cattle and this has to be met at this end. Local butchers were concerned not only in butchers below 1,000 lbs. each. There were not too many of these and prices scarcely receded at all from last week. The best handyweights did not get above $6.75 a cwt. Good handyweights were $6.25 to $6.75 and mediums $5.25 to $5.75. A lot of poor butchers from 700 to 800 lbs. sold all the way from $3.50 to $4.50 a cwt. and this took in quite a number of Westerns which came down this week.

Baby beeves are the ideal butchers for summer beef and the competition for the small number of these on sale held prices firm if not higher than last week. Prices were as high at $10 a cwt. and two over 800 lbs. each were sold at that figure. The range was from $7.50 to $10 with the bulk from $8 to $9 a cwt. Butchers' cows were reasonably steady, though very few sold at $5 a cwt. The majority of the good cows brought only $4.50. Medium cows were $3.50 and $3.75 and common cows $3.00 to $3.25. Bulls were lower by 25 cents a cwt. and more in some cases. Those bought for export did not average over $4 a cwt.

Rough, heavy steers were hard to place at any kind of price and a number in the yards for over two weeks were sent back to the country at $6 and $6.25 a cwt. The stocker and feeder trade is not good as few farmers were able to get in. Some clean-cut stockers sold at $4 a cwt. this week. Western light stockers went below $3.50 and a number remained unsold. A load of well-bred short keeps were taken at $6.50 a cwt. Springers are in better demand and good ones realized over $90 each. There will be a market here on Monday and the exporters will buy a full supply of steers, heifers and stores, but the commission men are pleading with shippers to keep any unfinished cattle in the country for the present.

Calves held a steady market the fore part of the week and choice vealers brought 9½ and 10 cents a pound. On Wednesday and Thursday prices dropped a dollar a cwt. with tops scarcely reaching 9 cents. The Jewish holiday will cut off quite a demand for next week and excess supplies will probably find an outlet in Buffalo if that market holds up. Heavy calves are the drag in this section and sales have to be made at 5 cents a pound.

Lamb prices reacted late in the week, the extent of the drop being about 75 cents a cwt. Top lambs are not worth more than 15 cents at the week-end and buck lambs not above 13 cents. Light ewe sheep are quite firm at 5½ to 7½ cents.

Hogs are up $1.50 a cwt. for the week, following the smart advance in the States. Feed prices have had a big rise and the upward swing does not look to be a temporary one. Hogs sold here on Thursday morning at $10.50 a cwt. off cars and some cars were diverted to Buffalo this week. Local packers are trying to bring prices back some next week if they can.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 1. — Bear estimates of the 1924 domestic wheat crop had a depressing effect on the wheat values to-day, and so, too, did increased hedging sales of newly harvested wheat. Closing prices for wheat were heavy 1 5-8 to 2 1-8c lower, with September $1.30 5-8 $1.30 3-4, and December $1.34 1-8 to $1.34 1-4. Corn scored 1 1-8c to 4 1-2c gain; oats finished unchanged to 1-8c lower and provisions unchanged to 20c higher.

According to current private estimates, the wheat crop in the United States, as judged at present, suggests 46,000,000 bushels greater yield than was indicated a month ago and is about equal to last year's final returns. Under such circumstances the wheat market soon underwent a material setback in price, with selling given further impetus by liberal receipts, especially at Kansas city and Chicago.

GOLD BUG FREE.

Stings Prospectors in Rhodesia and Drives Them to Frantic Effort.

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia, Aug. 2.—Gold prospecting is very active throughout Rhodesia and so keen are the prospectors in pegging out claims that eight of them slept throughout the freezing cold one night on the site of a dead miner's forfeited gold claim, known as Mick's Luck, near Essex Vale, at one time the home of the famous explorer, F. C. Selous.

As soon as it was daylight there was a wild stampede among the men to erect the customary discovery notices. Motor cars had arrived for two of the competing amateurs, who apparently thought that first registration of a claim at the mines office in Bulawayo established a prior right to it. These two men had a furious race to Bulawayo, covering the distance of 30 miles over the rough veldt road in 45 minutes.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentry, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the house where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FABLES ON HEALTH

STAND UP STRAIGHT.

"Stand up straight!" ordered Mr. Mann's physical director, slapping him on the back as he went stooping down the street.

"If you want to avoil self-poisoning, stand erect.

"Few people realize the fundamental reason for keeping an erect posture. The scientific idea is just this: In an erect position the abdominal musles tend to remain taut, thus affording proper support and pressure to the abdomen.

"When a slouching position is habitually indulged in the abdominal blood is likely to stagnate in the liver and bring about a sensation of despondency and fatigue. It leads to constipation, bad circulation and other ills.

"Why, I've known men to surprise even themselves by standing up straight for as little as three weeks."

COAT HANGERS.

Wind elastic bands about the ends of your clothes hangers and you will have no trouble with the clothes slipping from them.

WHITE BRAIDING

White braiding is used effectively on black and navy blue dresses for fall. Braiding in red or black is also featured.

LINES CURVED.

The slightly circular line about the hemline is much more popular than the square, straight one, though the wrapped skirt is probably most popular of all.

WILL IMPROVE OSHAWA HARBOR

Public Works Department Issued Details Regarding Construction.

NEW HOTEL, TOO.

OSHAWA, Aug. 1.—Tenders have been called for the construction of a breakwater and other improvements at Oshawa Harbor. Notices were posted to-day by the Departmentof Public Works of Canada and specifications as to construction issued The department declared time to be the essence of the contract, which must be completed within fifteen months from the date it is let and work must start immediately following the award.

Oshawa is to have a brand-new and up-to-date modern hotel, containing from sixty to seventy-five rooms. For some time local interests and outside hotelmen have been quietly negotiating for a new hotel here. The whole project is nearing completion and in the course of a few days an announcement will be made regarding the personnel of those back of the hotel, the site it is to occupy and all other facts relating to the ventuse. It will be remembered that some months ago a movement was made to have the United Hotels, Limited, build and operate a hotel in Oshawa. That hotel was to cost in the neighborhood of $300,000 and was to be controlled by the United Hotels, although local people were asked to put up a considerable proportion of the capital. That project fell through, the feeling being that such a hotel was too large for this city.

The ban on high floats in the Old Home Week street parade next Monday evening has been removed, and they may now be built to any height.

Mayor W. J. Trick this afternoon proclaimed Monday, Aug. 4, Civic Holiday and a public holiday, and, as has been the custom of past years, all business operations in this city will be suspended for the day. Proclamation was not made until to-day, it being considered that, as preparation had been made in this respect for Old Home Week celebration, it was unnecessary, but the formality was adhered to, and His Worship made the order.

The funeral of the late Dennis Deneen, well-known former Oshawan, whose death occurred here on Monday at the General Hospital, following a short illness which he contracted while on a visit to his mother, was held this morning from the residence of Mrs. T. J. Sheridan, 271 Celina street, to St. Gregory's Church, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Bench, assisted by Rev. Father O'Reilly.

Fewer But Better Churches

Congregational Churches Ask in Annual Report For New Aim.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.— (United Press.)—The annual report of the congregational churches of the United States has just been made public. A summary made by Rev. Charles E. Burton, the secretary, shows a notable tendency towards "fewer churches but better." The denomination reports a loss of one hundred and ten churches, but an increase of 3,322 members. The average membership per church, taking the country over, increased from 147 per church to over 150 members per church. This is accounted for by three reasons:

First, the concentration of population in cities from the country, thus making the continuance of rural churches impossible.

Second, the wide use of the automobile allows many country dwellers to go to the town church.

Third, the growing spirit of church union or federation which brings about the union of two or more small churches of various denomiantions into one strong church.

During the year 33 new churches were organized, and 143 were closed or mergfied into churches of other denominations. Property values have increased by $8,412,461, bringing it up to $132,388,237. Invested funds of the churches amount to $15,343,948, being an increase of $824,550 in the year.

The annua l budget of the churches reporting amount to $18,261,691, which is $1,470,936 more than the preceding year. This does not include the benevolences of the churches, which total 5,366,181, or $153,965 more than the preceding year.

3 MOSCOW BOYS TIRE OF HOME

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.— Three Russian youths named Knyazeff, Pliestch and Freundburg have left Moscow on bicycle tour of the world which they expect to encircle in two years. Their route will take them to Kazan, Ekaterburg and Vladivostok and then to Japan where the remainder of the journey will be mapped out. They expect to cross the United States late in 1925.

CIRCUS DAY ON THE WAY

A few days now and there will roll out of the dawn, the great truckling wagons of the Sparks Circus, in Peterboro, for a one day's stay, Thursday, August 14. From nowhere it will appear to come, the great tents will go magically into the air—it will seem that the great mushroom growth "just happened," but it didn't.

For months the men have been working that the Sparks Circus might come to Peterboro. And when it arrives, it will mean that the efforts of more than a hundred men, who have gone before it, have been successful.

The first man to start in the advance of a circus is the first contracting agent. His task is to prepare the way for the coming of others. Then there starts, three weeks before the circus, the No. 1 Advertising Car, carrying twenty-five billposters, lithographers, banner tackers and others. A few days and there comes the first press agent. Then comes the second contracting agent. Then the No. 2 car with twenty-five more men. Another wait and still another press agent. Then a week before the show comes the third car with more men. And should this be not enough, there is a brigade of eight men who are supposed to work as hard and do as much as the sixty or seventy men on the three cars.

But the list isn't complete yet. There arrive the programmers who pass out small billing and the heralds. And then, just to see that everything has been done right, there arrive the "checkers up" who go over the work done by everyone and see that it has been done correctly. And even then, the work is not ended.

For there yet must come the twenty-four hour men who notify every person seen by the contracting agents, just when the circus is to arrive and when the supplies must be on the lot. And so, when the Sparks Circus comes here, there will be nothing of the 'happen so' about its arrival. For a hundred men have gone before it—and never a detail is neglected—even to the routing of the parade and the bumps in the road that lead from the railroad tracks to the lot. But the work of a circus doesn't show on the surface. And it shouldn't. For if there's anything that should show its romantic side, it is the place of glaring chandeliers and sprinkled wood shavings—the circus.

Seats can be secured Circus day at Payne's Drug Store at the same price as at show grounds.

Circus prices — Children under 9 years of age, 30 cents; Adults 75 cents.

Sparks Circus will exhibit at the Exhibition Grounds.

YOU FEEL YOU WANT TO BUY IT.

A while ago there was a wide difference in price between ordinary teas and the best—and you naturally hesitated to buy the best. Now the once cheap teas are double what they were, while the best—RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA—is still only 45c a ½ lb package, only 7c more than other package teas. It's so strong, too, it goes much farther. You really save money by using it. You ought to try it.

ENGLAND SEEKING LEAGUE APPROVAL

Draft Instrument of Terms of English Mandate Over Mesopotamia To Be Presented.

GENEVA, August 1.—(AP). — When the Council of the League of Nations meets in August, just before the assembly which opens September 1, it will be asked by Great Britain to approvea draft instrument setting forth the conditions under which England is expected to carry out the mandate over Iraq, or Mesopotamia. Instead of the customary mandate arrangement which applies to the Pacific Ocean islands and other mandated lands like Syria and Palestine, Great Britain has inserted her mandate obligations in a bilateral treaty which the Bagdad parliament recently ratified.

The council will be requested to agree that the mandate shall be implemented by a treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Iraq, and to approve an arrangement by which the treaty of alliance shall terminate when Iraq becomes a member of the League of Nations. In any case the treaty of alliance comes to an end not later than four years from the coming into force of the Treaty of Lausanne. The consent of the council is required for any modification of the terms of the alliance it shall be submitted to the terms of the alliance, and England promises that if any dispute should arise between England and any other member of the League over the interpretation of the alliance, it shall be submitted to the world court of justice, if it cannot be settled by direct negotiation.

The military agreement which forms an annex to the main treaty provides that Iraq accepts full responsibility for the maintenance of internal order and for the defence of Iraq from external aggression. With this end in view, it is agreed that the material support now being rendered by Great Britain shall be progressively reduced with all possible expedition. Future British assistance will take the form of stationing adequate British forces in Iraq, of the granting of facilities for military and earonautical instruction of Iraq officers in England and the furnishing of arms, ammunition and aeroplanes for Iraq army.

Article six of the main treaty stipulates that the King of England under takes to use his good offices to secure the admission of Iraq into the League of Nations as soon as possible.

SMALL COINS SCARCE.

Russia Is Unable To Meet Demand For Small Coins.

LENINGRAD, Aug. 2.—With the introduction of new metal currency in Russia, the Soviet government is experiencing great difficulty in coining sufficient money in small denominations to meet the public demand and is turning to the United States for additional minting machinery. It has also placed an order with the British Royal Mint in London for the manufacture of 40,000,000 half-ruble silver pieces. These have a value of 25 cents and consist of nine parts of silver and one of copper.

While silver coins of 10 kopeks, 15 kopeks and 20 kopeks have been in circulation for some time, no copper money has yet been minted, as the state-controlled factory, to which the government awarded a large contract for minting copper pieces, has failed to produce sufficient coins to meet the demandse of the Soviet republic.

PEOPLE "ALL NERVES"

What To Do If You Find Yourself In This Condition.

The sort of thing that specialists speak of as nervous debility is the run-down condition caused by overwork, household cares or worries. The sufferers find themselves tired, morose, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise startles and sets the heart palpitating violently. They are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. The hands tremble and the legs feel as if they would give way, following a walk or any exertion. The whole condition of such people may be described as pitiable.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of new rich blood. Therefore the treatment for nervousness and run-down health is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which promptly build up and enrich the blood. The revived appetite, the strong nerves, improved spirits and new strength which comes after a course of these pills will delight every sufferer.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GARDEN PARTY FROCK

(By Hedda Hoyt.)

(United Press.)—Nearly every woman attends at least one garden party during hte season. If she doesn't, she will at least want a party during the season. If she of things boyish has sent women hunting for the purely feminine frock. And where can one better wear the dainty summer frock than the garden party?

The garden parties which are held on the estates of Long Island and Westchester give proof of what's what for smart summer wear. Never have dresses been so luxuriously lace trimmed so fragile as to texture or so lovely as to coloring.

There are the all-lace gowns the lace and net combinations organdies printed chiffons and fluffy tulles. Colors follow pastel shades rather than brilliant ones as bright colors are left more for sports wear. Yellow predominates at the garden party as it does for evening and sports wear. Soft orchids and rose shades give yellow a rather close second. Black and white is also a favorite color combiantion and all white is popular providing it is touched up with color.

Of the lace frock columns could be written but suffice to say that there is no formal gathering where the lace frock is not in evidence. Just now ecru lace posed over black, is the most popular effect. White lace and net combined is worn over a peach colored slip. Taupe lace over self color is lovely and black over peach, flesh or tan is good. While many frocks use the all-lace vogue, the most recent adaptations combine lace with net, chiffon or georgette. Wide laces with open weave are preferred to narrow laces.

A Satin Sash.

The lace frock is nearly always held about the low waistline with a satin sash of harmonizing shade.

Two-toned organdies with many ruffled skirts are chosen by the younger set for the garden party frock. The off-shoulder neckline is often used and sleeves are conspicuously absent. Where two-toned organdy forms the frock two shades of ribbon are used about the waist and fall in streamer effect at one side. Often odd little nosegays finish the ends of the streamers.

Flower-figured chiffons are to my mind the loveliest of garden party frocks, for they are veritable gardens within themselves. White backgrounds with roses and green leaves figured on the material are adorable worn over a very pale rose or pale green slip.

Hats which accompany the garden party frock are invariably large this year. Capelins, horsechairs and all transparent bairds are popular and pastel shades matching the frock are generally used. An orchid chiffon frock with finely pleated tunic augments its color scheme by using a hat of light green horsehair trimmed in orchids. Again such a gown may use the orchid colored hat, thus keeping the entire scheme in orchid.

While a few pastel-toned shoes such as orchid, yellow, blue, etc., are worn matching the garden party frock, the general trend seems to be toward the light champagne shoe and stocking or the popular black satin shoe with nude-toned hosiery.

One notices few jewels worn with the summery afternoon out-of-door frock. Perhaps this is, because the popular semi-precious crystal, jade, carnelian, etc. are too heavy for the flimsy frock. Earrings are not nearly so popular as they have been. In fact, with the exceptions of necklaces and bracelets, there is little or no jewelry worn. White jewelry is quite popular and coral ping is also a favorite for the summery occasion. Pink-dyed bone beads either plain or with carving are very new and pretty.

One doesn't wear gloves these days, even to the most formal garden party. Parasols, however, are considered indispensible and whether opened or closed, tend to complete one's outfit. Ruffled taffeta parasols with painted wooden handles are often chosen to accofpany the summery frock. Apricot is a popular shade for the parasol and often is carried with the ecru lace frock which is worn over an apricot slip. Black and white lace effects are decidedly smart. The white parasol is often covered with black lace.

PRINCE'S CHEF POPULAR IDOL

Monsieur de Gerog Receives on Average 200 a Day, With Photographs.

GOES WITH PRINCE.

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The movie hero isn't the only man that gets fan letters these days—not by any means.

Monsieur de Gerog receives on the average of 200 a day, with photographs, presents and promises thrown in, and he's never been an actor in his life.

But he has been a caterer to the royal English family for many years. He accompanies the well-known Prince of Wales on all of his trips, and knows that young gentleman's likes and dislikes pretty well by this time.

Since he arrived in this country in advance of the prince, who is not due until August, he is besieged with requests from women from all over this country begging him to arrange the introduction—and they will do the rest.

"Alas," he confided to me, "they do not know how hard this is. "Unless there is a public reception—and the prince hates these—there will be very little chance. And all requests must be taken up with the private secretary of the prince and with Vice Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey—and there is much red tape."

Then remembering the one sure route to a man's affections, he passed on this information about what his royal highness likes to eat.

"For luncheon, English food, roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, and substantial foods; for dinner, French cooking. He is very fond of game and cares very little for mixed drinks or champagne. His favorite drink is Scotch and soda."

The recipes for the prince's favorite meat dish and salad he also divulged, and here they are:

Breast of Chicken, Calcutta Style.

For this you need the breasts from three-and-one-half or four-pound chickens, seasoned with salt inside and out. First take some white onions, very finely chopped, and fry in butter until they are a light brown in color. Peel one raw apple and chop very fine and let it simmer with the onions for another 10 minutes. Then spread over this mixture Indian curry powder and wet the whole with chicken broth until it forms a light green colored sauce.

Boil this slowly for about an hour and a half and then strain through a sieve. Then pour over the chicken breasts in a casserole and cook from 35 to 40 minutes. Just before you serve it you mix a little grated fresh cocoanut and a little double cream with the sauce to thicken it.

You serve this with rice which is prepared this way: Put a piece of butter in a pan with a few chopped white onions that have been allowed to heat but not brown. Then put in a cup of rice and mix the rice with the onions and butter and add two cups of chicken broth seasoned with salt and white pepper. Cover and place in the oven 18 minutes. Then remove at once from the dish in which it was cooked.

Use the rice as a garnish around the chicken and sauce. Serve with Indian chutney.

WOULD DELIVER COAL MONTHLY

Idea in Practice Would Prevent Overcrowding at Certain Seasons.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 1—(AP).—Elimination of the seasonal demand for coal would be "a blessing to the industry and to the public in general," says the United Mine Workers Journal official publication of the United Mine Workers of America. The statement was made in discussing the recommendation of the American Engineering Council that seasonal storage of coal would cut the public's coal bill, eliminate danger of coal famine and stabilize the industry.

The plain of having the public purchase its coal on annual contracts for yearly requirements with a provision that the coal be delivered monthly in equal allotments long has been advocated, the article points out adding that under the present conditions 47 per cent of the idle time of the industry is caused by the seasonal demand for fuel. It wa ssuggested that the council's recommendation also might help solve the problems of too many mines and too many miners.

SEEK TO MAKE PARADISE.

Florida Will Vote on Abolition of Inheritance and Income Taxes.

TALLAHASSE, Fla., Aug. 2.—(AP).— A proposal to amend the state constitution so as to provide that no inheritance tax or income tax shall ever be levied by Florida will be voted upon by the people of th's state in the general election next fall.

The proposal was submitted to the voters in a resolution adopted by the last session of the legislature, in 1923. Under provisions of the proposed amendment heads of families would, should it be adopted be exempt from taxation on household goods and nersonal effects to the value of $500.

SUGGEST HEATING POLICE GARAGE

Frost Caused Radiator to Burst and Excessive Repairs to Motorcycle.

Characteristic of the quiet month of July, when civic business reaches the low level of the year, very little came before the meeting of the Police Commission held yesterday afternoon, other than the regular monthly accounts.

A bill from H. T. Millard amounting to $140.71 for the repairing of the police motorcycle, which Chief Newhall explained would probably not have exceeded $60 or $65 had a properly heated garage been provided for its storage appraised the members of the necessity of heating the garage at the rear of the Police Station, where the car and motorcycle were both kept last winter.

The frost not only wrought havoc on the finer parts of the motorcycle but caused the radiator of the police car to burst on one occasion.

Realizing that it is poor economy to pay substantial repair bills, when a few dollars expended in heating the place would preserve the equipment, Mayor Turner was deputed to take the matter up with the City Trust.

It was suggested that if a radiator could be connected with the heating system of the municipal buildings the matter would be remedied.

Nicolas Renzetti's application for a license to conduct a second hand store on Charlotte street was granted, on the report of Chief Newhall.

A communication from the Safety Silent Police Company elaborating on the effectiveness of their product in police administration and offering to allow the city to purchase after ten days free trial was received. No silent policemen for Peterboro as the members passed lightly over the offer, without considering it.

Payment of the following accounts was authorized:

Charles Cheu, $11.50; Mrs. M. Fowler, $10; Fanning's Laundry, $3.96; Peterboro Utilities Commission, $4.70; Peterboro Examiner, $6; $36.30; Bell Telephone Co., $10.98; R. J. Soden, $2.50; White and Ackford, $24.35; City of Peterboro, Fitzgerald & Co., $2.50; H. T. Millard, $140.71; Canadian National Telegraphs, $2.53; J. J. Turner, $5.98; Samuel Newhall, $54.00 (expenses to Canadian Chief Constables and International conventions); G. R. Record, $1.

There were present at the meeting His Honor Judge Huyeke (chairman), Mayor J. J. Turner and Magistrate Langley.

Rev. Mr. Aitken of Parkhill District Was Special Preacher.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 1.—Rev. M. Aitken, who comes from Parkhill district in Western Ontario, was the preacher at Burnbrae ond Rylstone last Sabbath.

Mr. Aitken's morning subject was "The accelerating forces in life." The scriptural connection was John 12:3: "The house was filled with the odour of the ointment." In the evening his text was Phil. 1:21: "To me to live is Christ." He stressed the point that man was a wonderful creation and should have a high ideal. Christ was that supreme ideal.

It is interesting to Burnbrae people to learn that Mr. Aitken comes from a charge formerly occupied by Rev. John Moore, now of Strathroy, a former pastor of Burnbrae and Rylstone.

SLAPS SOLDIER STARTS REVOLT

Rebellion Against Federal Government Fired By Arrogance of French Officer.

MAN SHOT.

By MILES W. VAUGHN

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(United Press).—The arrogance of a young French lieutenant, who slapped a careless Brazilian soldier, is one of the immediate causes of the uprising which has thrown the Brazilian state of Sao Paulo into the turmoil of rebellion against the federal government.

The soldier, a member of the Sao Paulo state army, shot and killed the Frenchman and was extolled as a hero by his indignant comrades.

The lieutenant was a meber of the French military mission which had been instructing the Sao Paulo army for several years, raising it to a point of efficiency where it prided itself on being the finest body of troops in South America.

Discussion of the incident was widespread throughout Brazil and caused an immediate breach between the state government and its military establishment. Soldiers held mass meetings and adopted resolutions demanding immediate withdrawal of the mission. State Governor de Campos replied by offering the French a new contract.

The army flamed with the spirit of mutiny, and young soldiers, many of them sons of the old and wealthy coffee barons, got in touch with other dissatisfied groups wishing to tear the state away from the Brazilian union.

Government Fails to Intervene

Within a month a plot with ramifications in half a dozen states was under way, and the fegueral government failed to intervene, although informed by its secret agents.

The matter finally came to a head when the new contract with the French mission was prepared for Governor de Campos' signature. The army considered this a direct slap in the face and added to the blow given military prestige by the crushing of the Rio revolt in 1922, determined on rebellion at once.

The plot was sprung at midnight, July 4, just two years to the hour after the beginning of the disastrous Rio revolt.

Soldiers overpowered officers known not to be in sympathy with the movement, called on the federal garrison at Santa Ana barracks for support, and seized public buildings.

Governor Flees.

Governor de Campos was forced to flee and federal units sent against the rebels from the port city of Santos were repulsed with heavy losses.

The rebels issued a manifesto calling for a temporary government, assumed control of food stores and factories and prepared for a long battle.

Leaders even insolently telephoned President Bernardes in his palace in Rio announcing that the existing regime had been overthrown and that any dealings he might wish to have with the people of Sao Paulo must be made through the temporary military administration.

Bernardes at once declared martial law, called on the country for support and sent strong reinforcements to Santos, from which the invasion of Sao Paulo was begun.

INSECT HORDES INFEST FOREST

Caterpillars of Pine Tree Lappet-Moth Threaten Pine Districts.

TREES SEEM ALIVE.

BRESLAU, Aug. 2.—Thousands of acres of pine forests along the border line between Germany and Poland are in danger of being destroyed by countless million of caterpillars of the pine tree lapptt-moth which have infested the districts in greater numbers than has ever been known, according to German foresters who have appealed to the Berlin government for aid. Tar and various other so-called remedies have been tried but without success in efforts to exterminate the pest and officials have been considering asking the League of Nations for permission to use airplanes and poison gas.

In the forest where fresh tar has been put about the tree trunks the caterpillars merely overran the tar to such an extent that a covering of the dead caterpillars thus entrapped was quickly formed, over which their followers reached the tree branches and leaves were soon devoured by the rapacious insects. Experts say the only hope of saving many of Germany's great pine forests would be by the use of poison gas, but they are not even certain that this would work successfully in putting an end to the plague. The officials, however, are eager to try this method as an experiment.

To a person walking through the infested forests, either during the day or night, the sound of the caterpillars eating the leaves may be heard on all sides to such an extent that the trees appear to be alive, the sound reminding one of an unseen cracking fire when old leaves and young branches are being burned. The plague has spread to some of the forests near Berlin, according to reports to the forestry department, and millions of marks of irreparable damage has already been done.

BEAM WIRELESS DEAL APPROVED

Arrangement With Marconi Company For Communication With Canada.

EMPIRE SERVICE.

LONDON, Aug. 2. — (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons yesterday approved of the agreement tmade by the Post-master General Hon. Vernon Hartshorn, with the Marconi Company for the erection of a "beam" wireless station in Great Britain for communication with Canada. Mr. Hartshorn last week announced in the House that he was arranging with the Marconi company for the beam station and said then that an agreement between the government and the company would be submitted shortly to the House for its approval.

The Post-Master General said that he understood arrangements were now being made with Australia and South Africa for the erection of a beam station in each of these Dominions, as already had been arranged in Canada.

Replying to criticisms Mr. Hartshorn contended that if at the end of 12 months the government took over the service, all the stipulated guarantees having been complied with, it would be a substantial and profitable business. He expressed the hope that the erection of the beam station in Great Britain would be begun almost immediately after the ratification of the agreement.

HUNGER FORMS CRIME MOTIVE

Civil War, Revolution and Famine Have Made Life Cheap in Russia.

KILLINGS DAILY.

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—Civil war, revolution and famine have made life cheap in Russia. Every day the papers are full of accounts of men and women who either have killed themselves or murdered others for the most trivial causes. Hunger and penury often furnish the chief motives for the constantly recurring murders. One of the most striking cases recently was that of Dousya Golovkina, a beautiful girl of 17, who killed her girl companion in order to realize $5 on the sale of her clothing. This was the second instance within a week where a woman murdered another in order to get her clothing.

Without the slightest trace of emotion or remorse, Miss Golovkina explained to the judge of the Moscow Criminal Court that she had borrowed $5 from a woman acquaintance to give to her lover, a youth of 19, and as she found it impossible to repay the debt, she enticed her girl companion to her home, while her parents were out. She directed her previously to dress in her best clothes, as they were "going to a ball."

While the girl was looking at a photograph on the wall of the home, to which her host had directed her attention, Miss Golovkina crept up stealthily from behind and struck her on the head with a heavy hammer. She then dragged the lifeless body into another room, where she cut it in seven parts, burying each part separately in her yard.

Miss Golovkina took the clothing of the murdered girl to her fiance, who sold it for $10, of which he spent five on drink, giving the balance to the woman from whom his sweetheart had borrowed the $5.

Five alienists who examined the young slayer pronounced her normal, saying she was capable of realizing the responsibility for her act. The Judge, on account of her youth, gave her only five years, while her fiance was let off with a similar sentence.

NEGLECTED ITEMS INCREASE HAZARD

Insignificant Detail Conducted One Fire From Floor to Floor.

Commenting on the neglect of small details which often increases the first risk and causes losses to fire insurance companies, the Western Canada Insurance Club reviews the circumstances of a fire in a large Winnipeg building. It says:

"This building was considered one of the best mill-constructed buildings in Western Canada, but, owing to detail in the construction which seemed insignificant the fire was communicated from floor to floor and caused a loss of upwards of half a million dollars.

"The fire started, presumably, in a light wooden cupboard built against the furnace and using one wall of the furnace as a cupboard wall; in this 'cubby-hole' were kept janitor's supplies, in this case consisting of the usual accumulation of dust cloths, etc., a mattress, shelving and a large wooden box. It is supposed that the heat of the furnace thrown into this badly ventilated structure caused spontaneous combustion and the fire quickly caught the flimsy walls. The fire was communicated from floor to floor through an air space created by the reduction in size, at each floor, of the wooden posts supporting the beams carrying the floors. The posts were placed one upon the other, the beams being carried on a metal bracket, the reduction in size of the posts caused an air space of from one-quarter of an inch to half an inch around the posts at each floor and it was by the draft caused by this small opening that the fire was carried.

"Here is a case of a first class fire risk being practically totally destroyed by a fire which could have easily been prevented by the construction of a substantial, well-lighted and ventilated janitor's cupboard and the spread of the fire could have been stopped by a few feet of ornamental moulding around the base of the posts at each floor."

UNION OF ALL WAR VETERANS

New Organization Would Unite Ex-Service Men of All Wars.

ALLIED FORCES.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 2.—The American Veteran and Allied Patriotic Organization has been formed with temporary national headquarters here, and application made for incorporation in the District of Columbia "as a national patriotic organization with its chief purposes "to perfect and maintain an alliance by and between all veteran organizations of all wars in which America has been engaged, and all patriotic societies connected therewith."

Besides the general council, or national executive body, it is planned to establish state and local councils for the purpose of promoting and co-ordinating patriotic activities and "to promote humanity, a proper reverence for the dead; Americanism is the broadest sense; to encourage proper observance of all patriotic days and to inculcate and teach the highest forms of American citizenship.

The constitution provides that "all veteran organizations and patriotic societies are eligible to active membership in the American Veteran and Allied Patriotic Organization by subscribing to rules and regulations set forth in the constitution, and by loyal adherence to its tenets, which in no wise limit or circumscribe the individual activities of the various constituent bodies."

It is provided further that "any organization which is performing constructive community service may, upon application, be admitted to associate membership in general, state or local councils, their rights in convention to be restricted to representation without vote."

YOUTHS ACCUSED OF MANY CRIMES

Winterbourne Robbers Alleged to Have Made a Confession of Entries.

ELMIRA, Aug. 1.—That the Winterbourne robbery which took place early on the morning of July 18, was part of a systematic scheme of burglaries taking place throughout Western Ontario, is being learned by Provincial police as the result of confessions by those arrested by the Provincial authorities following the escapade at Burnet Brothers' store, near here, when a trio of thugs were rounded up as a result of the plucky fight of the wife of one of the firm partners when confronted by the burglars. All three of the men alleged to have taken part in that affair are now in the hands of the authorities.

Zibiski, who was the last man at his home between Winterbourne and New Germany. He was discovered hiding in the hayloft. The prisoners were submitted to a questioning, it is said, and as a result, it is reported, the police obtained confessions showing an amazing network of crime and criminals connected through an underworld of lawlessness which embraced many centers where store robberies have recently been perpetrated and have hitherto remained unsolved.

As a result of information received from the Winterbourne prisoners, Joseph Heitzman of Waterloo was arrested recently, charged with robbing men's furnishing store in Hanover on July 10. The police are of the opinion that the Hanover robbery is related in turn with those at Orangeville and Meaford. Robberies at Neutstadt and Collingwood are also mentioned as probably being connected with the same gang.

A farmer at Lichtenburg, South Africa, recently found a crow that had choked to death on a 7½-carat diamond.

The shed contained it is said about twenty-thousand dollars worth of the output of the mill, part of the season's work.

GROUND AERIAL FREE END

A new preventive against local interference from power lines and electrical machinery has been devised by a French amateur.

He grounded the free end of the aerial.

His method is to connect a heavy wire to that end and bring it direct to the ground. The heavier the wire the better, to reduce resistance to a minimum.

The other end of the antenna is brought to the receiver and thence to the ground as usual.

WHEN THE BABIES ARE CUTTING TEETH THE MOTHER SHOULD USE

During baby's teething time, especially in the hot summer months, the bowels become loose and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps, etc. manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, and cankers form in the mouth.

This is the time when the mother should use "Dr. Fowler's," and, perhaps, save the baby's life.

ADMITS HE KILLED FOURTEEN YOUTHS

Vampire Man Is Unmoved by Terrible Crimes—Was a Stool Pigeon.

BERLIN, August 2. — (United Press.) — Unmoved at the enormity of his crimes, Herr Haarmann, Hanover's "vampre murderer," has confessed to killing 14 youths, dumping their bones into the Leine River, and proceeding to hunt even more victims.

The police, whose stool pigeon he was, charge now that he killed at least 22, but Haarmann sitting in solitary confinement in the town jail at Hindenburg's home town, swears it "was only 14." Beyond that he will not go. He refuses details of his operations and of the strange bloodlust that caused him to lure youths to his den in the shadow of police headquarters at Hannover, and there slaughter them by tearing open their throats, ampire-like, and sucking the blood.

Nor will he tell the police anything to help them clear up the mystery of how he succeeded n a period of three years to slaughter so many victims, without ever being suspected of such gross crimes. The police now recall that he had been held previously because some of his male acquaintances disappeared mysteriously, but they were unable to pin anything on to him. And it was only a short time ago that the Leine began giving up its dead, which finally opened the eyes of the police about their stool pigeon Haarmann.

Sold Flesh as Meat.

They swooped down on his den used as an old clothes shop and meat market and found some indications of his murdeous pursuits; likewise made the revolting discovery that Haarmann, like the famous Berlin butcher murderer, Grossman, may have sold some of his victims' flesh as meat.

Further digging brought to light the character of Haafmann's activities. The Leine was drained and yielded up many bags of incriminating bones—mute evidence of Haarman's murderous lust.

The police then unravelled a bit of the complicated story. Haarmann, and an accomplice, lured youths to the den with promises of money, and sometimes also telling them that they would be entertained by his mythical "beautiful 14 year old daughter."

Worked Railroad Station.

Haarmann operated chiefly around the Hannover railroad station.

He had a false police document, permitting him entrance to the building at all hours of the day and night. Here he found unemployed youths, who had no homes, and besought them to share his quarters.

Most of the homeless needed no urging. They went willingly with the vampire, who gave them to eat, and offered them a bed wherein to sleep.

But as they slept, Haarmann killed them, openng the jugular vein with his fang-like teeth. Then he chopped up the bodies and threw in sacks, into the Leine.

Let out of Asylum.

That Haarmann escaped the hand of the law so long has caused a storm of public anger in Hannover. Haarmann, it develops, was at one time in an insane asylum, but was let out again despite the fact that the authorities then established that he was not "accountable" for any deeds that he might commit. The public rage is the deeper since it has developed that Haarmann was permitted to engage in a number of shady deals simply because he helped the police with his stool-pigeon activities.

The affair has even taken on a political aspect. Efforts are being made to "get" District President Noske (former war minister) because of the link between the authorities and the vampire.

Haarmann is a tall, gorilla-like man.

From Respectable Family.

He comes of a respectable family, who wanted to place him in the army But it developed soon that he was mentally and physically unfit for the officer career. Thereafter he sank rapidly into the depths of vice and degeneracy, going from theft and swindling to murder in its crassest forms.

When the case comes to trial experts will be called in, and under the German law Haarmann, despite the horribleness of his crimes, will be leniently dealt with if it is proven that he is a victim of a degeneracy complex which he could not master.

CHILD BADLY HURT.

Girl Catapulted Through the Windshield and Clings to Radiator.

LONDON, Ont., August 1. — Little Tennes Tanner, daughter of A. T. Tanner, 605 Dundas street, East London, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon when she was thrown through the windshield of her father's car as result of a collision with another motor. She was later removed to her home. Mr. Tanner was driving west on King street, when a car driven by George Wallace of Thamesford, going east, attempted to turn north on to Maitland street

The motors met head on and the little girl, aged five, was catapulted clean through the heavy glass of the windshield and clung screaming to the radiator cap. She sustained several bad cuts about the face, one just missing the left eye, and her legs and arms were badly lacerated.

Mr. Tanner escaped unhurt as did also Mr. Wallace, his wife, his brother-in-law, and two other passengers in his car.

Both machines sustained smashed radiators and other costly damages.

TAX COLLECTOR AND RATEPAYER IN A DISPUTE

Matter Hanging Fire For Over Three Years Finally Shelved.

REFUND DOG TAX.

Decided to Honourably Acquit James Gates at Expiration of Office.

Chairman N. Phelan, at a meeting of the Finance Committee last night, introduced a communication in reference to a matter which has been hanging fire for over three years.

Mrs. Chatten's representatives claim they paid all taxes due to the city on property owned by Mrs. Chatten for the year 1921. Mr. W. Green, City Tax Collector, alleges that the sum of $21.75 still remains unpaid on a house owned by Mrs. Chatten on 647 Bethune Street. It was stated that Mrs. Chatten has receipts showing payment in full for the year 1921 and that Mr. Green's recordss how the balance owing.

"Whether the taxes were paid or not," said Mayor Turner, "the fact remains that she has her receipts and Mr. Green should not have given her agent a receipt in full if he did not receive the money. I think Mr. Green should be held liable."

Mr. Green Explains.

Mr. Green then explained that in 1921 Mrs. Chatten was assessed for two properties, the taxes against one amounting to $87.00 and against the other $24.00. He stated that he received payment on one occasion for $43.50, representing one-half of the taxes against 647 Bethune Street, and that later he received $21.75 on the same property and $24.00 in full payment of the taxes against the other land. This, he said, would leave a balance of $21.75 against 647 Bethune Street.

"Somehow, probably while talking, I stamped both bills paid in full, when I received the second payment," said Mr. Green. "I wrote the amounts received on the bills, however, and I wrote her a letter about it afterwards. I think my case will stand law, and I am willing to let it go before any Judge."

Mayor Turner: "It should be cleaned up now. She has the receipts and the figures don't show what they mean."

City Solicitor Wearing: "A Judge would take into consideration all the circumstances. The fact that the bills are marked in full doesn't necessarily settle the matter."

Mr. Green: "My books balanced and I have my cash book here to show you the entries."

Mayor Turner: "This thing has gone along from 1921 to 1924 and the best thing to do is to clean it up now and not let it be held against the property. It's not worth going to law about. Mr. Green should have proceeded to take action in 1921 if he so intended. That was the proper time."

Alderman Phelan: "When Mayor Taylor and I went into the matter, we came to the conclusion it was just a dispute between Mr. Green and Mrs. Chatten's representative, who paid the taxes for her."

Mr. Green: "The late A. E. Dixon and the executors who saw my books were satisfied with the records and were willing to allow the taxes to be charged up against the property."

Mayor Turner: "It should be disposed of and if the members think you shouldn't be responsible and the city pay it, all right."

Wiped Off Books.

After a further discussion Mayor Turner moved that the amount be written off the arrears of taxes. Alderman Crowe seconded the resolution, which carried unanimously.

Following the presentation of the facts, the members reached the conclusion that Mr. Green should not be held responsible.

Alderman Fife even suggested that the City take action, in the belief that the figures marked by Mr. Green on the bills would entitle the City to succeed.

Damage Claim.

At a previous meeting the City granted Mr. Joseph Longo $100.00, in consideration of the loss incurred by him as a result of the construction work on the west approach to the Hunter Street Bridge.

Mr. Longo appeared in person, and stated that although he appreciated the city's offer, the amount was paltry when it was considered that he lost two months' business in the summer months, when the fruit business is at its peak.

It was the general opinion that $100.00 was a very generous offer, in view of the fact that it is impossible to construct a road without causing inconvenience to someone.

Delegations Appointed.

Alderman Crowe was appointed to attend the Union of Canadian Municipalities' Convention in Windsor on Aug. 7, 8, 9, as Peterboro's representative and Alderman Fife, S. R. Armstrong and W. J. Henry were named as a delegation to attend a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association in Toronto, Aug. 27-29.

Refund Dog Tax.

A Princess Street resident, in a communication, asked for a refund of his dog tag license money, stating that he had the misfortune to lose a male hound, valued at $50.00, shortly after purchasing a tag.

When it was shown that he had paid $1.00 for the tag, Alderman Crowe remarked that he got off easy, pointing out that it cost him $5.00 and costs. "It's hardly worth writing for, anyway."

"Well, some people appreciate a dollar," said Alderman Fife.

"Then why did he keep a valuable animal?" replied Alderman Crowe.

As it was customary te refund taxes and ciagarette licenses, on principle, it was thought that this man should have his money refunded, although by se doing the city would establish a precedent.

James Gates Through.

Alderman Phelan announced that James Gates' contract with the city expired next week. He stated that he received a retainer of $8.00 a week and a dollar for each canine that he corralled.

It was decided to honorably acquit Mr. Gates, as it was unanimously felt that the dog situation was not harassing at the present time, and in case alarming developments did transpire, it was suggested that possibly his services could be again obtained.

MADE FIREMEN GRANT OF $50

In Anticipation of Big Convention—City Has Claim as Result of Motor Accident.

CAR TURNED OVER.

At a meeting of the legal committee of the City Council last night, the firemen were made a grant of $50.00, to be used toward the entertainment of the visiting firemen who will attend the Ontario Firemen's Convention being held in Peterboro, August 13-15.

Chairman Alderman Crowe announced that it is a fraternal organization, and that, at the forthcoming convention, demonstrations of expert fire fighting would be given. He also announced that the local men are providing a banquet to which members of the City Council and the local members of parliament would be invited.

Request Granted.

Among the communications was a letter from G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., asking for permission to decorate the streets of the city on August 28 next on the occasion of the Liberal picnic, when Prime Minister McKenzie King and two Cabinet Ministers would be here. The request was granted.

Damage Claim.

As a sequel to an accident at the bend on Driscoll Terrace on the evening of June 25, when J. W. Clancy's car turned on its side, the City were presented with a damage claim of $67.15, representing $43.15 in disbursements and $20.00 for time lost.

Mayor Turner stated that at the point in the road where the accident occurred, the road is narrow and a culvert is located right at the bend, making it somewhat difficult to make the sharp turn, especially on a wet, dark night, as was the occasion when the accident occurred.

It was pointed out by Alderman Phelan that if two cars met at the bend, there would be an accident unless one car went up on the sidewalk.

"It's the best road in the City," said Alderman Stocker.

On motion of Alderman Phelan and Stocker, a resolution carried granting Mr. Clancy $43.15 in satisfaction of his claim, without prejudice to the City's right to dispute the claim in full.

TWO YOUTHS KILLED.

In Accident Gas Tank Exploded and Boys Burned to Death.

BAY CITY, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Fred. Zingg, aged 14, and Peter Plasz, 15 years of age, were burned to death in an explosion of gasoline yesterday afternoon when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a Detroit bound interurban train at Lincoln Avenue crossing. The truck was swung around, hurled 20 feet, and landed upside down. The gasoline tank under Cowl exploded, burning the pair to death as they lay pinned inside the overturned cab.

MIDDLEMEN.

The average store probably has three clerks. Since there's a store of some kind for every 76 Americans, there's a clerk for every 25.

In addition are seemingly endless millions of other middlemen—wholesalers, jobbers, road salesmen, bookkeepers and what-not.

We'd all be better off if most of the attention, now devoted to trying to spur people to produce more, were directed at short-cuts between producer and ultimate consumer.

EX-MAYOR KILLED.

CHATHAM, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Ex-Mayor William Stone, of this city, was killed in an automobile accident early this morning near Tilbury. Harry Jacques, who was with him, is in the public general hospital here. Beverly Kerr, another occupant of the car, also sustained injuries.

RABBI DECLARES MARRIAGE MOST DELICATE JOB

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, of New York Synagogue, Has Married 5,000 Couples.

YOUNG NOT READY.

Failure to Prepare Children For Estate Is In Homes of Parents, Not in Schools.

Marriage is the most difficult and delicate job in the world. This is the opinion of Dr. Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, New York, based on an observation of thirty years in the ministry, in which time he has married perhaps 5,000 couples. In that time he has been called upon frequently to patch up differences. Sometimes he has succeeded, sometimes failed.

Certainly an unusual opportunity to study the divorce evil has been his. He was asked the other day to talk aboutt his experience and what he thought should be done.

"We train our young people for everything else," he began, "but we don't train them for marriage. Marriage is thought of as an event or episode rather than a life-long process. It is as though a man went to a medical school, went through some sort of ceremony and came out, like the 'graduates' of the Middle Western diploma mills, licensed to practice medicine. Too many of our marriages are like buying a matrimonial diploma set to church music.

"I'm not talking of the failure of the public schools and colleges. I think our educational system is unjustly blamed for much for which it is not responsible. If we want to discover why marriages fail we have to start in the home.

"Plutarch has a story of a father who found his young son eating greedily, and immediately went to the lad's tutor and struck him. But the fault more probably lay with the father himself. Children spend only a few hours each day in school. They spend many more hours and more intimate ones at home. The marriages which go to wreck are usually of children who come out of contentious, quarrelsome homes, even when the tragedies in those homes have not yet risen to the dignity of divorce.

Three Factors in Divorce.

"If I were asked to name the fundamental causes of divorce I would begin with three factors. The first two would be the respective homes in which the two young people in any particular instance were brought up, and the third would be the social order. The trouble begins before marriage. I can sometimes make a fairly accurate guess by looking into the eyes of a boy and girl when they stand before me as to whether their marriage is to be for a year or for a few years, or is to last for all time."

"Do you think of divorce principally as a problem of early married life?" Dr. Wise was asked.

"Yes, I do," he replied. "Most marriages that fail because of remediable causes do so in the first year or two. Separation and divorces that come later usually occur because one or the other—usually the male—has decided to displace or replace the other one. In such cases the man doesn't come to a clergyman for advice.

"The younger people do come, however. When that happens and a husband or wife asks for my opinion I always send for the other member of the household. The thing I try to do is to go back of the verdict of failure and find out why two young people say, 'Our marriage has failed.' I find sometimes that they can be made to see that just because of the fatal facility of divorce at present they are not justified in magnifying the so-called temperamental differences. One thing fatal to any marriage would be temperamental differences. One thing fatal to any marriage would be temperamental identity. Temperamental differences are unimportant except when there is an utterly unsportsmanlike intolerance of each with the other.

"I use the word unsportsmanlike deliberately. When we play tennis most of us show every courtesy toward our partners or antagonists, praising their good plays and overlooking their bad ones. If men set out to be as chivalrous and women as patient in the marriage relation, though the marriage relation does not end, as does a tennis set, frequently their sportsmanship would save them from the hurt one is almost certain to do the other in breaking off the marriage bond. For it doesn't often happen that both partners in a marriage are equally eager to break away. Very often one is attempting to 'freeze out' the other, which in marriage as in a business partnership is about as unchivalrous a thing as one can do.

"Sometimes I am able to persuade the husband and wife that there is no fundamental antagonism between them. I remember one such case in which the two went away together and are now living very happily together. When I try to generalize on the subject of matrimony this room seems full of people—people I've married and people who've come to me for advice."

Sometimes Assents to Separation.

"Do you always try to bring about a reconciliation?" asked the interviewer.

"No. There are times when I see that even though outwardly the marriage relation be resumed the two people can never again be truly wedded. I don't think I then have a right to say they must be separated, but I do sometimes feel compelled mournfully to assent to their purpose to separate. When two people feel toward each other as though they had reached such a relationship that they cannot resume marriage relations without forfeiture of self-respect, when each knows that he is continuing the relationship on grounds and for causes which are unrelated to the higher and finer things of wedded life, then separation or divorce is inevitable."

"Is the attitude of your Church toward divorce different from that of other churches?"

"In theory it is more liberal. The Jewish church has always recognized the necessity and validity of divorce under certain circumstances. It was not and is not too difficult to secure a writ of divorce in my Church. Actually, however, the practice is, or has been, better than the law. It is only in recent years that the Jews, like the Gentiles, have taken to frequenting the divorce courts. There has been, of course, an increase of divorces among people of all faiths. It is not a problem that concerns one race or adherents of one religion alone."

"What practical steps could be taken to prevent or lessen failures in marriage?" was asked.

"We must educate young people not to enter into marriage precipitously and unreasoningly. I don't believe in hasty marriages and I never marry any young couple without first finding out whether the parents know what is going on.

"Then we must face the facts of marriage. Our present custom is to throw a roseate stage light over the ceremony and assume that everything will turn out all right. We've got to remember that married life is an art—the most difficult art in the world—and that this art cannot be mastered in a few minutes. It is an art of sympathy and forbearance. No true happiness in marriage can exist unless at least one of the two is capable of rising to these qualities.

"Normally, although not without many exceptions, the failure of a marriage reflects on the judgment and the quality of two persons who have failed. Marriage is a test of character—the most searching of all tests. The fine and the true are equal to marriage and are helped by it. 'Love betters what is best.' Marriages generally fail among human failures. Many fail because boys and girls are petted, spoiled, and left morally and spiritually unprepared.

Three Kinds of Partnerships.

"There are three kinds of partnerships, in marriage as well as in business. In the first kind both partners put in all they have. In the second neither really invests anything, and calamity is certain to follow. When a marriage is like that divorce is sometimes the least tragic outcome. In the third, and more common, kind of partnership each invests himself or herself in part but not wholly. Young people go in with all kinds of reservations. If anything jars or mars the relation one of them is ready to jump out.

"While, as I have said, I do not by any means condemn divorce as unnecessary or undesirable in all cases. I do feel that when two people enter the marriage relationship—quite apart from every obligation to the so-called social order, or to a child or children—it is the business of the two to make sportsmanlike attempt to achieve a success. One reason for marriage failures is that some married folk are 'poor sports,' even 'rotten sports.'"

Dr. Wise was asked if he believed that divorce was not a symptom of social and economic changes which were altering the nature of the home.

"Of course there have been great social changes," he conceded, "and these have affected marriage. In our times the home is minimised as an institution. The great object of many married people seems to be to get out of it. 'In God We Trust' is no longer the motto, but 'Where Are We Going Tonight?' The world is magnified and all contacts outside the home are multiplied. There is a minimum of the self-reliant isolation characteristic of other days. Formerly marriage was entered into frankly for the sake of a home and children. Observe that I use the plural. The old-time union sometimes began with seeming commonplace and ended in high and serene romance. I have caught glimpses of such life stories in reading and rereading old letters. The modern marriage, on the contrary, often begins in seeming romance and ends in the commonplace of strife, breakdown and moral bankruptcy. It is a debauch of romance, followed by colorless, drab, unromantic fizzling out.

Not Mere Partnership.

"The last damaging blow to marriage in our day has been the development of a wholly unmystical attitude toward it, with the result that it has been made worldly and even sordid. The Jews called marriage 'Kiddushin,' which means a sacrament, and its sacramental quality was recognized in other religions. But its mystic aspect, of which the child is the symbol, has come to be lost sight of, and it is regarded too exclusively as a mere partnership for the days of earth."

"Do you think women ought to resume their old place in the home?" asked the interviewer.

"It is not a question as to whether they should or not. The fact is that they will not. The whole conception of wifehood and motherhood has altered. Instead of women being mothers of young children from 25 to 45 they are ordinarily so occupied nowadays only until they are about 30. Homekeeping does not keep them at home, for home management is being more and more simplified. So it is no longer a matter of their going out or staying at home, but of their going out and doing something or going out and doing nothing.

"This simply means, despite A. S. M. Hutchinson and others who seem to wish to imprison them in their own houses, that women must enrich and enlarge their lives by giving themselves to worth-while jobs. These need not be bread winning. I think it imbecilic for the wife of a rich man to go, let us say, into the silk stocking business in order to earn in a year as much as her husband gains or loses in a week. But I do mean that women must use their abilities, unless they are to become contemptible things of leisure, blown hither and thither from bridge whist to mah jong and from mah jong to some other fad. They must find some worthwhile pursuit or calling, something to which they can give themselves with real earnestness. That, too, is a necessity of a happy marriage.

"I, for one, believe that the marriage relationship will remain in essence what it has been, even though a further legal facilitation of divorce and further economic and social developments occur. We are going to come to a wiser understanding of marriage and a better preparedness for it, such an understanding of what it means as to avert divorces at their roots. What is needed, and what is important, is not easier or more difficult divorce, but that thoughtful attitude on the part of men and women alike which will make hasty, ill-considered and ill-advised marriages impossible in any event, fewer in number.

"Economic progress will widen the field of choice, and so make it possible for those who are fitted for each other to find each other. Marriage will be less dependent upon social caste and financial standing that it is today. It will not be so limited geographically. Out of this will come better marriages and a surer hope of happiness. The test will be the ability of young people to resist those numerous influences of modern life which make for selfishness. For in marriage selfishness and happiness cannot coexist.

"But if I were asked to sum it all up I should say that as marriages are nowadays, nine out of ten failures are due to parents failing to bring up their children in such a way as understandingly to face the job—the most delicate and difficult job in the world."

HENLEY RACES BE HELD TO-DAY

Johnny Durnan, of Toronto Argonauts, Will Make Determined Bid For Honors.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—With Hilton Belyea, and Garrett Gilmor not back from Olympic and Algy Maquire of Buffalo, out of the game, Johnny Durnan of Toronto Argonauts, will make a determined bid for the Canadian amateur single sculling championship at the Royal Canadian Henley this afternoon. J. Blessing of Undines Boat Club, Philadelphia, is looked upon to be Toronto scullers most dangerous opponent. His time yesterday was slightly faster than Durnan's but Johnny's friends declare that this means nothing as there was not enough competition in Durnan's heat to warrant him extending himself. J. Regan of Philadelphia, Penn., Athletic Club, who made a sensational finish yesterday, in eliminating Wehmeir of Detroit, may also prove a factor in to-day's race. C. Turner of Toronto, winner of the Junior Eights, will also have a place in the race. Lachine Eight which gave National Champion eight from Philadelphia Undindes such a chase yesterday, will again oppose the Pennsylvanians in the final for the Henlen Memorial Trophy along with Argonauts Crew. Single final is scheduled for 3:40 p.m. and Eight-oared contest at 5 o'clock.

SEVEN CHARGES LINDSAY COURT

All Were Cases of Violation of the Temperance Act.

FINES IMPOSED.

LINDSAY, Aug. 2. — The statement that the consumption of alcoholic spirits was on the increase in Ontario is fully justified as far as court records in this town are concerned. At yesterday's session of the court seven charges of violation of the Temperance Act were on the docket for Police Magistrate Jordan to pass judgment upon. His Honor fined Edward Lindsay, the Haliburton Indian, who figured in the shooting affray with Provincial officers a few days ago, $200 and costs, or six months in jail, for having had in his possession a still and having sold it to one Statta, who was fined for a similar offence some time ago.

Mrs. Simpson, proprietor of a hotel at Kinmount, was fined $200 and costs for having liquor for sale.

Bruce Reynolds, of Lindsay, was fined $200 for having liquor in a place other than his own dwelling.

Two men were fined $15 and costs for being drunk, and charges against two men, Anderson, of Lindsay, and Kelly, for having liquor in their possession were adjourned until August 5th.

FORMER EMPRESS NEEDS MUCH HELP

Former Empress Zita, of Austria, Sends Out Plea To Italy.

ROME, August 2. — A plea for aid for former Empress Zita of Austria, is made to-day by the newspaper Messagero, which urges Italy to come to her assistance. Commenting on Zita's plight the journal says that in the face of the indifference with which the nations are witnessing the dramatic developments of her life, Italy should show generosity worthy of the country's traditions by offering something more than temporary hospitality to the starving Hapsburgs. The Messagero suggests that the Italian government turn over to the former Empress the mansion at Paionore that was formerly hers. Zita spent her childhood there, the recollections of which it is claimed, would greatly help in soothing her present sorrows.

WARSAW HOUSE BADLY BURNED

Fire Started While Occupants of Building Were Sound Asleep.

Last night in Warsaw, the house owned by Mr. Samuel Miller was destroyed by fire of unknown origin. Mr. Sam Miller, his son, Fred and Fred's wife were away picking berries at the time and did not learn of the fire until they returned home. Mrs. Samuel Bell and her two grandchildren were in bed at the time. One of the children was awakened about 11.30 by the smoke that was creeping thorugh the house. He awake the rest of the house and then sent in an alarm but only a few of the neighbours turned out to fight the flames. They managed to get most of the furniture out of the building but the house itself was a total wreck. $1000 insurance was carried on the house and the loss will be slight, The majority of the village did not know of the fire until this morning as there was no way in which to send out an alarm that would notify everybody of the fire.

AVERAGE CROP IN WEST SAYS C.P. OFFICIAL

Grant Hall Explains Danger of Attempting to Forecast Western Crop Yields.

GENERALLY GOOD.

Lowest Estimate For Yield Places It At 245,000,000 Bushels.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2 (Special). — Grant Hall, senior vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, returned recently from a visit to the coast. He went out by way of Minnedosa, Yorkton, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary, and returned by way of Calgary, Macleod, Lethbridge and the main line. On the return trip he motored from Macleod to Cardston and from Cardston to Lethbridge.

Referring to his trip, Mr. Hall said: "Experience has taught those of us who have lived long in Western Canada, that it is dangerous to attempt an estimate of the western wheat crop until harvest time has actually arrived. Generally speaking, the crop will be much below average in Central and Northern Saskatchewan and in Central Alberta. Even there, however, I saw many fields where the grain, although short and very late, was of a fine healthy color and, with favorable weather, might produce a good yield. Apart from these sections, the wheat, although late everywhere, gave every good promise.

"The yield of coarse grains will be light generally. Heavy rains, which have fallen in Alberta and Saskatchewan during the past two days, will assist materially in filling out grain, and will also improve the forage situation materially.

"As to wheat, the lowest estimates, systematically compiled, of which I have heard, placed the crop at 245,000,000 bushels.

"The highest estimate, compiled in the same way, placed it at 300,000,000 bushels. My impression is that, given favorable weather conditions, a crop perhaps midway between these two estimates might reasonably be expected."

GRAIN PROSPECT GOOD GENERALLY

Telegraphic Reports Indicate That Except in Few Sections Crops Are Good.

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its branches. The branch managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch with crop conditions in all sections of the districts mentioned.

General.—Heavy rains have benefited all crops in Manitoba, and have improved the crops on summer fallow in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Prospects generally are fair to good, except in Southern and Eastern Edmonton District, Northeast Calgary District, Northeast Lethbridge District, and in the Saskatoon District. Hail damage to date negligible. In Ontario, Quebec, and the Eastern Provinces rains have been fairly general and the results have been beneficial. In Quebec haying is general and yield will be average. Grain prospects are satisfactory. In Ontario haying is practically completed and cutting of wheat is general. In Maritime Provinces, potatoes are in excellent condition, but other crops are light. In British Columbia haying has been completed with yield below average. Peaches plums and early apples are now being picked. Details follow:

Edmonton District.—Central and northern portion benefited by having rain, average crop expected. In southern and eastern sections crop will be very light. Calgary District.—Conditions in north east unfavourable, in south and east and north prospects are good for average yield. Lethbridge District.—Conditions continue satisfactory in south-western section. Fair yield may be harvested from summer fallow in south-eastern sections. In north and north-east areas the crop is largely a failure. Saskatoon District.—Situation generally unsatisfactory. Crops will be light although showers have improved prospects for feed and seed. Wheat headed out. Hay and pastures poor. Regina District.—Crops in most districts have benefited from showers. Prospects continue favourable in south but yield in north will be light. Hay and pasture average. Winnipeg District. —All grain crops improved by recent heavy showers. Usual traces of rust have been found but are not extensive at present and development depends entirely on whether future conditions are favourable.

Province of Quebec.

Haying is now general. The yield pointing to an average. The growing crops have benefited by rain and are generally in good condition. A satisfactory yield of grain is now anticipated. Indications are that the tobacco crop in the eastern townships will be less than last year. Root crops show improvement and pastures in most districts are in good conditions.

Province of Ontario.

During the past week showers have been general throughout the province. Fall wheat cutting is general. The grain is well filled and a better than average yield is anticipated. Spring crops have improved greatly. Corn will be a fair crop. Cherries are plentiful, but peaches, plums and pears are below average. Pastures are good.

Maritime Provinces.

During the past week rains have fallen and have had a very beneficial effect. Haying is now general, the crop being light in New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island, and average in Nova Scotia. Potatoes are in excellent condition, but other crops will be light.

Prairie Provinces.

Apple crop prospects unchanged.

Province of British Columbia.

Crops on the lower mainland have benefited by light rains. In the interior, there is a general lack of moisture, and yields may possibly not fulfil earlier expectations. Hay crop, eighty per cent. of average, has been harvested. Grains in Fraser Valley average, but in Okanagan the smallest crop for years has been cut. Peaches and plums show a light yield. Early apples are moving freely. Pasturage is only fair.

Chicken Carved Initial On Egg Shell—and Died

SARNIA, Aug. 2.)(Canadian Press). —Mrs. Milton Evers, Davis Street, had a bantam chicken which laid an egg with an initial inscribed on the shell. Engraving by the little bantam was perfectly done. The artistic effort proved her undoing, as, yesterday, the chick, just entering on the adult age, was found dead in its coop.

SWEET CLOVER MILK IS USED

There Is More Butter Fat in Clover Milk Than Other Milk.

RIGHT PROPORTIONS.

Investigations have been carried on by the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College during the summers of 1922 and 1923 on the question of using milk produced by cows pasturing on sweet clover for cheese making. About half of the patrons supplying milk to the Dairy Department of the College use sweet clover as a pasture crop, and the other half do not. The milk from each set of patrons was made up separately on five dates during June and July. The sweet clover lots of milk 3,510 pounds and the non-clover lots 4,025 pounds. The average percentages of fat were 3.2 and 3.38 respectively. There was practically no difference in the acidities of the milk of both lots at the time of adding the rennet or when dipped. The losses of fat in the whey averaged .182 and .21 per cent. respectively.

Proportion of Cheese to Milk.

The average yield of cheese per 1,000 pounds milk was 91.23 pounds for the sweet clover lots and 92.33 for the non-clover lots. The percentages of moisture in the green ripe cheese were practically the same. The average score of the cheese was the same for flavor in both lots. The average total score was 93.15 for the clover lots and 93.6 out of 100 for the non-clover cheese. There was nothing abnormal about the sweet clover lots of milk or cheese. The results are similar to those obtained during 1922. These two years' tests indicate that there is apparently no reason why cows fed or pastured on sweet clover should not produce satisfactory milk for the making of good cheddar cheese.

THE ARMY WORM DESTROY CROPS

Trillions of These Insects Invade Fields and Gardens in the Middle West.

CHICAGO, A ug. 2 —The old army worm continues to pay his regular visit to various parts of this country.

This season he appears most profusely in a dozen or more counties in Iowa, in about one-half the counties of Illinois, and in various other parts of the middle west.

Trillions of these insects have been invading fields and gardens in this area, damaging crops and causing losses running into thousands of dollars.

Despite warnings by state entomologists, and preparations made for the invasion, the army worms are continuing to devour crops. The fight against it, however, is gaining headway, thanks to the cool, wet weather this spring.

Yet there is still quite a job on hand, for the destruction of the invaders, because state authorities say the outbreak this year is worse than that farmers suffered five years ago or the one in 1914.

Two additional broods, besides the present outbreak, are expected ,although not much damage is expected from the later insects.

Poison bran bait is the cure for the invasion. This is used at the rate of eight or ten pounds to the acre. It is put on at dusk and scattered as thinly as possible over the infested area.

The worm may be kept from spreading beyond the infested field by a ditch ploughed in front of them and dragged frequently with a log or plank. The ditch would be sown liberally with the poison bran bait the first evening after it is dug.

BURNBRAE GRAIN GOOD.

Rains Helped All Grains Except Early Barley, Which Was Too Far Developed.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 2.—The heavy rains of the past week have done untold good to crops. Some of the late hay has been spoiled, but this is of small importance compared to the improvement in grain, corn and root crops. All spring grains promise well with the possible exception of early barley, which is too far advanced to receive any benefit from the rain.

Corn and roots are doing exceptionally well, and the prospects for little potatoes are very poor.

MILLBROOK MEN START HARVEST IN HIGH HOPES

Fall Wheat Already Cut and Stooked—Runs 40 Bushels to Acre.

BUCKWHEAT BLOSSOMS

Poultry Men Petition Government to Change Grading of Eggs.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 2. — Generally speaking, the hay crop throughout this district has turned out better than was anticipated, averaging from one and one-half to two loads per acre. Farther north and east crops have not as favorable an appearance as in this vicinity, though sweet clover is grown more extensively several large fields promising an abundant yield.

Fall wheat is ripening rapidly and will give a splendid yield, forty bushels to the acre being generally mentioned as expected from the harvest which has already begun, a number of farmers having their fields cut and stooked. Oats are a healthy green color, but in some cases, short in the straw and the fields patchy. Rye and barley are fast changing color and will be ready for cutting in the near future, though barley, on the whole, is not considered a good crop this year.

Some fields of buckwheat are already in blossom while others, late sown on account of the wet, are barely above ground. A long fine fall is imperative if such crops are to mature properly, and the farmers have an opportunity of getting their summer fallow completed and fall grains sown.

Gladiolus are a favorite with most flower lovers, and almost every garden in the neighborhood seems to have a row or two of these plants. Possibly not every one knows that a good soaking once a day, preferably at night or morning, with thorough cultivation of the soil, is necessary if large blossoms are to be looked for. In cutting the blooms have only one or two opened, place in a cool place and the other blossoms will open gradually the bouquet thus lasting much longer than if practically all were expanded when the spikes were cut.

Eggs this week are 25 cents a dozen; dairy butter, of which comparatively little is offering, 40 cents, and creamery butter, 38 cents a pound. New potatoes are 50 cents a peck, carrots 5 cents a bunch, green peas and beans 5 cents a pound. Young cabbages are 15 cents each, and cauliflowers from 15 to 20 cents, according to size and quality.

Small fruits are apparently quite plentiful, red and white currants selling at 5 cents a box, gooseberries at 8 cents, cherries, 7 cents a quart, and raspberries at 20 cents a box.

Change Grading.

Poultry producers in many sections of rural Ontario are petitioning the Government to make the grading of eggs according to interior quality, and their sale by weight, compulsory. Wholesale dealers, almost without exception, are also regarding the proposed change with much favor, believing it to be in the best interests of both producers and consumers.

Much of the good work being done by the Record of Performance tests conducted by the Government, and by the agricultural colleges, is made of little value because of the fact that Canada imports thousands of baby chicks annually from the States without insisting that they come from accredited hatcheries which, in turn, obtain their eggs from approved flocks. Legislation to prevent the selling of low grade chicks in the States would go a long way to hinder their being dumped onto the Canadian market. If Canadian poultry men would exercise more discrimination in buying it would compel the International Baby Chick Association to pass such regulations at their convention in Chicago next month.

Every garden should have a compost heap, according to the Department of Agriculture, and avoid the wastage of valuable plant food, each season, which might well take the place of an expensive fertilizer.

Save the lawn clippings, weeds, thinnings, discarded flowers, leaves, etc., and pile in a heap, forking over at least twice during the season. An occasional soaking, if the pile be very dry, is necessary, dish water, wash water, and water in which vegetables have been washed, serving the purpose very well. The addition of a layer of moist earth, or of barnyard manure, is also of benefit.

Do not put any badly diseased leaves in the compost pile and thus spread the fungus. The compost is ready for use the following season.

Hay is selling in the field at $7.00 a ton. Very little old hay is available as the long winter depleted the fodder stock to an unusual degree.

That alfalfa is a good and safe feed for working horses has been proved by an exhausting test recently conducted by the Michigan Agricultural Society. Nine teams of horses were used in the experiment, ranging in age from two and one-half to fourteen years, and weighing from 1500 to 2000 pounds. One horse in each team was given corn and alfalfa, and his mate, corn, oats and timothy. Weighing was done every two weeks, and an accurate record kept of the weight of feed supplied, the weight of the horses, and of the hours each horse worked. Exercise was given in a three-acre lot on days when the horses were not working, light and heavy hauling, with occasional days of idleness being the plan while the test was on.

Since alfalfa, "the king of legumes", is becoming increasingly popular, the fact that the horses fed this ration not only made decided gains in weight but were fed at less cost than those given the corn, oats and timothy diet, will be of general interest. Not only so, but the ones not having alfalfa and corn actually lost considerably in weight by the time the experiment was concluded.

JUSTIFIERS.

Kansas and Nebraska grow more than 2,000,000 of the less than 10,000,000 acres of alfalfa in the United States.

A BLOW TO PESSIMISM

Cavan: Early potatoes are good.
Orland: M. J. Moran has the best fall wheat he ever harvested.
Warsaw: Wheat as high as horses and best berry in twenty years.
Burnbrae: Spring grains promise well; Corn and roots are doing exceptionally well.

MOWERS TOO SMALL TO CUT HAY CROPS

Prominent Madoc Man Remarks on Quantity and Quality of Crop.

MADOC, Aug. 2.—That the hay crop in this district is far surpassing all expectations is evident from the remarks being made by some of the farmers. One prominent and successful man was heard to say that the hay is so stout, tall and abundant that the mowers in use in this vicinity are too small to cut it properly. He also stated that during the recent wet weather he had more hay lying down in the rain than he ever had in his barn.

Another farmer, who has a generously proportioned barn, says that for the first time he has not room for his crops, and has to stack the hay outside.

Regarding the wheat crop, it is reported that within a radius of sixteen miles all around Madoc the prospects are excellent, much superior to any crops found outside of that radius.

There are no huckleberries near here, but raspberries are ripening and give promise of being fairly plentiful. Garden raspberries are selling in the stores at twenty cents a box, having dropped from twenty-seven cents since Saturday. A number of crates were brought in from Rossmore, in Prince Edward County, last night. The farmers there, on the whole, are disappointed in their crop as the berries have been struck with a blight.

Carrots and beets are plentiful and selling at five cents a bunch.

CURING ALFALFA

The Farmer Should Handle This Fodder Very Carefully.

Alfalfa leaves require careful handling if they are to be retained with the stalks in the harvesting of the hay.

Alfalfa, to be harvested properly, iwants to be put up while it is still a trifle green, as it will retain the leaves n this state, pack closer in the mow and be a better and brighter color when fed.

It is a common practice to cut the hay in the morning as soon as the dew is off, and then rake into bunches late in the afternoon after it has thoroughly wilted. Often alfalfa that is cut in the morning dries too fast and becomes brittle when cut this way, so that many growers favor the cutting of the hay late one afternoon and putting it up the next afternoon. This allows some of the moisture to go out gradually and gives better quality hay.

Although many times the first cutting is often discolored by moisture it is still valuable as feed, as experiments show that stock eat it as readily as the better grades.

In placing slightly green hay in mow see that it is spread carefully and that no large air spaces are left. Do not open a mow when the hay is undergoing a heating process, and there will be little danger of spontaneous combustion or fire.

CAMPBELLFORD PRICES

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2.—At the last shipment of livestock from here this week, the price paid for hogs was 8½ cents, an increase over the previous week. Dealers say that the price is still likely to advance.

Calves brought from 5 to 7 cents, fat cattle 3 to 5 cents, and springers from $40 to $65.

Wheat Harvest Begins.

W. M. Stephens, whose farm is just outside the town limits, cut his 14-acre field of fall wheat this week. He says that it is, without exception, the best crop he had ever harvested in all his long farming experience. The grain is well filled and he expects a heavy yield.

In the Burnbrae and Menie districts, and all along the road through Hoard's station to Stirling, the crops of all kinds are excellent, oats expecially presenting a fine appearance. Even the late corn is responding to the recent favorable weather and is coming along finely. All that is worrying the farmer now is the question of prices, although they have been considerably cheered by the recent rise in the wheat market. Hay has yielded better than the most optimistic expected, and the second cutting of alfalfa will be above the average.

FARMERS' CLUB BUSY.

WARSAW'S WHEAT TALL AS HORSES

Kernels Are Filled Out Best in Twenty Years—Crops Are Cut.

WARSAW, Aug. 2.—Haying is progressing, and some few are just well along. Others are nearly done, and a few have completed this branch of the farm work. Several took in their last loads in the rain on Saturday. The majority report that the cut of timothy is better than expected, but the clover poor; not killed, but it did not grow.

A good deal of good wheat and some barley is cut. One farmer reported his wheat was as high as his horses and that the berry seemed good. In twenty years he had not had better.

Corn crops are looking well. Some of those who are in the filed competitions are excellent.

The rains are most welcome, even if the haying was delayed.

WHEAT IS BEST IN HIS MEMORY

CORN BACKWARD.

ORLAND, Aug. 2.—Hay in the immediate locality is considerably below the average. Fall wheat is good, and Mr. M. J. Moran says his is better than any he ever raised.

Rye will be an average crop.

Alsike is good, but very little acreage is in.

Oats will be helped by the recent heavy rains.

Potatoes are looking good and will be improved with the recent rain; some are being sold at 40c a peck, or $2.25 per bag, to buyers who take them at the field at above prices.

Corn is very backward, and there is a possibility that seed corn will be very scarce for next season.

Peas acreage is very small on account of the peabug, whose ravages in the past discouraged farmers from sowing. However, David Wright had sown some last year and had fair success, and reports a fine prospect this season.

NONE PERFECT

By Walt Mason.

No man is perfect, 'neath the sky; there is a flaw in every guy. We could not long endure the man constructed on so rare a plan that all our searching would not find a blemish in his heart or mind. This most astonishing of gents would make us look like fourteen cents. Since you have blemishes to burn, why roast your neighbor to a turn? Why jump on Jinks for swiping coal, if you have pinched an orphan'sroll? While you roast neighbors one or two, be sure that some one's roasting you. I have a lot of loathsome faults; my gall is fierce, my conscience halts; sometimes I drop my lyre and pen to take a seat and steal a hen. I talk too much and bore my friends; my list of failings never ends. And you are roasting me, I know, as you go waddling to and fro, and pointing out the things I lack to make me like a winner stack. My faults, I know, defy all cures, but they are smoother faults than yours. I wouldn't swap, you poor galoot, unless you gave your watch to boot. While you are roasting me it's true that I am busy roasting you, and neither one has any right to roast the other misfit wight. That man who has no fault or flaw alone has right to ply his jaw.

FRUIT AT TRENT BRIDGE

TRENT RIVER, August 2. — Huckleberries are not plentiful this year. A few were on sale yesterday selling at 25c a box, but were not as large as in previous years.

Garden raspberries are selling at 20c a box.

Mrs. James Hutchinson has a fine show of garden flowers at her home, Havelock Road. The poppies, hollyhocks and Rose of Sharon are particularly beautiful this year.

The Federation of British Industries, which organized the "Made in Great Britain" display to be shown at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, represents 1900 British manufacturing establishments with a capitalization of twenty-five billion dollars. It ramifies to all parts of the world and has representatives in 46 different countries.

In all, over 25 different lines of French products are to be shown in the International Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, including lingerie, hand bags, optical goods, silverware, shoes and exquisite specimens of the ewellers' craft.

There will be a school of postmasters and postmistresses in the International Building at the Canadian National Exhibition, conducted by the Postal authorities under instructions from Hon. Charles Murphy, B.A., K.C., Postmaster-General. The public will find much to interest them in this exhibit.

FARMERS AWAIT WITH ANXIETY POWER OUTCOME

Costs $2,000 a Mile to Build a Transmission Line in the Country.

MUCH DISCUSSION.

Patrons Cannot Understand Spread Between Costs in Town and Country.

By ALEX. McGREGOR.

One farmer, at least, in Seymour Township is getting cheap electric energy to light his residence. Richard McKelvie, who resides on the Hastings road, about half-a-mile beyond the town limits, gets power from the municipal plant of Campbellford on the same terms as the residents of the town. Mr. McKelvie, who is a member of the Township Council, built the transmission line from the town limits to his own premises and the municipality supplied him with light. The cost to him is the same as is that of town consumers—three cents for the first 78 kilowatt hours and one cent for all over that amount. Mr. McKelvie's bill for the past month was 78 cents for lighting his home, according to the records in the office of the Water and Light Commission.

Farmers are Anxious.

Patrons of the Hydro system in Seymour Township, and others who are ambitious to become users of electric power, are unable to understand the wide margin between the cost of power burnished by the Hydro and that supplied by the municipal plant, even when the cost of building a transmission line is taken into consideration. A large number of them are in favor of having their premises lighted from the same source as the home of Mr. McKelvie, and this, raises an interesting question.

At the June session of the Campbellford Town Council, several of the members stated that the municipality has no right to distribute power throughout the township, an agreement with the Hydro to that effect being in existence.

The Hydro has a contract with the Municipal Commission for 1,600 horse power to be taken as required, this surplus being needed when the water is low in the canal. There is, however, a service charge which is paid whether the surplus is used or not. It is claimed that the Hydro made this contract with the town on condition that the latter would distribute no power in the township.

On the other hand, there are men in Campbellford who claim that the town has a right to sell power to the farmers on condition that the latter build their own line, as Mr. McKelvie has done. The town, they say, has no authority to spend money outside the corporate limits for building power lines, or for any other purpose, but there is nothing to prevent it selling power when to do so would involve no outlay.

May Extend Line.

Deputy-Reeve Nelson, who owns a fine stock farm adjoining that of Mr. McKelvie, is talking of extending the line from the latter's premises to his own home, so that he, too, may become a patron of the municipal plant.

A Township Line.

Other farmers believe that the Township Council should build such lines as required, on the same terms as they erect poles and string wires for a municipal telephone plant. They claim that the township has as much authority in the one case as in the other. There are some street lights at Hoard's station which are part of the Hydro system, and which are manitained by the township.

Talking of the difference in the cost of power in town and country, it is a much and bore my friends; my list of the latter to realize the true course. It costs, at least, $2,000 a mile to build a transmission line in the country, and then, for each mile, an average of not more than three customers can be secured.

Still, the difference referred to is a wide one. The resident in town, who uses 55 kilowatt hours in a month, pays 99 cents for it. The same amount of electric energy, if used by a resident of the Burnbrae district and charged for at the rate which it is proposed to put in effect, and which is occasioning so much discussion, would cost $6.35 a month. This apparently high charge is the misfortune of the farmer, and not, as some appear to believe, the fault of the Hydro. It is a difference which the Commission is doing its utmost to overcome as far as possible, and unless something is accomplished numbers of farmers will be compelled to do without electric light and power.

The Campbellford municipal plant has a capacity of 2,500 horse power, sufficient, some experts say, to furnish not only the town, but the entire township of Seymour.

SHORTAGE OF ARSENIC.

Greater use of arsenic in the fight against the boll weevil among cotton growers has produced a shortage of this insecticide and higher prices for the rest of the country. Chemists say they can make better profits from calcium arsenate, for cotton fields, than lead arsenate.

Egg-eating dog.—Blow out the contents of a fresh egg, then fill it with mustard paste. Let the dog try that sort of egg for a change. Or, break one of the mustard eggs or a few addled eggs in his mouth when he steals eggs. That should soon make him sick of the business.

Old stovepipes make excellent cat guards for small trees and poles. Open the seam, put the pipe around the tree and then clamp the seam together again. For larger trees, two pipes can be used. The pipe should extend about five feet from the ground. No cat can get over this.

Cow-horned Turnips Are Monsters Of Their Kind

Two cow-horned turnips, planted June 1, and measuring 15 inches and weighing 5 lbs. each, were brought into the Examiner Office by W. H. Merrill.

These two specimens came from an acre of turnips on the farm of Wilbert Roseborough Smith Township, the whole patch showing an unusual growth for this time of year.

Mr. Merrill, who travels to all parts of the county in the course of his business as a grain and seed merchant, has an excellent opportunity to view the crops, and predicts an average crop throughout the county, taking everything into consideration.

The roots are good and the corn backward, although it has picked up lately, Mr. Merrill remarked.

In the opinion of Mr. Merrill the outlook for crops generally is best in the vicinity of Warsaw where, amongst other things, he stated the corn to be fifty per cent ahead of the average crop elsewhere.

ROMANCE OF WHEAT CROP

A Little Grain Which Has Caused Wars Without Number.

MADE MILLIONAIRES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (United Press).—Millions of bushels of hordeæ have been harvested and are now on their way to market. In fact, the United States leads the world in the production of this crop. Yet there was none of it when Columbus announced that he was taking a first mortgage on the new world in the name of Isabella. You find this crop in some form on your table at every meal.

Baltimore was once the leading point of expert in America according to the American Nature Association, but things have changed since then, for hordeæ, otherwise wheat, is now grown in forty-three states. News bulletins tell an anxious world the wheat crop conditions. Millions are won and lost by gamblers in the wheat market. Political parties claim candidates can be elected if the price of wheat goes up. Historians have pointed out that wheat, or the need of it, has caused wars.

In 1923, the wheat output of the United States was 781,737,000 bushels, while in 1850 it was only one hundred million bushels. In 1919 production jumped to 967,979,000 bushels, due to the call of war.

The Grass Family.

Wheat belongs to the grass family. Its family name is hordeæ, and if the system of the genealogy books were followed, four main branches would be found—common wheat, Egyptian or English wheat, Flint, Durum or Macaroni wheat and Dwarf wheat. The family tree would show many offshoots from each of the groups; wheats with interesting names like Turkey Red, Blue Stem, Scotch Fife, Golden Chaff and Bearded Winter Fife; red wheats and white wheats; winter wheats and spring wheats; hard wheats and soft wheats.

In varying climates and in different soils, through experiment, through crossing and mixing, myriad kinds of wheat have developed.

The kernel wears an overcoat composed of cellulose. Next is a coat, and then a vest composed of bran. The kernel is still further protected by a shirt of gluten cells. Then comes the wheat kernel itself, with tiny indentations at the bottom where the gern of the new plant is stored. In different kinds of wheat the relative sizes of thse coverings and the kernel vary, deciding the wheat's value and use.

We have spring wheats and winter wheats, as the farmer must grapple.

COBOURG, Aug. 2.—A citizen, in discussing crop prospects in the northern section of Hamilton Township, forecasts a fair crop this season for the majority of farmers. This section of Northumberland County has a number of progressive agriculturists, and is considered a good farming district.

Rice Lake Plains has long been noted for its splendid wheat. Many excellent fields of fall wheat are to be seen just turning the golden color. The hay crop is far beyond expectation, and a number of real good fields are to be noticed. Oats, barley and spring wheat are somewhat short of straw, with some reports of rust.

The pea crop, as usual, is still uncertain. Some early peas are fair to good, others light, with some report of pea weevil. Corn is coming along fairly well, considering the cold season, and promises fair to good.

Early apples promise a fair crop; late varieties are light. Plums and cherries are fair. Wild fruits and berries will be plentiful. Pastures are good. There has been more buckwheat sown this year than for years past.

With favourable weather from now on, says an old observer, North Hamilton farmers will harvest abundant returns for this year's labor.

A Haldimand Township farmer states that potatoes are rather patchy, and generally quite a late crop. However, a number of farmers are expecting a good yield. This is the first week that new potatoes have been offered in any quantity in town. They are selling generally from 45 to 50 cents a peck.

Cherries, red and black currants and gooseberries are apparently a large crop. The first of the raspberries are coming in, but they are ripening slowly. Pears give evidence of quite a large yield, and prospects for the plum crop are fair.

Spring grains have come on well in Haldimand, and these farmers who have fall wheat and rye report a good yield.

Hay appears to be generally a good crop. Very little of the new crop hay has appeared upon the local market, and prices for this commodity are practically stationary at $18 for baled hay and $10 to $14 for loose hay.

The rise in the price of wheat is apparently benefiting few farmers as they have little to sell. Wheat is selling here from $1.40 to $1.50 a bushel.

ONLY TIMOTHY OUT.

Rain Delayed Haying Operations in Cavan District.

CAVAN, Aug. 2.—The rain on Saturday delayed haying for those who were not already finished. Monday was better for the work, and quite an amount of hay was gotten in. It is mostly timothy hay that is our now.

Hay is a fair crop in this vicinity.

The early peas are being harvested Some fields show a fair crop and others are not nearly so good.

Alsike and fall wheat are almost ready to cut and promise an average yield.

Early potatoes are good.

central states, is a disease which can be curbed?

In the plant world, the "germ" or a disease is sometimes known as a "spore," Like the typhoid germ, the black stem rust spore breeds in certain places. Instead of choosing filth for its birthplace, however, its earl days are spent on the leaves of the beautiful, common barberry bush, known to many attractive lawns and gardens, and when it leaves the barberry it romps through the fields on the wings of the summer breeze.

A Dangerous Barberry.

The common barberry is the dangerous barberry; the Japanese, the harmless. The common barberry is a tall, erect, spiny bush, often as much as ten or twelve feet high. The leaves are green or purple and have saw-tooth edges.

A complete story of wheat is not only the story of the pioneers and their covered wagons, but a story of the world. As frontiers were flung westward, wheat followed the tide of settlement. To-day it grows in the soil of forth-three states. It creates economic and agricultural problems with which egislators, economists and business men as well as the farmer must grapple.

PROFITEERS AT TENNIS MATCHES

Ticket Scalpers Did Good Business During Wimbledon Contests.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Considerable profiteering in tickets for the recent lawn tennis championship meeting at Wimbledon has been discovered as the result of investigations by the authorities and as a consequence committees have been set up to consider schemes to prevent this happening at future meetings.

It has come to the knowledge of the Wimbledon authorities that in some cases as much as $250 was demanded for a week's book of tickets which were originally sold by the club for less than one-tenth of that amount.

The speculators are known to be members of the general public who obtained tickets in the ballot, which owing to the great demand for accommodation, is held every year, numbers of persons applying for tickets in several different names with the object of selling them at a high profit.

CHINESE OUT OF IT.

Lost Tennis Doubles To Australians, But Put Up Battle.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 —Australian players won the third and deciding game against China in the Davis Cup tennis matches on the turf court of the Crescent A.C. in Brooklyn Friday. Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, the International veterans, clinched the first battles of the American zone series in this country by defeating W. Lock Wei and C. Huang, the Chinese stars, in the doubles. The score was 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. The respective point totals were 85 and 34.

The men from China offered spirited competition. Huang, a left hander, uncovered a top spin drive off his forehand that caused Wood more trouble than he had expected. So good was the Chinese player on this stroke that the Chinese pair broke through the service of Wood in the second game of the first set and again in the seventh game of the second set.

It was in the second set that the Chinese pair made its best stand. They held the Australian fairly even both coming frequently to the net. In this set Wei did some pretty volleying, catching Patterson off guard for several points.

Finding that the Chinese were stiffening their game Patterson and Wood forced the attack in the third set. The full power of their strokes was brought into action. Both of the Australians did some wonderful execution in this set, reeling six games in a row. Patterson took the final point with a blistering cross-court off his forehand.

KINSEY WON FINAL.

Pacific Coast Tennis Champion Defeated William M. Johnston.

SEABRIGHT, N.J., Aug. 1.—William M. Johnston, second ranking tennis star of the United States, went down to sensational defeat at the hands of Howard Kinsey, Pacific Coast champion, here to-day in the final of the Seabright invitation tennis tournament. Kinsey triumphed after the limit of five sets, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 1-6, 8-3, flashing perhaps the most brilliant tennis of his career.

There was a versatility and effectiveness to Kinsey's attack that astonished. He had a bewildering assortment of strokes that few had thought him capable of and controlled them beautifully. Time and again he forced Johnston out of position, compelling errors, when he was not driving the ball for placement.

Miss Mary K. Browne scored the first California victory earlier in the day when she overwhelmed Miss Mayme MacDonald, national clay court champion in the women's singles final. The score was 6-0, 6-1.

WOULD DEPORT FIRPO

LUIS FIRPO

This is the latest picture of Luis Firpo, celebrated Wild Bull of the Pampas, who has just returned to America to do battle with Harry Wills, the giant negro, next month. The picture was taken a few moments after the Bull's liner docked.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.— With the arrival here of Canon Chase of Brooklyn, the movement to have Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine pugilist deported was transferred to Washington.

Canon Chase called upon Commissioner Husband of the Immigration Bureau, who ordered all the records in the case sent here from Ellis Island.

Canon Chase said he has no intention of stopping his efforts to have Firpo sent out of the country upon moral grounds, because of the boxer's action in travelling with his alleged secretary, Senorita Blanca Lourdes, who was deported.

The clergyman tried to see President Coolidge yesteday but was obliged to forego the visit.

Dr. Chase told Commissioner Husband the officials at Ellis Island refused to permit him to see the Firpo records. He said he was convinced Firpo made false answers in explaining the status of the woman. He said:

"Our information is that last year when Firpo was here he was accompanied by the same woman, that they toured the country together and lived as man aind wife. The American people believe in fair play, and in a single standard of morality. If there were good reasons for deporting the woman, then the same action would have been taken with reference to Firpo himself."

BROOKLYN, Aug. 1 — Vance won his 17th game of the season as against four defeats, when Brooklyn beat Chicago to-day, 4 to 0. It was Vance's first shut out. Alridge pitched well for the Cubs.

Vance tied the world's record for consecutive strike-outs by fanning seven batters in a row. The record was established by Hod Miller of the Cincinnati Nationals in the 1919 world's series with the Chicago Americans.

Vance also tied his own 1923 major record of 14 strike-outs for a single game. Every man on the Chicago team except Hollocher fanned at least once. Hartnett, slugging Cub catcher, was three times a victim of Vance's fast ball. Score:

BILLY EVANS SAYS

A sport enthusiast likes keen competition

Perhaps in no sport is the necessity of keen competition greater than in baseball. This is due to the fact that the race extends over six months' play.

To sustain interest over such a long period the teams must be evenly matched, thereby affording the keenest sort of competition.

Perhaps no greater example of this truth could be offered than the present races that are being staged in the American and National Leagues

In the National League, the Giants, after a mediocre start, appear to again outclass the field.

With the season half over, Chicago alone continues dangerous. Between the first and third club there existed a difference of nine games.

In the American League the failure of the Yankees to go out in front by a wide margin and the sensational spurt by Washington has made for renewed interest.

With half the season over in the American League, there existed a margin of only seven games between the first and seventh-place clubs, two games less than between the first and third teams in the National.

That all the world loves a winner is certainly proved by the attendance at Washington.

Accustomed to a second division club, often a tailender, the fans of Washington flocked out in goodly numbers to pay homage to a winner.

In three days, including the Fourth of July games, the Washington club paid New York for over 80,000 people. Some business!

During the sensational spurt of the club, week-day crowds of from 10,000 to 15,000, ordinarily good business for a Sunday game, were in attendance.

Any time either major league has a runaway race it is bound to be reflected in the attendance figures.

With so evenly a matched field, the American League race promises to be drawn out, perhaps to the last week, before a decision is reached. That means big business.

Tunney didn't do so bad in the Carpentier fight. He got $40,000, won the decision and convinced the world that he's not good enough to take a pasting from Dempsey.

Carpentier's handlers fed him whisky between rounds ....Maybe that's why the fight lasted so long.

U. S. POLOISTS IN SLASHING DRIVES

American Mallet Wielders Put on Full Steam In Prepping For Cup Match With Britons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—America is getting ready to resist another invasion by the English polo cracks, scheduled for September. It is generally conceded that the fight will be harder than ever.

For one thing the English four is said to be unusually formidable. Secondly, the American squad has been preforming far below its usual speed and effect.

As these lines were being written the makeup of the American four was still a matter of debate. It seems most likely, however, that the squad finally will be selected from these five players: Devereuv Milburn, Tommy Hitchcock, J. Watson Webb, Mal Stevenson and Bob Strawbridge Jr.

The Americans have been practicing with various combinations in the field for more than two weeks. So far the work of the player has failed to meet the critics' fancy.

Mainly, criticism is directed against the players for their tendency to individual play, rather than unit maneuvers. This is hard to understand, in view of the fact that most of the American victories of the past were due to fine teamwork of the home defenders.

It is expected that this condition will be remedied in due time, and the Star-Spangled entry will be playing its usually smooth game ong before the Britishers arrive for the challenge cup match.

OLYMPIC ATHLETES RETIRE FROM GAME

Nearly a Score of American Star Track and Field Athletes at Olympics—Half Retire.

NEW YORK, August 2.—(AP). Almost a score of America's star track and field athletes wore the United States shield in Olympic competition for the last time at Paris. Within a few months fully one-half of these athletes will have retired from the scenes they have dominated so long by virtue of a fine co-ordination of brawn and brains.

Of the sprinters Charley Paddock, Jackson V. Schol, J. Alfred Leconey and possibly Loren Murchison are about to leave the cinder path. Golf has usurped in the affections of Paddock, Schol, who, singlehanded upheld America's prestige in the sprints at Paris and who has devoted 10 years of his life to racing, is ready to yield his laurels to a younger man.

Leconey came out of retirment to represent his country in the 400-metre relay for the last time and probably will withdraw before he becomes a has-been. Murchinson, disappointed over his failure to win at least one of the sprints at Paris, may try to stage a come-back, but business is taking more and more of his time and soon may compel him to abandon the spiked shoe.

Another track athlete who is rapidly approaching the end of his career is Joie Ray, one of the greatest of American athletes.

PASSED UP BY COBB!

Ehmke Is Called "Greatest Pitcher"—Would Be Help Now.

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Pitcher Howard Ehmke of the Boston Red Sox, discarded by Manager Ty Cobb of Detroit as lacking major league calibre, 40-day looms up as the most valuable twirler in the American League.

Last season Ehmke, with a tail-end ball club, won 20 games, a most remarkable record. Among his victories was a no-hit game against Philadelphia and a one-hit affair against New York.

This season Ehmke has set 25 victories as his goal, and with a good break in luck believe he has a chance to win 30. With the season half over, he has passed the half-way mark in the goal set.

"Ehmke has the greatest assortment of stuff of any pitcher I have ever caught," says the veteran Steve O'Neill, who has handled some of the game's greatest pitchers.

"His great amount of stuff, plus a baffling delivery, makes him the toughest bird in the game to solve.

"I never heard an American League player say that he liked to hit against Ehmke. That gives him quite an edge from the start."

Ehmke, pitching as he is for Boston, would be a real help to Detroit in its present pennant fight.

TOO MUCH WATER

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., Aug. 2. —(United Press).—A well recently drilled at North Lawrence furnished an embarrassment of riches in the matter of water, which shot in the air a distance of fifteen feet and came close to drowning the drillers before it could be piped. The geyser came up from a depth of two hundred and thirty-three feet, most of which had been drilled through solid rock. The water, pure and ice cold, is now flowing at the rate of five hundred gallons per minute.

HAVELOCK WON TRENT VALLEY CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeated Hastings in Final of Junior Lacrosse, 3 To 1.

CLEAN AND CLEVER.

Great Interest Was Shown in Splendid Game in Junior O.A.L.A at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 2. — Havelock and Hastings crossed sticks here yesterday in a Junior O.A.L.A. game to decide the championship of the Trent Valley District, and the boys from Vice-President Armstrong's town were returned victors by a score of 3 to 1. Each team brought a large contingent of loyal rooters, and with a goodly number of Campbellford fans in attendance, made up the largest crowd to witness a lacrosse match here since the palmy days of the Intermediates, there being between 600 and 700 paid admissions.

It was a tidy tussle between two evenly-matched teams. They both played clean, clever lacrosse; the defences having a shade on the opposing home, with the result that most of the play was around centre field, and it was here Havelock had the edge. Little Polly Kitchen played the game of his life. He checked Bruce Clapper, the big Hastings centre man, to death, and gathered in more loose balls than any man on either team. He played the full game at top speed, and was going strong as ever at the finish. Wells and Jack, the other two midgets on the Havelock home, were brilliant. These three brought the crowd to their feet time after time with their clever playing.

Play was up and down the field for the most part of the first period, neither home getting close enough for a dangerous shot. Joe Gould tried the first shot for Hastings, but was too far out, and it was easy for Davidson. Gould and Reynolds were benched for mixing it when the two went out to the side after the ball. While they were viewing the proceedings from the penalty time-keepers' bench, Wells took a pass in front of the Hastings net and wiggled around thre men, to land the rubber behind Scriver. End of first period: Havelock 1, Hastings 0.

Second Period.

At the start of the second period, big Dit Clapper came down with the ball, and while the pass was intercepted, the ball landed on the ground in front of the Havelock net and Dit was there to bat it in and even the score.

Glenn Wright had a glorious chance to put the railroaders ahead again when he took a pass in front but had to shoot back-handed, and missed the net. "Becky" Jack tried to duplicate the feat of his teammate Wells, and had the crowd in a frenzy, with his clever dodging and stick-handling, but he couldn't get around the big Hastings defence. End of second period score: Havelock 1, Hastings 1.

Third Period.

Although both homes tried hard for the goal to break the tie, there was no score in the third period, Bruce Clapper tried a couple of solo rushes, but to no avail, the Havelock youngsters stepped right into th big fellow and although they generally went down they always came up for more.

Coach and manager Armstrong of Havelock showed good judgement when he sent in H. Plunkett and McWilliams to relieve in the last quarter and it was Jacks' goal that spelled defeat for Hastings.

End of third period, Havelock 1, Hastings 1.

Havelock apparently had the better condition and kept possession of the ball three quarters of the time. With the period half gone. Havelock came down with some nice combinations and Jack drilled a hot one from well out, that evaded Scriver and the joys of the Havelock rooters knew no bounds.

The kids from the railroad town were not content to rest on their one goal margin. They went after more and Glenn Wright made it 3 to 1 when he took a pass uncovered in front of the Hastings net and ran right in close to make it sure. Wright was the only player on either team to get a pass uncovered, within scoring distance, so well did the youngsters play their positions.

Havelock deserved their victory on the day's play. They had possession of the ball much more than Hastings, and made few mistakes in passing. They are also better balanced. While Kitchen, Jack and Wells starred, the rest of Coach Armstrongrg's boys played grand lacrosse, and share in the honor of bringing the district championship to Havelock.

Teams and officials were:

Referee—Jack Nesbitt of Campbellford.

Judge of play—Archie Wood of Campbellford.

Time-keepers—C. Scriver, Hastings, and C. Green, Havelock.

Penalty timer—H. Saunders of Campbellford.

Havelock — Davidson goal, C. Brennan point, Sexsmith c. point, Greenley 1st defence, Reynolds 2nd defence, Kitchen centre, L. Plunkett 2nd home, Wright 1st home, Jack outside, Wells inside; subs — H. Plunkett, McWilliams, Buchanan, Neal (sub goal).

Hastings — Scriver goal, Dodd point, A. Clapper c. point, Lambert 1st defence, Scott 2nd defence, B. Clapper centre, Gould 2nd home, Way 1st home, Cruickshanks outside, Baker inside; subs—McGee and Walsh.

KEENE DEFAULTED.

Otonabee Team Failed to Appear For Scheduled Game.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 2. — Townsfolk who turned out in large numbers to view the Lakefield-Keene clash were disappointed when no Keene team turned up.

Although Lakefield will be credited with a win the home fans would much rather have witnessed a game with their old rival. For the first time this season the Lakefield team were out on time, with full force and to provide some excitement Albert Graham's team played an exhibition game with the regulars.

MEXICAN TAXES TOO HIGH?

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Aug. 2.—(United Press).— Because their taxes are higher than their profits, concession aires who have operated gambling games in Agua Prieta resorts, just across the international border, have been forced to abandon their profession. They say the Mexican taxes are so steep that they have been forced to raise prices until Americans no longer are attracted. Before prohibition in the United States, beer was only 5 or 10 cents, American, south of the line. Beer of various Mexican brands now retails at 25 cents, American, and whisky at 50 cents a drink, with quality not guaranteed.

COURSES IN JURY DUTY FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

United States Commissioner Suggests Education in Essentials of Jury Duty to Make Citizens Willing To Do Bit in Court.

DO NOT REALIZE NEEDS.

Resume of Crimes and Excuses Offered For Escaping Duty Shows Needs of United States If System Is To Survive.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—College classes in jury duty and a course in the responsibility of the lay citizen to uphold the jury system are suggested by Frederick O'Bryne. As Commissioner of Jurors for New York County Mr. Byrne has the task of supplying the men who fill the boxes at all trials in the Supreme, General Sessions and Surrogates' Courts and in small civil courts where juries are needed. He intimates that citizens of intelligence and education know far more about sidestepping jury duty than about performing it. Commissioner O'Byrne's purpose is strengthened by the recent scandal growing out of the Fallon-Rendigs case. But in his experience of many years, first as a deputy and in late years as a full Commissioner, he says he has come upon not more than half a dozen instances of perversion of duty by jurors.

Commissioner O'Byrne was asked why it is that so many citizens shrink from jury duty.

"Largely because many of them are not made to realize that it is an honor and an obligation of citizenship," he replied. "That is why I should like to see college students instructed in the subject of jury duty. Many are called who do not know what is required of them. Students could be taught, and there are many books which they could read on what is required of a juror. They should be made to realize that the Constitution of the United States provides for the jury system and that the system is with us to stay. They should learn the history of the system. The course should be one not of occasional lectures, but of constant lectures and recitations, as in any other college course. The student would then emerge from college with a sense of citizenship that is not felt by necessity, in the public interest, of their service in the jury box.

"There would be less inclination to shirk duty. We should have less occasion to reprimand talesmen on their flimsy excuses. In the five counties of this city last year some 58,000 men served on the various juries, besides those called for Federal service. As many more were excused on legitimate basis. The cost in fees amounted to almost $1,000,000. Altogether, more than 100,000 men were summoned for examination before the 58,000 were selected. Perhaps a good many of the talesmen excused would have been proud to serve had they been enlightened. That is why I am preparing a booklet on the subject.

Tender-Hearted Jurors.

"The only solace in the Rendigs case is that such crimes are so rare as to emphasize the integrity of the mass of jurors. It is a heinous offense to be guilty of miscarriage of justice, deliberately done, as a juror. In the booklet I am going to quote the words of Lycurgus: 'On the head of the criminal lies the crime, but in a miscarriage of justice the jurors delinquent become participants of guilt.'"

Commissioner O'Byrne was reminded that a number of Judges have recently scored the jury system, and that two Judges not long ago severely upbraided juries for returning verdicts of acquittal in cases in which the evidence was preponderantly adverse to the defendants.

"Nevertheless," replied the Commissioner, "I believe in the jury system. The majority of men who sit in the boxes are honest and conscientious. At times, of course, they are lenient, as in the Hoffman case. But, on the whole, both the plaintiff and the defendant get a square deal. The defendant may ask for a jury trial because he thinks he stands a better chance of escape. But the law allows the defendant every resource of defense.

"The jurors are called for a month. The Judge in civil courts sometimes holds them only for two weeks. After service they are excused for two years. If a man has served in the Federal Court we give him consideration and excuse him for a year, even though he has not served in our own courts. In criminal courts the juror usually has to serve a month. That is what the District Attorney wants.

"When the late Frank Moss was a practitioner of criminal law he was strong in urging that jurors should serve only a week or two. When he became an Assistant District Attorney he was equally strong in demanding a month's service. In the first week or so the juror who has not had previous experience is likely to be tender of heart. After that he is likely to have a change of heart. He has then had time to observe. He has learned to steel himself."

Choosing Jurymen.

"How do you pick your jurors?" Commissioner O'Byrne was asked.

"We use voters' lists as a last resort. We look up names in telephone and city directories and other lists. We make up our Grand Juries differently. The Grand Jury board, of which I am clerk, is composed of four Judges of General Sessions and the Mayor. The names submitted to them are from a special list of men of standing in business and in reputation who have had experience as trial jurors. The desire to serve on the Grand Jury is so widespread that men sign application blanks voluntarily.

"For special panels in murder cases we also have blanks. The juror is selected from a special list again. He is required to answer as to whether he is opposed to capital punishment and whether, if the evidence shows guilt, he would find in accordance with the evidence. He must answer whether he is possessed of opinions that might prevent his finding the defendant guilty where circumstantial evidence is involved.

"On the Grand Juries we have, of course, some of the best men in the city, men of large wealth in many instances. You would be surprised to know how eager they are for prompt receipt of their checks for $3 a day, the fee allowed by law. Perhaps it is business instinct. Many of them turn the checks over to their wives right away. One man told me that his check was for only $13, whereas on previous occasions it had come to $30. He said his wife insisted on getting $30, and he had had to dig down for the additional $12 to appease her."

The following classes of men are automatically exempted from jury duty in New York County: Clergymen, physicians, dentists, pharmacists, veterinaries, optometrists, attorneys, teachers, editors and reporters, officers of the United States, State, County or City of New York; foreign Consuls; captains, engineers and licensed pilots of vessels, superintendents, engineers and conductors on railroads other than street railways; telegraph operators for press associations or railroads, honorably discharged firemen, active and honorably discharged militiamen, licensed engineers of steam boilers, election inspectors, poll clerks and ballot clerks and persons physically incapable.

Some Excuses Offered.

Pressure of business is a frequent excuse offered by talesmen, and it is usually overruled. Sickness in the family is often put forward. A physician's certificate helps in such circumstances. Aversion to jury duty is offered. That doesn't hold.

One woman returned a summons addressed to her husband with the comment: "Mr. B. has gone to Europe. If he didn't make a better juror than he did a husband, you are to be congratulated." Across another returned summons was scrawled: "Moved to Lutheran Cemetery."

Years ago a letter came to the office of the Commissioner signed "Samel L. Clemens." A summons for jury duty was returned with the letter. A clerk in the office became indignant, for Samuel L. Clemens was returning a summons that had been written out for one Mark Twain. The humorist wrote that he was ineligible for service, having recently moved out of the city.

A summons, in some manner, was sent to Rudyard Kipling and forwarded to him in England. The noted author wrote his regrets that his British citizenry would forbid the pleasure of jury duty in New York. Clyde Fitch and William Dean Howells were among the literati who mailed in excuses. Years ago a letter came from Italy in which F. Marion Crawford apologized for failure to answer a summons on the day designated, as the jury call had not reached him until after that date.

Commissioner O'Byrne said it was just as well that few celebrated men did jury service, for their presence tended to distract the attention of lawyers, witnesses and even Judges from the issues at the bar.

"Being arrested is an incident that a man usually attempts to conceal from the knowledge of his fellowmen," said Commissioner O'Byrne. "But when they think that it will help them escape jury service many eagerly make known to the Commissioner of Jurors or to the Court that they have been arrested and therefore are ineligible. Not a few are keenly disappointed to learn that having been arrested for motor speeding does not bar them from the jury box. ...

"Sometimes we have a man who has done time in jail and wants to be a juror when he gets a summons for duty. One such candidate had been in jail for beating up his fiancee. When he was released he married the young woman and they lived happily, saving quite a sum of money. He had become a good citizen. But he could not serve on a jury.

"Strange though it may seem, some men asked to be placed on juries. Many write they want to do service so they can obtain 'color' for stories they plan to write. When a substantial man asks to serve we accommodate him if he measures up. But we have to be careful. The law allows a fee of $3 a day. The Board of Aldermen authorizes another dollar when circumstances warrant. Four dollars a day, or even three dollars, would be good money for many young men out of work."

"What were the largest panels you had to draw?"

"In the criminal line the largest was 650 at one of the murder trials of Harry K. Thaw," replied the Commissioner. "The largest list of talesmen in a civil case was about forty years ago, when 1,200 were summoned for the trial of an action involving railroad rights in the city."

Criticism of the System.

A number of jurists recently have expressed themselves strongly on the jury system. Judge Alfred J. Talley of General Sessions felt impelled last January to say: "There is an apparent unwillingness on the part of juries to convict. It was not so ten years ago. The only explanation I see is that it is a reaction in the jury box of the general disregard for law that seems to pervade the country.

"Revamping the jury law will not help. It would be beginning at the wrong end. What is required is an entire revision of the administration of the criminal law. Many ancient principles should be abolished which, if they function at all, function in favor of the criminal.

"The fact that a Judge is required to charge the jury as to 'reasonable doubt' gives the juror a chance to escape the responsibility of a verdict of guilty. The inability of the Judge to comment on the evidence is a great detriment to the proper administration of the criminal law. I have to listen to a defendant committing perjury and dare not comment on the improbability of his testimony, nor may I question him at length, because the Appellate Courts have held that a Judge should not inject himself into a trial. Every day perjury is rampant in these courts, but the Judge has to sit as referee in a game rather than as one charged with the administration of justice.

"I have frequently told juries that the presence of an army of 10,000 policemen, patrolling the city day and night, the energy and activity of a host of prosecutors, the court officers in their uniforms and the Judges in their robes are all part of the panoply of justice, but the ultimate enforcement of the law depends on whether the juries do their duty. If they fall down, the very foundation of the administration of the law will crumble and decay."

A few weeks ago Judge Franklin Taylor of the Kings County Court censured a jury which had acquitted an alleged criminal as returning "the most foolish verdict I have ever heard." Later, in discussing juries, Judge Taylor said: "Too many men of the intellectual type who are capable of making good jurors, of exercising sound judgment, study how to escape service. Every jury that is called should be a 'blue ribbon' jury, made up of men of the highest intelligence. Men of low intelligence should be excluded from jury service. We should not base our estimate of a man's intelligence on his financial status."

Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan said: "If I had my way I would pass a law under which everybody should serve, and no man would be excused unless he had sufficient legal evidence supported by an affidavit. The man who finds fault with the jury system is the man who does not serve."

On the subject of verdicts in capital cases Justice Callaghan said: "It is difficult to find in New York twelve men who will agree on a verdict that means the death penalty. Our population is derived from so many sources that it is hard to find twelve men whose emotions, temperaments and traditions are not at such wide variance that it would be almost impossible for them to reach an agreement in a matter of life and death.

"This condition makes special panels advantageous. When a case involves a charge of murder in the first degree we want men of the very highest type in the jury box. The special panels provide such men. Yet, there should be enough intelligent jurors on the regular panels to take care of everything but the extremely technical cases."

Because of the high social standing and large wealth of many of the talesmen of the special panel called to try the four men indicted for the West End Bank murders in Brooklyn, the candidates chosen were referred to as "blue ribbon jurors." Justice Cropsey and District Attorney Dodd were pleased with the special panel. It was evident that men of this type were not easily confused by hysterics or dramatics or fabrics of prevarication on the stand. Their standing attested their intelligence.

Judge Taylor deplores the need of special panels for grave cases. "The sole justification of a special panel," he said, "is that it will pass on difficult questions involving a mass of documents or a mass of technical evidence. But in a murder case, requiring simply a determination of who is telling the truth, my judgment is that there is no need for an aristocracy of jurors."

Dr. Charles F. MacDonald, dean of American alienists, is strongly in favor of eliminating jury verdicts on questions of sanity. He believes that is not the function of a layman. His view is that a commission of experts appointed by the court should vote on the question, the jury of laymen merely determining the matter of guilt or innocence as to the crime charged. Under his plan the commission would be appointed after conviction if there were an application to test the convicted person's sanity.

MASONIC PCNIC AND ACTIVITES

Local Royal Arthur Lodge Treated Inmates Protestant Home to Annual Outing.

Local Masons Have Experienced A Week of Activity—

Following Wednesday's big Masonic picnic at Cobourg, Peterborough members of Royal Arthur Lodge, on Thursday afternoon, took the inmates of the Protestant Home for a ride, winding up at Mr. W. R. Breyfogle's cottage at Chemong Park, where a hot dinner was provided for the old people by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's Church. Included in the gathering, that numbered about fifty, were several members of the Board of Management.

The Cobourg picnic, held at Victoria Park, and representative of Royal Arch masons of Ontario District No. 10, was attended, and included a good number from Peterborough.

A softball tournament, in which th local aggregation came second, succumbing to the hard-hitting and tight fielding of the Lindsay outfit that won the championship, and other sporting activities occupied the afternoon session. At the close of the sporting programme, the famous Cobourg Kilties' Band led the groups to the supper tables and rendered several selections while the members partook of a sumptuous repast. Delightful weather favoured the occasion, and with the splendour of Victoria Park, refreshed by a breeze from Lake Ontario, a more appropriate spot could hardly be chosen for a picnic.

Several distinguished masons were present, and a short programme of speeches, after supper, provided the evening entertainment and concluded the day's festivities.

Right Excellent Companion I. A. Humphries, Past District Master, presided, and short addresses were delivered by Most Excellent Companion Walter H. Francis, Grand First Principal of Hamilton; Most Excellent Companion Henry T. Smith, Grand Scribe E. of Toronto; and Right Excellent Companion C. B. Adair, Grand District Superintendent of Peterboro. Right Excellent Companion Kenneth J. Dunston, Grand Second Principal of Toronto, was also present, but left early.

The Masonic quartette, of Campbellford, rendered several vocal selections that were greatly appreciated. Vocal numbers were also given by David Melton, Peterboro, and the Campbellford duet, Messrs. I. A. Humphries and Dr. Watson.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED.

ELMIRA, N.Y., Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Five persons were killed at five o'clock last evening between Knoxville and Westfield, Pa., when an automobile dashed over a thirty-foot embankment. Mr. and Mrs. Orlo D. Patterson and daughter, Marjorie, aged seven years; Mrs. W. D. Husted and daughter, Miss Bessie Husted, aged 30, were the victims.

HANK GOWDY HONORED

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The 165th Infantry (Old 69th) will give a demonstration of an infantry attack on the sheep meadow at Central Park this evening. A review will be tendered "Hank" Gowdy, catcher of the New York Giants.

Gowdy will be further honored on August 5 at the Polo Grounds, when Gen Briant H. Wells, commandant of the Infantry School, will officially present him with an engraved copy of the War Department order directing that the doughboys' baseball center at Fort Benning, Ga., be named Gowdy Field.

GLORIA KEPT ON THE HOP MAKING NEW PRODUCTION

Gloria Swanson spent several strenuous days in preparation for her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled." She worked a day in one of New York's largest department stores to get a line on how shop girls think and act. That is, she worked almost a day before the other girls in the store recognized her despite the blonde wig and dark glasses she wore for a disguise. When Miss Swanson was recognized there was no work done for the rest of the day at the notion counter and the store management, in order to prevent a near riot, had to get her out the back door as quickly as possible.

In the picture Miss Swanson plays the role of a shop girl, who climbs the false social ladder of success, getting silks and furs, only to find in the end that honest love is the best policy.

After her experience in the department store, Miss Swanson added another equally picturesque adventure to her preparation for the part. She ate several meals in a Bronx boarding house, the kind that is pictured in "Manhandled".

To cap the climax of her work in getting atmosphere for the picture she picked the rush hour to take her first subway ride in New York. She fought the crowd at Times Square, followed the green line assiduously and did everything the underground commuters do twice a day in the big city.

"I got the biggest thrill out of the subway," declared Miss Swanson, when she returned to the studio to begin work. "The experience in the department store was novel, and I enjoyed it. So was the boarding house, but neither one of them could compare with the subway. When I went down in the big elevators at the Grand Central station I discovered just how a sardine feels when he is canned-up and ready for shipment.

"Judging from what I saw and experienced I'd say that shop girls lead hectic life, but withal, a fascinating one that I should judge not to be half as bad as that lived by girls on farms and in the so-called great open spaces."

"Manhandled" is an Allan Dwan production, with Tom Moore, Frank Morgan, Lilyan Tashman, former Follies beauty; Paul McAllister, Ian Keith and others playing in the supporting cast. The picture will be shown at the Capitol Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

AT THE ROYAL.

EXCITEMENT AT ROYAL.

"For the nine hundred and ninety-ninth time will you marry me?"

Nila Lyons stepped on the gas. She was driving a high-powered motorcycle. Arthur Drew was riding behind her. It was his fifth proposal in five miles, and that was at the rate of a proposal a minute.

His audacity and endurance appealed to Nila's sense of humor. Proposals—she'd had thousands of them. All the lads who met her were crazy about her. But they were all too tame for Nila.

She craved excitement at all times. She thrived on thrills. This wild ride was joy to her. She took a hair-pin turn at "sixty-two."

"Step on it!" Drew yelled through the wind.

"You're the hero for me. I'll marry you one one condition," Nila shouted back at him.

"Kiss me and I'll marry you on any condition," shouted Drew, his head full of wind and romance.

Nila turned to kiss him, missed another turn and the machine crashed over a bluff into a lake. As the motorists came to the surface, Drew asked her casually:

"What's the condition?"

Nila was a bit rattled.

"Wet!" she gasped.

This scene is only one of dozens of thrilling events in "Excitement," the Universal farce-comedy, starring Laura La Plante, which comes to this theatre next Thursday. Don't miss it.

SYD CHAPLIN A HIT IN NEW INCE COMEDY "GALLOPING FISH."

Charlie Chaplin has a rival.

None other than his brother Syd, who has just leaped to a front place in the ranks of the screen comedians with one of the cleverest comedy characterizations of the season. Syd has a leading role in Thomas H. Ince's new laugh sparkler, "The Galloping Fish." With the aid of Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling and Chester Conklin, he has put over some of the biggest laughs that have been "pulled" by a comedian in many a day. The Ince comedy, a First National release, will be shown at the Royal Theatre on Monday.

Newlyweds have furnished laughs ever since comedy was invented, but Syd plays the role of the prize comic newlywed in Ince's fish tale. "Freddy Wetherill" is his name, and when he quarrels with his bride of a few months, and goes off in a huff to the theatre, seeking oblivion and consolation, he gets himself into twenty-four hours of the most hilariously complicated situations that one author, two continuity writers and four brilliant "gag" men could devise.

A "Diving Venus," with a trained seal that a cruel sheriff is seeking to attach, brings about the chief complications. "Freddy," as a friend of Venus's manager and fiance, is dragged into the plot and made chief guardian of the seal, who is smuggled from the theatre on an ambulance stretcher. When the seal comes to life as a fish wagon passes and lopes through the streets and into the crowded lobby of a smart hotel, pursued by the panting "Freddy," the laugh begins. They continue through seven reels that wind up with some spectacular flood scenes—and frightened "Freddy" dashing about in a motor boat and saving everyone, including the seal, of which he has a deathly fear.

Syd Chaplin does the cleverest work of his career in the production, which was directed by Del Andrews. Miss Fazenda and Ford Sterling pull more than their quota of laughs, and the production sparkles through seven uproariously mirthful reels.

HERE AND THERE

HANDICAP

Handicaps are largely imaginary. We realize this whenever we see a man who has battled and overcome exceptionally difficult handicaps of body, opportunity or circumstances.

Nelson L. Bell-Isle comes to light in Everett, Mass. He lost both legs above the knees in a railroad accident, but he is wielding pick and shovel as a city laborer. How many of us would have the nerve to tackle this hard work with such a handicap? Inspect your handicaps again. Maybe they are not as big as they looked.

INDIANS

Discovery of those three ancient skeletons in California brings forth the scientific claim that there were only about 500,000 Indians in the United States and Canada when the white man arrived.

"They were scattered, and life was so easy they did not have to think," comments P. M. Rea, natural historian.

Thinking is very hard work for most people. Their brains would never function except by necessity. That's why nature gives us so many complex problems to solve—she's trying to make us think. So far, she's only fairly successful.

IDLING

In 1818 Thomas Jefferson wrote to a friend: "A great obstacle to good education is the inordinate passion prevalent for novels and the time lost in that reading which should be instructively employed."

Jefferson was wise, but in this he didn't get to the roots. The reason people shun books of learning is because they're usually hard to read and as uninteresting as dust: Wells and Thomson and Van Loon, by popularizing history and science, have recently demonstrated that people will "eat up" knowledge if presented interestingly.

OIL

Fifteen years ago the consumption of crude oil in America was two barrels a year for every man, woman and child. Now the figure is six and a half barrels a year.

There is still a tremendous reserve of oil underground. But it is being drained steadily, and nature is not replacing it. Some experts predict a shortage of oil within 20 years. What then? Science will answer. Alcohol may take the place of gasoline, as whale oil long before the GARAGES.

The 40-story Jewelers Building in Chicago will have parking space on all of the lower 23 floors for tenants' autos. Powerful elevators will take the cars up and down.

The architect who figured this out must belong to the Louis H. Sullivan school of "form follows function." It's an idea that should be copied, adequate garage space is an increasing problem. Building owners would find it a good investment, for few skyscrapers ever rent all of their office space, anyway.

PREMIER WILL WELCOME BURKE

Mackenzie King Will Congratulate Winner of King's Prize—Civic Reception.

GETS COMMISSION.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—Premier Mackenzie King will tender congratulations on behalf of the Dominion Government when Private Desmond Burke, 19-year-old King's prize winner at Bisley, is feted on Parliament Hill to-morrow. Mayor Champaign will read an illuminated address which he will afterwards present to Private Burke, on behaf of the city. Private Burke will be asked to sign the Book of Honor for the City Hall the record of those who have been publicly honored by the city. Following a formal reception and greeting, Private Burke will be escorted to the Armouries by the Military Units, where he will be welcomed by his own regiment, the Governor General's footguards, in which he is being granted a commission in recognition of his meritorious service, and he will sign the necessary application forms for the commission. From the Union Station to Parliament Hill, the young marksman will be placed in a "chair" and carried shoulder high by picked comrades from G. C.F.G., in a place of honor in the procession.

4,000 MEN STRIKE.

No Acts of Violence Have Been Reported From Corner Brook.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press).—No acts of violence have been reported from Corner Brook, where some four thousand men are on strike at the works of the Humbermouth Hydro and Pulp Developments. Despatches indicated that all possible precautions were being taken to prevent any outbreak of hostilities such as had been rumored to be impending yesterday. The trouble seems to have arisen over dissatisfaction among the men at the difference in wages paid to Newfoundlanders, Canadians and Englishmen, also in connection with the housing and hospital accommodations. It is said that the strike was averted two months ago through the intervention of then Premier Warren, who promised to attempt reconciliation between the men and the employers.

Large black hats of milan or horse hair braid are given an interesting note by trimmings of black velvet poppies with huge yellow centres.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS, HAS IT?

Study the baby's face. Looks like a cloudburst of tears is about to start. Yet the mother is taking part in the Mothers' Lullaby Contest in London. That's one of the greatest sports of English mothers—an outdoor sport. The young lady on the right is MISS Grainger Kerr, judge of the mother's singing.

FARM PRODUCE OVERFLOWS AT LOCAL MARKET

Labor of the Spring Months Shows Its Results in Crowded Market.

JOSTLING CROWD.

Butter Was 35 and 38 Cents and Eggs 28 To 30 Cents.

The farmers' market overflowed this morning with produce and with customers. There was plenty of everything on hand to satisfy the wants of the most exacting housewives. The drab tints that seemed to accompany the uncertain weather that has been the rule for weeks past gave way to-day to vivid rainbow hues. Carrot orange, the varied greens of gooseberry, and peas and beans, the reds of currants and raspberries, made flaming bits of color on the carts flooded with warm sunshine. Upstairs, there were all sorts of flowers: asters in purple and white, at 20 cents a bunch, a deep purple novelty in some stately monkshood that combined with bright orange marigolds to make a striking bouquet at the same price, bunches of sweet peas and babies' breath, and beautifully - tinted gladioli, four for a quarter.

The gentleman with the luxuriant hair held the crowd's attention this morning, with his recital of the benefits to be derived from his magic oil, with a base the life-fluid of the rattlesnsakes whose rustling dead hides he held in his hands as exhibits. The auctioneer disposed of various small wares, including a quantity of children's clothing.

A load of hay was selling at $15.

Potatoes this morning were 40 to 50 cents a peck, and there seemed to be plenty of them. Green peas were 50 cents a basket, or 35 cents a quart, ready for the fire. String beans were three quarts for a quarter. Green apples, the Duchess variety, were 50 cents a peck, raspberries were 20 cents a box, or 2 for 35 cents, red currants 10 cents a box, and black currants 25 cents, and blueberries, a new arrival, were 20 cents a quart.

A little boy had a big Barred Rock rooster in a box, at $1.75. Pigs were $8 a pair.

In the basket section, eggs were retailing at 28 to 30 cents a dozen, and butter from 35 to 38 cents a pound. Spring chickens were 35 cents a pound, and hens 25 cents.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENED THIS AFTERNOON

Those Who Are Going To Attend Should Get the Series Tickets.

Chautauqua opened this afternoon with a wonderful program. In fact the whole series of programmes is one that is appealing more than ever to those who have attended them in the different cities where they have already appeared. The Chautauqua is brought to Peterboro through the guarantee of a number of local citizens, and only season tickets apply on this guarantee. If those who are going to attend will purchase the course tickets it will help out the guarantors and reduce the price of admission.

OLD HOME WEEK DEFICIT.

Lindsay's Loss in Money Was $1,868.70—Twelve Per Cent Demand on Guarantors.

LINDSAY, Aug. 2.—At a meeting of the Old Home Week guarantors held this week, the treasurer reported receipts amounting to $8,155.04; expenditures $10,043.74 leaving a deficit of $1,868.70. A 12 per cent demand is being called upon the from the guarantors.

During the evening the chairman of the Executive, Mr. James Boxall, was presented with a gold headed umbrella by the guarantors.

ULSTER AGREES TO SEND A MAN TO COMMISSION

Will Take Part in Boundary Discussion on Guaranteeing of Limiting of Functions.

HEATED DISCUSSION.

If Lord's Reject Bill in British House Disruption of Conservative Party Would Follow.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Ulster is prepared to appoint a representative on the boundary commission if the government's projected bill makes it clear that the commission's function is merely to adjust the boundary and not to transfer whole tracts of territory.

May Mean Disruption

It is the hope of the government that the interval between the introduction of the bill to set up the Irish boundary commission conciliatory counsels will have prevailed and either Ulster consented to nominate a representative on the commission or the bill allowed to go through as the measure agreed upon. At present the government and Ulster are maintaining a stiff attitude. The die hard section of the Conservative party, which has disapproved the Irish Treaty and which is strongly represented in the House of Lords, undoubtedly will make a strong opposition to the proposed legislation, but as th bill is expected to be supported solidly by the labor and liberal members and also by a considerable section of the moderate elements of the Conservative party, the government can carry it over the heads of the dissentients. Should the Lords reject the bill, the only result would be a complete disruption of the Conservative party.

HEATED EXCHANGE.

A heated exchange of opinion occurred in the Dail yesterday on the fulfillment of the treaty by Britain, says a despatch from Dublin. Deputy Johnson, the labor leader, said that the treaty had not been fulfilled by Britain and suggested that the Dail remake the constitution as early as possible. Other deputies adopted a similar attitude. The minister for home affairs, Hon Higgins, defended the treaty and told the deputies the position would not be advanced by denouncing it.

GASOLINE WAR IN BRANTFORD

No Variation or Uncertain Developments in Local Wholesale and Retail Markets.

Local motorists who are in the habit of taking long tours over the week-end would be well advised to include Brantford in their next itinerary.

In the city of Brantford at the present time, gasoline retails at 25c a gallon. Dealers are in the midst of a gasoline war. The quotations last Thursday were 28c which was followed by a drop of 3c the next morning. The dealers in Brantford have expressed the opinion that the battle will not last long as the present retail price is lower than the wholesale price.

The Examiner learned from wholesale and retail men to-day that no situation of that nature is anticipated in Peterboro although one wholesale firm said that a drop in the present price is anticipated.

The prevailing retail quotation here is 33c with an occasional station offering gasoline at 32c a gallon.

U. F. O. PICNIC.

E. C. Drury Spoke to Large Gathering at Bothwell's Corners.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press). — Speaking before a very large gathering at Bothwell's Corners at the U.F.O. picnic last night, E. C. Drury, ex-Premier of Ontario, made several important pronouncements.

Of the coming plebiscite on the O.T.A., he said "the question is to be again submitted to the people, and I hope that nothing of a political nature whatever will stand in your way in dealing with this question as you did before, and I want to make a strong appeal to you to place this question above politics and to do everything possible to retain the Ontario Temperance Act."

Shareholders Must Pay.

Bank Officials Refuse Dividend Until Double Liability is Met.

TORONTO, Aug. 2.—(Canadian Press). — Acting for a number of shareholders of the defunct Home Bank, who were also depositors, R. A. Reid, barrister, is commencing legal proceedings to compel payment by the liquidators of the amount of 25 per cent. dividend which was ordered to be paid to them, but which the bank officials are holding back and refusing to pay because they say a number of these shareholders are also debtors who owe the bank the amount of their double liability and the liquidators claim the right to set off this dividend against the double liability.

REAL STRONG STUFF SAYS MR. STEWART

Peterboro Citizen Was Fined $200.00 and Costs For Keeping a Still.

Inspector Joseph Stewart located a copper still in the cellar of a south-end resident. The discovery was followed by a Police Court case, resulting in a fine of $200 and costs in County Police Court this morning.

According to Mr. Stewart, the still was found in the cellar of the accused's home, and the mash in a bedroom of a neighboring house.

"It was composed of blackstrap and grain, real strong stuff," said Mr. Stewart.

No information has been laid against the party in whose house the mash was found, but it is understood that the possession of a mash is as much in contravention of the O.T.A. as the keeping of a still.

The defendant pleaded guilty and was defended by J. A. O'Brien, J. W. Wearing, acting for the prosecution, asked for a conviction. His Worship Magistrate Langley presided.

BERMUDA LOSES TRADE.

Rum Fleet Blockaded Off American Coast—Governor of Bermuda Speaks of Loss.

New York, August 2. — "Because of the blockade of the rum fleet established off the American coast, the problem of the rum runner in Bermuda has practically settled itself in the last two or three moths."

This was the statement yesterday of Lieutenant General Sir Joseph Asser, governor of Bermuda, who is in New York on his way to British Columbia for a holiday.

The business has been dying off very fast in the last two or three months and in a short time will be practically ended," he said, and added, with a smile, 'I'm afraid the people of Bermuda won't have very much money to play with then."

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast to about sixty guests was served at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Hickey left later for their home, where a reception was held, and the evening spent in the enjoyment of dancing and music.

OTTAWA THRONG GREETS WINNER OF KING'S PRIZE

Congratulations of His Country and His Home Town Paid Private Burke.

DODGED REPORTERS.

Dominion's Gift $1,000 and Ottawa Pays For University Course.

OTTAWA, Aug. 4. — Echoes of war time enthusiasm woke on Parliament Hill on Sunday, when an Ottawa boy came home with the Empire's most coveted prize for marksmanship in his pocket.

When Private Desmond Burke of the Governor-General's Foot Guards returned from Bisley with the gold medal of the King's prize in his pocket, he found awaiting him a half mile or so of military and a vociferous throng of citizens to do him honor.

Borne on the shoulders of his comrades he traversed the crowded streets to the wide grounds of Parliament Hill. Here the Prime Minister and the Minister of Defence, Mayor Napoleon Champagne and an official committee tendered him the felicitations of the Dominion and of his home town, and the rest of people below the terrace sent up cheer after cheer.

Achievement Recognized

Two months ago Burke took leave of absence from his job on a survey in northern Ontario where he was earning his college expenses "putting himself through" as they say in the schools. His performance at the Dominion Rifle Association shoot last year had justified his inclusion in Canada's Bisley Team.

Yesterday he came home with the King's medal and several other trophies of his marksmanship, the acclaim of his countrymen, and enough money to put him through college. But he won't need to use his prize money after all. The city of Ottawa will give him a course in the University of his choice, and the government of Canada has given him a thousand dollars to boot. An anonymous well wisher sent another hundred dollars.

Private Burke will be given a commission in the Governor-General's Foot Guards, either before or after his university course is finished.

Honor for Canada.

Premier Mackenzie King had come up from the country specially to congratulate Burke in the name of Canada on his achievements "in a contest which has challenged the skill of the foremost marksmen throughout te king's dominions." It was an honor for Canada, he said, that Burke, still in his 'teens, should have carried off the prize which has been for many a year the supreme ambition of men who have grown grey in the service of the sovereign and state.

On behalf of the Department of Defence, Hon. E. M. MacDonald thanked Burke for what he had done to maintain the standard of Canadian excellence in military matters. The government asked Burke to accept a cheque for $1000 so as to make it easier for him to complete his education and to develop his talents to the country's good.

Just a Boy.

Three generations of Burke's family were represented on the official platform. He comes on both sides of the house of well known pioneer Irish Canadian stock. His father is one of the best known school principals in Ottawa.

When the reception was over, on Parliament hill and at the armouries, where his more immediate confreres spent an hour with him, Burke escaped to his home. There within an hour he was found, sitting on his trunk beside the woodpile, talking tennis with his twin brother and a group of school mates. Rifles and sweaters and soiled duck uniforms surrounded him. There was much keen talk of racquets and those who had used them to the best advantage in Ontario this year, while in the drawing room and on the lawns people talked of Burke's great achievements and inspected his trophies.

One or these is a fine portrait of the King, signed by His Majestry and framed in mahogany and silver. Another is a silver serviette ring from the cook house at Bisley.

They are the most recent additions to a shelf of silver accumulated during the past two years by the two Burke boys at sharp shooting and tennis, in which sports both excel.

King's Prize Winner.

PRIVATE DESMOND BURKE, of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, who was acclaimed by crowds at the Capital on his home-coming on Sunday from Bisley, where he won the King's Prize, a medal, the sum of $1,500, and the glory of being the Empire's best shot. He was presented with a cheque for $1,000 from the Canadian Government, and the city of Ottawa awards him with a full course at Queen's University, Kingston. His regiment gives him an officer's commission.

Private Burke's score at Bisley included thirteen bull's-eyes at 1,000 yards.

The King's Prize dates back to 1860. Queen Victoria started the competition to encourage marksmanship. She opened the first tourney, and the story goes she made a bull's-eye at 400 yards.

Since then the shooting for the prize has been an annual event, and the winner considered the best shot in all the United Kingdom.

JOSEPH CONRAD, NOVELIST, DEAD

One of Greatest of Modern Writers in English Was Born in Poland.

WAS A SEA CAPTAIN.

BOURNE, England, Aug. 4. — (Canadian Press).—Joseph Conrad, eminent author of sea tales, died at his home here Sunday. He was 67 years old.

Joseph Conrad, one of the foremost English novelists and especially noted for his sea tales, was born December 6, 1857, of Polish parentage. His early life as a sailor and as a sea captain formed the background for his enthralling stories of the South Seas.

Conrad visited America last year in response to repeated invitations of his publishers. He was not well at the time, and was compelled by his illness to curtail his stay to about one month. The author had intended coming to America in 1915 but the war interfered with his plans.

He often said there had been three periods in his life. The first was when a boy of seventeen he left Poland, his native land, and went to sea. His second was his return to shore after twenty years of life at sea. The third, he described, as his marriage and his plan to return to the sea, which was abandoned because numerous "little schemes" made it necessary for him to keep on writing.

Among Conrad's best known books were "The Nigger of the Narvissus," "Lord Jim," "Victory," "Th Mirror of the Sea," and "The Rover."

CAUSE OF LUMP JAW

Lump jaw is not a hereditary disease nor is it directly contagious or "catching" It is caused by the invasion of a punctured wound, laceratio nor abrasion of the skin or mucuous membrane lining the mouth by the "ray fungus" (actinomyces). The disease technically is termed actinomycosis, from the fungus mentioned In probably a majority of cases the disease is caused by the beards or awns of barley, rye, wheat or wild grasses, or the hulls of straw of grains, and possibly the stalks of fodders carrying the infective spores of the fungus into the tissues. When pus flows from a naffected tumor or abscess caused by the fungus, it contains canary-yellow, gritty particles which contain spores, and these getting onto grass, grain, etc. in time reinfect animals when wound occur. For that reason an animal that has a discharging actinomycotic sore or abscess should not graze with sound cattle, and had better be kept isolated. As some of the pus may also get into milk and contaminate it, a cow affected with a discharging disease centre should not be used for milk production. It may be added that the meat of an affected animal is fit for use if slaughtering is done before emaciation is caused or pus forms and while the animal is otherwise in good health and eating well. The same is true of milk. But if the lump has become an open sore, neither flesh nor milk of the affected animal is fit for human food.

GERMANS DUE TO MEET ALLIES IN LONDON TUESDAY

Chancellor Marx Heads Delegation to Discuss Dawes Plan of Paying Reparations.

ON WAR ANNIVERSARY

Rights of France Under Versailles Treaty Are Preserved.

LONDON, August 4.—The German delegation to the Inter-Allied Conference, headed by Chancellor Marx, Foreign Minister Stresemann, Finance Minister Luther, is expected to arrive in London early Tuesday morning, according to a report received by the British Government.

The "Big Seven," Ramsey MacDonald, the British Prime Minister; M. Herriot, the French Premier; Frank B. Kellogg, United States Ambassador to Great Britain; M. Theunis the Belgian Premier; M. Hymans, the Belgian Foreign Minister; Professor De Stefani, the Italian Finance Minister and Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Ambassador, met this morning at 10.30 o'clock for a final conference prior to the arrival of the Germans.

Besides making final arrangements for admitting the Germans to places at the conference table the main delegates will discuss the question of leaving a nucleus of the railwaymen in the Ruhr region of Germany.

The plenary session of the conference Saturday accepted both the British and Franco-Belgian reports on this problem, leaving final settlement to the chief delegates.

Shadow of Past

When Saturdays' session of the conference adjourned there were crowds under the Foreign Office arches and around Downing Street waiting to catch a glimpse of the delegates. The newspapers recall that there were similar crowds on the same spot a decade ago when Europe was at the edge of the world war, which brought the problems this conference is trying to settle. Today is the tenth anniversary of Great Britain's declaration of war.

The conference was unanimous on the recommendations submitted to it by the committee studying the question of Germany's possible default under the Dawes plan and the sanctions to be applied. The Reparation Commission, which constituted the first judge of Germany's fate, is enlarged by the appointment of a citizen of the United States to be named by the Reparation Commission, if it can reach an unanimous vote; otherwise he will be named by the President of The Hague Court. In the application of sanctions it is stipulated that "if a default by Germany is established the Reparation Commission will forthwith give notice of such default to each of the interested powers and may make such recommendations as to the action to be taken in consequence of such default as it may think necessary."

Provision for Appeal

From any vote that is not unanimous, any members of the Reparation Commission who has participated in the vote may within eight days from the dare of the said decision appeal to a commission, composed of three impartial and independent persons whose decision shall be final.

The chairman of the arbitral commission, it is stipulated, shall be a United States citizen.

This concession to the principle of arbitration was granted to placate the bankers' opposition, but the right to separate action by France in the event of German default, which the bankers steadily opposed as jeopardizing the security of investors in the German loan, would seem to be maintained in the phrase setting forth that "all existing rights of the signatory powers under the Treaty of Versailles, read with the Dawes, are reserved."

"If Germany shall be declared in default," it is further stipulated, "the signatory governments, acting with the consciousness of joint trusteeships for the financial interests of themselves and of persons who advance money upon the lines of the (Dawes) plan, will confer at once on the nature of the sanctions to be applied and on the method for their rapid and effective application."

Lien on Germany

The provision whereby all Germany's public assets shall constitute a lien for the loan in event sanctions are applied for a default, never contested, is retained.

The experts committee's report regarding reparation transfers, which the plenary session also adopted, contains five resolutions. The first asks Germany to give assurances that it recognizes the Transfer Committee's right to purchase any commodities on an ordinary commercial basis after the treaty of Versailles' obligations have been fulfilled. Coal, coke and dyestuffs are particularly mentioned.

Other assurances are asked that no manoeuvres in Germany should pre-

Leopold Suggested Message From Grave

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—During the Loeb-Leopold hearing Saturday, the state attorney asked the defense alienist, Dr. White, whether the had told everything of his examinations and the doctor replied that he had forgotten to mention what Leopold would do if the case went against him—if he were sentenced to hang.

Leopold said, according to the doctor, that he would accumulate ten of the world's greatest riddles, put them in a safety vault and appoint a commission of scientists to get in touch with him after his death and try and see if he could solve those riddles.

This, the doctor pointed out, was a spiritualism which Leopold made clear he did not believe in, but he merely wished to test out this theory.

Leopold believes there is no hereafter.

LAUNCH AFLAME THREE IN LAKE

Dominic Lonergan, of Lindsay, Rescued Youth and Two Girls.

AT STURGEON LAKE.

LINDSAY, Aug. 4.—(Special to The Examiner.)—A triple drowning accident was narrowly averted at Sturgeon Lake on Saturday night after 9.30 o'clock as a result of the prompt and heroic work of Dominic Lonergan, son of John L. Lonergan, of the Hotel Benson, Lindsay.

Mr. Cherry Baker, son of W. E. Baker and a brother-in-law of James Lynch, of Peterborough, was on the lake in a large motor launch, accompanied by two young ladies, when an explosion occurred due to the engine back-firing. The boat caught fire and the occupants, to escape the flames, leaped into the water. Their plight was noticed by Dominic Lonergan at Sturgeon Point and he rushed to their rescue in a punt, bringing them ashore.

The launch, which was new, was valued at $1,400, and no insurance was carried on it by W. E. Baker, the owner.

AUTO ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK END

Two Peterborough Cars Collide at Corner of Water and Brock.

OMEMEE MAN IN.

Auto accidents have been of frequent occurrence in Peterboro the past few weeks.

Four motor collisions were reported over the week-end, the last of which occurred at 10 p.m. yesterday, when a touring car, driven by Horace Walkey, of the Bank of Montreal, hit the front end of a 7-passenger sedan driven by Ernest Griffin, proprietor of the Montreal House, at the corner of Brock and Water.

Mr. Walkey was coming west down the Brock Street Hill, and Mr. Griffin was travelling north on Water.

The smaller car struck the front end of the big car, broadside, twisting the fender and bending the wheel, while the lights were broken and the fenders twisted on Mr. Walkey's car. Both drivers survived the accident without injury.

Omemee Man.

At 5.55 yesterday evening, while driving north on George Street at about 15 miles an hour, he told the police, William Irwin, a garageman of Omemee, drove his car into another driven by Wilford Grisdale, 582 Aylmer Street. Mr. Grisdale was travelling on Dublin Street. The fender and body of his car were damaged, and Irwin's car was badly scratched and had the radiator and lamp broken.

STERLING ADVANCED

Exchange Responded to Success of Allied Conference.

NEW YORK, August 4 (Canadian Press). — The compromise settlement reached on Saturday by the Inter-Allied Conference on a plan for putting the Dawes plan into effect promoted a spirited demand for Allied currencies, carrying sterling up more than 2 cents to a new 1924 peak price at $4.43 5-8, French francs responding with a gain of about 15 points, mounting to 5.28 1-2 cents, and other European exchanges improved in sympathy.

In reaching a new high record, sterling eclipsed the previous 1924 top price of $4.41 3-4 established on 22nd July, and sold about 23 cents above the low mark for the year touched on 31st January.

DOCTOR FOUND YOUTHS INSANE CROWE ASSERTS

But For Fee of $250 a Day, Described Them "Mentally Sick."

EVIDENCE ATTACKED.

Judge Upholds Defence Refusal To Submit the Original Report.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The prosecution on Saturday ridiculed the "childish phantasy" theory built up by the defense in its examination of its first alienist, Dr. William A. White of Washingeton, D.C. as the explanation for the kidnapping and slaying of Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb hinted that the youthful "intellectual giants' had hood-winked the psychiatrist and finally attacked his credibility.

The defense stubbornly resisted the efforts of Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, to have produced the original report made by Dr. White. The Superintendent of the Federal hospital for the insane sat on the witness stand flushed and apparently angered at Mr. Crowe's remarks to Judge John A. Caverly that he wished to show that the witness first had decided the boys were insane and then, for his fee of $250 a day, had sworn they were only "mentally sick." At the end of the short court session the record showed Mr. Crowe as satisfied to let refusal to submit the report speak for itself.

In attacking the "childish phantasy" theory, the State's Attorney brought from Dr. White an "I dont' know" when the witness was asked if the admittedly high intellects of the youthful defendants at any time could have stopped the planning of the crime, which, the alienist had testified, originated in their emotions.

Intimates Alienist Was Deceived

Hinting at the possibility that "Babe" and "Dickie" had fooled the alienist, Mr. Crowe asked if he had believed all that the boys had told him, despite their known propensity for falsehood. The witness replied that he had not believed all of Loeb's "foolishness", but he thought Leopold had been "frank."

The youths "intellectually knew that murder was proscribed by law," the doctor testified, but "had no moral attitude to give them the feeling they were doing wrong," but Mr. Crowe forced the admission that in trying to protect the names of girl friends, and in Loeb's efforts to keep secret, for the protection of his father, an admission that he and Leopold had planned to kill the grandson of his father's business associate, Julius Rosenwald, the youths had been actuated by a concern "not possible in a child of 5."

Again, Mr. Crowe asked:

"You have called Loeb a child of 5 emotionally. How do you account for the fact that for a part of this time he could lay aside this characteristic, pursue his university studies and appear so normal to everybody that even his immediate family was startled when this crime was fastened on him? Will you explain how such an emotional infantile character could be so normal in all his human contacts?"

"Unfortunately, that is a common experience with people of this type," replied Dr. White. "These undeveloped, emotional youngsters enjoyed the affections of teachers and parents because of their childlike characteristics, which attracted love. The very nickname 'Dickie' would indicate the attitude which his parents had for him; that he was a lovable youngster

"That is the very characteristic that blinds people to things that are going on beneath the surface and are not visible to the untrained eye. We are dealing with that kind of situation all the time and are trying to show people how to look for danger signals underneath, rather than be misled by what appears to be a smooth and untroubled surface."

Dr. White was asked if Loeb, who appeared normal to his university teachers and fellow students throughout the month in which he and Leopold had planned their joint crime, had the power to choose whether to carry it out. Mr. Crowe wanted a "yes" or "no" answer, but failed to get it, the witness replying:

"Well, he did not avoid doing it and whether he could have avoided the homicide is largely a metaphysical question. The powers that were at work within him impaired very materialy his capacity to choose."

"Was he any different in this respect from any other criminal," asked Mr. Crowe.

"That is another of your vague terms," retorted Dr. White. "I can't talk about any other or every other criminal. I don't know them all, and a criminal is not an entity that is clearly defined." He reiterated that whether Loeb could have avoided the crime was "an unanswerable type of question," that "Dickie" knew intellectually what was against the law but had no adequate feeling toward its moral error.

"But did he have sufficient capacity to refrain from killing?" persisted Mr. Crowe.

"I don't know," said the expert.

Mr. Crowe asked about Loeb's "split personality," and tried to get the doctor to say whether he is afflicted with dementia praecox. Objections switched the examination away from that subject and throughout the quizzing Judge Caverly upheld the defence in barring any mention of "insanity" as applied to the defendants.

Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defence, announced that Leopold and Loeb would not be called in their own defence.

"Haven't they talked enough" he said.

Dr. William Healy of Boston and Dr. Bernard Glueck of New York, in turn, will be the next witnesses called. Mr. Darrow thought the defence would not take much longer than this week.

The defendants were unusually silent and serious Saturday, and their whispered conversations and smiles were few.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION IN STACK OF HAY BELIEVED THE CAUSE OF $30,000 FIRE

General Store, Two Houses and Barn at Colebrook Destroyed Sunday—Flames Checked By Kingston's Fire Department—Partly Insured.

COLEBROOK, Ont., Aug. 4. — (Canadian Press).—Fire, believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in a hay stack nearby, destroyed the house, store and barn belonging to T. K. Keyes, local merchant, Sunday afternoon. The house of H. Ball, on an adjacent lot, was also burned. The total damage is estimated at $30,000, of which only a small amount is covered by insurance. The damage to the Keyes' property will probably amount to $20,000.

The Keyes family were sitting on the verandah yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock when suddenly they heard an explosion which appeared to come from a hay stack. Immediately it became enveloped in flames, and in a short time had spread to the barn. As it burned it gained new vigor, and soon spread to the house and store. At first it was feared that the gasoline tank in front of the store would be blown up, but luckily this was not the case, or more serious damage would have been done.

An urgent call was put into the Kingston fire department, and the fire engine was despatched with all rapidity, and made the run, a distance of twenty miles, in record time. When the brigade arrived they lost no time in using the chemical fire extinguishers, and in a short time had the flames under control.

The fire was the most spectacular seen around here in years.

MAN SPRAWLS ON FRESH TAR

Falls Off Bicycle While Perfectly Sober—Held City Responsible.

GETS NEW SUIT.

"No, I was not drunk—no booze in city," was the neat postscript of a communication read by Chairman Alderman Crowe at a meeting of the Legal Committee last Friday night.

This irate correspondent asked the City to buy him a new suit of clothes.

The letter explained that on an occasion some weeks ago, when he was riding a bicycle, west on Bolivar Street, not noticing that fresh tar had been poured on the street, the wheel skidded, with the result that his best suit of clothes and cap were ruined. "The City workingmen did not put up a sign 'no thoroughfare.' I thought I was going to drown in the depth of the tar—had no chance," the letter concluded.

It was stated that the applicant for the price of a suit was a deaf and dumb person.

"He was sure in a terrible sight," remarked Alderman Morrison. "I never saw the like of it, from one end of him to the other."

"I saw him too," said Alderman Maher. "He had the suit cleaned and it was just as bad as ever."

The members viewed the unfortunate man's plight, with deep concern and expressions of regret for the sorrowful mishap indicated that the unusual request would be granted.

After it was decided to replace the tar stained suit, the matter of price had to be determined.

"I suppose it will take $35.00 or $40.00," suggested Mayor Turner.

"Cut that in half," said Alderman Maher.

"Oh! Ten dollars," interjected Alderman Stocker.

Since Alderman Maher is a clothing merchant, it was felt that he ought to be able to make an authoritative estimate, so his figure was accepted.

Thus, the sum of $20.00 lies in the City treasury at the disposal of the unfortunate gentleman.

PROPOSE COURSE IN AGRICULTURE

Hastings People Meet With District Representative F. C. McRae on Tuesday.

HASTINGS, August 4. — Mr. F. C. McRae, District Agricultural Representative, has arranged for a meeting to be held on Tuesday evening in the council chamber at 8 o'clock to see whether or not a course in Agriculture and Home Economics, can be held in Hastings during the coming winter. The course is absolutely free and the kind of instruction given is equally as good as from a year to a year and a half instruction at any Agricultural College. Such instruction would cost anywhere from $800 to $1000.

Two such courses have already been held in these parts, one course at Norwood two years ago and the other at Keene last winter. As there are only eight to be held in the province the matter will have to be definitely settled at once. It will be necessary to have at least twenty-five girls and twenty-five boys attend the classes.

ENGLAND DON'T NEED SCOTSMEN

Capable of Administering Her Own Affairs, Says Social Democrat.

BLAME GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, Aug. 4.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Dissatisfaction with the Government's record was expressed by several speakers here Sunday at the annual conference of the Social Democratic Federation. Chairman Cluse demanded a bold unemployment scheme. A London delegate moved a resodlution, which carried, favoring home rule for England, Scotland, Wales and greater London. He stated that he thought it was time his Scottish friends knew that, contrary to their beliefs, Old England was able to manage her own affairs without the help of Scotsmen and Welshmen.

Delegate Killip, West Ham, Essex, wanted "constitutionalism or socialism, not this hybrid thing." He complained about the gold braid and three-cornered hats worn by the Labor ministers and asked why some sacrificed their careers while others were aping the worst vices—aristocracy and capitalism. There is little difference between the present and past governments except talk, he stated.

MUSKOKA HOSTEL PREY TO FLAMES

TORONTO, (By Long Distance Telephone from Juddhaven, Muskoka) Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Morinus House, about three miles west of the Royal Muskoka Hotel on Lake Rosseau, was totally destroyed by fire last evening. Fortunately the fire was discovered early and most of the twenty guests and hotel help were awake and about at the time. All escaped without injury with most of their personal belongings. Several of the guests were taken care of at the Royal Muskoka for the night and all found shelter in neighboring resorts. The cause of the fire is not known here at present. The property damage is estimated at from $20,000 to $30,000.

When discovered they made a break to get away, but one of them, Bevitt Liske, received a bullet in the right shoulder which halted him.

The other man got away.

From information given by Liske he was apprehended in Mitchell yesterday morning, his name being M. Lockridge.

Liske was brought to the jail here, where he received medical attention.

He appeared before the Magistrate and was remanded until next Saturday.

TWO U. S. PLANES REACH ICELAND, THIRD DAMAGED

Lieut. Wade Forced to Descend Half Way From Scottish Coast.

RESCUED BY PATROL

Machine Cut Adrift and Abandoned in Open Sea.

HOEFN, Hornafjord, Iceland, August 4 (Canadian Press). — Two of the United States Army round-the-world flyers have negotiated the foggy course that lies between the northern coast of Scotland and Iceland, and last night were waiting inside the natural breakwater here for the third plane of the little squadron.

Lieut. Erik Nelson, who sailed for several hours through the "pea-soup" fog and arrived here on Saturday from Kirkwall, was joined yesterday by the commander of the expedition, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, who, with Lt. Leigh Wade, jumped off from Kirkwall early yesterday morning on their second attempt to make the voyage, having on Saturday morning been forced to return to Houton Bay owing to the density of the fog.

Wade Forced Down.

Wade again yeserday had hard luck. He was forced down by engine trouble about midway between the Scottish coast and his objective but his plane was taken in tow by one of the trawlers patrolling the coast, and it is expected that when repairs are effected he again will take the air and come on to Hoefn Hornafjord.

Smith in his journey above the North Atlantic yesterday had a hard fight during the latter part of it, meeting with both rain squalls and heavy banks of fog.

He left Kirkwall at 9.17 o'clock in the morning, and despite the weather conditions dropped safely into the little harbour here at 1.37 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Towed by Trawler.

When Wade was forced down upon the water, the torpedo boat destroyer Billingsley went to his aid and later the trawler, and threw him a tow-line.

The engine of the plane is said to be only slightly damaged.

The first news of Wade's trouble came in a report from the Island of Sudero, the southernmost of the Faroe group.

It was contained in a message dropped by Smith as he passed over the island.

The message requested that a despatch be sent to England that Wade had been forced down 115 miles off Birsay, in the Orkney Islands.

Wireless despatches were immediately sent to the patrol fleet to go to the rescue.

The flight was abandoned early this morning.

The plane was taken in tow by the Richmond yesterday after Lieut. Wade and his mechanic, Sergt. Arthur M. Ogden, had been forced down at sea by engine trouble while negotiating the hop from Kirkwall in the Orkneys to Iceland.

The Richmond's effort to salvage the wrecked plane was abandoned when the machine, which had been gradually filled while being towed in a heavy sea, capsized.

Seeing the hopelessness in attempting further to save it, officers cut it adrift.

The Richmond then turned about and made for Reykjavik, Iceland.

Wade Disappointed.

Lieut. Wade, on board the Richmond, was naturally chagrined over the ill-fate that had brought his plane to grief and stopped his participation and that of Sergt. Ogden in the flight when it was so near conclusion, but he took the disappointment well.

Describing his experiences, Lieut. Wade said:

"It was the first time we had had trouble with the oil pump, and our second forced landing in the 19,000-mile flight. The first was on the Japanese coast when we came down for water.

"On yesterday's flight, when the trouble came, we signalled Lieut. Smith by waving that we were forced down, also that the engine was out of commission, requesting him to advise the patrol.

"We expected to remain in the water until the Richmond arrived.

"We saw a merchant vessel at two o'clock in the afternoon, but could not attract its attention. An hour later the trawler which rescued us was sighted. We had to signal with pistol and rifle before she noticed us."

CANADIAN CHAMPION.

MOUNT BRUNO GOLF COURSE, Que., August 4. — Leo Diegel, Washington, won the Canadian open golf championship on Saturday afternoon.

Diegel's aggregate for the 72 holes played was 285. Next to him was Gene Sarazen, Briarcli, with a total of 287.

SAFE AND SANE SEA SHARPERS

The New Deep-Sea Crooks Operate Upon the Rule of Giving Value.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.

LONDON, Aug. 4 (United Press).—The new school of deep-sea crooks operate upon the rule of giving value received for their victims' money.

It's like this. They bilk a bored, semi-seasick, middle-western tourist out of a few hundred dollars in a crap game or a little round of stud. The vacationist doesn't in the least mind losing that sum of money. He'd spend as much or more for champagne in one night at Montmartre, and never give the financial end of the affair a second thought—although he must worry about his headache.

Here he is on a steamship, making his first trip to Europe, and pretty well fed up with life on the ocean wave. He has set aside a certain amount of money that he is going to spend for entertainment—and all he asks is that he be entertained for his money. So far he hasn't found the ship hilariously entertaining. And, just then, when he's awful low, that nice chap who was talking to him yesterday, comes along again—and, the first thing he knows, a little game is on—and he has a perfectly wonderful time the remainder of the voyage. Time passes away so quickly he can't realize it! He wins a little one day and he loses a little another day—and, what! only $250 behind at the end of the trip! And had a plumb good time, too! Likely as not on the trip coming home I'll win back my losings!" And on the trip back home he drops another couple of hundred—and likes it!

In the old days the professionals who played the trans-Atlantic steamships would sometimes make trip after trip without earning expenses. Their theory then was to pounce upon one or two very wealthy and very gullible travelers and separate him or them from everything, in the crookedest sort of game for sky-high stakes.

Now they plan to get several hundred dollars each from 30 to 50 passengers per trip—passengers who are willing to give that much money to be entertained. The operation is painless, and half the time the game isn't even crooked.

That's why you hear little or no complaint from passengers these days about having been bilked by gamblers. The gamblers themselves are playing a safe game. One of the experts in the business since its reformation has explained it about this way:

"We force nobody into our games—couldn't force anybody if we wanted to. And, really, we don't lure them very much. We have 'conversation men' on the ships, to make the approach, of course. We study our prospects. We know what we are doing. It's just like selling life insurance or shaving soap—only we urge our prospect much less than any dry-land salesman. We simply give him a chance to invest in entertainment, in the form of cards or craps, and if he isn't interested we leave him alone. There are always plenty of others who will be interested. The old strong-arm stuff has passed away; also the old idea of making a big cleanup off'n one individual. We never hit anybody in the head, or try to get 'em stewed. If they want to get lit up voluntarily, that's their own affair. We've just developed a nice, quiet, friendly business where all our customers are treated with kindness, and given their money's worth. Our time and expenses, traveling all the time to play cards with folks who want a little kick out of their ocean trip, is worth every cent we make 'em pay for it. And this policy actually pays better dividends than the old methods. If we shake down 200 men for an average of $500 each—which is a reasonable business for two round trips during the busy season—we've made $100,000, and a good time was had by all. But if we trimmed ten men for $10,000 each, somebody would be sure to complain of being stung!"

FABLES ON HEALTH

TRAVEL MEDICINE.

What sort of a medicine chest should be carried on a vacation?

Mr. Mann began to wonder after he had packed up his flivver and made ready for the "open spaces."

Now, most healthy people take a little mosquito salve and a little sunburn ointment and let it go at that. It isn't a good idea to take a medicine chest along on an excursion intended for health, unless ordered to do so by the doctor.

However, there are one or two things that may be taken along for precautionary purposes.

Iodine swabs, in handy packages, may be purchased almost anywhere. In case of accidents involving cuts, etc., these are most useful things to have along, as immediate cleansing can be insured.

There are other handy first-aid packages to be had, but one small iodine outfit is about as good as anything.

Also, if you are fearful of snakes, a "first-aid" preparation is now to be had at drug stores and sporting goods places. A serum injection is generally contained in this package, which is so small that it can be carried in a vest pocket.

A little gauze and cotton may be taken along if desired, though in any simple emergency a clean handkerchief will do.

With the possible exception of some mild cathartic, this is all an average person should require.

U. S. PASTOR GOES TO BERLIN.

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (Associated Press).—The Rev. Irwin S. Yeaworth, of Baltimore, has been called by the American Church of Berlin to be co-pastor with Dr. Dickie, the senior pastor, and will take up his duties in August. The American and Foreign Christian Union, in which the title of the church vests, has approved of the appointment.

Dr. Dickie will return to his former home in Detroit in August and hereafter will live there with the exception of the three summer months, when he will take charge of the Berlin church during the vacation of his assistant.

LIBERALS PLAN FOR BIG RALLY

Preliminary Arrangements Discussed For Reception of Prime Minister.

SPORTS PROGRAMME.

The first foreshadow of the big Liberal rally on August 28 was a meeting of about forty of Peterboro's young active Liberals on Friday night, in the office of G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P.

Preliminary preparations are under way, and at Friday's meeting the committees were struck and arrangements discussed for the reception and entertainment of their leader, the Right Hon. MacKenzie King, Honorable George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Honorable Charles Murphy, Postmaster-General.

As already announced, this great Liberal demonstration will take the form of a picnic, and a sports committee has been formed, who are now busy arranging their programme for the occasion.

GERMANY MUST ENTER LEAGUE FOR OWN GOOD

Fifth Annual Assembly Sees League of Nations in Strong Position.

SUPREME IN WORLD.

Russia and United States Must Adopt a New Policy If Not Actual Membership.

GENEVA, Aug. 4 (United Press). —The fifth annual assembly of the League of Nations, which has been summoned for Sept. 1, is counted upon by Leaguers to mark the definite turning point in the history of the League.

With the assurance that MacDonald of England, Herriot of France, and Mussolini of Italy will attend personally the opening days of the assembly for the purpose of inaugurating and precaging the new role that the League is to play in international affairs, Leaguers feel that their organization is at last come into its own. It is expected from now on to have the occasion of measuring up to the full possibilities which its founders had in view for it.

After a formative period of five years, in which the League was gradually working out its real place as an international organism, and in which the leading nations of the world were also gradually adjusting themselves to the existence of this new power, the moment has come, according to Leaguers, not only when the League is ready and prepared to play its full role, but when the principal nations of the world are disposed to allow it to do so.

During these five years of formative life the League has demonstrated that there is no danger of its ever becoming a super-state, that the fundamental keynote of its existence must always be the fullest respect of the sovereign rights of every state; but that on the other hand it has become the most effective organism of international collaboration that the world has yet developed.

Even with this role fully and completely defined, however, the League has been and would be incapable of coming up to its full role unless the leading nations of the world, and especially those of Europe, accorded their full support and turned over to the League for settlement their international disputes.

Leage—What It's Made.

The League, it is recognized, can only be what the governments forming the League make it.

To date it is exceedingly difficult to say that all or even any of them have given it their fullest, wholehearted support. Some have gone farther than others, but there has been no unanimity.

Now, with a League of Nations government existing in England; with a League of Nations government existing in France, and with Mussolini, following his Corfu-Greco affair, one of the most cordial supporters of the League, this situation is expected to change.

During the past few months these three leading European allies have manifested an ever-growing tendency to let the League become the principal organism for the handling of international questions and this future policy is expected to be definitely proclaimed before the September assembly by MacDonald, Herriot and Mussolini.

One of the first concrete results of this change of policy on the part of the three principal European allies will be the turning over to the League, as provided for under the peace treaties, of the military control of Germany, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria. Preliminary work to this end has already begun and it is expected that this control will be established before the end of the year.

The net result will be the lifting of the League immediately into a place of supreme importance for the maintenance of European peace.

League Helps Experts.

In addition it is expected that much of the carrying out of the expert's report for the settlement of reparations will also be left to the League.

Even more important, however, is the changed policy in France which now openly admits that France will count on the League of Nations for solving the problem of her national security and which constitutes probably the mots vital i nternational question in Europ etoday.

The League will definitely tackle this problem during the September assembly by launching as a basis of reduction in armaments, its international pact of mutual defense, and which in addition to a general agreement amongst all nations disposed to sign it, will include regional and group agreements such as those of the Little Entente, the Franco-Belgian-Polish-Slovakian agreements, the Italo-Serbian and Slovakian defensive treaties, etc., etc.

With all of these operatives under the control of the League and with the latter in full control not only of the disarmament of the ex-enemy states as provided by the treaties, but with the reduction in armaments that will be imposed on all signatories of the mutual defense pacts, the League will at once become the center for the maintenance not only of European but world peace.

Germany Must Enter.

This position of importance will be such that it is regarded as certain that Germany can no longer keep out of the League and that both Russia and the United States will be obliged to adopt a new policy if not an actual membership, at least of greater co-operation. As a matter of fact the Soviets have already foreseen and prepared for this new change in the role of the League and the possible entrance thereof of their German friend and ally, by opening negotiations for the maintenance at Geneva of a permanent official observer who will act much in the capacity of a Russian ambassador accredited to the League of Nations.

While all of these new factors that which are tending for the moment towards the launching of the League on an entirely new basis of life, overshadow to some extent the agenda as prepared for the September assembly, the latter, nevertheless, is still regarded as one of the most important the assembly has had before it. The reports on the League's financial reconstruction of Austria and Hungary, especially, are expected to constitute two of the most concrete and important accomplishments in the history of the League.

The Agenda.

The full agenda for the session is as follows:

1—Election of credentials committee.
2—Election of president.
3—Examination and adoption of agenda.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARGARET SMITH.

he death occurred on Saturday, August 2, of Mrs. Margaret Smith, in Cobourg, in her 59th year, following an illness of some months' duration.

Funeral announcement will be made later.

MRS. ERNEST SINGER.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 4. — Sarah Ann Manley, wife of Ernest Singer, died Friday evening at her home on Front street, after an illness of over seven years duration, due to creeping paralysis.

The deceased was born in Otonabee Towship, and 25 years ago was married to Mr. Singer, who at that time was a resident of Toronto.

Some years ago, when Mrs. Singer's health failed, they removed to Peterboro, where she entered the hospital, but the most expert medical skill was unable to render her any permanent assistance. About two years ago they moved to Campbellford where Mr. Singer has been engaged in business ever since.

The deceased is survived by her husband, and one daughter, Reta, at home. Her mother, Mrs. Henry Labrash, resides in Campbellford and and she has a number of relatives living in Peterboro and surrounding district.

The funeral was held at 10 o'clock on Monday morning to Christ church cemetery, Rev. G. C. Clarke conducting the services.

MRS. GEORGE STAPLES.

BETHANY, Aug. 4.— After an illness which extended over a year and a half, on August first death removed from this vicinity one of the oldest and most respected citizens in the person of Mrs. George Staples of Lifford, widow of the late George Staples, in her 76th year. Mrs. Staples was a lifelong resident of the township, being a daughter of the late Robert Touchburn, and was a Methodist in religion. She leaves to mourn her loss four sons and three daughters, Thomas, Charles, Mary and Offa at home, Fred of Cavan, Mrs. James Howe, Janetville, Mrs. Joseph Downs, of Hull, Manitoba. Two sisters, Mrs. A. W. Hall, South Monaghan, and Mrs. R. Sylvester of Lindsay, also survive.

Mr. Staples predeceased her four years ago.

The funeral took place from the home of her son Offa on Sunday and was very largely attended.

The many floral offerings showed the high esteem in which Mrs. Staples was held.

Interment took place in St. Mary's cemetery.

A resident art representative in Europe of the Canadian National Exhibition has collected an exceptionally attractive exhibit of British and European masterpieces for the Fine Arts Gallery. The Canadian collection is also said to be well selected. There will, as usual, be a display of graphic and applied arts and an International Photographic Salon.

The automobile passenger car show will again be held in the Transportation Building at the Canadian National Exhibition. Auto trucks and accessories will occupy the lower west wing of the Coliseum. By 1925 it is hoped to have a new building, costing $1,000,000, large enough to accommodate under one roof the entire automobile industries.

WILL COMPLETE BRIDGE REPAIR IN TWO MONTHS

Campbellford Structure Entails Expenditure of $9,212.

THRESHING BEGUN.

Harry Bedford, West Seymour, Took 300 Bushels From 15 Acres.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4. — Deputy-Reeve Dorie was in Cobourg Saturday attending a meeting of the County Road Commission, composed of Warden Fowlds of Hastings and Reeves Hartt of Murray, Elliott of Bowmanville and Clarke of Colborne the business before the meeting being the opening of tenders for the repairing of the Campbellford bridge.

Two tenders were received, the Ontario Bridge Company offering to do the work for $9212.00 and the Dominion Bridge Company putting in a bid at $9850. The contract was awarded to the former company.

Two other companies offered to do the work on a plus cost basis of to per cent as their engineers had not had an opportunity to look over the bridge but these offers were not considered.

Arthur Sedgwick, engineer for the Highway Department, had estimated the cost of putting the bridge in first class shape at $9,000. He refused to recommend a new supstructure throughout holding that the steel work was in good condition and that all that was required was additional stringers and new flooring. To replace the steel as well as the floor would cost $20,000 and the Government in view of the report of their engineer, refused to pay 40 per cent. of this outlay. They will however, grant two-fifth of the contract price for repairs, or $3685 in all. Of the remainder the counties will pay 75 per cent and the town the remainder the latter's share of the cost being $1384.

The Campbellford officials were anxious to secure a new bridge but the government's position on the matter has ben fully explained to them so that there is nothing left for them to do but to accept the action of the Commission.

Will Take Two Months

It is understood that work on the bridge will begin on or before August 15th and that it will require about two months for completion. Deputy-Reeve Dorie insisted on one condition that the bridge be ready for foot passengers by September 1st., so that school children on the west side will be able to cross on it. In the meantime while the bridge is torn up all vehicles will cross the river at the paper mill.

Threshing Begun.

George Barnum has started his threshing outfit, his first job for the season being on the farm of Harry Bedford, West Seymour, who from 15 acres threshed 300 bushels of wheat, the sample being excellent.

Mr. Barnum, who is a thresher of long experience, says that 20 bushels of wheat to the acre is a good average yield, one season with another.

On Saturday he threshed 224 bushels of wheat and rye for Nathan Atkinson, Bay View Farm, at Crow Bay ,and the grain there yielded about the same quantity per acre as that of Mr. Bedford.

Decorated Graves.

The True Blues of town paraded to Mount Pleasant Cemetery on Sunday afternoon and laid floral tributes on the graves of their departed comrades. A large number of members took part in the procession, which was headed by the fife band.

The services at the cemetery were conducted by Thomas Dunk, chaplain, and Charles Bateman, secretary of the society. The graves of the following were decorated:

Bros. Bert Boyce, Robert Linn, Will Phillips, John Free, H. Hodge, Sam Frederick, James Crothers, John Thompson, Charles Ivey, and Sister Labrash, the remains of the latter having been brought here for burial from Port Hope some time ago.

Monday's Holiday.

Among the civic holiday attractions were the excursion to Frankford on the steamer Stoney Lake, under the auspices of the True Blues and the Oddfellows' picnic at Perry Boom.

The regular monthly meetings of the Town Council and the Cheese Board were postponed on account of the holiday.

Personals.

Master Charles McLean left on Saturday evening to spend a couple of weeks with friends in Norwood and vicinity.

GIRL SAW CHUM SHOOT HIMSELF

Girl Feared Pistol on Table, So He 'Emptied' It, He Thought, Then Pulled Trigger.

HAD DOUBLE IDENTITY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Harry Mack, or McCoun, lay dead, a bullet in his head, on the floor of his "front parlor," at No. 328 West Fifty-eighth street.

While the police ransacked the place, finding sheafs of lodge membership cards to give the first inkling that this "model roomer" was not Mr. Mack at all, but George W. McCoun, a weep ing blond, comely and heartbroken, talked to the District Attorney at his office downtown.

The girl, who said she was Peggy Cook, was in the man's room early Friday when the shot was fired. It was she who ran to the foot of the stairs and shrieked to the house at large:

"Mack has shot himself! Oh, come quick!"

Back to Pennsylvania.

But by the time the house was aroused Mack was dead. On the centre table in his room were whiskey bottles, cigarette ashes, and four cartridges. This last, especially, lent support to the girl's story, a story that set her free and sped her away from the city on the first Philadelphia train out after noon.

For she gave two Pennsylvania addresses, one at 1464 Spruce street, Philadelphia, where she said she was a hairdresser; the other at West Hazelton, where she said her parents lived.

Mrs. Campenini, who manages the house, remarked with astonishment how calmly the blond girl made her toilette after the shooting and then sat down to wait for the police—for Mrs. Campenini had phoned instantly.

The proprietress was surprised, too, at the discovery of a second identity for her roomer—"such a quiet, nice man, and one who had lived there for two and a half years, paying his rent regularly with a check signed Harry Mack." Never had she seen anything unbecoming in his conduct and even last Friday "before the young lady came" he asked if he "might have his wife up from Philadelphia for a week."

Gun Always On Table.

The girl told Assistant District Attorney Dineen that the revolver was placed on the table and she begged Mack to put it away. He laughed, broke it, and allowed the bullets to spill out on the table. Then he closed it, clicked the trigger once or twice to show how perfectly innocent it was, and held it to his head, laughing, to pull it on the fatal chamber where one cartridge had stuck, apparently.

Mrs. Campenini, too, said she had seen the pistol there "all the time," and was afraid of it; said she had even begged Mack to put it away on account of her little girl. But Mack only showed his permits, dating back to 1920, and the gun remained on the table.

Found among the dead man's possessions were several kodak pictures of himself and the girl, Miss Cook; also a check for $100 made out to George W. McCoun and signed Frank E. and A. M. Campbell, which led to the discovery that instead of being a "stock broker," as had been given out, Mack was an auditor for the Funeral Parlors.

GERMANS DUE

vent the Allies from purchasing needed goods.

The second resolution recommends that Germany be asked to accept the establishment of a special committee not exceeding six members and consisting of an equal number of Allied and German representatives to determine the procedure for placing orders and the conditions for carrying out deliveries in kind. In case of a committee disagreement a neutral can be selected as the seventh member.

The third resolution provides that in case of differences between Germany and the Transfer Committee over purchases of goods a neutral arbitrator is to be chosen by agreement between the two parties, or, failing agreement, by the president of The Hague Court.

May Modify Plan

The fourth outlines methods for modifying the Dawes plan. It provides for appeal from a decision of the Reparation Commission with the United States member sitting to the committee of three independent, impartial experts chosen by agreement between the Reparation Commission, deciding unanimously, and Germany, or, in case of disagreement by the president of The Hague Court. The Reparation Commission must first submit a charge that a defect has occurred to the committee consisting of the Agent-General for Reparations, the trustee for railway and industrial bonds, railway commissioner, bank, commissioner and commissioner of controlled revenues.

The fifth resolution provides two methods for applying the principles of arbitration to the question whether financial manoeuvres are occurring within Germany to defeat transfers. If the Transfer Committee is divided equally on the question, an appeal can be made to an arbitrator who shall be a financial expert selected by the members of the Transfer Committee, or, lacking unanimity, by The Hague Court.

A Widow~ with a Permanent Monthly Income

James Strong was a clear-headed man in his business dealings—just, honest and far-seeing.

Therefore, no one was surprised when, on his death, it became known that he was insured under a "Permanent Monthly Income Policy" of the North American Life Assurance Company.

Each month ever since her husband's death, the North American Life Assurance Company has mailed Mrs. Strong a cheque for $150. The principal is shielded from imprudent expenditure or foolish investment and safeguarded for her comfort as long as she lives.

James Strong chose well when he decided upon a "North American Life Permanent Income Policy" as the safest and best way of providing for his wife after he had passed away.

We will be glad to furnish full information on this form of policy.

LINDSAY'S EXPERIENCE.

The fact that the Lindsay Old Home Week showed a deficit of $1,800 is being used as an argument against the feasibility of such events.

The chief reason, however, that the Lindsay demonstration was not a financial success in spite of receipts of over $8,000 was that the mistake was made of providing a community picnic for everybody, an event that took thousands out of Lindsay for the day and that made a heavy inroad upon the revenue.

It was a tactical error that was costly—and other communities planning similar events will profit by Lindsay's experience.

Otherwise the Lindsay Old Home Week was a success.

It brought home hundreds of former residents and it attracted thousands of other visitors, who spent their money freely and left most of it in Lindsay.

The result was of great benefit to many Lindsay merchants, and a week of solid enjoyment to the general population.

Something of that nature is necessary now and then to shake a town or city out of the rut of everyday life with its hum-drum monotony.

NOT A POLITICAL QUESTION.

Ex-Premier Drury struck the right note in his speech at a U. F. O. picnic near Owen Sound the other day when he warned his hearers not to make a political question out of the Ontario Temperance Act campaign.

There should be no politics in this matter.

The plebiscite will give the people of Ontario a chance to say what policy they favour as likely to give the best results in the handling of the liquor problem.

It is not a political question, nor a religious one.

Rather should it be viewed as an effort by the people to arrive at a method that will be of the most general benefit.

There is no occasion for lost tempers or ill-feeling or rancor in such an effort.

As the Examiner pointed out a few days ago, everybody who advocates a prohibition is not a hypocrite, nor is everybody who favours Government control a drinker or a friend of bootleggers and rum-runners.

If the ultra-zealous on both sides of the question can exercise reasonable self-restraint Ontario can decide upon a policy in regard to the Ontario Temperance Act sensibly and reasonably without the rancor and back-biting that have distinguished similar campaigns in the past.

Mr. Drury's advice is sound—keep politics out of the question altogether.

CHEERY READING.

The Examiner's farm page these days makes cheery reading.

From all points in the district come reports of bumper crops, hay so high and so strong that a mower can hardly cut it, wheat as tall as a horse and with a better berry than has been seen in twenty years, barns hardly big enough to house the crops.

Everything indicates that old Ontario is coming through as she always does and that the farmers of the Province will not only have splendid crops, but that they will realize better prices than usual.

That is news that is of great moment to city folks, as well as their country cousins, for, as often remarked, prosperity for the farmers means more or less prosperity for everybody else.

Incidentally, the fact should not be forgotten that Ontario, the banner Province, never fails.

Conditions may look bad at one stage or another, one product here and there may be a failure, but in the long run old Ontario wins through to a triumphal harvest year after year.

This season, however, promises to better the average, and the present crop indications are such as to give general cause for thanksgiving.

If there is a better Province in the Dominion than Ontario it would be a difficult matter to convince our people of its existence.

But, of course, there isn't.

TEN YEARS AGO.

It is difficult, so fast has the time sped away, to realize that it was ten years ago tonight that Peterborough heard the news that Great Britain had declared war upon Germany, and that Canada was about to participate in a world conflict.

But yesterday—and yet much history has been made—seems that night when the world waited to hear what Britain would do—although none who knew Britain had any doubt about the decision.

And ten years ago tomorrow began the recruiting of that gallant little company of infantrymen by the Peterborough Rangers, a company 125 strong, that was destined nine months later to fight against fearful odds at St. Julien, and many of them to die that the line should not be broken and the channel ports might be held safe from the Hun.

Ten years ago!

A whole decade gone, the war itself has been ended nearly six years.

Hundreds of Peterborough soldiers lie beneath the wooden crosses in the carefully kept cemeteries of France and Belgium.

The hands of little English children decorate the graves of others who died in the training camps of the Motherland.

Others are back with us—but not all the same men who marched away so blithely, some of them on a bright August morning ten years ago and many, many more who followed them in the months to come.

No, there are many with the outward signs of their suffering, men who were crippled, men who were gassed, men who were stricken by illness because of the hardships they underwent,

Today, ten years after the outbreak of the war, is a good time for Canadians to ask themselves if they have done their full duty to the memory of the dead and in taking care of those who came back broken—crippled—literally fragments from France.

Has Peterborough discharged its obligation?

SIR HENRY THORNTON'S SUGGESTION.

In an address to the Canadian Club of Vancouver Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways, repeated his interesting suggestion for keeping those railways out of politics.

"The time should come when all political parties should feel that they have a direct interest in the railway. The railway belongs to no political party and one way to keep the railway from being used in politics is to give proper representation on the Board to all political parties, with men of outstanding business ability representing each political group."

If both parties are sincere in their expressed desire to free the National Railways from politics—and they ought to be because in no other way can they be made a success and something retrieved from the vast expenditure of public moneys—it should not be difficult to constitute such a politically-composite board as Sir Henry suggests, says the Ottawa Journal.

While Sir Henry Thornton should be given practically a free hand in the conduct of the road, we believe he would welcome some supervision or some body to whom he could go for advice and these supervisors or advisers should be men of wide business experience, able to gauge the requirements of the railway and the needs of the territories through which it passes, and competent to guard the interests of the taxpayers generally without reference to the welfare or otherwise of political parties.

Sir Henry Thornton does well to educate public opinion along this line and we hope it will bear fruit and that the politicians on both sides will see the wisdom of making any sacrifices that the carrying out of the proposal may seem to entail.

DOLLARS VS. HAPPINESS.

Is there not a real danger that, in assuming national prosperity is to be reckoned in terms of trade, we may lose our sense of proportion? Dollars are not everything. The contentment of the people is always paramount. But there again one may easily go astray. Contentment is often nothing more than indifference. It may even be synonymous with stagnation, and nine times out of ten it really is. Only the rationally discontented struggle toward higher ideals. All reform and true progress have had their impulse in restlessness and dissatisfaction. Therefore, we must look at this whole matter in a logical way.

We must reason backward as well as forward. At this juncture we are all looking anxiously at those indices which are assumed to indicate the trend of national business. They are railway traffic, bank clearings, building permits, imports and exports, and so on. As we mark the upward curve in the chart, we feel warranted in concluding that the hum of industrial wheels, and the exchange of commodities, will be translated into employment and the material means of finding happiness. And all that is true. We realize the truth of the positive view by contemplating the negative. That is to say, we may visualize the situation under reversed conditions.

We gauge the chances of employment by the fluctuations of commerce and industry. And rightly. So high a proportion of all the people live by earning wages, that we are not mistaken in identifying their source. That source is broadly summed up in trade. But we have not by this process proven that general happiness or general misery turn entirely on the expansion or shrinkage of national business. We are omitting the spiritual factor. Men and women may have abundance of bread, and live in comfortable homes, without being contented. True contentment comes from within. It has its fountain head in things that are not material.

A man may be supremely and entirely happy who sees his dinner ahead, knows that he will have an appetite for it, that he will digest it in comfort, has a good book to read, and will sleep soundly when he goes to bed. It might be argued that the veriest pagan, barring the book, could have all these essentials of contentment. So he could. But the book makes all the difference in the world. It is the link which connects us with the spiritual realm, and it opens up the whole problem of bliss from the really vital point of view. It brings us back sharply to our starting point.

We should not be discouraged if the trade of the country refuses to move always upward. We should be glad and grateful when it does so move; but we assuredly misinterpret life when we take it for granted that all growth may be counted in figures which have the dollar in front of them. This aspect of the matter may be readily illustrated, rather than argued. Twenty years ago the people of Canada had on deposit in the chartered banks $470,000,000. At this moment they have over two billions. Obviously they have added greatly to their potentialities for happiness. But they would as obviously have missed their objective, and have gone backward instead of forward, if co-incidentally they had read fewer books, ignored the calls of need, or had sought contentment in merely counting their money.

The point to which all this tends is that advance in human service is the final test of real growth. It takes cognizance of the spiritual. It marks the development of practical brotherhood. And right there we find ample cause for satisfaction. Our trade figures may not be swelling as we would like to see them swell, but as a people we are doing more and more every year in the way of laying up treasure where "moths and rust do not corrupt nor thieves break through and steal." We are aiming at the real goal of happiness. In the ultimate reckoning we are adding to our richest assets.

Call this a hot weather sermon. Call it what you like. Is it not true, however, that we need to check the materialism of our time and get a sound perspective of life? We are really doing very well, so far as commerce goes. As a nation we have abundant cause for gratitude. But we merely indulge in a form of self-deception when we try to measure our progress by purely mathematical processes. We get a wrong total and a wrong dividend in that way.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The wet and dry campaign is starting very tamely. It will warm up, however, before October 23rd.

Unless the weather improves it begins to look as if the small boy who stays out all night to see the circus come in is liable to be frost-bitten.

Funny that when conditions are just right for summer furs the girls stop wearing them.

Apropos of the Chicago murder there is only one perfect end to the "perfect crime" said to have been planned by Richard Loeb.

Ten years ago today Canada's participation in the World War began, and the telegraph wires were busy carrying messages to Ottawa from units and individuals wishing their services to be accepted.

A THOUGHT

"IT'S A GREAT MORNING."

"It's a great morning, isn't it?" called a cheery business man to a passerby, as he hurried down the steps of his home to catch a train.

"Why, so it is," thought the student, looking up in surprise from his moody contemplation of the sidewalk. And unconsciously he straightened his shoulders and stepped out more briskly as he went on his way.

"It's a great morning, isn't it?" said the business man to the bootblack as he stopped for a shine. And the urchin gave a vigorous polish to the spot on the heel that he had been minded to leave unshined, and whistled as he went on his way.

"It's a great day, isn't it?" said the man to the stenographer as he entered his office. And the girl's fingers flew faster, the keys clicked merrily, and the tired eyes smiled as she worked that day.

"It has been a great day," said the man to his wife, as business over, he sank with a sigh of comfort into the easy-chair at home.

And the recording angel, closing the account of that man's day, smiled and echoed softly: "A great day!"

TO SPEND MILLIONS ON RADIO

Managers of Chief Parties are Confident.

CHICAGO, Aug.2.—Radio has developed into the keystone of the political campaigns, according to a Washington dispatch to The Chicago Tribune. Indications now are that about $1,000,000 will be spent by the three major parties in sending their doctrines through the air.

Managers of each are concentrating on radio plans and at almost every conference it is the first subject taken up. In almost every instance the decision seems to be that the results to be obtained—if as great as expected—will more than justify the expense.

MILLBROOK HELD SCHOOL PICNIC VICTORIA PARK

About 200 Members of the Methodist Church Gathered For the Day.

BASEBALL GAME.

Young and Old Took Advantage of the Bathing Facilities.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 4.—The annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday School was held at Victoria Park, Cobourg, on Thursday afternoon, about two hundred going by motor to this attractive gathering place.

The time passed pleasantly, the children enjoying the swings, while both young and old took advantage of the bathing facilities. A number of games of softball were in progress during the afternoon, the one captained by G. W. Sayles and P. Stinson, with R. H. Edmunds as umpire, affording amusement to both players and onlookers. Some extraordinary decisions were handed out by the "ump," no questioning as to their why of wherefore being permissible. Apparently the rules changed with every innings and the score was 19-18 favor of the Sayles' nine when the game concluded.

The league ball game between two Cobourg teams called at 6.30 p.m., immediately after tea had been served, attracted many of the picnickers, and the concert by the Kilties Band later in the evening was also much enjoyed by the large number who remained to hear it.

Altogether the Sunday School has held no more successful or better attended outing in several years, and the superintendent, Mr. W. Fred. Fallis, and pastor, Rev. F. W. Howard, with the executive members, who were responsible for all arrangements in connection with the occasion, are to be congratulated on the success which attended their efforts.

Another Picnic.

The united Sunday Schools of the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches of Garden Hill held a very successful picnic outing on Friday, going by motor to Bewdley, and thence by steamer "Stoney Lake" to Wallace's Point, and return.

The music furnished by the Durham Regimental Band added much to the pleasure of the occasion, Messrs. J. Isbister, A. A. Birchard and Clarence Duncan, from this vicinity, playing with them for the day. Rev. G. S. Gervan and family, with the Presbyterian C.G.I.T. group who are holidaying on the Otonabee, joined the excursionists when the boat called at Deyell's Landing.

An excellent sports programme was successfully carried out, the softball game between the Garden Hill and Millbrook girls being one of its most enjoyable items.

Mr. Birchard of the Lindsay Creamery Company took his staff of employees for the day's outing, Misses C. Hunter, G. Gray and Messrs. A. Miller, S. Gilmour and Foster Russell being among the number.

The Point has been even more popular than usual as a picnic ground this summer, and will be the scene of another gathering on Sunday afternoon when the Salvation Army from Peterborough will hold service there at 3 o'clock. Rev. A. H. McConnachie will be among the speakers. The Junior Band, which was so much enjoyed at the U. F. O. Sunday service in June, will lead the singing, and will give a number of special selections during the afternoon.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duncan and two daughters, Misses Katharine and Marguerite, who have been visiting his father and sister, left by motor on Friday morning for their home in Cleveland. Miss Jean Burnham accompanied them and will remain for a few weeks' visit. The party intended crossing the border at Fort Erie and staying overnight in Buffalo with Mrs. Duncan's parents.

Mrs. Stewart McCall of Toronto is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Janes.

Millbrook will observe its Civic Holiday on Monday, August 4th.

Mr. G. R. Burton of Louisville, Kentucky, who has been a recent guest of his sister, Mrs. W. G. Russell, Sr., left for home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles and family and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bradley left on Friday morning for their annual camping outing in the natural park near Pontypool.

Mrs. H. D. Armstrong of Toronto is the guest of her mother, Mrs. S. Eakins, Sr., and other friends in town this week.

Mrs. E. Whyte has returned home after a pleasant visit with Toronto friends.

Mr. J. A. Smith of Winnipeg, who has been visiting his brother, Mr. A. A. Smith, has returned to his home in the West.

SUBSTITUTES.

Artificial silk—"made from wood," to use a very rough description—is making rapid gains. In a year its production has increased by a half.

If the boll weevil gets beyond control, some one probably will discover how to produce cotton synthetically. We live in an artificial age. People no longer laugh at "substitutes."

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 4 (Canadian Press). — Black rust of a more serious character than any heretofore received gave a decided lift to the wheat market on Saturday, assisted also by the announcement that the London Reparations Conference had finally accepted the Dawes plan.

Closing quotations on wheat, although unsettled, were 1 1-8 to 1 7-8 cents net higher. September $1.32 1-8 to $1.32 3-8, and December $1.35 3-4 to $1.35 7-8.

Corn finished 2 3-8c to 4 7-8c up; oats at 5-8c to 1 1-8c advance; and provisions showing 10c to 35c gain.

Wheat buying on a big scale developed soon after the market opened, and the attention of traders had focused on despatches from Canada telling of damage from black rust. Particular notice was taken of a despatch from a leading expert saying that every field examined near Melita, Manitoba, showed black rust on the wheat stems, and that apparently most of such wheat would be ruined.

Another authority, telegraphing from Napinka, Man., said black rust there was showing on the wheat straw up to the head.

Black rust was also reported in North Dakota from Devil's Lake to Minot, and south to Jamestown, but the conditions in North Dakota were said to be against likelihood of damage.

On the other hand, the resaration news from London, together with word that sterling exchange had jumped to a new high record for 1924, helped to keep the wheat market pointing upward most of the time despite free selling on the bulges. Besides, it was said vessel charters had been issued to take 5,000,000 bushels of wheat east from here, largely to Montreal.

Big speculative buying carried all deliveries of corn to a new top price record for 1924. Unseasonaby cool weather and a forecast of more, was a bullish influence, and so, too, was scantiness of receipts.

Oats reflected the action of corn.

Provisions climbed with hogs and grain.

Crickets have ears on the front part of their legs.

AGE RAISES NO BARRIER TO AMBITIOUS WOMANHOOD

New York Woman Finds That Scores of Spinsters and Matrons Have Done Big Work After Passing the Half Century Mark.

STORY OF ACHIEVEMENTS.

There Are 782 Women Listed in Who's Who—Eighteen Have Done Nothing Much But Capture Prominent Husbands—Remainders Are Workers and Doers.

By AUGUSTA SHUFORD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—It has become the fashion so to emphasize the doings of the younger generation that their elders are in danger of resigning themselves to the prospect of comparative oblivion at 50, or even at 40.

Particularly is this true with the female of the species. When told often enough and loudly enough that nature has made her incapable of a new idea after 30, that the best of her life is over at 40 and that from this time to the end of the journey all she can hope to do is to jog along in whatever rut she may have found, a credulous woman naturally slides into any friendly shelf at the approach of the fifties and leaves the centre of the stage to her children.

There is another side to the picture. Attention has been focused upon it of late by several women who have insisted upon stepping into the spotlight at a time when it was according to Hoyle for them to be steering for the wings. Their insistence is not new, but it is a timely reminder for frightened women to take a look at facts behind the theories.

A short while ago Olga Nethersole announced her intention of trying for Parliament at the age of 53, after having finished an arduous career as actress and theatrical manager. About the same time Gertrude Atherton, admitting she is 60-odd, told the world that, while she recommended rejuvenation for others she had no need for it herself. She was still young enough to get the best out of life without aids.

Now comes the Viscountess Rhondda—a mere child in comparison with Mrs. Atherton, but spoken of an "middle-aged"—with her determination of "busting" into the House of Lords before the Summer is over. Lady Rhondda is 41.

Age and Accomplishment.

The total number of women recorded in "Who's Who" for 1924 is 782. Of this number 291 give the dates of their birth. Of the 291 whose ages are given 10 record only war work done. Eighteen have achieved nothing worthy of mention except husbands and more or less in the way of titles—all of the 18 being English women. In 46 cases no dates are given that can be relied upon to relate work to the age at which it was done. Eliminating these 74, we have 217 left to study.

The oldest of the 217 women is now 96 and the youngest is 32. Two of the number are past 90; 18 are between 80 and 90; 30 are between 70 and 80; 63 are between 60 and 70; 51 are between 50 and 60; 40 are between 40 and 50, and 8 are between 30 and 40.

Mrs. Janet Little Story stands at the head of the senior class. She is an English woman of 96, who records half a dozen publications as the fruit of her years between 64 and 83, and none earlier. She gives her recreations as whist and music.

Next comes Charlotte Sharman, of 92, director and treasurer of orphans' homes at 30 and reported as still active. The Hon. Emmeline Mary Plunkett follows at 89, having published several books, the first at 51 and the last at 68. Mme. Juliette Adam, also known as Juliette Lamber, who has been called the George Eliot of France, is 88. She founded the Nouvelle Revue at 43 and conducted it until she was 63. Miss Constance Frederica Gordon Cumming, the twelfth child of Sir William Gordon Cumming, is 87. Her record states that her special interest now "is working for the development of the invention of the numeral type for the use of illiterate Chinese, both blind and seeing, in Mandarin-speaking districts of China."

Of all the senior class, Mrs. Victoria Claflin Martin holds the record for varied experiences. She was born in Homer, Ohio, eighty-six years ago, the seventh child of the family, and has been financier, banker, writer, editor, proprietor of a magazine, suffrage leader, labor propagandist and candidate for the Presidency of the United States. The Equal Rights Party nominated her for that at the age of 34. She gives no later dates, but says that for thirty years she has "conducted propaganda work for working classes in Europe and America" and is the author of a number of publications. With all this history she has had time to marry twice and bring up two children.

Mrs. Janet Anne Ross, who was married at 22, began her career as an author with a book of Italian sketches at 45, and a list of a dozen books registers her activity from that age until 80. Mrs. Sarah Anne Lees married at 32, began a public career at 49, was Mayor of a borough at 68, Alderman at 71 and received the degree of LL.D. at 72, ten years ago. Gertrude Jekyll, "unmarried," began life as a painter, but developing progressive myopia, turned to house decoration and writing. Between 56 and 75 she published twelve books. She is now 81. Mrs. Edith Clarke, 80, was married at 32 and has been principal of a national training school of cookery from 31 to 75.

Seven of the eighteen between 80 and 90 published books at ages ranging all the way from 23 to 79. Two are artists, one having exhibited at the Royal Academy from 19 to 51 and published poems from 20 to 63, and the other having taken medals up to 60 and published a number of works between 35 and 64.

The baby of the 217 is Joan Rosita Forbes, explorer and author of 31, who had published several books by the time she was 29. She has a close second in Stella Benson, of 32, whose first novel appeared when she was 23 and who has added four more to her list. A secretary to a public official of England, a writer of four books not listed in available catalogues, and Kathleen Parlow, the violinist, are under 35. The three remaining in the infant class are between 35 and 40. They are two actresses and one "poet and critic" whose first book was published at 29.

Women Writers.

Classed by occupations, the two largest groups include educational workers and those who have committed authorship. Many of the authors belong also in other groups, which partly accounts for the pronounced age superiority in the author group. It seems to be a largely followed custom to rise from everything else into authorship. Also the group includes writers on technical subjects, besides obvious seekers for self-expression. All this, however, does not alter the relation of vitality to age.

The age level of production of the 111 authoresses of 12,000 and more books is from 18 to 67 for a first book and from 36 to 85 for a last book. One author published fifty books between 20 and 66, another thirty between 27 and 45, and a third twenty-seven between 37 and 76. Of the four authors in the eighties, one started at 35 and one at 36, both continuing to publish up to 81; and the two others brought out first books at 48 and followed them with five and seven others respectively. One poetess became Warticulate at 45, and thereaft perpetrated fifteen volumes.

Yvette Guilbert published her one book, "How to Sing," at 50. Octave Thanet (64) tells in a confidential strain that she began writing at 28 and, "same old story—everything back at first—slow climb," until 42, and then a greater demand than she could fill. Selma Lagerlof, the Swedish novelist, was a teacher from 26 to 36, published fourteen novels between 33 and 63, took the Nobel Prize in literature at Stockholm at 51, and is now 66. Edith Wharton sprang into authorship and fame at 27 and shows no sign of faltering at 62. Mrs. C. Rohlfs, better known as Anna Katherine Green, born in Brooklyn fifty-eight years ago, has a score of seventeen novels, beginning with "The Levenworth Case," published at 32, and ending with "A Step on the Stairs," at 56; and Flora Annie Steel, of British birth and one year her junior, ahead of her in the race, with twenty-seven novels published between the years from 37 to 66.

There are forty-eight educational workers. Twenty-nine were active at from 50 to 75. Of those who gave up teaching between 35 and 50 a considerable number went into other occupations—chiefly authorship. Miss Alice Werner, age 63, stands out among this group. She began her career as a journalist at 31, was awarded a travelling scholarship at 52, spent two years studying the coast tribes of British South Africa, became an associate fellow of Newnham College at 54, and has been Professor of Swahala and Banta languages at the School of Oriental Studies in London since 62.

Active in Later Years.

There are nine editors among the 217 women. All were active at from 46 to 63. Of the nine, four founded their publications, one an Italian, two Americans, and one French. Mrs. Comyns-Lever, now 63, opened the first typewriting office in London at 23, and was the first woman in England to own and edit her own paper, The Feathered World.

Scientific workers, of whom there were six, give last ages of active work done as 31, 40, 45, 50, 56 and 61. Five "lady doctors," not counted among the scientists, had achieved sufficient eminence in their profession to be recorded as active at 39, 42, 53, 55, 64 and 79.

Holders of public offices, from Members of Parliament down to the secretary of a commissioner, number eleven. The eleven were in office at ages from 32 to 71. Mrs. W. J. P. Phipps has been Alderman of the London County Council from 58 to 68. Of the journalists, one was still on deck at 45, two were busy at 51, and one at 69.

One composer of music, Marie Duparc, gave her last date of work accomplished in this line as 62. Another Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, of "A Perfect Day" fame, does not give dates for either her first or her last works, but is now 62 years old, and reports herself as active, not only musically, but also as a member of the Women's Association of Commerce of Chicago and the president of a music publishing company. Six painters and sculptors reported prizes or other distinctions won at from 36 to 75.

Two women, besides Miss Nethersole, of the 217, have been theatrical managers, one beginning at 32 and the other at 45, with no record of having given up the job. Mrs. H. H. Spielmann, an English woman, is in a class by herself. She is distinguished as one who has wrought fine needlework. She has taken medals for embroidery at a number of expositions and published several books on the subject between the ages of 41 and 57.

Mrs. Rawls-Reader, an American, is recorded solely as a financier and president of several mining industries in Nevada. She is the one woman of the 217 who mentions yachting as among her indulgences. Like Lady Rhondda, her English rival in her special department of fame, she has the distinction of never having written a book—but she is only 51.

Their Play Hours.

Recreations come in for a large share of attention in the records of the 217. They are worth noting as part of the programme for keeping fit through a competent middle age. Favorite diversions are travelling, music, gardening, reading, cycling, photography, photography, driving, boating, tennis, needlework, golf, fishing, swimming, pet animals, country life, dancing, fencing, patience and whist. Dogs, skating, bridge, amateur theatricals, novel reading, light reading, yachting, mountaineering, Alpine climbing, chess, singing and sketching are mentioned.

The tendency toward seriousness of taste in recreations is in fairly direct ratio to the decrease in years. A young miss of 33 who is a professional botanist, admits to finding recreation in entomology, and Mrs. Daisy Kennerdy, a violinist of about the same age, includes "studying" in her list. It remains for a lecturer on religion at Oxford University, Mrs. Evelyn Underhull—and who knows from what depth and breadth of experience and what irony of spirit she speaks?—to name her one recreation as "talking to cats."

But the highest honors go to Mrs. Agnes Mary Frances Robinson. For honesty, bravery and diligence she has no rival. After enumerating fifty books loosed by her upon the public by the age of 66, she still has the courage to face that public through "Who's Who," and to state frankly, without explanation or apology, her favorite recreation as "talking."

SAFE AND SANE SEA SHARPERS

Professional Gamblers Are Going in For Modern Business Methods.

LONDON, Aug. (United Press) 4.—Professional gamblers on the big atlantic steamships are going in for modern business methods.

The card sharks and dice demons have applied to their gentle arts the principles of consolidation, quick turnover, and quantity production.

The trans-Atlantic crooks now operate precisely upon the plan of a Ford factory—mass output, with small profit on the individual transaction, but large and satisfactory dividends for the total volume of business—paid by pleased customers, who come back for more.

The career of a professional gambler on a crack ocean liner isn't nearly as romantic as it used to be—but it is a whole lot safer. In fact, it has lost almost all elements of hazard to life, liberty or the old bank-roll. The steamship gambler has become a fairly respectable member of international society, operating upon careful, conservative principles.

Some of the old-time gamblers deplore this, as they say, degeneracy of the professional tone. They are like the old skippers, who bemoan the passing away of sailing ships. Joseph Conrad and his crew will tell you that the sea isn't what it used to be. And the old ocean gamblers shake their heads sadly and say the smoke-rooms of bi liners have become namby-pamby place where a man's person and property ar almost as safe as at a Sunday scho picnic.

Of course, these old boys were pret hard birds in their day and time. The grew up on a schoo that dealt a wicke hand of poker and wielded a still mor wicked dirk; who had never learne the meaning of the word "limit," and who could do astonishing things with a pistol when a gentleman objected to some trifling technical error, such as the simultaneous appearance of five aces in a friendly little game.

About 30 years ago—again quoting a once-famous professional, who has retired to a decorous life and prefers that his revelations remain anonymous—murder began to be unpopular in the best circles of marine gamblers. It was frowned upon even under such provocation as a pat-full losing to a three-card draw.

From that time on until the World War the danger to human life, in steamship gambling, became nil. But the damage to victim's purses increased. The policy was to trim the sucker to a fare-you-well. If anybody was touched at all he was touched good and plenty. The card sharks either got nothing or they got it all. A limited number of transactions although each deal showed a big profit; a great deal of competition in the industry; no consolidations and co-ordinations; tremendous waste and overhead; highly dissatisfied customers—these were the penalties paid for the inefficiency and antiquated methods of the old system.

During the war the institution of deep-sea card-sharking languished. Some thought they would never return. But they have—bigger and better and brighter than ever before, as the circus advertisements say. They have returned to a new and fairer field; they have ushered in the dawn of a more radiant day in their profession. They have learned the lessons of modern business efficiency. They take just a few suckers. That's all there is to the new system. You need slit no throats this way, and you need not go to jail, because no sucker is stung hard enough to howl. The business is no more dangerous than running a grocery store. The old-timers snort that, also, it is no more romantic. But the travelling public like it—and the new school of Atlantic gamblers are out to please the public.

CAPTAIN SPINS CANNIBAL YARN

Tells of Man Eaters Who Live on Small Island in Indian Ocean.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Aug. 4 (United Press).—Deepwater skippers of Dollar "around-the-world" steamers are betting the reputation of being among the briny's most interesting yarn spinners.

First there came the "floating island" discovery, backed up by photographs. Now along saunters Captain Kenneth B. Lowry, master of the President Garfield, who tells a thrilling story of cannibals in the Indian Ocean.

It happened off the island of Bocosmuto, according to the captain. His ship was passing the little blotch of land in the dead of night en route to Suez and Port Said. Knowing there should be a light on the island, the Garfield's quartermaster, called Lowry's attention to its absence.

"Rather than take a chance on our course," said the skipper, when the ship touched at this port recently, "we anchored for the night. In the morning we were putting boats overside to investigate the light's excuses for not showing, when we were shocked to see hundreds of naked savages armed with spears, spring suddenly out of the jungles and run down to the shores. They were yelling some kind of gibberish, apparently meaning they'd eat us if we came ashore. We stayed on the ship."

At Suez, Captain Lowery reported the occurrence, he said.

"They didn't seem a bit perturbed," he chuckled. "In fact, they told us that is was an ordinary happening—that six of their lighthouse keepers had been killed and eaten by the island's cannibals.

"They'd send a new man out, they assured me."

The Militia units will take part in the Warriors' Day at the Canadian National Exhibition on August 23rd, and indications are that the turnout of uniformed men will be the largest since the event was inaugurated some years ago. Veterans throughout Canada have been invited to help welcome Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, and his Jackies from the world-girdling special service squadron.

No feature of their programs will be remembered longer than the beautiful chimes and harmonies which are introduced in their sacred selections.

Their original transcriptions, in which are heard excerpts of beautiful songs, sung to the accompaniment of bells, are a distinct musical treat.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A MIX-UP

"Lookee what I got!" cried Cutie.

The next day Cutie Cottontail woke up bright and early. That was really one reason why he went to bed so early the night before.

And he got dressed in a hurry and slipped on the trousers his mother had mended for him. But he never thought of looking in the pockets. If he had, he might have saved himself a whole lot of trouble later.

He wanted to show the lucky brass ring he had got on the merry-go-round at Happy Go Lucky Park to all of his friends.

Then after that he was going to the park and get his free ride, which the brass ring entitled him to.

You had to be pretty smart to get he brass ring. It stuck pretty hard nd you had to pull like everything.

"I'll go and show Ben and Billy unny first," he said. "They'd never lieve me if I didn't show it to them! l—why, hello, here, what's this?" cried, picking something up from the nt porch. "Why, it's my brass ring! w did it ever get out here? ve dropped it when I was coming in t night. Lucky I found it before got too far away."

So he put it into his pocket, not knowing that it was the very curtain ring his mother had been looking for and which she had dropped when the postman came.

Away he went whistling to the Bunny's house.

Ben and Billy were just up.

"Lookee what I got!" cried Cutie, holding up the brass ring.

"Let's see! What is it! Where'd you get it? Gee! Aren't you lucky, though!" was what they said and Cutie was prouder than ever.

"Yes," he admitted. "It was pretty hard work but I got it just the samee."

"Wisht I wuz you," said Billy.

"So do I," said Ben.

What more could any little boy want.

Next he went to show Corny and Cobby Coon.

"Humph!" laughed fat Corpy Coon, who was sort of a clown. "You haven't any rings on your tail like we have! That's a good way to get one."

"My goodness!" laughed Cutie. "I wisht you'd tell me how to get a tail first."

And they all laughed and laughed at that.

Cutie was quite a hero and he was getting prouder by the minute.

But they do say that pride goeth before a fall and I believe it's true.

Cutie met Mosey Mud Turtle Junior next and Mosey was cross and sulky that morning. Besides, he was jealous of Cutie because he could run so fast. He never could have gotten a brass ring in a thousand years and when Cutie held it up he was furious.

"Huh! A brass ring! Why, anybody can get a brass ring. I can go right this minute and get one off my mother's curtain pole. Look here, fellows, I bet you this brass ring is off Cutie's mother's curtain pole."

All Cutie's friends began to take sides then. Some said he did and some said he didn't.

Poor Cutie was in a dreadful way.

"Nick and Mister Zip can tell you if I did or not," said Cutie.

"Sure he did," said Nick when they got there. "I saw him get it myself. But this isn't it."

But when Mrs. Cottontail heard the story she laughed and laughed. "I'll show you where it is," she said.

And there it was on her curtain pole!

Mosey Turtle wasn't so far from wrong after all!

HOPE TO CLOSE SLUICE OPENED TEN YEARS AGO

Great Britain Believes a Final Settlement of Tangled Reparations Will Be Reached Soon.

RECALL ANNIVERSARY.

Germans on Their Way to Conference Are Full of Hope and Optimism—Skies Brighten.

(By Lloyd Allan, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, August 4. — Great Britain believed a final settlement of the tangled reparations question, which has kept all Europe in anxiety since the Treat of Versailles was signed, is near as the Allied Conference prepared to resume its session to-day.

The big seven of the Conference prepared for a morning meeting as word was received that the German delegation had left Berlin for London in accord with the invitation sent them by Saturday's plenary session.

The Germans are expectel here tomorrow ,and probably will confer with Prime Minister MacDonald and the other leaders of the Conference at once.

All the Conference seemed more cheerful to-day after the week-end rest following the strenuous work of Saturday when the plenary session reached a full agreement for the application of the Dawes experts' recommendations to the reparations question.

The press generally featured the invitation to the German delegates, recalling the unprecedented contrast to the situation ten years ago when Germany launched her armed hordes against the world.

'This afternoon," said The Daily Chronicle, "it will be ten years to the hour and minute since the then Prime Minister, H. H. Asquith, informed the House of Commons of the British ultimatum to Germany."

The newspaper reviewed the years of the black tragedy of war and the subsequent fears of the bickering over peace.

"Shall any of us who saw the sluics opened in 1914 live to behold Europe freed from the perils of war and the burdens of armament?" The Chronicle said, "or will the younger generations witness the bursting of another such volcano?"

"No one can tell. All one can say is that the world still vacillates between the forces making for this end or the other."

Hughes, it was learned, in his conversation with Stresemann gave the Foreign Minister certain information which caused Stresemann to tell the newspapermen just before his departure, "I am now permitted to take a more favourable view of the London Conference than has heretofore been possible."

Both Stresemann and Chancellor Marx urged Hughes to trp to help in straightening out some moot questions and particularly to use his influence toward dropping further application of the micum agreements.

(By Carl D. Groat—United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—Germany's delegation to the Allied Reparations conference in London, which has agreed on the application of the Dawes plan for the settlement of the reparations problem, left for London this afternoon.

The delegation is headed by Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stressemann, who had a long talk with Charles Evan Hughes, the American Secretary of State, here Sunday. He hopes that a settlement of the entire post-war situation may be near ran high as the officials bade the delegates good-bye.

Hughes, in a general interview with the American and British correspondent to-day, predicted success for the Dawes plan, declaring: "I believe we have turned the corner and that an era of hope and prosperity is at hand."

The Secretary said he is quite satisfied with his investigations, both here and in London.

"It is here," he said, "that one realizes the vitalness of the Dawes programme.

"It is my feeling that the skies have brightened." The Secretary expressed his pleasure of being able to meet European officials with whom his daily duties for several years have brought him in contact by cable.

From other sources, it was learned that the Secretary in his conversations here, as in Paris and London, urged European statesmen to drop minor matters and devote themselves to the main problem of carrying out the Dawes plan. Side issues, he believed, should be left for later discussion between the French, Belgians and Germans.

WILL INVESTIGATE TEAM COMPLAINTS

P. J. Mulqueen Returned From France Last Night Full of Fight.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press).—P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic Committee, returned to Toronto last night from France with fire in his eye. He proposes immediately to institute an inquiry into the complaints made by certain members of the Canadian Olympic team anent their treatment abroad.

One of the athletes returned with the story to the effect that he was compelled to spend a night in the police station in London. "There was no necessity for anything of the kind," said Mr. Mulqueen last night. Chairman Mulqueen states that McAuley, the Marathon runner, who complained that he had to borrow shoes two sizes too large for him could have had the best there was in Paris or London, but expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with the pair he borrowed from a friend on the United States team in preference to anything else.

CIVIC HOLIDAY.

Many Ontario Cities and Towns Celebrated Their Annual Holiday To-day.

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press).—Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London and many other Ontario cities and towns to-day celebrated their annual civic holiday. As usual there was from these points the greatest exodus of the year to country districts or to other centres of interest and recreation. Thousands of citizens travelled in train, boat and motor.

Trains coming and going were crowded, highways were heavily congested, and steamers, despite chilly weather, carried very fair crowds. The weather in most parts of the province was cloudy and threatening rain.

ORANGE SERVICE ST. JAMES' CHURCH

Rev. J. D. Richardson Urges Order to Uphold Principles of Protestantism.

Local Orangemen of the Royal Black Perceptory attended the evening service at St. James' Methodist Church yesterday.

The service was impressive and the pastor's theme in accordance with the occasion.

Rev. J. D. Richardson brought a stirring message to his hearers, choosing as his text, 1st Peter ii., 17: "Honor all men; fear God; honor the King; Love the brotherhood."

REV. J. D. RICHARDSON,
Who conducted the special service for members of the R. B. P. last night.

The speaker, showing that the four great principles of Protestantism were embodied in the above passage, urged the Orangemen to uphold their traditions.

"Honor all men" denotes equality, "Fear God" religion, "Honor the King" patriotism, and "Love of brotherhood" fraternity, stated the speaker.

These four, equality, religion, patriotism and fraterity, are attributes of the open four-sided Christian, and have been guiding principles of the Orange movement since its inauguration.

By virtue of the union services, Park Street Baptist Church choir led in the music.

A delightful solo was rendered by Mrs. Ernest Kitney.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT ON CHEMONG ROAD

Two Ennismore Cars in a Smash-up at Midnight, Saturday.

At least three Ennismore people figured in a motor accident at midnight on Saturday, when two cars collided on Plain's hill, on the Chemong Road.

John Killen driving his touring car north was struck by a touring car coming south, stripping a front wheel from Mr. Killen'scar. Fender's and axles were damaged, and both cars had to be towed to town.

Frank and Ed. Harrington were in the south bound car, as well as two other occupants. A Peterboro garage man towed the Harrington car to town Saturday night, and Mr. Killen left his car at the scene of the accident, returning next morning to tow it home.

Fortunately the occupants escaped uninjured.

Tittemore, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, Decateur, Ill., suffered a broken arm and other painful injuries, and give of her small children were also hurt in a railway crossing accident at Canton, a few miles from Ogdensburg, to-day. MOTORIST FINED FOR RACING AT OVER 6 M. P. H.

To-day is Anniversary of the First Charge of Speeding Against Motorist in 1911.

EMERGENCY CALL.

Defendant Tore Down Charlotte Street at 18 Miles an Hour—Shocked the City.

To-day is an anniversary of more things than the breaking of the Great War. Thirteen years ago, for instance, on August 4, 1911, the first fine for speeding in an automobile was imposed on a motorist in Peterborough.

The victim, for in the light of present day developments so we must regard him, was fined $10.

The Chief of Police, who saw the man on his rampage out Charlotte street, declared he was travelling at a speed of between 18 and 20 miles an hour. The Chief was quite shocked by the offender's depravity, saying the speed was very dangerous as there were so many children playing about on the street.

Comparing the speed limit of that day, 6 miles an hour, and the limit to-day, 20 miles an hour, the motorist would be travelling 60 miles an hour to keep the same ratio.

The defendant, who was the first motorist to be fined after Magistrate Dumble fixed the limit at six knots an hour, said he had been driving a car five years. He did not know anything about the city of Peterborough, as he had only been here a few days. He declared he was on an emergency call, and admitted violating the speed law. He thought he was going about 15 miles an hour.

The six miles an hour limit would not stand long to-day, and even the 20 mile an hour pace for which the un-named motorist of 1911 would probably have been imprisoned as a menace to the public safety fails to accommodate more than a percentage of the motoring public.

But is is no wonder there are still some of the old cars of 1911 being used, since they were taken so good care of in their youth.

NEGRO CONVENTION.

Declares Negro Should Abandon White God and Set Up God of His Color.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press).—The astonishing doctrine that negroes should abandon the God of white man and set up a God of his own color for his future spiritual guidance was proclaimed yesterday at the fourth annual convention of the universal negro improvement association in which Marcus Garvey, self-styled "president general" of the proposed "African Republic," is chief motivating spirit.

SHOCKED OFFICIALS.

London Girl Tore Document on Which Was Uncle Sam's Seal.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press). — Miss Lillian Davis Pearce of London, Ontario shocked the officials at Lockport, N.Y., yesterday when she tore into ribbons a document on which was the seal of Uncle Sam.

Miss Pearce with two other nurses, went to County office to take out first citizenship papers. County clerk Fogal read out an oath of allegiance which Miss Pearce's companions repeated after him. While Fogal turned away for a moment, Miss Pearce is said to have seized document and ripped it across seals, she strenuously objecting to renouncing fidelity to King George.

Miss Pearce, it is said, has subjected herself to all kinds of penalties, including police prosecution and deportation.

RETURNS HOME AFTER A HIKE

William Barnard Reached Peterborough Yesterday — Cycled 1,095 Miles on Vacation.

SECOND YEAR.

Nineteen-year-old William Barnard, with sun-browned skin, clad in camping togs, and carrying a small kit, strapped to his shoulders, arrived in the city yesterday at 3.45 p.m., after a bicycle hike of 1,095 miles, all alone.

Leaving Toronto fifteen days ago, on July 19, this nature-loving youth reached Philadelphia five days later, travelling by way of Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Scranton. After spending two days in the dusky city he set out for Atlantic City, reaching there the next day, Sunday, July 27.

Finding little attraction in the gay lights and glare of America's great jazz town, after experiencing three hours of leisure and rest, having witnessed the rolling waves of the ocean, he immediately started for Peterboro, touching Albany and Utica on his return journey, and crossing the river at Kingston.

Along the way the hiker received but 20 miles in lifts.

His home is in Toronto, and his parents are visiting Mr. and Mrs Jack Smith at Avalaf Camp down the Otonabee at the present time. For that reason, he made Peterboro the terminal of his return journey.

During the long ride only one mishap occurred, and that a blow-out just outside of Cobourg last night.

His equipment consisted of a rubber sheet, blanket and first aid kit, which the lad attached to his carrier, and a small kit on his back, in which he carried extra food.

Averaging over ninety miles a day, the young man appeared overflowing with energy, and stated that he never felt better.

He is returning to his home today, a further distance of 90 miles, and intends to go to work to morrow morning. It was a novel way of spending a vacation, and the second year in which William Barnard has chosen a bicycle hike, having cycled over 1,000 miles last year during his two weeks' vacation.

STRIKERS RETURN

4,000 Men on Strike at Corner Brook Returned to Work To-day.

ST. The advices received here said that the work in all departments was resumed in full.

The strikers had demanded better housing conditions and wage increases of between 10 and 20 per cent. The exact basis of the agreement was not known here.

PRINTERS' PICNIC HELD ON SATURDAY

Examiner Crew From Cellar to Roof Turned Out For a Jolly Afternoon.

Locking up their forms at an early hour and casting to the four winds all thought of the "sticks" and "ems" and "turn slugs" that combine in the daily round to make life pleasant for printers in general, the Examiner employees journeyed to Wallace Point on Saturday about fifty strong and held their annual picnic on the banks of the winding Otonabee. They played baseball and ran races and consumed quantities of food with a zest equal to the occasion and returned, replete and smiling, to the city at an early hour.

Although there were rumours of a good deal of "pie" in the monotype form that came to grief on Saturday morning in the midst of hurried preparations for the annual outing, there wasn't any sign of laxness in the way those present attacked the raspberry pie of Mrs. B. Morrison, who donated generous slices to everyone at her end of the table.

The only casualties from the feast were the undoubted doses of indigestion which awaited the big Muscova gander and his lady love, who make their home at Wallace's Point, and who requested and we redonated, all sorts of scraps from the table, and who distinguished themselves by bolting their food in an unbelievably hasty manner.

A portion of the party, sixteen in number made the trip by 'bus, in a conveyance whose youthful driver must have labored under the delusion that printers are a speedy bunch He had evidently never heard or heeded the admonition that "discretion is the better part of valor", and his curves were wonderful, almost equalling those in the wild and woolly game of baseball that transpired before supper time. Messrs. Maurice Dunkley and Harry Lacheur were competing captains, with teams that included fifteen or sixteen players on either side. What they had in numbers, they made up for the lack of knowledge of the game. The bases shifted themselves about to accommodate the necessities of their temporary owners, and the pitcher politely advanced several paces when the "weak sisters" went to bat. The editoral representative was noticeably afraid of the big soft ball and required much encouragement. The young ladies who took part in the fray did some noble foot work. They had much vocal support from the men, remarks "don't be afraid of it," egging them on to further wild fanning efforts and noble decisions such as "if she's mad let her have her base," being delivered with strict impartiality. The umpire, S. Thexton, said he didn't know anything about the game and everybody piled in to help him out. George Taylor protected his head with a knotted handkerchief, and Herb. Johnston and Frank Wallwork and W. Zeihr were vigorous rooters Pitching of H. Lacheur was marked by a degree of gallantry to the fair sex that was sadly lacking in that of Maurice Dunkley, whose work was characterized by a fierce quality. However, this aggressive and determined spirit had a reward in the final score which stood 13-6 for Captain Dunkley's side.

There was plenty of pep in the races that followed the supper, with everybody competing in the events. Prizes were won as follows: Girls, eight and under; Marjorie Thexton Boys, eight and under, (1) Maurice Dunkley, (2) Charles Taylor, (3) Ernie Johnston; Young ladies' race: (1) Miss Phyllis Robinson (2) Miss E. Wallwork; Young men's race; Leo Chouinard; Married ladies' race; (1) Mrs. B. Morrison, (2) Mrs. R. Pearson; Married men's race; (1) M. Dunkley, (2) N. Killenbeck; Open race ladies': (1) Miss V. Herrington (2) Miss E. Wallwork; Open race, men's: (1) Leo Chouinard, (2) N. Killenbeck.

HUGE CAMPAIGN.

Political Organization Will Sweep the Nation This Fall.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 4.—(United Press).—A huge political organization with 30,000,000 campaign committees, hundreds of speakers and 3,000,000 active workers will sweep the nation this fall in behalf of the presidential candidacy of Robert M. Lafollette, the Independent candidate.

This was decided on by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, here, in a session devoted to arranging complete details of the political organization. Samuel Gompers, veteran Labor leader, will be in active control of the movement which he believes the biggest political undertaking yet attempted by Labor in this country.

LEAFS' WORK-OUT TO-NIGHT

Maple Leafs will have a work-out at the Exhibition Grounds this evening, and will meet the Classics tomorrow evening in a Juvenile game.

War Came to Peterborough Ten Years Ago Today!

"For Britain and the Right, Canada is Ready To Fight" Headline August 4, 1914.

"Canadians Are All of One Mind-" Editorial August 4, 1914.

DO YOU REMEMBER AUGUST 4TH, 1914?

A Hectic Day When Peterborough Waited With Bated Breath—The Climax.

All day on August 4, 1914, despatches from all over the world told of nations entering the war or threatening war. Al day people in Peterborough waited and watched for the word that would announce the dragging in of Britain, and therefore of Canada. The Examiner bulletin had its constant circle of readers; newsboys with extras were mobbed and their paper sold before they had gone a block on George street.

And the despatches told of battles on three frontiers, of a Zeppelin bombing a village, of the mining of Quebec harbor, the sacking and burning of Russian villages, and the sinking of German ships.

Do you remember reading these headlines on August 4 ,1914, in the Examiner?

NAVAL BATTLE REPORTED OFF FRENCH COAST.

GERMAN ZEPPELINS DROPPED BOMBS ON TUNNEVILLE, FRANCE, KILLING 15 PERSONS.

SERVIANS' STUBBORN DEFENCE MAINTAINED.

PORTS OF QUEBEC AND MONTREAL CLOSED AND UNDER MILITARY CONTROL.

GERMAN FORCES BURNING VILLAGES IN RUSSIA.

GERMANY DECLARES WAR ON BELGIUM.

GERMAN SHIPS BLOWN UP.

And then the climax came when a state of war between Britain and Germany was announced. At first it was said that Germany had declared war on Britain, but this was later corrected by the statement that Sir William Edward Goschen, British Ambassador had handed Britain's declaration to the German Foreign Office at 7 o'clock in the evening. The issue was joined.

CORELLI.

The late Marie Corelli, born in 1864, was only 22 when her "Romance of Two Worlds" was published. This revealed genius, for in those days few books were published, compared with now, and to find a publisher willing to take a chance was like looking for the needle in the haystack.

Critics who scorn the literary quality of the Corelli books may snort at linking her with genius. But genius is the ability to sell, quite as much as the ability to write. A successful writer needs both. George Ade said, "Anyone can write a play. It takes a genius to sell it."

GAMBLING.

The man who plays the stock market with a few hundred dollars, his savings, has only an extremely faint chance of not losing it, let alone pyramid it into a fortune. So says Cromwell, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

"Practically a sure loser" is how he describes the man with limited funds playing the market on margin.

This wisdom is as old as "the market." Trouble is, a new crop of suckers is constantly growing up.

SOURCE.

Everything that exists in the universe, even the flesh and bones of your body, is made up of nothing except positive and negative electrons, which seem to be the building-stones of all things material. This is the present idea of science, says Dr. Robert A. Millikan, Californian and second American to win the distinguished Nobel prize.

If we agree with him, we believe that our bodies are the same "substance" as the current that lights the house and runs the radio. The more important point is that electricity is THE coming field. Encourage the boy who has a natural inclination toward it.

JUST ONE WORD FORCED WAR ON GREAT BRITAIN

"Neutrality," Often Disregarded, Was Sacred to Belgium and Britain.

THE SCRAP OF PAPER

German Chancellor's Words Reacted As a Curse On His People

The world will never forget the words of unconcealed anguish with which the German Chancellor received the decision of Great Britain to go to the help of Belgium when the Germans invaded that country ten years ago. "Just for a word—" "'neutrality,' a word which in wartime had so often been disregarded"—just for a scrap of paper Great "Britain was going to make war on "a kindred nation who desired nothing better than to be friends with "her," he cried to the British Ambassador. German troops were already on Belgian soil and the German war machine was in motion.

Little did von Bethmann Hollweg realize how his words would react as a curse upon his own people. Nor did all his later attempts to explain that by the phrase "a scrap of paper" he meant not that Germany had torn up the treaty guaranteeing Belgian neutrality, but that the treaty had become a scrap of paper because Belgium had violated her own neutrality, help to retrieve the situation. The Chancellor asserted that in 1911 Belgian officers had discussed with the British the possible landing of troops in Belgium in the event of a German attack, and that by this action Belgium "long before had abandoned its neutrality in its relations with England." But the outside world could only regard this pretext in the same light as it would the excuse of a strong man who beat and robbed his neighbor and then explained that he was justified because it was well known that another neighbor had planned this very deed and therfore had to be forestalled.

The invasion itself struck the great blow at civilization. But the Chancellor's cynical characterization showed the world for the first time the true attitude of the German war lords. The idea of the "scrap of paper" went right to the heart of the matter. It explained as no long speech or book might have done that German military necessity was above all laws and treaties, and that whatever interfered with success would be ruthlessly thrust aside. From a military point of view this attitude was understandable, but to the world in general it was a horrible warning. This phrase more than anything else struck the death-blow at German credit and made a scrap of paper out of every subsequent German promise. In all the efforts of the Germans to resume relations with their former enemies this fateful phrase returns to plague them. It will haunt every conference and cause doubts in the mind of every one who signs a document for years to come.

Since the death of Sir Edward Goschen, to whom the words were spoken, there has been some controversy whether the language used was English or German. The historian of the British Foreign Office finds that the evidence is strangely conflicting. Bethmann himself, supported by several others, gives the impression that German was spoken. Sir Edward said that English was used. As both men were accomplished linguists and were much wrought up at the time of the discussion, it is not unlikely that they spoke in both languages. But whether the German "ein Stuckchen Papier," of the English "a scrap of paper," was the actual wording, the sense is the same. The phrase has now become a historic byword and reproach.

HISTORY OF A GREAT DECADE

Empires Waxed and Waned —Triumphs and Disasters Are Forgotten.

WHITHER NOW?

By DRIVER W. A. MURTON.

The end of the morning or the end of the night has come. The Great Decade has risen and waxed and waned. The wheel that started on August the 4th has come full circle. Its history has passed away on the mouldy records of time. And with it have gone the wounds and the triumphs and disasters. Empires have been wrecked and rescued, and still the time is not yet.

* * *

A new generation has arisen in ten years. Children then are men now. They have arisen in doubt and stress and in the discord of warring factions. Nothing permanent seems to be left for them. But yet let it be but passing. The flanneled fools became the glory of England. The youth of ten years ago in millions have been long since gathered to their fathers. Their graves so lately fresh and bitter are grown mature now with flowers and sod. The very scenes of anguish are smoothed over with the peasants' plough, or screened by nature in folds of waving grass. Only the staring gapes of greater ruin remain—they and the monuments.

* * *

In that short decade great Empires have risen into their morning of might and defiance, and have settled down with the gloom and obscurity of death. The pompous and overloading Reich of the Hohenzollerns is gone. The vast structure of Russia has perished. The proud and medieval monarchies of the Hapsburgs, the restless Kingdom of Bulgaria, alike have drunk their round of martial wine and found the dregs thereof a bitter draught. Yet ten years ago they vied with Britain. They took no slur from any nation in their proud honor. They were great and masterful. Their name was feared throughout all the earth. The menace of aggression was the bogey of a peaceful world.

* * *

War was impossible then because we had slept too long. Momentous strides had been made in every branch of human endeavor. Civilization and brotherhood found itself flung back over night into a charnel house such as even the Middle Ages had never known.

* * *

Again men fought each other as the beasts of the field. The ancient methods of destruction were supplemented by modern instruments of fiendish torture. Once more the ancient hillsides of Europe echoed back the old familiar tremor of the guns. Progress awoke to find itself a dream.

* * *

An awful epoch ended with troops of the Entente powers marching on the bridges of the Rhine. The mailed fist had changed hands. The clanking sword of the swash-buckler was broken. The war was over.

* * *

The old war parties were swept away. The heads of Governments which blundered through the years of battle have sunk with their bubble reputation into the oblivion of the past. The most reactionary powers in all those lands have taken over the helm. Blindness and darkness ride beside their ways.

* * *

What of the future, the new decade about to begin? Our sun at least is still in the heavens of strength. There is no watchman in the tower to guide our hearts and quieten our fears. The morning of great empires has come, and also the night. The ancient challenge echoes through the world, peering into the darkness, as in the days of Babylon. "Watchman, watchman, what of the night!"

1914 - 1924

Ten years ago today the Empire went to war. In every city under the British flag across the seven seas there were scenes of anxious waiting, such as were known in Peterborough. Ten years ago tonight those cities rang, as Peterborough did, with the cheers of those who knew Britain could do nothing else than defend the rights of Belgium and fulfil her promises to France.

Ten years ago the poppies of Flanders had no challenge written on their flaming petals. Ten years ago we had not begun to set up memorials in stone and metal in exchange for the life-blood of our million dead.

And the crosses that rise in white rows among the blazing poppies of this fourth of August were unthought of in the surge of relief that swayed the Empire when it was known that Britain would maintain the right and defend the weak.

* * * * *

But how much more ten years ago meant and means to every one of us is known only to God and our own hearts. Woven into the story of every hour is a story of valor and faith, of suffering and endurance under terrors undreamt and unimagined, and each of us has his own place in it. To some was give a nobler place than others, but to every man, woman and child in the Empire—even to the babes unborn ten years ago—there is a place in that wonderfully awful story begun ten years ago today.

* * * *

Ten years have come and gone. We have sheathed the sword these many days. We are without enemies. Wrath and righteous indignation at injustice are giving place to smooth-lipped speech of toleration and quibbling indifference.

* * * *

The talkers are doing well. They have a marvellous record to set against the achievement of our years of valiant war. League of Nations, Washington Conference, Indian Swaraj and Chicago murders, the greatest gold store on earth, and Egyptian ingratitude, automobile fatalities and glad-hand brotherhoods, sobbing sisters and high-placed swindlers, jazz in the limbs and head and heart of men and movements—all a magnificent testimony to the efficacy of talk.

* * * *

"The moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall eat them like wool"—was said of the words of fools a few thousand years back. It is true today, and the story of the past ten years makes it clearer than ever. But our deeds are imperishable. No noble heart broke silently through the terrible night watches of the war without witnessing terribly before God how false the speech and how true the action of man can be. No tender mother passed uncomplaining to the grave but took with her to the Beyond an oration whose unspoken eloquence will shame for centuries to come the pompous oratory of insincere phrase-makers. No gentle minister to the needs of our broken ones moves a step on her compassionate way today but frames an inarticulate prayer to heaven whose power is infinite and will prevail.

City Council Spoke Support Of Britain

Ten years ago tonight Peterborough City Council met. Asked for an opinion as to Canada's attitude in the event of Britain's entering the war, the Council, through Mayor William Buller, replied:

"If Great Britain is involved in a European war, Canada's attitude should be one of practical support in every possible way."

KANT.

Europe celebrates the 200th anniversary of the birth of Immanuel Kant. He was one of the greatest philosophers of all time. Yet he spent his life within a radius of 25 miles from his birthplace in Germany. Thus disproving the hokum that travel is the greatest educator.

Maybe you ponder how much greater his opportunities would have been if he had a radio in his house. Not, however, with the sort of programs broadcast now. That will change. Radio will become the greatest educator—in time.

SOUTHWARD

Gary, the steer king, is back from a three-months' trip through South America. He predicts a tremendous future for the southern continent, but says its growth will be slow because it is handicapped by lack of capital to develop natural resources.

This is universal law, the necessity for working capital. And it applies as rigidly to the individual. Young men, are you saving dollars that later will work for you just as you now work for them?

ITALIA.

Only half as many Italians packed up and left their homeland in 1923 as was the yearly average 1900 to 1913.

American immigration bars are only partly responsible, for South America stands wide open.

The Italians plainly are confident that the future looks promising in their own country, despite war debt and problems.

A curious angle is that, out of 348,000 who left Italy last year, 143,000 moved to France.

A STONE CROSS AT VIMY RIDGE

New Monument Takes the Place of Decaying Wooden Cross Erected in 1917.

RED PATCH MEN

In the fall of 1917 General Sir Archibald Cameron MacDonnell of the 1st Canadian Division caused to be raised on the south side of the Thelus road a beautiful wooden cross in memory of all those who were killed in the taking of Vimy Ridge, and the villages of Arleaux and Fresnoy. This cross began to shown signs of decay, and a new stone cross has been erected at a cost of $300.

It is now desired to raise the sum of $1,200, to cover the cost of erection and provide $900 to be kept in trust for the maintenance of the cross and plot. Officers have been asked to give the sum of $1 and other ranks are asked for 25 cents.

In Peterborough, Lieut.-Col. F. L. Bradburn, M.C., has kindly consented to act as treasurer, and G. L. Winterbottom and the secretary of the G.W.V.A. are also receiving subscriptions.

Up to date the following has been subscribed: Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, $5; Major G. L. Winterbottom, $2; Capt. A. Y. McNair, $1; Lieut. N. Hatton, $1; Major Bruce Mills, $1.

STRUGGLE.

Being in business for yourself is not all it's "cracked up to be." There are 1,425,000 stores in America. That's a store for every 76 people, which isn't much in the way of customers. Of course, this includes all sorts of stores and a customer trades in various kinds of shops—food, clothing, books, etc. But, even at that, the retail merchandising field is very overcrowded. It's a lucky grocery that feeds more than 60 or 75 families.

Out of wha tlooks like profits at first glance, come rent, clerk hire, lighting, heating and other expenses.

GANGWAY!

The proposed electrical "super-power system" is discussed intelligently by W. S. Murray, engineer and author of the original government report on super-power. There is much to be said for and against, but not in an editorial of 86 words.

Murray timed his bid for attention a bit late, the baseball season having opened. Said baseball season must be delightedly welcomed by politicians under investigation in Washington, D. C. Who was the humorist who said we Americans take life too seriously?

How The World Waited For The Dreaded Spark

Ten years ago today crowds in every town and city in the world waited the word that would join Germany and Britain in conflict. Crowds like this, shown before the former Kaiser's castle, the "Lustdarten," Berlin, received the news just about the time the humming cables delivered it to the crowd on George street by way of the Examiner bulletin.

THE WORLD GOT NOTHING BY WAR, KAISER AFFIRMS

Three Huge Autocracies Destroyed, Is Summary of Dr. Chas. W. Elliot.

VIEWS OF CELEBRITIES.

All Nations Arming as Fast as They Can, Says Ex-Crown Prince.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The question "What did the world gain from the World War?" is answered in The American Legion Weekly by many distinguished Americans and Europeans, including General Pershing, Maximillian Harden, Sir Arthur W. Currie, Sir Philip Gibbs, Charles W. Eliot, John Maynard Keynes, Samuel Gompers, David Starr Jordan, Hilaire Belloc, General Henry T. Allen, the former Crown Prince and, through a representative, former Kaiser Wilhelm.

Pacifists like Jane Addams and Norman Angell found no positive good in the war, except that it has bred hatred of war. Keynes answered the question with three words, "I don't know." Most of the others had something good to say about the war. Charles W. Eliot, for instance, summarized its results as follows:

"The World War destroyed the huge German, Russian and Austrian autocracies, revived several free nations which those autocracies had crushed or cut into pieces, strengthened the three great powers in which democratic principles have made good progress, and brought them nearer to effective union for promoting liberty, justice and peace throughout the world."

The reply for the Kaiser came from Admiral H. von Rebeur-Paschwitz, who wrote from Doorn:

"In answer to your letter, dated May 31, his Majesty the Emperor tells me to let you know that he regrets not being able to comply with your request. As to the question, 'What did the world gain by World War?' I would think the only possible answer can be, 'Nothing. It lost everything.'"

The reply received from the Crown Prince was as follows:

"The United States entered the war believing to destroy militarism and to make the world free for democracy. The result of the war was that all nations are arming as hard as they can, and what about democracy —just look at the cables from over the world. Dictatorship of some sort or other is the favorite idea. The only good the war did is to show that a nation, not well armed, is powerless and that such a nation gets held from nobody."

Fittest Don't Survive

In his answer David Starr Jordan said the war caused the downfall of three imperial autocracies, the puncture of a pastboard Caesar and the freedom of Alsace-Loraine, though creating half a dozen other misused provinces. He said the war also showed "the certainty that there are no 'fruits of victory' worth their cost the certainty that war brings no 'survival of the fittest—but of those that never fit,' a result which will show itself for generations," and "the certainty that war cheapens or destroys all human values, financial, political, moral spiritual alike."

"The only gain to humanity from the World War, so far as I can see now," wrote Sir Philip Gibbs, "was the inspiration that comes from the supreme valour of youth and its ready sacrifice for ideals higher than self-interest. Perhaps also we have learned that the power of destructive machinery is so prodigious that man kind will destroy itself unless it can limit the areas and occasions of war by a pact of nations for the maintenance of world peace."

Nations Must Find Unity

In his answer Maximilian Harden said the war brought the recognition by a few that the continent must always remain the checkerboard of the British Empire, which is not an integral part of the continent. Therefore the continent can neither recover nor thrive if it does not try to find the way to unity—first of all to conomic unity. It will find such a way in the same manner in which it was found, after an exhausting war, in the time of George Washington in the United States, unless the continent, while at the same time most carefully attending to each national individuality, fails to get rid of the ugly habit of inciting to battle nationalisms and patriotisms (with the weapons of anger, rage and contempt) against each other, like flowers of different colors, kind and fragrance as in flower beds, combining them in a manner so as to produce a colorful garden, bearing the most varied fruits."

Samuel Gompers made the following reply:

"The world gained as a result of the great war a freedom from the menace of organized militarist imperialism with out which all peoples sooner or later would have been enchained in bondage and vassalage. Democracy is in the ascendancy, the dominant form of government. The tremendous meaning of that achievement will be more understood as time passes .The victory was magnificent, the cause worthy of all that we gave and more. And, permit me to add, I have no more consideration of those who denounced that cause and demean the effort now than I had while the struggle was on."

Sir Arthur Currie

Sir Arthur W. Currie, the last Commander-in-Chief, of the Canadian expeditionary forces, said:

"By the World War we gained a truer appreciation and a better realization of war's unspeakable waste, its dreadful hardships, its cruel slaughter and its aftermath of loneliness, sorrow and broken hearts. We now know that as a means of solving the world's problems and removing international discord war is a delusion and a lie."

Hilaire Belloc, English historian and student of military science, said

"The world gained by the great war a demonstration in practice that the atheist doctrine and tradition of which Prussia hwas been the increasingly successful exponent for 150 years would ultimately prove weaker than the culture of Christendom."

Jane Adams ,social worker, of Chicago, said:

"I, a revelation of what modern war is, when systematic propaganda arouse world-wide hate and when the latest methods of industrial efficiency achieve the maximum of slaughter and destruction; 2, among the living, a growing determination to abolish war for the sake of those who gave their lives to end it."

LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

STUMPED.

In a recent week, with business supposed to be dull, the United States bank clearings totalled $87 for every $80 of bank checks sent through the clearing houses in the corresponding week of last year—when times were booming.

People haven't been spending more than in 1923. They haven't been on any orgy of paying bills. Prices haven't been higher to show up in the form of inflated clearings.

If you can explain the gain step to the head of the class. The busines experts are stumped.

TAXED.

Groans from railroads because they paid national and state taxes of over $900,000 a day in 1923, or three times as much as before the war.

The railroads don't really pay this. The public pays. Railroads are simply collectors for Uncle Sam and the states. This is the fly in the ointment, to critics who delight to have the roads heavily taxed.

SCARED.

All past records are being broken in the amount of life insurance taken out by the American people. So far this year over a fifth more life insurance had been written than in 1923, when a new record was hung up. If the rate continues, the 1924 total of new policies will be 11 billion dollars.

There was a time when this would have indicated 11 billion dollars of fear. Now it represents 11 billions of sensible investment—the surest and easiest way to save.

To Dam Niagara and Save the Falls

Amazing "Surgical Operation" by Engineers to Check the Formation of a Gigantic "Cancer" Cavity in the Center of the Great Horseshoe

Engineer's Diagram Showing Work to Be Done to Save Niagara.

Horseshoe Falls in All Its Sublime Beauty. Arrow Points to Rapidly Increasing Cleft.

The Majestic American Falls, Which Are Slowly Being Deprived of Their Picturesqueness Through the Divergence of Water to Horseshoe Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS has a "broken heart," and only a "surgical operation" can save the greatest waterfall on the face of the earth from complete destruction.

Plans are now under way to perform this "operation." They include one of the most remarkable engineering feats ever conceived—not the least amazing of which is the damming of the turbulent torrent to permit carrying on the difficult undertaking and thus save the Falls.

The "heart" of Niagara is the center of the celebrated Horseshoe Falls. Over this central point, the greatest volume of water naturally pours.

For thousands of centuries the current of Niagara has been gnawing at the brink of the chasm over which the waters flow. In the beginning of things, this brink was probably miles below the present location of the Falls. The banks of the Niagara river and the floor, as well as the wall which forms the Falls, is of limestone and shale.

During the past sixty-three years, the current of Niagara has gnawed away the brink over which it tumbles for a distance of 335 feet, or at the rate of more than five feet each year. And the Falls, according to the statisticians, is 25,000 years old! It dates back to the glacial period.

For centuries and centuries the brink was apparently eaten away on a straight line, so that the Falls receded evenly from shore to shore. Then, slowly but surely a "heart" began to form in the center. It may have been started by dislodgement of a great boulder; or perhaps a crevice was worn in the center of the Falls.

As this cancerous cavity grew and grew, the current of the stream changed. Great quantities of water, which should have gone over the American Falls, as it did in the old days, was diverted from that course and added to the already congested channel leading over the Horseshoe Falls. This naturally added to the force of the cataract and the gnawing at the heart of the Falls was increased.

There could be but one outcome to all of this. The American Falls would eventually practically disappear, the waters being shunted off over the Horseshoe Falls. Meantime, the accumulating volume of water plunging over the latter would eat more rapidly into the crevice already formed, until the brink, and, with it, the Falls, would disappear. That would be the end of Niagara.

The possibilities of such a disaster were appreciated by the late President Roosevelt, and as early as 1905 he undertook steps that would bring an end to the ravages of the current. But, although President Taft continued the efforts that his predecessor had started, they fell by the wayside. Nothing was done, and the gnawing away of the center of the Falls continued.

Recently the matter was brought up again by Representative Theodore Burton, of Ohio. He called attention to the fact that unless something was done at once Niagara Falls, the chief attraction to visitors from abroad to America, would be a thing of the past.

The American Civic Association, the International Waterways Commission and the Canadian Minister of Public Works joined forces in an effort to save Niagara from eating itself away. As a result of their combined efforts, work will be started soon on what will be one of the most unique engineering feats in history—really an "operation" to save the life of the Falls.

The first thing that will have to be done is to make it possible to get at the seat of the trouble. Imagine working on the center of Niagara Falls, over which no more than half a dozen persons—and these encased in steel-lined barrels—have ever passed!

This first step will be the placing of a break-water across the Niagara river, just above the Falls. Ordinarily that would not be a difficult task. But Niagara is different from all other streams. The current above the Falls is so swift as to almost preclude the possibility of building a breakwater. But all things are possible in an undertaking of this kind.

Barges filled with concrete and stone will be sent out into the stream until a pontoon bridge has been formed. Then these barges will be sunk. Working from this anchorage, the break-water will be fashioned. It will be built in such shape that the great volume of water that now passes over the Horseshoe Falls will be diverted in such a manner that most of it will temporarily be forced over the American Falls. What will continue to pass over the Horseshoe Falls will be divided into two streams, one on either side of the great cavity, leaving the latter dry for the workmen.

Then they will start to fill in the great cavity that has been created by nature's tremendous force. Their work will resemble as much as anything else the filling of a gigantic tooth. First, I-beams of steel will be driven into the stone, after the bottom of the cavity has been leveled off. These I-beams will be connected by steel staples and the intervening space will be filled in with concrete. There will be row after row of this combination of steel and concrete until the top has been reached, and the whole of the cavity filled.

When this work has been finished, there will have been formed a filling of steel and concrete that will be practically indestructible, and should last to eternity.

But before any of this work can be started, there is something else that will have to be done. Within recent years some of Niagara's surplus power has been used for commercial purposes. Below the Horseshoe Falls is a power house which generates current for public utilities not only in Niagara Falls, but in Buffalo and other places within a radius of fifty miles. The power house consumes the energy of 15,000 cubic feet of water as it plunges over the brink. This may seem an enormous quantity. But the total overflow of water at Niagara at mean stage is 220,000 cubic feet a second, and at its lowest stage 176,000 cubic feet a second. So that the 15,000 cubic feet does not amount to so much. In fact, Congress has already given its consent for the use of the energy of 28,500 cubic feet of water as they pass over the brink, for commercial purposes.

Some provision, however, will have to be made for a swift current of water in order that the power house and the public utilities be kept in operation. To take care of that, a gigantic aqueduct will be built from a point just above the pontoon bridge to a point at the bottom of the Falls and which will not only convey the water, but give it the same drop as it now has. This aqueduct will be constructed of reinforced concrete, in sections six feet long and six feet high.

After all the work has been completed, the pontoon break-water will be removed, and the quantity of water from the Niagara river will be allowed to go over the Horseshoe Falls as Nature originally intended it should. Then the aqueduct will be removed and the power house supplied with its current as it now is.

Not only will the Horseshoe Falls be protected for all time by this remarkable operation, but its beauty will be increased. It will also have a beneficial effect upon the American Falls, for it will compel the quantity of water that originally went over it to return to that course.

Several years will be required for the completion of the work that will save Niagara Falls to posterity. The expense, which will amount to millions of dollars, will be divided between the United States and the Canadian governments.

RACE TRACK CLOSES.

Devonshire Abruptly Shut Gates To Avoid Losses.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 4. — Grand Circuit racing at Devonshire came to an end Saturday when the management declared the six-day meet off at the end of the third day's programme. The reason given for closing the meeting was that those in charge did not wish to shoulder the additional loss that they believed would entail if continued.

The attendance was good, but it was not a profitable crowd, and while entries were plentiful, starters were few, it was stated.

DEMPSEY UNBOOKED

Manager Has Given Up Hope of Fight This Year.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 3. —William Harrison Dempsey, the heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will not defend his title in a bout this year, it is announced here by Jack Kearns, the champion's manager.

"There isn't a chance for Dempsey to fight before next summer," said Kearns. "We have given up all hopes of a fight with anyone. We want too much money for anyone to back a show unless it be Firpo or Wills and it is getting too late in the year to consider such a possibility, especially with Firpo and Wills slated to fight next month."

DE LAVAL LOST TO LOCAL C. C.

Cricket Club Won By 5 Wickets After Very Close and Exciting Contest.

GOOD MATCH.

The De Laval and Peterboro Cricket Clubs met at the Exhibition grounds on Saturday afternoon and a good game resulted in a win by the latter by five wickets. Peterboro Club won the toss and opened their innings with Manning and Kingsford with only 5 runs scored, Kingsford was easily run out through a misunderstanding between the batsmen. Foster followed in and made some nice hits but was unfortunately struck on the leg by a rising ball, which practically put him out of the game for the balance of the afternoon. Manning was bowled with the total at seven. Thorpe and Stuart then came together and batted steadily until Thorpe was bowled by a good ball from F. Dyer after making 13 runs; Stuart left soon after, being run out on a close decision. The rest of the batsmen did not add many more runs and the inning closed for 46, F. Dyer taking 5 wickets and R. Dyer taking 2 wickets.

The DeLaval opened disastrously. Cutmore and Pirie being dismissed before a man had been scored, the first named being bowled by Coleman and Pirie being bowled by Thorpe. Frank Dyer soon scored 7 runs before being bowled.

R. Dyer scored a very useful 11 before being dismissed. The remaining batsmen all failed, and the total score only amounted to 21 runs, Thorpe taking 6 wickets for 7 runs, and Coleman 4 wickets for 13 runs. This was the latter's first game this season and his initial showing was excellent.

The captains of each team decided to play a second innings and the De Laval batted again and did better, R. Dyer being top scorer with 11 runs, while Abrahams, Malsch and Griffin all made useful scores, the innings closing for 49 runs.

Thorpe took 4 wickets for 20 runs, Manning 2 wickets for 14 runs and Coleman 2 wickets for 12 runs.

Peterboro Club needed 25 runs to win with about ½ an hour to play. These runs were got for the loss of 5 men, leaving them victorious by 5 wickets.

EARN MONEY TO GET ITS WORTH OUT OF LIVING

The Wheelbarrow is the Most Wonderful Machine Ever Invented, Says Speaker.

ECONOMIC EQUITY.

Splendidly Inspiring Addresses at Chautouqua by Dr. Daniel Fox, of California.

"The most wonderful machine ever invented was the wheelbarrow. Why is it that a man who begins within the handles of the wheelbarrow develops a carrying ability and a ballast and a reserve power that the boy doesn't get who begins with a six-cylinder self-starter? I wouldn't mind being a millionaire myself. Honestly, now, would you? But one real objection I have to some of the rich is that they make all they can and they can all they make and then when the children open the can, some of them get a bad case of ptomaine poisoning."

Dr. Daniel Fox of Pasadena, California, the initial speaker at the big Chautauqua tent on Saturday evening, held his audience with his lecture on "Anglo-Saxon Ideals". An elderly man, with a lifetime of experience as a minister of the Gospel behind him, with a fluent manner of speaking punctuated by unexpected bits of scintillating humour, and copiously interlarded with apt and pithy illustrations, his address on Saturday evening and the one delivered by him last night on "The Philosophy of Common Sense", were splendid discourses. If the programme of the opening day is an earnest of what may be expected for the remainder of the 1924 Dominion Redpath Chautauqua course it will be one of the best of these courses yet heard in the city. The committee of men in charge is extending the time limit for the sale of season tickets so as to allow others to take advantage of the opportunity of procuring them.

Commencing his address on "Anglo-Saxon ideals" with a reference to the difference in speech and color in the races of the world, and the obligation devolving on the white man to lead the van, Dr. Fox said; "As the sailor comes safe into port when he sails by the stars, so the soul of man keeps face to face with his destiny when he cherishes a great ideal."

"The element of economic equity must be the foundation. Consider the case of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who, when he died, left behind him a fortune of one hundred and eighty millions of dollars. Do you know that if Adam had begun to live six thousand years ago and had worked for three hundred days in the year ever since, and had been paid $100 a day for his labour, it would have taken him every minute of that time to amass the same amount of money? Men aren't equal, you know They never have been and they never will be. But no man knows the value of a dollar until he works for it and earns it. World leaders do not often come from the palaces of the millionaire. They come from the crofter's cottage and from the wilderness up from the wilderness to the stars. It appears as if it were an advantage to have no advantage in life, and that the secret of success lies in a handicap. The upward march on the stairway of the ages has been kept bright by the shoes of honest toil, while the shoes of wealth slide to the botttom. But in a country with the enormous resources of coal and wheat and wool that we have, do you think it is a good programme of economic equity to let honest people shiver on the brink? I have been up in Alberta and I have seen men and women who did pioneer work there for the past twenty-five years turn away from their farms in despair because they were so heavily mortgaged that there was no hope of ever retrieving them again."

Industry and thrift were also needed, declared the speaker. "Laziness in a man may be incurable, but I have known a second wife to help a lot." "According to Roger Babson, the statistician, we are loafing forty per cent. He says that if we were to close forty per cent. of our factories, and have the remainder do the remaining sixty per cent of work the present output would be maintained. We must be thrifty and we must be willing to give fair play to our fellow-creatures."

The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the organizing genius and the career of Henry Ford, and went on to emphasize the necessity of allowing a boy to choose his own vocation in life, "for, when you find a man who is in love with his job, you find a happy man."

Education, he asserted, "is making up the deficiency between the boy as he is and the man as he should be. And we should strive to recognize things in their right relations. Just as jam on bread is food, while jam on the face of a boy is dirt, so dirt in the material realm is ignorance in the mental realm and sin in the spiritual."

"Have you sold yourself to yourself? If you were a doctor, and conditions were reversed, would you take your own medicine, if a merchant, would you buy your own goods over the counter, and pay the price you are asking for them if a teacher, would you pay yourself the same money for the lessons you give, and if a preacher, would you come twice to church on Sunday to hear yourself preach? Have we sold ourselves to ourselves, or have we over-capitalized ourselves?"

"It is a wonderful age of mechanical progress that we are living in, but are we building men big enough for the machines we make. Are we living up to the ideals that we led the boys who went to war to believe that they were dying for? Men have always associated patriotism with war. But just as the world has outgrown and discarded the ideas of witchcraft, and slavery, and duelling, so I believe it will discard in time the idea of war as a solution of the difficulties of the world. And I believe, too, that if you are going to conscript men to fight for their country, you should conscript the dollars and the iron and the wheat that make the sinews of war, and you should prevent the making of fortunes from a war."

Crowded on Sunday.

On Saturday evening, about three hundred people were in attendance. Last evening, the tent was filled almost to capacity, with over seven hundred people gathered together under the auspices of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of the city, the collection taken up going to the work among crippled and under-privileged children carried on by the two clubs, and the extra night's programme generously given by the Chautauqua people to further the good work.

Last evening, Dr. Fox spoke again on "The Philosophy of Common-Sense." He took as his "test" a verse of Henry Van Dyke's "Think without confusion clearly; Love thy fellow man sincerely; Act from honest motives purely; Trust in God and Heaven securely," supplementing it with Emerson's definition of culture as being derived from books, conversation, travel and meditation, and St. Paul's advice to Timothy, to "stir up the gift of God within thee."

"The real basis of commercial success is clear thinking," said the lecturer, instancing the case of the men who had made fortunes from such simple things as replacing the old-fashioned troublesome shoe-lace on boys' and men's boots with the handier hooks, the invention of a better type of shoe polish, and the harnessing of Niagara's electrical power to turn the wheels of industry.

"Piece out with love the strength we somehow seem to lack," was the thought behind the dramatic illustration with which the speaker illustrated his second point. "But there are two kinds of love. One sweetens the heart and the other softens the brain. You have to be careful, Pollyanna is a good character, up to a certain point."

"Think, love, act and trust. There you have the four points of the compass of life." Dr. Fox referred to an experience of his own with a camping party of Boy Scouts in California, and instanced the method of the Rotary Club there is organizing the project, when each boy was required to earn a certain portion of his holiday expenses. "What a boy gets for nothing he will not appreciate."

"Trust in God and Heaven securely." Instancing the wonderful qualities evidenced in the steady upward growth of a tree, the ingenuity of the comb-building bee and the house building wasp, the bridge of the spider and the dam of the beaver, he said "you don't feel that way about the works of man. Genius is not evidenced in the acts of a man who goes about forgetting his obligations and his duties. I know a man who can speak fluently in seven different languages, but he can't work in any of them and his wife has to support him. Genius lies in turning the common things of life to account, and if you think, and love, and act and trust, you have the philosophy of common sense."

On Saturday afternoon, when the introductory exercises were given, on Saturday evening, and during last evening, a pleasing feature of the programme was the excellent music, both instrumental and vocal of the Dunbar Male Quartet and Bell Ringers. Four young men gave a demonstration of their skill in bell-ringing that brought them plenty of applause and much appreciative comment. Their collection of sweet-toned bell, one, the largest weighing twenty-five pounds, and the collection including the original bells of the quartet of a century back Dunbar Quartet, were played in splendid style, the novel music, with its seldom-heard cadences, proving a popular portion of the entertainment. Their Saturday evening programme included an Evening Bell number, with a second offering in a very tuneful rendition of "A Sunday Morning in London", in which Big Ben's summons, the chimes of the House of Parliament, and several hymns, were included and a setting of "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Last evening, several of these selections were repeated, also a pretty rendition of the "Adeste Fidelis." Their vocal numbers "Sunset" and "That Old Gang of Mine", were also much enjoyed, and one member of the quartet evoked much laughter with his monologue in an "old squire" outfit, made realistic by a few well-applied pieces of make-up.

H. L. Rockwood is the manager of this years' Chautauqua course.

Three mornings of the week are devoted exclusively to entertainments for the children, with different artists each day. This evening's entertainment promises to be very good with the Betty Booth Concert Company, and Sidney Landon, in an Impersonative Revue of Great Literary Masters. To-morrow evening, a play "Six Cylinder Love" will be staged, and in the afternoon, J. Smith Damron gives an entertainment-demonstration, "The Potter and the Clay".

BORG BREAKS RECORD.

LONDON, August 4 (Canadian Press). — Arne Borg, the Swedish swimming champion, yesterday broke the world's 1,000 yards swimming record, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen.

Borg made the distance in 12 minutes 20 4-5 seconds.

The old record, 12 minutes 44 3-5 seconds, was held by Norman Ross, of Chicago.

No change has been made in the admission price to the Canadian National Exhibition since 1879 when a dollar was worth three times its present value.

"THE SHEPHEERD KING" BRINGS DESERT ROMANCE TO THE SCREEN.

Fox Production Taken Before Pyramids Opens to Appreciative House Here.

Few picture spectacles, elaborate as they come these days, contain more grandeur than the William Fox production of 'The Shepherd King,' from the W. A. Brady stage success by Wright Lorimer and Arnold Reeves, which opens at the Regent Theatre to-night.

J. Gordon Edwards, who directed the picture, went to Egypt for his settings. There, with Violet Mersereau playing the leading feminine role, that of the Princess Michal, he hired 5,000 desert Arabs, 500 camels and as many donkeys, to support the scenes on the yellow sands in which a continetnal cast lends notable support. This cast, by the way, is the same which made "Nero," also a product directed by Mr. Edwards.

The splendor of the pyramids, the enigma of the sphinx, the beauty of an earlier day romance, combined with the thrilling scenes of desert battle, make a picture which held the audience and brought only praise.

Nerio Bernardi, as David, the Shepherd King, plays a glorious part with remarkable fidelity to the character. Others of the cast do equally well and the work of Miss Mersereau, as the youngest daughter of Saul, who becomes the bride of the shepherd king, is beyond anything she has attempted, successful as her efforts have been.

The picture was more than a year in the making and Mr. Edwards brought back a finished product which carries its audience into the desert of the Holy Lands, where Moses led the Children of Israel from Egypt.

AT THE ROYAL.

FUNNIEST COMEDY OF YEAR, "GALLOPING FISH," AT ROYAL

A caricature makeup is a hindrance and not an aid to "putting over" real comedy on the screen, declares Louise Fazenda, who plays a leading role in "The Galloping Fish." Thomas H. Ince's comedy special just released by First National which is running at the Royal Theatre.

Louise Fazenda, wearing topsy pig-tails, too-brief gingham dresses and ridiculous hats, giggled her way into the heart of screen audiences many years ago. But that sort of laugh-provoking is not art, declares the comedienne seriously. In the new Ince production she has her first opportunity to be funny and beautiful at the same time. Fazenda "fans" declare that as the "Diving Venus" she is funnier than in any previous characterization. And certainly she proves that she has a face and figure that any of the acknowledged silver sheet beauties might envy.

There is an all star cast aiding and abetting Miss Fazenda in her comedy efforts in the Ince laugh special. Syd Chaplin, as a timid little newly-wed who becomes entangled with "Venus" after his first quarrel with his bride, and Ford Sterling as the manager-fiance of the beautiful diving girl keep the ball rolling through seven reels of fast and furious fun.

In spite of the big league opposition, however, the trained seal is always to the fore in collecting laughs. "Freddie" is the first of the fish family to reach the heights of stardom, but he "does his stuff" so well that he has opened the way for others of the seal tribe to attain film glory.

"The Galloping Fish" was directed by Del Andrews, who megaphoned the steeplechase scenes of "The Hottentot." Ince's comedy hit of last season. A flood and spectacular underwater shots furnish thrills with the laughs.

"EXCITEMENT" AT ROYAL THURSDAY FULL OF PEP.

Laura La Plante's first starring vehicle, "Excitement," showing at the Royal Theatre Thursday, lives up to its title throughout, because of its incessant run of thrills.

You can't come to the Royal Theatre and expect to steal a little sleep, because Miss La Plante's initial offering is a real sandman cheater.

The picture relates the life of a girl whose daily routine was crowded with all kinds of excitement from fox hunting and motor cycle riding to daring airplane manoeuvres. Director Robert Hill sought Al Wilson, the daring aviator. He "borrowed" Wilson for two days and it certainly was a good "debt" Hill incurred.

Miss La Plante is supported by Bert Roach, Edward Hearn, William Welsh, Rose Sedan, Albert Hart and Frances Raymond.

AT THE CAPITOL.

OUR GLORIA GONE? NOT BY A LONG SHOT. SEE "MANHANDLED."

Screen Star Very Much Alive In New Paramount Film at the Rialto.

If you are one of the millions who have loaned an ear recently to the mysteriously recurrent rumors of Gloria Swanson's demise, we say, yea beseech you, to take a trip down to the Capital Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and see "Manhandled." Gloria's latest production for Paramount. And if after that you still think Gloria's a dead one, then we say that she never was alive.

But we admit ourselves that it is a different Gloria Swanson you see on the screen at the Capital. That is, different as far as picture characterizations are concerned. She's the liveliest person you ever saw in your life in this Allan Dwan production, an adaptation from Arthur Stringer's Saturday Evening Post story by that name.

Here's a picture with a climax as sensational as its title—a story of a salesgirl in a big New York department store, who is out for a good time, willing to receive everything but give nothing in return. She falls in with men who misjudge her—misinterpret her idea of a good time, manhandle here and then — the girl comes around to her right senses with a bang, realizes what, unwittingly, she had almost brought upon herself and goes back to the safe and sane life, happy in the love of an honest-to-goodness sweetheart. He may not have jewels and a car to offer her, but she's seen the rest and knows when she's got the best.

Tom Moore is Miss Swanson's leading man in "Manhandled." Others in the cast are Frank Morgan, Ian Keith, Paul McAllister and Lilyan Tashman.

PRISON FOR FRAUD

Hindu in Calgary Posed as Provincial Liquor Officer.

CALGARY, Alta., August 4 (Canadian Press). — Three months' imprisonment was the punishment handed out to Hamel Khan, a Hindu, in Court on Saturday when the was convicted on a charge of false pretences. He secured $10.00 from Inspector Brankley, of the Provincial Police, when he falsely represented himself as an officer of the Provincial Liquor Enforcement Branch, of which at one time he was a member.

MANIAC STARTED FIVE BIG FIRES

Burned to Death an Aged Woman and Young Man While Detectives Sought Him.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press). — Playing his murderous game while scores of detectives hunted for him, a fire maniac started five blazes in an apartment house between West 103rd Street and Columbus Circle yesterday morning, burning to death an aged woman and young man, injuring others, rendering many families homeless, and terrorizing a section of the city so that thousands dressed and left their apartments before daybreak.

By the time the third incendiary fire had been started, hundreds of policemen and volunteers were searching for the man who takes mad delight in horrors of night fires in crowded tenaments. Apparently glorying in added excitement of matching his wits against the police, the lunatic started two more fires. He started four of them in the cellars and one in the hallway of a top floor.

HOLLYHOCK HAS GARDEN VALUES

Artists Seldom Paint Scene Without Using Tallest Flowers.

FROM BACKGROUND.

The decorative values of the hollyhock are well recognized by artists. Seldom does one paint a garden scene without using the tallest of flowers. Among gardeners, the hollyhock seems to be valued less highly than it might be. As a cut flower it fails, but as a border plant it is beautiful, imposing, and comes at a time when its beauty is much needed.

Where the brightest red varieties are grown in a crowded clump in the sunniest and dustiest spot in the front yard, the hollyhock cannot be said to add greatly to the comfort of the observer. But the beautiful white and pink varieties with occasional crimsons, grown in the garden border against a background of dark green, make a picture which can seldom be excelled. The salmon pink single hollyhock is one of the finest colors in any flower available to the gardener. So-called black varieties in both the single and double types are really dark reds, very unusual and effective.

Blue is Missing.

Blue is missing in this flower, but it is now blossoming with the last of the blue delphiniums, which alone rival it in height. White hollyhocks should be planted liberally to bring out the colors of other varieties. An occasional red among the white, or towering above a belt of white phlox, will be appreciated, I think even by those who look upon red as a color outlaw.

Hollyhocks are very easy to grow from seed. The single varieties are very hardy and plants will last for years. The double varieties are less hardy, but both types reproduce so readily from dropped seed that a plantation once well established will multiply fast. The chief danger to guard against is overcrowding. The plants should be thinned out each spring. A very rich soil, liberally fertilized, is appreciated.

Borers and caterpillars attack this plant occasionally, but their ravages are seldom serious. Its greatest enemy is the hollyhock rust which cannot be cured, but may be checked by spraying the plant with bordeaux mixture.

Mixture is Suggested.

While many colors have been selected, and may be obtained separately, a mixture of hollyhocks will give a great many colors as yet unselected, from which one may make his own selections, where a striking variety is found. The color range is from the darkest reds to white, through many tones of pink, with only an occasional lemon yellow for variety.

A strain known as Allegheny mixed has a large percentage of fringed flowers, and bears two to four buds at the base of each leaf. It includes single, double and semi-double flowers.

Seeds may be sown now, with good promise of flowers next year. The seedlings are very hardy and seldom require protection over winter.

Petes Trounce Ponies - C. G. E. Blank Cobourg C. N. R. - Detroit Lead League

PETES REGISTER FIFTH VICTORY IN SUCCESSION

Defeat Ponies Saturday 4-1 and Are Chasing Belleville Hard.

TAKE AN EARLY LEAD.

Nick Gallagher For Four in First Two Frames and Easily Hold the Margin.

Keeping up their strenuous drive to get into the Central League play off by winning the second half title the Petes won their fifth game in a row and incidentally made a clean sweep of the Kingston series by beating the Ponies 4 runs to 1 at Riverside Park Saturday.

In doing so the home talent only succeeded in making four hits off the veteran southpaw, Ted Gallagher, but they used three of the limited number to the best possible advantage, bunching two for one counter in the first and interjecting the third where it was of the most value amidst a bunch of complimentaries in the second frame, the innings netting three markers.

After that a single by Jimmy Hall in the fourth was the only hit allowed by the dean of the Kingston pitching staff, whose good work was, however, wasted because of the inability of his teammates to solve the delivery of Al Heckman who held the Ponies to five singles, no two of which came in the same inning and who refused to allow a blow when a run or two would have resulted.

Heckman's mastery over the Ponies is indicated by the fact that the solitary run scored on him Saturday was the only counter that the Kingston crew have been able to nick off his delivery in twenty innings. Heck struck out nine, was at his best when danger threatened and showed his condition by striking out the side in the ninth.

Knotty Lee In Charge.

Coach Knotty Lee was with the Ponies and they fought hard to turn the tide but to no avail. The first half winners have only won one game in their last nine starts, losing all four to the Petes, two out of three to Oshawa and two to Belleville. So far as the Petes are concerned the Ponies can start in winning now if they like.

Saturday's game was not the snappiest of the season by any means but the homesters won and the big crowd enjoyed it. Somerville the Kingston second sacker had a field day, accepting eight chances faultlessly and making the feature play of the day in the first inning when he scooped up Heckman's hard rap with his gloved hand. The Petes pulled off their usual double play, Swanston's work in recovering a bad throw and diving at Batstone to retire him at the plate making the double killing a noteworthy one.

An Early Start.

Nickle, first up for Kingston, fanned. Compeau lofted to Hall in centre. Batstone singled past Johnston but was cut down when he tried to steal second, Holyman taking Swanston's peg.

In the Petes half Holyman fouled to Purvis, Legon singled between Compeau and second and stole the middle station. Swanston rolled to Compeau, Legon going to third. Harrison cracked a beautiful triple to right centre, a home run on any other grounds in the league, Legon of course scoring. It looked like a second run when Heckman drove a vicious rap at Somerville but the Kingston second sacker made a great one-handed pick up to retire the side.

Somerville opened the Kingston second with a clean single to left and Cherry moved him up a peg with a sacrifice. Heckman's toss to Holyman nipped Somerville off second and Daley fanned for the third out.

The second was the Petes big inning. Johnston drew a walk to start with and Collins was hit. When Rickman shot the ball to Purvis trying to pick Collins off first Johnston stole third and Collins purloined second on the next ball. The stage was all set for Jimmy Hall and the youngster made good with a clean single over Compeau's head, Johnston and Collins scoring while Hall dashed to second on the throw to the plate. Turner sacrificed him to third. Holyman walked and when he started to steal Rickman threw to Somerville whose return peg had Hall beaten at the plate but the backstop dropped the ball in tagging the runner, letting the third counter register. Holyman went to third on the play but was thrown out at the plate when Legon hit to Somerville. Legon stole second and was stranded when Swanston rolled to Somerville.

In the third Rickman bounded to Heckman. Purvis was passed but was forced at second on Gallagher's tap to Holyman and Nickle fanned.

For the Petes Harrison struck out, Heckman walked and went to second on a passed ball. Johnston was tossed out by Gallagher and Collins fanned.

Compeau began the fourth with a high fly which Johnston gathered in nicely. Batstone walked. Somerville lifted a lofty foul which Swanston smothered. Cherry's grounder got away from Collins. Daley struck out.

Hall started the Petes off with a single over second. Turner bunted a fly to Batstone in trying to sacrifice but with an easy double play in sight Batstone threw low to first and Hall reached second. He was left there when Holyman struck out and Legon rolled to Batstone.

Kingston's Counter.

The Ponies got their only run of the game and the first counter off Heckman's delivery in twenty-five innings in the fifth and it looked very much like Umpire Thorne missed a third strike on Rickman. As a result the Kingston catcher, who was first up, got a walk instead of being retired and a run resulted. He was forced at second when Heckman deflected Purvis' hard hit ball to Holyman, who made a fast play to get Rickman at second. Gallagher's single to right sent Purvis to third. When Gallagher tried to steal second, Swanston threw him out, Purvis scoring. Nickle fanned.

For the Petes a strike out by Harrison was sandwiched in between rollers to Compeau by Swanston and Heckman, both of whom were thrown out at first.

Kingston had a good chance in the sixth. Compeau got a life on Collins' fumble. Batstone drove a long fly to right which Turner grabbed. Holyman fumbled Somerville's roller long enough to lose Compeau at second. Cherry's rap, a doube play ball if ever one was hit, struck Compeau and there was only one out on the play instead of two Daley hit to Collins who made the play at third where Compeau was called safe. That filled the bases but Heckman was equal to the task, fanning Rickman for the third out.

The Petes were easy. Johnston and Collins rolled to Somerville and Hall to Batstone.

In the seventh Purvis flied to Hall. Harrison made a fine play on Gallagher's rap over first base and Collins ran in and grabbed Nickle's drive.

Turner bounded to Gallagher. Holyman hit to Compeau and was safe when the shortstop's low throw pulled Purvis off the bag. Legon sacrificed but Swanston rolled to Somerville.

The Ponies had their last chance in the eighth. Compeau hit to Harrison who tossed to Heckman, the pitcher covering the bag. Batstone took a fast one in the neck. Somerville singled to left, Legon after a slow start failing to make a shoe string catch. The runners advanced on Heckman's bad throw to second. Cherry hit to Collins who threw him out at first and Batstone was doubled at the plate. Harrison's throw was low but Swanston made a good stop and a quick recovery and completed the play by sliding into Batstone with the ball.

In their half the Petes died in order. Harrison and Heckman rolled to Gallagher and Johnston to Somerville.

Heckman made short work of Kingston in the ninth striking out Daley, Rickman and Rice, the latter batting for Purvis.

Dominion Express Co. Defeated Fontaine's

The Dominion Express outfit defeated Fontaine's Service 7-2 in the Outlaw League at Nicholls Oval Friday evening. Good fielding and hitting featured the contest and the fans were treated to a real game.

Len Johnson did the gunning for Fontaine's and turned in a good game. Jimmy Collings did the receiving for Johnson. Harvey Smith dished them up for the Express crew and pitched good ball holding Fontaine's in check throughout the game. Starr was his battery mate. "Puffer" Halpin was the hitting star, while "Lightning" Cook at first for Fontaine's supplied the fielding features. Fontaines were short a couple of their star men, Grover Halpin and "Doc" Pulkinghorn failing to show up.

ELECTRICS WIN FIRST MIDLAND LEAGUE PLAY-OFF

Hardill Turned C.N.R. of Cobourg Down With Only Two Hits.

AND BLANKED THEM.

Derry and Markey Quit in the Fifth Over Two Decisions.

Canadian Generals defeated Cobourg Canadian Nationals 8-0 in the first game of the Midland League play off at the Exhibition Park on Saturday.

The game was marred by the strenuous objections of several of the Cobourg players to the decisions of base umpire Jackson, which ended in Derry and Markey withdrawing from the game in the fifth inning.

Derry and Hardill were the pitching selections to start the game. Hardill had his opponents completely baffled, V. Butler being the only batter to collect a hit. He struck out six of the Railroaders and those who connected with the pill hit them right at the fielders. Derry held the locals to five hits and one run before the break came in the fifth. Laudymore succeeded him and allowed 7 runs and 5 hits in the three innings he worked.

Four Tight Innings.

The first four innings were fast and exciting. V. Butler singled to start the second. Turpin and Markey swung at three and Rollings rolled to Barrie.

McCarney singled over second with one down and went to second on Ross's sacrifice bunt, but Rose let the third one go by.

The visitors went out in one, two, three order, in the second. After two were out in the electricians' half Turpin missed Turner's roller, but Barrie grounded to Markey.

The Railroaders threatened in their half of the third. Landymore lifted to McCarney and Barrie missed Derry's grounder. Butler got the last Cobourg hit of the game over short and there were two on. Turpin's best was a sharp bounder which Rose corralled. Abbey stepped on second and shot the ball to Dugan for a double play.

Derry got out of a bad hole in this inning. Hardill singled to centre. Primeau ran for him, and took second on Wolfe's sacrifice. Mc Carney singled and stole second. Ross hit to Markey who threw out Primeau at the plate. Rose was hit and the bases were loaded. Butler made a fine catch of Dugan's drive over second to keep the scoring column vacant.

Skitch got on with two out when Rose mussed up his grounder but was forced by Boundy. MacPherson reached second when Boundy dropped his fly. Turner struck out and Barrie rifled an apparently safe drive toward right field. Skitch succeeded in beating it down and beat MacPherson to second by a double play.

Derry and Markey Quit.

The next was the big inning. Hardill struck out. Wolfe doubled and advanced on McCarney's infield out. Ross hit to Rollins and the shortstop's high throw pulled Markey off the bag. There was some kicking at this decision. Rose hit to Markey, who elected to tag Rose instead of touching the bag. Rose dodged under his arm and was called safe. Markey and Derry became so enraged at having two close ones called against them that they left the field. When they refused to return Landymore was called in from right field to the mound and replaced by G. Butler. Manager Payne took over Markey's duties at first. Landymore walked the first man to face him, and MacPherson smashed a hard liner down the left field foul line for two bases. Payne dropped the throw on Turner's grounder, and the fourth run was scored. Barrie wound up the inning by striking out.

The C.N.R. had three men on in the sixth. Turpin was safe on Rose's error. Rollings forced him and Payne forced Rollings. Skitch rolled to MacPherson.

C. G. E. Get Three More.

The locals added three to the tally in their half. Hardill walked and McCarney singled. Ross hit a long fly which G. Butler barely touched, scoring Primeau and McCarney, Ross advanced on Rose's infield out and scored when Dugan singled to short.

Both teams were kept off the path in the seventh. McCarney walked in the eighth and reached third on Rose's second double. Rose hit a long fly to Butler for a sacrifice hit, scoring McCarney. The Cobourgers went out in order in the ninth.

PACKERS SCORED WIN IN DUMMER

Junior C.P.C. Brought Home Bacon, James Getting Both Goals.

SCORE WAS 2 TO 1.

The C.P.C. Juniors journeyed to North Dummer on Saturday afternoon and the best game of the series ended in a win for the Packers by 2 goals to 1, James again scoring the goals.

The Township men won the toss and were soon in the vicinity of Bradley, who saved a stinger from Garveth. Chamber, who played a wonderful game at half-back sent to Foster, who in turn gave to James, whose shot Bryan threw out. H. Jory got under way, and placed nicely to Darling, whose final effort went just wide of the post.

From the goal kick Mitchell and Downer made a dash for the opposing goal, which had a narrow escape. The Dummer men, with the sun behind them, were a source of danger to the Packers' defence.

The game was full of thrills, each goalkeeper having plenty to do to keep the forwards from scoring.

Munro and Darling on the left for the Township men were in great form, and were combining nicely.

Halliday and Oxley were doing their best to send their forwards along. There was, however, no scoring. Half-time arrived with the score sheet blank.

The Second Half.

Upon resuming the Packers had the advantage of the sun and wind. Chambers sent to Carmichael, who tricked first one and then the other, and finished with a great shot, which Bryan threw over the bar. Mitchell took the kick and placed finely.

Bryan fisted out and Garveth sent to Payne, whose centre Darling headed just wide of the mark.

Mitchell went away and centred splendidly, James met the globe and directed it out of the reach of Bryan, and drew first blood for the Packers.

From the centre kick the Township men went at it in earnest, the forwards backed by three good halves were doing their best to get on even terms, Bradley bringing off a great save from one of Munro's torpedoes. Garveth got hold of the ball in midield and transferred to H. Darling, who sent in a great drive, Bradley saved. Garveth met the return and made the game one all.

The game was now very exciting. First one goal and then the other was the order for a time, each team trying to gain the lead. It, however, fell to James, who received on their mettle, and the Packers' from Strudley, and saw an opening, and scored the best goal of the game. This put the Township men goal had some narrow escapes. Once Munro hit the post with a terrific shot, and again met the rebound and Bradley saved by throwing himself full length at the ball.

The game was fiercely contested until the call of time, leaving the Packers winners of a very fast game by 2 goals to 1.

The visitors were entertained to refreshments after the game, and were delighted with the way they were treated.

CORINTHIANS LOSE.

London Soccer Team Defeated at Montreal 4-1.

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—Unaccustomed to playing in mid-summer weather, handicapped by having given themselves insufficient time to find their land legs after the sea voyage, the famous Corinthian amature soccer football team of London went down to defeat by the score of four goals to one in the opening game of their trans-Canada tour here Saturday afternoon. Six thousand ardent soccer fans assembled to welcome the Englishmen, when they faced the all-star Montreal eleven which sent them to disaster. The game was under the patronage of Sir Arthur Currie, G.C. M.G., principal of McGill University who kicked off the ball.

PETES INVADE BELLEVILLE NOW

Solomon Outfit Journey to Quinte City Wednesday For Important Battle.

SOME BASEBALL GOSSIP

One of the most important games in the second half series is that scheduled for Wednesday when the Petes invade Belleville. The two rivals have been making a hectic race throughout the second half and today are even in the matter of wins with six each while the Petes have lost one more game than the Oulette-Mills gang. Belleville are playing in Oshawa this afternoon and a win will leave them still one game in front while a loss will result in the Petes and the Trunks going into Wednesday's game tied for the leadership.

After today's game the two teams have a home and home series with each other while Belleville have to play Kingston twice and the Petes have two games with Oshawa. The League standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Belleville	6	1	.857
Peterboro	6	2	.750
Oshawa	3	5	.375
Kingston	1	8	.811

Saturday's game attracted fans from all over the district. Among the visitors were Vernon Weir and Alex Meagher of the Belleville Club, Micky Murray and Harry Morrison of the Oshawa team, J. G. Nott of Oshawa, Secretary of the Central Ontario League, A. C. Kimmel of Cobourg, former president of the Central loop and Ford Moynes of the Lindsay Post.

Walter Thorne who umpired behind the bat Saturday has been ill since spring. He was to have been one of the regular umpires during the season but his physical condition kept him out of the game. He is still far from well.

The Petes are well ahead of Kingston on the season's record with five wins over the Ponies in eight starts.

Fans who have been raving over Oulette's pitching—and the Belleville right hander has sure hung up a great record—should not fail to notice that Heckman since he had his arm treated at the end of the first half has been establishing a mark that will take some shooting to displace. The figures show that in the 6s innings he has worked in the second half Oulette has yielded 30 runs. Heckman's record for the same period is 14 runs in 65 innings. Twenty-eight of the last twenty-nine innings the Peterboro twirler has pitched have been scoreless.

One of the five hits made by Kingston Saturday was purely a technical one. A grounder from Cherry's bat hit Compeau as he ran from second to third, giving the batter a hit under the rules, although the roller would have likely resulted in a double play via Holyman and Johnston.

Gallagher did not seem to have much stuff Saturday but the Petes had a great deal of difficulty in connecting with his delivery for hits. Hall, Harrison and Legon were the only three to come through, the first named having two out of the four safeties.

The Petes waited until the eighth inning to register their usual double killing.

SHORTAGE OF ARSENIC.

Greater use of arsenic in the fight against the boll weevil among cotton growers has produced a shortage of this insecticide and higher prices for the rest of the country. Chemists say they can make better profits from calcium arsenate, for cotton fields, than lead arsenate.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN THE QUAKER-THISTLE SOCCER

Richmond Had the Hat Trick While Quakers Were a Goal Down at Half Time.

SCORE—3 GOALS EACH.

The Second Half Was Worth While Watching—Wyllie Equalized in Solo Play.

After battling in a boiling sun for ninety minutes play, the Quakers and the Thistles finished three goals each in one of the cleanest and most sportsmanlike games played this season, at Nichol's Oval, before a good attendance Saturday. Mr. Mitchell handled the whistle in his usual amicable manner.

The Thistle won the toss and compelled the Quakers to face the sun. No sooner was the ball in play than Rae frustrated a dangerous raid initiated by Logan and Wyllie. Jackson relieved to McPhail on the right where he made progress against the Quakers defence and giving Pellow a hard shot to handle. Burgess trapped the return, travelled down into the corner where an oblique shot had Quakers' goalie in difficulty and conceding a fruitless corner-kick which Honor punted clear.

Nine Players—Now Ten

After 15 minutes give and take, Reid made his first appearance this season and capped his introduction by missing a capable running shot that gave the Quakers a fright.

From an accurate cross by Burgess into the goal, Richmond feinted his method of shot, turned quickly around to meet the ball with his right foot and open the scoring with a well-placed drive out by Pellow's reach.

From a foul-throw against Anderson—who was playing right half—it looked dangerous for the Thistle but Rae met the drive as quickly as he punted clear up to McPhail. He beat two men rapidly with clever dribbling, until he outwitted Willshaw, then sent aacross to Richmond who made it two for his team.

Scoring Caused Excitement

Exchanges were even, thereafter, until a solo run down the wing by Williams was not prevented but to the Thistles' surprise he landed the ball inside the uprights, from 15 yards out, to give the Quaker's a tally.

Richmond Had Hat Trick

On mid-field play, Craig sent Mayette down to the Thistle goal on a ground pass. The outside right got the better of the argument with Ross, he lifted into goal where Anderson running into his own goal, headed back into play, Wilson tested Curtis, then Williams found the Thistle goal still putting up a sterling defence but had to admit defeat as Joe Mayette, lying uncovered, equalized amidst great excitement. Craig and Jackson battled out the decision by close dribbling. Eventually Jackson walked away with the sphere, passed out to McPhail, who caught it smartly and without any dilly-dallying left Richmond an opening which he accepted. After waiting and manoeuvring for position, let drive for goal which was converted when Pellow found that there was too much weight behind it. Play was very keen for the rest of the first half-period and the Thistle with ten men led by three goals to two.

Half-Time

On resuming, the Thistles trotted out eleven players, Hutton who made his appearance on the line just before half-time in Thistle uniform completed the Jags eleven.

Beautiful Combination

The inclusion of "Pete" made the play more fascinating and interesting when they indulged in the Scots style of close passing which was beautiful to watch, while Metcalfe and Craig realiated in smart tackles The game was very even, also clean and fast and one of the best witnessed at the Ova for some time.

Jackson Shadowed Wyllie

While Craig was hanging on Richmond like a lach, Jackson at centre-half, for the Thistles outshone any player on the field. His timely checking, close dribbling and tackling had Wyllie, the Quakers, sharp shooter, shadowed throughout the full ninety minutes. Consequently the Quakers' centre, gained possession about 20 yards out, kept hammering away in his usual hustling method, shot the ball forward between the two defence men, jumped quickly to rattle the ball past Curtiss for the equalizer.

During the last fifteen minutes, both teams tried all they knew to gain the verdict—the full two points—but all the players could show, was the clean sportsmanship that has made the soccer game the universal sport in every clime. No doubt, it was great relief to many players, as well as spectators, when Mr. Mitchell blew his whistle announcing time-up, with the score standing at three goals each. Full-time: Quakers 3; Thistles 3.

Goal-scorers: Richmond 3; Quakers: —Williams, Mayette and Wyllie.

Thistles—Curtis goal; Rae and Anderson, backs; Reid, Jackson and Ross, half-backs; McPhail, Hutton, Richmond A. Williams and Burgess forwards.

Quakers: —Pellow goal; Honor and Wilshaw backs; Metcalfe Craig and T. Logan half-backs; Metcalfe, G. Logan, Wyllie, Wilson and T. Williams, forwards.

Referee: Mr. Mitchell.

LOCKWORKS AND BANKERS MEET

Good Game Promised in the Mercantile League Tomorrow Night.

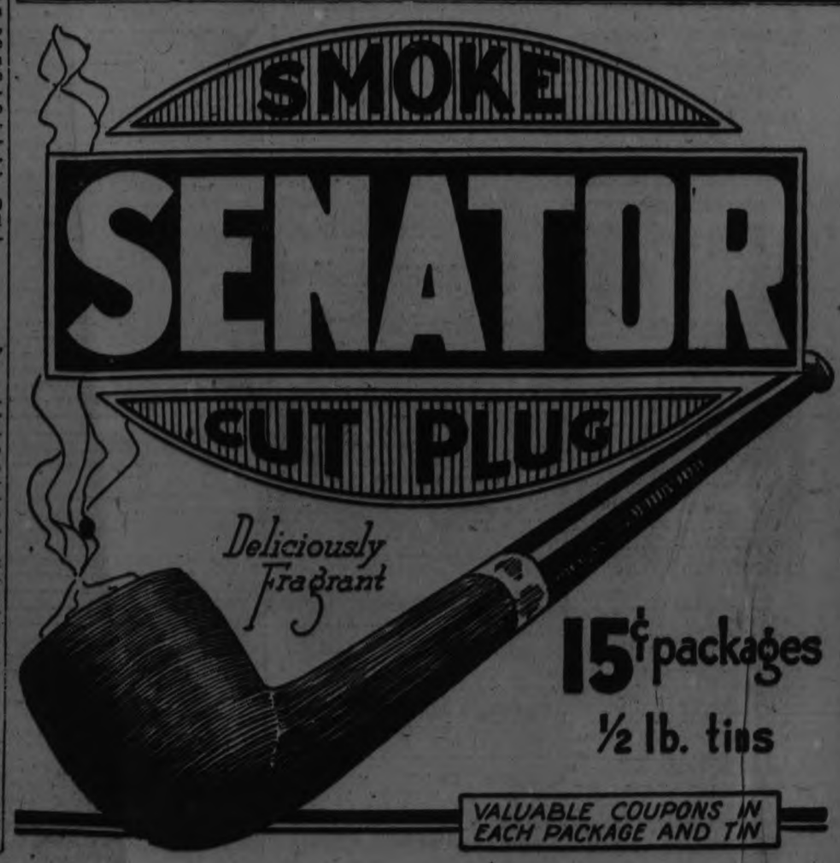
The Lockworks and Bankers will meet tomorrow night in a Mercantile League game at Riverside Park at 6.00 p.m. A good game is promised the fans on this occasion. This will be the Bankers first game in the second section of the league. They are out to cop the second half honors and will try and pull off a win. Whitehouse is expected to do the heaving for the money men. With the Lakeviews in possession of the Junior championship and no games but exhibition fixtures in sight, Whitehouse will likely do the mound work in tomorrow's game to keep in shape. The Lockworks cleaned up the first half and are well away in the second. They will likely use their new left hand pitching sensation who turned the snappy Westclox aggregation back last Tuesday night. It should be a good game.

COGS VS. GEORGE ST.

Importan East Peterborough League Game This Evening.

Not a fan in town would wager on the outcome of tonight's clash between George Streets and the Cogs.

The Cogs, who are last year's champions succumbed to the twirling of Armstrong in the early part of the season. It was their only defeat this season and they have won steadily ever since. In their last appearance, the Cogs seemed to be made to order for Armstrong and the Church troop are confident that they can duplicate the performance tonight.



TIGERS REGAIN FIRST POSITION

Big Sunday Crowd Saw Detroit Beat Yankees—Lead By Point.

RUTH FLOPPED.

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press).—One of the largest crowds that ever attended a championship game in the West, saw Detroit regain the League leadership yesterday by defeating New York, 5 to 2, while St. Louis was winning from Washington. The 42,712 persons who paid to see the game, made ground rules necessary, and numerous doubles into the crowd resulted. Ruth struck out twice, grounded once and got a double in four times at bat. BILLY EVANS SAYS

Is the crouch system used by baseball catchers all wrong?

A famous track coach of a big eastern college thinks so. He has some convincing arguments to back up his contention.

The coach is of the opinion that every major league catcher could add several years to his career and save his speed if other methods were used.

Most major league catchers are slow of foot. The outstanding stars are no exception.

Let two players of equal speed, one a catcher, the other an infielder or outfielder, break into the league at the same time and the catcher will show the wear and tear much sooner.

In five years of play the catcher will slow up a step on the other player. Over a period of 10 years he will be from two to three steps slower.

There is a reason.

The famous track coach insists it can all be traced back to the crouch system used by the catchers, the practice of squatting on every ball pitcher, prior to giving the signal.

"Nothing could possibly be worse for the muscles used in running than the "squat-on-every-ball habit used by all catchers," says the track mentor.

"It is an exercise that tends to tighten the muscles of the legs rather than to make them pliable, a condition so much desired for speed.

"I realize the crouch system is employed to hide the signals of the catcher. However, there is no reason why a catcher could not work out a set of signals that could be flashed to the pitcher from an upright position, yet escape detection.

"Nine out of every ten catchers are slow of foot. If they have speed when they start their careers as catchers they soon lose it.

"There must be a reason. Catchers do only one thing differently from other players, squat on every ball pitched. I am positive that is the cause."

The argument of the famous coach sounds logical.

It is worthy of a trial but probably will never get it.

....Baseball players are prone to follow precedent. Catchers have used this crouch system since the introduction of the game. In all probability will continue it.

HERE AND THERE

PILLS.

Rev. O. J. Gary, brother of Judge Gary who presides over U. S. Steel, arrives from Chile. He has been a Methodist minister for 41 years. He says he has had great success with "divine healing" among the natives—anoints them with oil and prays.

The scientific mind may scoff at the idea, even though it requires colossal egotism to place the power of pills ahead of the power of the Almighty. Skeptical science, however, is based on vanity.

CHURCH.

A skyscraper temple—a church built into a big building that will rent space—will be erected in New York City. The idea is to make the church self-supporting, with a sure and regular income from rents. It is not an absolutely new idea, for many churches have funds invested. But it is an idea worth copying.

Business men, who belong to churches, by contributing their time and ability to similar projects could do a thousand times more for Christianity than by merely dropping money into a collection plate. Some may object to a church havin commercial relations. But surely it is better than church poverty or even minor difficulty in making both ends meet. The pity is, that all business is not controlled by the Christian religion.

HOW

New Yorks' skyscraper church is being financed by the sale of five per cent bonds in small denominations, in addition to a two million dollar loan by an insurance company.

Twelve thousand people attended a recent open-air meeting at which bonds were sold. A committee of 100 business men has charge of the pep-up campaign.

They find the bonds sell easily. Buyers feel that they are investing in eternity. The extra five per cent while here on earth is not without additional appeal.

WIND-BAGS

Old documents are found, dealing with the famous banquet given to Charles Dickens by newspapermen. That was in 1868, and Delmonico charged $15 a plate, fabulous price for those days.

The records show that Dickens talked himself hoarse and that 14 long speeches were delivered by editors. Their oratory resembled their editorials.

Brevity is the rule today. More than ever before, people recognize that time is money—or imagine it is. We may have all eternity ahead of us, but deliver us from 15 long speeches at one banquet. People formerly could stand it, liquor being avaiabe.

SHORTAGE

Two million people have left the farms and flocked to the cities since 1920, the Department of Agriculture estimates. It is a natural movement, resulting from over-production of crops among other things. And it is gradually restoring the balance of prosperity between farming and city industry.

But there's a grave danger that the shifting from farms to cities will go too far and imperil the food supply. A shortage of farm labor already is reported by the government the supply lately being only 92 farm hands for every 100 needed.

KISSES

The safest time to kiss is midnight. The most dangerous time is early in the morning, germs having accumulated during the night. As the hours roll by, germs are gradually eliminated from their favorite nest—mouth and lips. Even at four in the afternoon, kissing is still risky.

This important information is supplied by Dr. Donald B. Armstrong, of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

A conference of physicians recently classified kissing as an "extra hazardous occupation." Most people believe that the prize is worth the peril.

GUARDS

A doctor, discussing the 40,000 Red Cross nurses in America, says: "They hold the front line trenches against disease."

Nurses and physicians are the real "standing army." They guard the public inst a danger far more formidable than military invasion. Bacteria, plant life cousins of toadstools, are our greatest enemies. We are so busy killing each other when we're not recuperating for another fight, and so engrossed in legitimate stealing (trying to get something for nothing or for less than we offer in exchange) that we have little time for the greatest enemy, disease. Proving that we're still in the savage state.

NARCOTICS.

Americans are steadily becoming more nervous and restless, comments Dr. Oliver T. Osborne of Yale University. "The enormous increase in the use of tobacco shows the desire for narcotics." Pandemic nervousness, he points out, is especially noticeable in the last decade, and it got well under way about 25 years ago.

It is more than coincidence, that nervousness began to become a national malady about the time the "efficiency expert" arrived on the job. Driven too fast, beyond endurance, people naturally go to pieces.

The Drug Traffic is a result, not a cause. It's the reaction from high-speed living and work.

SOFT ROLL.

If you are not the type to wear tailored effects you can find many interesting coats with soft roll collars that are much more flattering and just as effective.

Winter is the commonest season for burglary.

WASH DAY NOT BLUE MONDAY

They Have a Co-operation Laundry of Their Own in Wisconsin.

RIVER FALLS, Wis., Aug. 4.—Wash day is not "blue Monday" to the farmers' wives of St. Croix county, Wisconsin.

They have a co-operative laundry of their own, which has just completed 10 years of successful operation—so successful that women's clubs from all sections of the country are asking how it's done.

Originally the laundry served only the immediate vicinity of River Falls. Now the adjoining rural communities and 10 nearby villages have their dirty clothes collected, washed and returned with the regularity that prevails in a big city.

And it all came about as the result of a debate in a woman's club.

$10 a Share.

Dirty clothes took so much time to wash that members of the Home Culture Club, an organization of farm women, decided something should be done about it.

A canvass was made of the surrounding farming community. Stock was sold at $10 a share. At first, the project was tried out in conjunction with a co-operative creamery, but the business took such a spurt that a separate enterprise became necessary.

After the first year the project was a success. The co-operative laundry, still owned by the farmers' wives, employs 10 girls and three men. It has an average of 477 customers and furnished same-day service to hotels and restaurants in Hudson, Hammond, Ellsworth, Cumberland, New Richmond, Baldwin, Spring Valley and Prescott.

Three-Day Service.

Laundry trucks, operated on a commission basis, gather up the dirty clothes from the farmers' wives each week and bring the garments back within three days, washed and ironed. a dry-cleaning department also is operated.

The college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, awarded it a prize of $300 this year because of its success in lightening the burden of the farm home.

The institution is a model in every respect, equipped with latest machinery. It has paid off all indebtedness with the exception of $1200. It manages to pay off about $1,000 a year.

Instead, you may specify that the Company shall send direct to your daughter—regularly—each month—as long as she lives—a cheque for the income which the insurance money and the interest earned thereon will provide.

Ancestor worship

THE Chinese pray to their ancestors. But they do more than that. They allow themselves to be guided by family tradition in their every thought and action. The principal difficulty facing the introduction of modern improvements into China is the universal objection: "This is not as our fathers did."

Imagine saying that we did not want electricity because our forefathers were satisfied with candles.

Though we never went as far as the Chinese, our conservatism in the past often went to considerable lengths. Think of the telephone, of the motor car. How much encouragement did they get at first?

Advertising more than anything else has made of us a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

Advertising today is as necessary as electricity, sanitation and rapid transit. It is more than the system by which we are kept informed of every new improvement that is to our advantage. It is the catalogue wherein, every day, all manner of articles are listed for us with their individual advantages.

Read the advertisements. Be guided by them. They will help you in making your selections. They will save you money.

To buy the new is to progress--to learn of it first is to read advertising

ROSALIE EVANS WAS KILLED BY UNKNOWN THUGS

She Was Widow of the Former President of the Bank of London in Mexico.

GRAVE SITUATION.

Dispute Regarding Her Affairs Led to Withdrawal of British Charge D'Affaires.

MEXICO CITY, Aug 4.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Rosalie Evans, formerly of Brownsville, Texas, and widow of the former President of the Bank of London, in Mexico, an Englishman, was shot dead in the vicinity of Texmelucan, State of Rucbla, on Saturday evening when on the road to her hacienda. The slayers are unknown but are believed to be agrarians, who have been spurred on by anti-foreign agitators in the region. John Strauss, German, manager of Mrs. Evans' Hacienda, was with her at the time of the attack. He was seriously wounded by the assailants who escaped with pay rolls of 25,000 pesos, which he was carrying.

Mrs. Evans recently came up in connection with th calleged attempts by Mexican troops to seize her great estate in Mexico. It was reported that large portions of arable lands belonging to her had been taken over and that a great many of her livestock had been driven off. The fight of Mrs. Evans against the alleged attempts of the Mexicans to seize her property was taken up by H. A. C. Cummings, British Charge D'Affairs in Mexico City and an acrimonious dispute between him and the Mexican authorities on behalf of Mrs. Evans resulted in the government remanding that he be withdrawn.

Serious Situation

News of the murder of Mrs. Rosalie Evans in Mexico, created a grave impression in the official circles here to-day. The foreign office immediately communicated with Washington for the details of the tragedy.

THREE KILLED IN A MINE EXPLOSION

Gas Explosion Took Place When Only Four Men Were in Mine.

DRUMHELLIER, Alta., Aug. 4. —(Canadian Press).—Three men were killed in a gas explosion at the Inland Mine on Saturday. They are: James Nicoll, pit boss of Edmonton; Harry Dehawke, outside boss, and Griffith Richards, of Calgary.

Together with Malcom Morrison, they were the only ones in the mine. Morrison was working away from the other three, and when he came out of the mine about five o'clock to find that the others had not returned he went to look for them. He was almost overcome by gas, and was hardly able to get back to the top, but succeeded in raising an alarm, and about 7.25 the rescue crew began to gather. The bodies were found in the north entry, 1,400 to 1,800 feet from the Macentyre, and indicated that the men must have been on their way back. Dehawke was found about 20 feet from the others with his jaw broken, but otherwise unmarked. The others were somewhat scarred by the explosion. This explosion which caused the men's deaths was small and local, as Malcom Morrison, who was in the mine at the time, did not mention it.

BARN AND CROP LOST IN FLAMES

East Emily Barn Destroyed By Fire of Unknown Origin Yesterday Afternoon.

WHEAT AND HAY BARN

OMEMEE, August 4. — Fire destroyed one of the larges barns in East Emily yesterday afternoon with implements and crop, consisting of this year's hay, four loads of fall wheat and about three tons of last season's hay.

The barn was located on a farm two miles west of Fowler's Corners, owned by Mr. Carman Westlake, and rented by Mr. Wm. Harrison.

The barn is 120 feet in length and a fine structure. It has not been learned whether or not the loss is covered by insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Westlake were away at the time of the fire, which occurred about 3 p.m.

FURNITURE SAVED.

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 4.—Summer residents and tourists at Rice Lake were attracted last night, by the soaring flames from the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walton located near Gore's Landing.

The house was a frame structure and the fire brightly radiated the surrounding district and sky, when theblaze reached its peak.

Mr. Walton and those who came to his rescue managed to save a good part of the furniture. Part of the loss is covered by insurance.

Mr. Walton is a farmer of Hamilton township and well known throughout the district.

BOUNDARY QUESTION.

Several Important Discussions Took Place This Morning.

LONDON, Aug. 4. — (Canadian Press).—Several important discussions on the Irish boundary problem took place this morning, but it was understood no change was brought about in the situation despite the apparent desire to arrive at an understanding of all parties to the controversy. The Marquis of Londonderry presided at the meeting of the North Ireland leaders at Londonderry House after the Marquis had visited the British Government officials, but no statement was made on the result of the conversation.

Miraculously, the occupants, who were pinned under the car, broke the glass and got out although the water was waist deep.

ROTARY IS TOLD OF BIG MACHINES BUILT BY C. G. E.

Story of Construction of Generators Related Today by Mr. L. D. W. Magee.

CHAUTAUQUA ARTISTS

Miss Betty Booth and Professor Brant Contribute to Programme.

The members of the Peterborough Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon to-day had the pleasure not only of hearing a most instructive paper by Mr. L. W. D. Magee, of the Canadian General Electric Company, but also of listening to several of the entertainers who are taking part in the second day's programme at the Dominion Chautauqua. The result was a very enjoyable meeting.

Mr. Magee told the Rotarians the story of the construction by the C. G. E. Company of the two huge generators built for the Queenston plant of the Hydro-Electric Commission, which when designed in 1922 were the largest ever planned, and are still larger than any other generator but one.

His description of the generators and of the difficulties that had to be overcome in their construction aroused in his hearers a deep sense of appreciation of the triumph accomplished by local engineers and workmen.

A ne widea of the nature of the task so splendidly carried out was obtained as Mr. Magee gave the statistics that showed the vast quantities of materials entering into the construction of these huge machines, and pointed out the infinite care that had to be taken in testing this material and in providing for every possible contingency. When it was realised that each of these machines cost a half-million dollars, the necessity for precaution could be seen.

At the conservative estimate of 70,000 h.p., each of these machines supplied energy enough to lift weight of nearly two pounds the distance from the earth to the moon every minute, and each saved the importation of 246,000 tons of coal a year, figures that showed the size of the generators.

Rotarian Lee Barnes, the speaker said, had had a big share in the successful completion of this great task.

Miss Betty Booth, of the Chautauqua company, sang two delightful little songs in fine voice, and with a full appreciation of their humour, while Professor Brant, also of the Chautauqua, gave as a charming piano solo one of Brahms' Hungarian dances.

Sidney Landon, who is to give an impersonative revue of great literary masters at the Chautauqua to-night, and who although now a resident of Cleveland, Ohio, was born in Kingston, brought the greetings of the Cleveland Rotary Club, of which he is a member.

Referring to the successful International convention in Toronto in June, Rotarian Landon declared that the choral singing had impressed the visitors as one of the big features.

Rotarians will hold a field day at the Boys' Camp on Thursday, and a large delegation of members will make the trip to Clear Lake.

Rotarian George A. Gillespie announced that the Chautauqua company had arranged a Sunday meeting last night, at which a silver collection, to be divided between the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, had been taken, and as a result he was pleased to hand over $34.00 for the Crippled Children's Fund.

President J. W. McDermid was in the chair at to-day's meeting.

Young Girl Fell Off Bicycle and Under Huge Gravel Truck.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 4. —(Canadian Press.)—Rosetta Beattie, fifteen years of age, was instantly killed on St. David's hill this morning when she was struck by a huge motor truck full of crushed stone. The girl, who is a daughter of Mrs. Kate Beattie, of this city, was working at the Dominion Canners at St. Davids, and was going to work on a bicycle.

When going down the hill some girls spread out and to avoid them she drove in front of a truck which was coming up the hill. One wheel went over her head, killing her instantly. The trick was driven by J. Stout of St. Davids. Eye-witnesses declare the accident was unavoidable on his part.

CHILDISH PACT UNFIT TO PRINT

Judge Caverly Has Intimate Pledge Between Slayers Suppressed.

WOULD DO IT AGAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press.)— Dr. Wm. Healy, Boston physiciatrist, testifying as a defense alienist to-day at a hearing to determine the punishment for Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., for the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks, asserted "an incredibly absurd childish compact bound the boys together and had a bearing on the ultimate acts of the youths." Dr. Healy testified both boys had told him that they would again go through with the Franks murder if their associations and conditions were the same. He said Loeb told him he "found nothing to deter him," and that Leopold had said he would commit the crime again, "if it gave him pleasure." As to the conditions of the "childish compact" which had influenced the later lives of Leopold and Loeb, nothing was said in open court, Judge R. Caverly ruling with Dr. Healy that that matter was unprintable and had him recite it to the court stenographers for record.

HAWAIIAN MOUNTAIN PEAK IS WETTEST SPOT KNOWN

On Lonely Wind-Swept Waialeale the Rain Falls Incessently, and the Government Guage Records the Annual Average for Eleven Years of 455 Inches.—C

Meteorologists differ as to the location of the wettest spot on earth. The view of one of them is that the dampest point is on the Island of Kauai, in the territory of Hawaii. The expert is Lawrence Hite Daingerfield, meteorologist of the United States Weather Bureau at Honolulu.

Cherrapunji, in the Khasi Hills of Assam, India, has long been thought to be wetter than any other place. It has an annual normal rainfall of 424 inches. Dr. G. C. Simpson, lecturing before the Royal Meteorological Society of London, had this to say about Cherrapunji:

"The air, normally from the south during the monsoon or wet season, leaves the Bay of Bengal practically saturated. It then crosses deltaic Bengal, which at this time of the year is one great swamp. This air current strikes the Khasi Hills, in Assam, at right angles. The hills near Cherrapunji present almost a vertical face to the air current, which has a rise almost 4,000 feet. Such a rapid rise of a warm saturated current to this height, when it is blowing with a velocity of many miles an hour, causes a heavy deposition of water on top of the hills. The annual rainfall of 424 inches is the greatest recorded on the face of the earth, although there may be places in the Western Ghats where the rainfall is locally heavier. Practically the whole of this great amount falls dufing the monsoon."

In the Hawaiian Group.

Mr. Daingerfield, in an official report, challenges the right of Cherrapunji to call itself the world's wettest spot. He tells of "a chain of mountains, largely submarine, with summits rising to 13,000 feet, the remarkable old crescent string of volcanic islands now embraced in Hawaii Territory." Here the rainfall varies astonishingly.

In 1912 only 2½ inches of rain fell near Puu Hele, on the western side of the Island Maui, at an elevation of 90 of Puu Kukui, at an elevation of about 5,000 feet, and only eight miles from Puu Kukui, 561 inches were gauged.

The Honolulu meteorologist describes a trip over the Hawaiian group. At Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, secotid largest city of the Territory, he found that 140 inches is the normal measurement for a year. Going up the windward coast of the island to Hakalau, he discovered that 274 inches are ganged there annually, while up in the Kohala Hills of the island he found a measurement of 277 inches in a normal year, which is the greatest on the Island of Hawaii.

He crossed to the Island of Maui, and in the Keanae Valley was told that 253 inches are caught there in a year. He went on to another valley and discovered that another inch had been added to the catch at this place, and finally made his way to the northwest corner of the island, where, on the summit of Puu Kukui, he found a record fainfall of 561 inches in 1918, although the average did not equal that of Cherrapunji. He knew that the Islands of Lanai and Molokai were too dry to contain the spot for which he was seeking, while the Island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated, shows an average rainfall of only 232 inches at the place of greatest rainfall.

He then visited the Island of Kaui and found a mountain crest almost constantly hidden in the clouds where the MOREI THS rainfall for eleven years had averaged 455 inches. He offers this point as displacing Cherrapunji. Members of the Geological Survey endeavored to photograph the spot, but found the task almost impossible. The many failures were due to the fact that the peak is under a thick blanket of clouds from one year's end to another, except for rare moments, and even then the light is dull and the air saturated with moisture.

Almost Perpetual Rain.

Explaining the heavy rainfall at this point, the Honolulu weather man says: "Swept by the trade winds and occasional konas (south winds), Kauai, the so-called "Garden Isle," stands as the northernmost of the main islands of the Hawaiian group. Her mountains and tablelands, rising quite abruptly from 3,000 to 5,000 feet, have been deeply eroded through the ages, enriching the valleys and plains. Although Kauai is only thirty miles in diameter, she has many large streams and rivers which, although of no great length, are indicative of the heavy rainfall. The rivers all radiate from a small focus near the centre of the island, which, in itself, is highly suggestive of a place of phenomenal moisture when one considers the small area involved and the vast amount of water, at first leaping, and later drifting, toward the sea whence it rose."

Chronicling a trip to Mt. Waialeale, as this peak is called, Mr. Daingerfield says: "Aside from the migrant plovers, winging their weary way from distant Alaska to this chill haven, animate life is absent on the wind-swept, cloud-racked crest of Mt. Waialeale. A ghost of a sun peeps through the mist, hovering about with its penetrating chill; the feeble rays fall upon an object made of copper, standing near a United States Geological Survey plate bearing an elevation mark of 5,075 feet. This is the famous Mr. Waialeale 900-inch rain gauge."

This rain gauge is believed b United States Geological Survey to be the largest in the world. It has a funnel-shaped receiver six inches in diameter, and a round container 26.8 inches in diameter and 45 inches high. One inch of water in the container equals twenty inches caught in the receiver, which, multiplied by the 45 inches in height, makes up the 900-inch content of the gauge.

"It is not a pleasant habitation, this summit of old rain-washed Waialeale," says Mr. Daingerfield. "Only at long intervals can one see the bottom of the 4,000-foot drop to the basin of the North Wailua River. Tumultuous gusts sweep up through the chimney, chilling and condensing the vapor as it rises, to rush by one at the summit like white streamers. Standing in this wild place, a plaything of the elements, one receives a shock as of being doused with ice-water.

"Here the trade winds sweep in from across the broad Pacific with scarcely a break throughout the year, rushing up the Wailua Valley, burdened with vapor from the sea. They enter the basin at the foot of the mountain, strike this natural battlement at right angles, and are forced upward with stupendous speed. On its rise of 4,000 feet to the summit the mass of rushing air is cooled at the rate of one degree for every 186 feet, until the clouds appear, and then more slowly, but sufficiently for the almost incessant rain, the 'rippling water,' which gives Mt. Waialeale its name."

LONDON HAS ROUND ROBIN

Close on the heels of the Walloon celebration here recently of the founding of New York, comes word from London of a 300-year-old Walloon "Round Robin" in the museum of the Public Record Office in Chancery Lane. Since the tercentenary festivities on this side of the Atlantic, the document has attracted the attention of tourists and other visitors.

The London Times records that the round robin is on a large sheet of time-worn paper. "Fifty-five signatures, most symmetrically arranged, surround a comparatively small central portion, on which, in French, the signatories 'promise my Lord Ambassador of the Most Serene King of Great Britain to go and inhabit in Virginia land under his Majesty's obedience, as soon as conveniently may be, and then under conditions to be carried out is the articles we have communicated to the said Ambassador, and not otherwise, on the faith of which we have unanimously signed this present with our sign manual.'"

It was Jesse de Forest, an ancestor of Robert de Forest, described as "a dyer in Leyden, a Walloon, and an ardent friend of Protestants persecuted in their own countries," under whose inspiration these early colonists "sought permission, first of King James of England, to settle a colony of Walloons and French in Virginia." Failing in that effort, de Forest secured the help he wanted from the Dutch West India Company.

"The signature of Jesse de Forest is plainly to be read on the round robin, where he is described as 'teinturier.' Each of his companions is similarly explicit, while on the outer rim of the circle their domestic condition is set forth, some having wives and children, others being merely 'hommes a marier,' that is to say, marrying men. The particulars are so clear that the number of individuals affected by the promise can be totalled—55 men, 41 women, 129 children, and two French servants —227 in all. Among the men are medical students, apothecaries and surgeons, students in theology, drapers, hatters, laborers, wool carders, glass makers, leather dressers, musicians, printers and brewers."

While Jesse de Forest was not among the first families arriving in New York Harbor on the ship Nieu Nederland, sent out by the West India Company of Holland, many of the names appearing on de Forest's round robin were found later among the original settlers of New Amsterdam. Jesse de Forest died somewhere along the coast of South America and never reached the land for which he started.

One of the ceremonies at the Walloon-Huguenot celebration was the unveiling of a monument in Battery Park to the first Walloon voyagers to America.

RED.

Hysterical anti-Red activity is waning, reports American Civil [illegible] Union. That's apparent. The day may even return when people can speak their minds in public, before crowds, without fear of interference by police or self-appointed guardians of Uncle Sam.

Oratory is the radical's safety valve. That's all most of them want to do—talk. No real danger, in our Dominion, until the safety valve of free speech is tied down. Average "radical" is just a volcano of words.

Two years have passed since that sad day.

Her memory is as fresh to-day
As in the hour she passed away.

No one knows how much I miss her
No one knows the bitter pain
I have suffered since I lost her,
Life has never been the same.

In my heart her memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true.
There is not a day dear Jeannie

GERMANS SIT IN AT CONFERENCE ON DAWES PLAN

Evacuation of the Ruhr Expected to be Main Point of Their Objections.

MEETING TODAY

Premier McDonald to Welcome Delegates at Downing Street Residence.

LONDON, August 5 (Canadian Press). — German opposition to the programme for launching the Dawes plan, which the Inter-Allied Conference has ready to lay before Chancellor Marx and his colleagues at noon to-day, is not expected to be directed, in the main, against the actual agreements arrived at in the Downing Street conference room during the last three weeks, but rather against an issue which has been kept entirely outside of the conference—that of military evacuation of the Ruhr.

According to a high United States authority there are but two points in the programme to which the Germans can raise even a technical objection. One is the extension of deliveries in kind of coke, dyes, and coal beyond the Versailles Treaty date of 1930. The other is arbitration of the question whether financial manoeuvres are taking place in Germany to defeat the functioning of the Dawes plan.

Objections Unjustifiable.

On technical grounds, both of theseobjections would have to be considered, according to the expert, who is considered to have greatest knowledge of the Dawes plan. Extension of deliveries in kind beyond 1930 were anticipated neither in the treaty nor in the Dawes plan. Under the new regime, however, such deliveries are to be paid for by the funds of the Agent-General and not by Germany as heretofore, so that the German objections could hardly be justified, according to the American authorities.

Similarly technical objection could be raised on the other point, but this would be an admission that financial manoeuvres to frustrate the provisions of the Dawes plan are going to take place in Germany.

Despite the absence of moral grounds for objection to the work of the inter-allied conference, the Americans believe these two points will be raised by Dr. Stresemann, the German Foreign Minister, unless an agreement is reached between the Allies and Germany on the question of military evacuation of the Ruhr. If a satisfactory settlement is forthcoming on this issue, the belief prevails that the Germans will not mention other technical issues.

Guests of British.

The German delegation arriving in London to-day will be quartered in one of London's finest hotels as the guests of the British Government.

They will proceed to the official residence of Premier MacDonald at No. 10 Downing Street at noon for a plenary session of th Inter-Allied Conference.

Mr. MacDonald will open the session with an address of welcome, to which it is expected the Germans will reply.

The documents which the conference has drawn up will be formally presented to the Germans for their consideration, after which the conference will adjourn to reassemble again in plenary session on Wednesday, when the Germans will be requested to state their views of the programme which the conference has adopted for inaugurating the new reparations era.

At a meeting of the chief delegates on Monday little progress apparently was made towards a solution of the Ruhr railway problem. This, however, has been considered a minor issue.

DEATH DEMANDS ANGER DARROW

Chief Defense Counsel Denounces Unjudicial Agencies for Their Attitude.

TRY TO "FIX" OPINION

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for Leopold and Loeb, asserted that his two clients were being tried by extra judicial agencies not for the murder, for which they have pleaded guilty, but for their wealth, their intellect, their social position, their criminal distinction and a score of other contributing circumstances which do not weigh down the obscure John Smith—murderer.

The world of unofficial judges, the preachers and teachers, the press, local, national and foreign, the mob, Mr. Darrow declared, "thinks it's doing a fine thing when it rouses itself from its customary lethargy and shouts 'Hang them!'"

"If these boys hang," Mr. Darrow added, "the United States might well vote murder indictment against the unjudicial agencies, many of them far removed from Chief Justice John R. Caverly's court-room, who are trying to 'fix' public opinion.

"It is not a question of the sanity or insanity of the two defendants that is at issue. It's a question of the insanity of the methods by which certain forces are seeking to direct public opinion to blood, without permitting the world to consider, impartially, the findings of certain alienists."

Mr. Darrow referred specifically to an editorial in The Montreal Herald, stating that democracy was on trial in the Franks case, and denouncing Leopold and Loeb.

"That's murder," called the editorial. "It's after blood, murder—there's no other name for it."

That Loeb is an epileptic may be the assertion of one of the alienists, a local newspaper reported. It quoted "one of the physicians connected with the defence" as saying:

"Loeb's childhood phantasies were the beginning of epilepsy. The ailment, however, did not become evident until he was 14 or 15, when mild epileptic attacks eventually occurred. The malady remained incipient during his childhood."

HALIFAX CARNIVAL

Celebrating Anniversary of Lord Cornwallis' Landing in 1749.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 5.—With ideal weather, not unlike that which is said to have smiled upon Lord Cornwallis, when he met with 2,000 pioneers in the summer of 1749 sailed up Chebucto Bay to lay the foundations of a new city in the new world, Halifax yesterday entered upon a two weeks' carnival which will commemorate the 175th anniversary of Cornwallis' memorable landing. The British special service squadron consisting of the cruisers Hood, Repulse and Adelside, will arrive here at noon tomorrow according to radio advices received this morning at H. M. C. dockyard and will remain here during the carnival celebration.

The first event of the fortnight's festivities, which is to include land and aquatic events, naval and military tatocs, unveilings, street and club fairs, historical pageants, and in honor of which the city is gaily bedecked in flags and bunting, and many of the streets and public buildings outlined with colored lights, took place at noon when nine yachts crossed the starting line in a 25 mile race for the Prince of Wales' Cup.

NATIONS ADOPT NEW EIGHT-HOUR DAY PROCEDURE

Agreements to Be Considered First By Govts. Separately And Ratified Later.

TOM MOORE RETURNS

Attended International Labor Congress at Geneva Under League of Nations.

OTTAWA, August 5 (Canadian Press). — Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, returned to Ottawa during the week-end from attending the sixth International Labour Conference at Geneva under the League of Nations.

W. L. Best, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who accompanied Mr. Moore as adviser, also returned with him.

Mr. Moore said that Mr. Best had been of very great assistance to him in sharing the work of the conference.

Mr. Best also served on the committee on equality of treatment of foreign workers in compensation for accidents.

As to the conference itself, Mr. Moore said that unemployment received a great deal of cosideration and attention, practically every country represented, with the exception of France, being faced with a serious situation in that respect.

Workers Willing.

Mr. Moore said that unemployment was still considerable in the Old Country, with over a million out of work and receiving the doles.

At the same tme he said no jobs were being left untaken, but such as showed themselves were acceptd by the workers as quickly as possible.

Mr. Moore was of the opinion that the international situation looked brighter as the French and British Governments seemed to understand each other and were both working more harmoniously.

Mr. Moore is of the opinion that there is still plenty of misrepresentation going on in Britain as to emigration to Canada, but the people over there are more wary of the alluring inducements being held out. Many of them have been warned, he says, by experiences of their friends over here. There is a certain amount of emigration to Canada, of course, by some who think probably conditions could not be worse for them over here than over there, and are prepared to take a chance.

Eight-Hour Day Issue.

The Geneva Conference maintained its attitude to the eight-hour day convention with a total of 48 hours a week, Mr. Moore pointed out, and representatives of the British and French Governments both said that their Governments intended to introduce legislation to give effect to the Washington eight-hour day convention.

Mr. Moore said that a change was made in procedure this year. No new conventions were finally ratified, this being postponed for a year to enable the text of each convention to be considered by each Government and thus remove causes of dispute as in former cases. This practice will enable provincial governments in Canada, where the matters are provincial in character, to first consider the conventions before they are finally ratified by the interational convention. This has been a source of difficulty during the past few years.

Mr. Moore said he had a good trip and spoke highly of the impression made by Mrs. Charles Thorburn of Ottawa, who was sent to the convention by the Canadian Government as one of its representatives.

While in England Mr. Moore met members of the British Labour Cabinet, including the Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden, Sydney Webb, President of the Board of Trade, and others.

FATAL GLASS OF "POP"

Saskatoon Man Dies From Drink Taken Three Weeks Ago.

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 4.—A glass of "pop" consumed three weeks ago cost J. Battyani his life here to-day. According to evidence adduced at the corner's inquest Battyani purchased a soft drink at Punnichy, Sask., three weeks ago, and after consuming it, collapsed to the floor. Examination of the bottle's contents revealed a quantity of formaline, it is alleged. The inquest will be continued in a few days.

Babes In Wood Found; Missing Three Days

ST. GEORGE, N.B., Aug. 5.—Alva Cook aged 4 and Annabelle, aged 5, daughters of Norman Cook, residing on the Lake Road at Utopia, about four miles from here were found Monday morning in a weakened condition after being missing from their home since last Friday. More than 1,000 persons took part in the search. The children had gone berry-picking with Catherine Shea, aged 53. She was found yesterday, dazed and unable to tell where the children were.

MILLIONS MOVE IN DIRE MISERY

World Pays Little Heed To Drama Enacted in Near East.

A WOEFUL EXODUS

BERLIN, Aug. 5. — A veritable moving picture which for all elements of human misery and suffering has seldom been surpassed in history and which yet attracts little attention is now staged in the Near East. It is a migration of peoples going on that carries one's mind back for centuries.

Two and a half millions of Greeks pushed out by the Turks are wandering back to Greece from Turkey and 350,000 Mohammedans are moving from Greece back to Turkey. The migrations mark the end of a thousand year drama.

Despatches from Constantinople paint in vivid colors the migration, and its attendant suffering. They tell of the men dying and as they plod and women giving birth to children and the whole gamut of human emotions and miseries of this tragedy which seems ignored by the world.

It is estimated that Greece, impoverished and poorly organized, must find room for the millions of Greeks returning from Asia whose ancestors went there with Alexander the Great.

To make room for their own returning compatriots, Greece has been forced to push out 40,000 Armenians, or about one-third of all her Armenian residents. The fate of the remaining 80,000 Armenians is uncertain. They may receive notice any day to move on, not because they are not wanted but because Greece feels that its first duty is to its own people.

AGED SCIENTIST CAUSED A SCARE

Sir George Greenhill Disappeared From His Party —Found in Toronto To-day.

TORONTO, August 5 (Canadian Press). — Sir George Greenhill, the aged scientist, who arrived in Canada a few days ago to attend the annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science here, and who was reported missing over the week-end is well and comfortably located at Hart House, University of Toronto.

An earlier despatch this morning from Montreal said:

Sir George Greenhill, eighty-four years of age, and one of the two members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science now here, who made the trip to the Dominion forty years ago, is missing. He was on the special scientists' train that left Quebec Saturday morning, and he was seen when the train stopped for the party to inspect the Quebec Bridge. When the train ararived in Montreal, he disappeared completely, and has not since been seen by any of the scientists' party for the past two days.

Despite his advanced age, Sir George is still very active, and although his absence is causing considerable disquietude, it is thought by some of his friends that, desiring privacy, he has deliberately left the rest of the party at the local hotel and is staying quietly elsewhere. Enquiries at hotels and from the police have elicited nothing. There is a possibility that he may have gone on to Ottawa ahead of the party, but the railroads know nothing of his movements, and there is no record of his having made a reservation on the special trains that are taking the scientists to their destination.

Sir George Greenhill, who was knighted in 1908, was formerly professor of mathematics in the Artillery College, Woolwich, England. He is the author of a number of works accepted as standards in their respective fields and including: Differential and Integral Calculus with applications; Applications of the Elliptic Function; Hydrostatics; Notes on Dynamics; Report 19; Theory of a streamline with application to an airplane; Dynamics of Mechanical Flight; and Report 146, Gyroscopic Theory.

WESTERN CROPS IMPROVED LAST WEEK C.P.R. SAYS

Considerable Rain in Each Province and Weather Cool —Harvesting Soon.

GOOD IN MANITOBA

Complete Failure in Sections of East Alberta—Cutting Rye Now.

Winnipeg, Aug. 5. — Western grain crops have shown satisfactory development during the past week, according to the weekly crop report issued Monday by the agricultural department, Canadian Pacific Railway. Weather has been moderately cool with considerable rain in each province. Crops are now at a stage of development, the report says, where any damage becomes apparent, but fortunately reports of rust infestation or injury from saw fly and other pests are few and not serious. Rye cutting is now in progress, the crop being well filled and of fair quality. Live stock receipts at the stock yards continue heavy but the majority of cattle received are in an unfinished condition. This is probably due to drought conditions which exist in parts of Saskatchewan and Alberta, necessitating farmers having to market stock on account of scarcity of pasture.

Manitoba Crops.

Crops in Manitoba are in a promising condition and have been favored with ideal growing weather during the past week. Wheat is generally strong and of healthy stand, and is particularly good in southern areas. Oats and other coarse grains also look well and have sufficient soil moisture to carry crops through to maturity. Pastures in the province, the report stated, are much improved by recent rains.

Practically every part of Saskatchewan enjoyed some rain during the week, and apart from being beneficial in areas where crops are good it will also help fodder and late sown grains in the drought areas. Very satisfactory reports continue to come in respecting Southern Saskatchewan crop conditions and rains of the past week have further improved the situation.

Better in Alberta.

Crops in practically all districts of Alberta benefitted from showers during the week, with the result that conditions are much improved nearly everywhere. Growing conditions have been satisfatcory. Taking all the province east of the line drawn through Lougheed (Wetaskiwin sub-division), Taber sub-division; Lacombe sub-division; Bassano sub-division, and Suffield subdivision, crops as a whole are light. Many districts will prove absolute failures and farmers are already plowing under. With the fairly liberal precipitation of last week, however, some late crops in this area may develop to be worth harvesting. In the balance of the province the yield at present promises to be fairly good and ultimate result will largely depend on the weather from now on. Harvesting is expected to commence in Alberta between the fifteenth and twentieth of the month.

A big improvement in crop conditions is reported from all points on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, as an outcome of general rain falls during the past two weeks. While grain is short in some districts, heads are filling out well and promise to yield satisfactorily.

British Columbia Dry.

Warm and dry weather has prevailed in British Columbia during the past seven days and many districts are now feeling the necessity for further rain fall. Soft fruits and early apples are moving in fairly large quantities through packing houses and are a week or ten days ahead of last year in this respect, the report shows. Loganberries and strawberries are also being shipped and are a plentitful crop. The apple crop, however, will be lighter than last year. The very heavy crop of 1923 combined with frosts in early spring this year tends to make this season's yield a light one. Root crops on the whole are good, but require further rainfall.

VOTE TO CLOSE SHOP

C. N. R. Employees Prefer Week's Idleness to Laying Off Some.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.— Railway shopmen employed in the main shops of the Canadian National Railway system at Montreal and Stratford have voted in favor of closing down one week in each month rather than have a number of men laid off altogether. The other shops of the Central Region in which region the vote was taken, decided against the plan of closing down one week each month, preferring the lay-off system.

PARISIAN GOWNS BECOME ORNATE

Home-Dressmaking No Longer Feasible to Produce Winter's Styles.

BLOW TO CINDERELLA

PARIS, Aug. 5.—A poor girl can no longer be fashionable. The modern Cinderella cannot make her clothes at home if she wants to follow the styles.

Dressmakers have finally revolted against the straight-line chemise frock which has reigned supreme since the war and which any woman with a little talent could duplicate at home.

The outstanding note of the winter style shows, which are now on in Paris, is that skirt lines are baffling and intricate. The bodice remains straight, but, from the waist down, the stylish gown is a bewildering succession of flounces shaped with panniers of extravagant embroidery.

So complicated is the new Winter gown that only the most expert dressmaker is able to produce it. Apart from this, only a few changes are to be noted from the last collections.

The "sore throat" dress, with the high neck binding collar, persists. Leopard becomes the favorite fur. The color notes are yellow, ivory, cream, sulphur, fawn, old rose and other delicate tints, many materials being shaded from light to dark.

Velvet returns as a widely used material. Thousands of husbands will be desperate when they learn that button-up-the-back gowns are edging their way back into favor.

Beads of colors contrasting with the frock are an innovation which may oust pearls and genuine jewels. There will also be much use of imitation furs, as well as of peacock and pigeon breasts as trimmings. Embroideries of beads remain, but they will be less elaborate.

Skirts generally will be much shorter, many of the evening gowns barely topping the knees.

The American woman has become the definite dictator of all the styles.

STOWAWAY CAPTURED

Finlander Jumped With Lifebelt Into St. Lawrence —Lands in Jail.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.—Arrested as a stowaway on board the Grey County in mid-ocean Alekree Gankeen, 26, a Finlander, escaped when the vessel was in the St. Lawrence river, seized a life belt and jumped overboard into the waters of Lake St. Peter near Sorel. Five hours later he was picked up by the steamer Rock Ferry and brought to Montreal where he arrived Monday afternoon, none the worse for his misadventure.

In the meantime the Grey County, which docked here yesterday morning, had reported the escape of the Finlander to the harbor police. He was identified on his arrival here and landed in police headquarters cells.

ST. JOHN'S STRIKE QUIET

ST JOHN'S Nfld. Work was resumed yesterday morning and there have been no fresh indication of trouble at the plant.

MAJ. M'LAREN'S PLANE SMASHED

British Aviator Forced to Abandon World Flight by Disastrous Mishap.

WRECKED IN FOG

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 5.—Major Stuart MacLaren, British world aviator, announced yesterday that he had abandoned his venture at Nikolski, Siberia, because of an accident.

A later message from Major MacLaren said:

"Owing to thick fog was forced to descend near the Komandorski Islands. Machine so seriously damaged that we were forced to abandon the flight and will return by way of Vancouver, B.C., aboard the Thiepval.

The message said:

Wings, floats and tail smashed and as no spare are available it is necessary to abandon the flight. Hull and engine salvaged and taken aboard by Thiepval.

The message said that the Thiepval, "a trawler in the Canadian fishery service reached Nickolski Saturday evening, having hurried from Petropavlovsk after the plane departed from the shore Thursday. The plane went to West Kamchatka whence a flight was made Saturday to Nikolski. All the days mentioned above are according to the American week although Petropavlovsk and West Kamchatka and Nikolski all belonging to Russia, are west of the inter national date line.

REGRETS FAILURE.

CORDOVA, Alaska, August 5 (United Press). — "For the sake of the Royal Air Force I'm sorry to have failed so. The condition of the plane makes it almost impossible for flying."

Major A. Stuart MacLaren wirelessed to the British Air Ministry, London, to-day from H.M. Canadian cruiser Thiepval.

MacLaren abandoned his world flight, of which he had covered slightly more than 11,000 miles, because of a crash at Nikolski, in the Komandorski Islands, off Siberia.

He and his companions salvaged the hull and engine of their plane, and were taken to Dutch Harbour on the cruiser.

The messages made no mention of possible injuries.

MacLaren was en route from West Kamchatka when he came down at Nikolski, smashing the wings and the tail of his plane.

ST. MALO SHOPS OPEN.

QUEBEC, Aug. 5. — The St. Malo shops of the Canadian National Railways re-opened on Monday morning after having been closed down since July 25 in accordance with the retrenchment policy which is being followed by the railway from time to time.

Some 430 men returned to work, but 106 are still idle.

MEXICANS DENY LAND AGITATION CAUSED MURDER

Believed Mrs. Rosalie Evans Was Attacked Solely for Purpose of Robbery.

RUMOR OF PLOTS

Woman Had Resisted Plans To Take Her Property and Divide It.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—Instructions for a minute inquiry into the murder of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, widow of the former President of the Bank of London in Mexico, have gone forward from the Departments of Foreign Relations and of the Interior, while British Vice-Consul W. S. Hardaker of Puebla is reported directly to Consul General Morgan King in Mexico City and United States Consular Agent William O. Jenkins at Puebla is collecting information for the United States Embassy.

While the body of Mrs. Evans was on its way to Mexico City for burial beside that of the late Mr. Evans in the British cemetery there a detachment of federal troops and mounted police from Puebla scoured the tearritory in the vicinity of the Evans hacienda, San Pedro Coxtocan, for the band of unknown men who slew her and seriously wounded her farm manager, John Strauss, as they were driving along the road to the ranch and escaped with a sum of money they were carrying from Texmelucan for the ranch workers.

Search by Soldiery

The soldiers and police will continue their search as the various investigations are carried out. Pending complete reports form General Roberto Cruz, military commander of the State of Puebla, the Foreign Relations Department yesterday delayed making the official statement giving the details of the fatal attack on Mrs. Evans, which had been promised Sunday night.

Official comments here, however, indicates that the government inclines to the belief that the attack was simply for the purpose of robbing the payroll which Mrs. Evans and Mr. Strauss carried.

It is not believed that the crime is the result of agrarian agitation for the purpose of forcing Mrs. Evans to consent to the division of her hacienda, while the rumor that agrarian followers of Deputy Manuel Montes are responsible for the crime are considered a pure supposition without grounds in fact.

Party was Ambushed

Additional special despatches from Puebla and Texmelucan confirm the first reports of the tragedy which were brought to Mexico City early Sunday morning by a Spanish merchant of Texmelucan, Luciano Rodriguez. Rodriguez, who brought Mrs. Evans' body to Texmelucan from the hamlet of Polaxtla, near the hacienda, where she was ambushed drove his automobile across the country to Mexico City for the purpose of informing the British and United States diplomatic officials of the crime.

Unable to proceed in the matter until he had received instructions from the United States Government United States Charge Schoenfeld declined to send a representative to Texmelucan for the purpose of bringing Mrs. Evans' body to Mexico City, but he immediately ordered an inquiry by Consular Agent Jenkins and personally inquired of General Aaron Saenz, Minister of Foreign Relations, concerning the facts.

In addition to arranging for the burial of Mrs. Evans, British Consul King ordered an inquiry made by British Vice-Consul Hardaker and cabled direct all the available facts to the London Foreign Office.

Estate to Relatives

With the death of Mrs. Evans, her estate passes to her brothers and sisters, all of whom are United States citizens, while the dispute over the land division under the agrarian legislation comes under the direct jurisdiction of the United States Embassy which previously was acting in that matter owing to the fact that it took over British affairs in Mexico because of the departure last June of Charge Cummins. The Evans' case had brought about the withdrawal of Cummins.

The United State Embassy has already taken steps necessary to assure the possession of the hacienda for Mrs. Evans' heirs, while the apartment which she maintained in Mexico City has been sealed for the purpose of safeguarding important documents which were kept there by the slain woman and which are said to have considerable bearing on the long fight which she waged against the expropriation of her estate.

THE MANAGER OF A BELLEVILLE BANK FAILED

J. Gordon Moffatt, of Union Bank of Canada, Charged With Taking Bank Funds.

TOOK POISON.

Arrested on Golf Course at Midland While Playing.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 5.—(Canadian Press).—J. Gordon Moffatt, manager of the Union Bank of Canada here, is in St. Andrew's Hospital at Midland and not expected to recover from the effects of taking bichloride of mercury, following his arrest at Midland on Saturday, charged with the theft of bank funds. Moffatt obtained ten days' leave of absence to attend the golf tournament at Midland. He left here with the Belleville officials, and while he was at Midland taking part in the golf competitions, inspectors from the head office in Toronto arrived here and began an inspection of the books of the bank.

The revelations were such, it is alleged, that the bank officers from the head office swore to an information charging the manager with stealing certain sums of money, the property of the Union Bank of Canada.

The Chief of the Belleville Police sent a telegram at once to the Chief Constable of Midland, notifying him that he held a warrant for the arrest of Moffatt, and directed that he be taken into custody. Moffatt was found on he golf course and taken to the police station to await the arrival of an officer from Belleville, who would take him back for trial.

Found In Collapse.

Not long after his arrest Moffatt was found in a state of collapse, and he was rushed to St. Andrew's Hospital, where doctors said he was suffering from poisoning.

Since then he has failed to rally, and last night he was reported to be critically ill. His wife has been summoned to Midland. A special audit of the bank books is still going on, and while the bank has made no statement, it is understood the alleged shortage will amount to several thousands of dollars.

News of the arrest of Moffatt and his illness caused a sensation here, where he is well and favorably known. The Union Bank of Canada has a large business here. The bank is protected against any loss by a policy with a guarantee company.

FOUR BANDITS ARE EXECUTED

Report Says Scouts Wiped Out Band That Shot Mrs. Rosalie Evans— Newspaper Charges Revolutionaries.

EMBARASS OBREGON.

(By Alfred G. Hart, United Press Staff Correspondent).

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—Four of the agrarista bandits who shot and killed Mrs. Rosalie Evans, woman ranch owner and a British subject, were captured by Federal Scouts, yesterday, and summarily executed according to a private message here to-day. Mrs. Evans was murdered as she was returning from her ranch in Puebla, Saturday and the pay roll she was carrying was stolen.

Meantime the government was active in investigating the tragedy believing it may have been inspired by political plotters.

"The assassination of Mrs. Evans was planned in San Antonia Texas", the newspaper El Sol, said, intimating the crime was part of a plan of one of the revolutionary Juntas to embarrass the Obregon government.

American Counsul Aragent Jenkins has arrived in Mexico City from Pueblo, to give his report on the murder.

CONSERVATIVES HELD A PICNIC

Meighen Roundly Condemned the Fiscal Policy of Liberal Government— Boosts Protection.

WILL OPPOSE KING.

ISLAND GROVE, Lake Simcoe, Aug. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Round condemnment of the fiscal policy of the Liberal Government at Ottawa by the leader of the Opposition, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen; the frequent assertion that only under the banner of protection could Canada become prosperous and the almost unanimous voice given by the sneakers to the probability of T. Herbert Lennox, K.C., opposing Premier W. L. Mackenzie King in North York at the next general election featured the seventeenth annual Lennox Conservative picnic here yesterday.

Unpropitious weather conditions tended to keep the attendance below what it usually is, but even then some three to four thousand people were on hand to enjoy themselves.

Wild and prolonged cheering greeted the introduction of Meighen, who was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Miss Muriel Willoughby.

After paying a compliment to Mr. Lennox for his enterprise in giving the picnic every year, Mr. Meighen went on to recall that it was exactly a decade ago that the Dominion of Canada as a nation within the British Empire was carried into the abyss of war. The horrors of four years which followed, he declared, were too terrible to recall. Almost six years had passed since the beginning of the task of restoring to a basis of prosperity and happiness the shattered Dominion. Reciting the conditions and circumstances which led to the overthrow of the Government that had guided the Dominion through the dark days of the war, Mr. Meighen proceeded to criticize the work and policies of the Liberal Government during the past three years.

Criticizes Government.

The Government very lamely adopted, in so far as it could, the very policies which for years it had reviled, he said. "We have now passed the third session. If a Liberal orator were standing on this platform, he would tell you that the day of deficits had gone, and that the budget of Canada was balanced."

Mr. Meighen proceeded to state that the Liberal Government had added about one hundred millions of dollars to the country's debt from the day it took power until a year ago, and now the Government was claiming it had reduced that debt by $35,000,000 last year.

NO TRADE TREATY WITH THE SOVIET

Negotiations Broke Down After All Night Session in London.

LONDON, Aug. 5. — (Canadian Press).—Negotiations between representatives of Great Britain and Soviet Russia have broken down and the projected treaty will not be signed, it was announced this morning by the foreign office. The British and Russian delegations were in session all night until seven this morning the announcement said. The Soviet representatives were unable to accept the amendment and concessions offered regarding article fourteen of the draft treaty. No agreement could be reached, it was stated, and the negotiations broke down.

The Anglo-Russian conference in London was convened in April following the recognition of the Soviet regime by the Labor govrenment under Premier MacDonald in fulfilment of what was virtually a campaign pledge.

The purpose of the conference was to settle all the outstanding claims between the two countries, some involving pre-war debts on the part of Russia, and others growing out of the Soviet government's seizures under its nationalization policy, of property belonging to British subjects.

The proceedings dragged from the start. The Russians made efforts to secure a loan which they desired the British government to guarantee.

This guarantee the British flatly refused to give, Mr. MacDonald declaring that the British bankers demanded a recognition of Russia's pre war debts as a prerequisite to any advance.

Another of the stumbling blocks was the Russians' insistence that the British recognize extensive counterclaims based on damages suffered in consequence of armed foreign intervention in Russia after the revolution.

FLASH.

An airplane that would travel 370 miles an hour! The French Government expects this speed from its new "rocket plane," now being developed. No engine. It's shot ahead like a skyrocket, by a series of gas explosions one after the other. Will carry a man—reason not stated.

Ten years ago, people would have said, "Bunk!" Now they merely lift their eyebrows and wonder how long until a plane making 1,000 miles an hour will be perfected.

NEW BRIDGE IS ATTRACTIVE TO COUNTY PEOPLE

Lakefield Structure With Its Twin Arches Rapidly Replacing Old Iron Bridge.

COUNCIL MEETING

Plans of Brass and Copper Co. for Buildings Are Approved by Village Fathers.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 4.—Work on the new county bridge is proceeding at a very rapid rate and even those possessed of very little imagination can see that the structure will be a very handsome one and an ornament to the village. The old bridge is now but a memory as only a very small section of the iron top is still standing. The new structure with its twin arches is reminiscent of those one sees in the larger centres.

Council Notes.

A special meeting of the village council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening.

The members present were Councillors Tanner, Moore, Leonard and Madill.

On motion Councillor Tanner took the chair.

The Clerk submitted plans and specifications filed for the council's approval by the [illegible] Copper Co., Ltd.

Moved by Councillor Moore, seconded by Councillor Madill, That this council approves of the plans and specifications submitted by the Lakefield Brass & Copper Co., Ltd., for the erection of their buildings on Lots 6 and 7, registered plan No. 24 of Lakefield, and that permission to build on said lots in accordance with said plans be granted upon the understanding that buildings when completed shall contain at least 12,000 square feet of floor space as called for by by-law and agreement with company. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Leonard, seconded by Councillor Madill, that the Reeve and Clerk be authorized to sign agreement with the Lakefield Brass & Copper Co., Ltd., and attach the Corporation's seal. Carried.

A petition was presented by Mr. W. W. Leonard asking for the repeal of the early closing by-law as it effects the hardware business.

Moved by Councillor Leonard, seconded by Councillor Moore, that the Clerk prepare immediately, for passage at the next meeting, a by-law ammending by-law 555 in so far as it affects hardware stores. Carried.

A letter was read from the Ontario Motor League regarding the placing of signs with the name of the village on them. After discussion the matter was left in the hands of the chairman of the Roads' Committee to take action as he sees fit.

The Council adjourned to meet August 4th.

The annual social of St. Paul's parish will be held on Thursday afternoon and evening at the Exhibition Grounds. There will be a baseball match between the local team and the Curve Lake team at 4 p.m. and at night there will be a splendid display of fireworks which will be a decided novelty in the village. FIFTY BOYS ON STEAMER BOUND TO THEIR CAMP

Rotary Camp at Clear Lake Will Have Happy Band—Insatiable Curiosity.

LOTS OF FOOD.

Many Visitors at Kawartha Park During Last Week —Personals.

KAWARTHA PARK, Aug. 5.—Some fifty boys boarded the steamer "Empress" on Monday morning bound for the Rotary Camp on Clear Lake. Each boy carried his own baggage which ranged from club bags to paper parcels. Many of the lads carried dunnage bags of soldier fathers and the names of various battalions and camps recalled the days of anxious waiting for news. The boys were all over the boat in two minutes but they soon settled down, the chief points of interest being the captain's vantage point in the wheelhouse and the engine room. Never a nuisance but interested and interesting, one can picture the joy of the two weeks spent at "Camp Rotary." The work is truly a God-given work, helping to make these young Canadians strong and hearty good citizens. When the party disembarked the loads of provisions made one certain that the inner boy was not to be neglected, there were quantities of bread, meat, eggs, milk and a dozen other necessary parts of the three square meals to which each of the fifty will do full justice.

BETHEL CHURCH HAD BIG PARTY

Church in the Hastings Circuit Had Brilliant Affair.

BASEBALL GAME

HASTINGS, Aug. 5.—With the church grounds exceedingly well lighted with Caron electric lights which were used for demonstrative purposes the annual garden party of Bethel Church of the Hastings circuit was a decided success and has been counted the best ever held.

An exciting and enthusiastic baseball game was staged at 6 o'clock between the Hastings Juniors and the Petherick's Corner's Juniors. The score ended 10-3 in favour of the former. A slight error on the part of one of the Petherick's players was responsible for the large score for the Hastings lads, seven runs were counted in one innings. For the first four innings the score stood 2-2. Much credit is due to the little lads who certainly played good ball and more enjoyment was taken from the game by the spectators than there has been at some of the league games exhibited here this sason.

The Campbellford Band was in attendance and supplied the musical part of the programme generously.

Refreshmonts were served by the ladies of the congregation and other refreshments were for sale at the booths.

The proceeds amounted to about $140.00.

At four o'clock promptly, while the wedding march was being played by Mrs. Clifford Leach, the bride entered in her beautiful gown of white silk georgette, with veil of silk embroidered net and orange blossom wreath, and was given away by her father. She was attended by her friend, Miss Irene Brown, of Roseneath, who was dressed in sand crepe. The bride carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses, sweet peas and baby's breath, while the bridesmaid bouquet was of sweet peas. The groom was supported by Mr. Jim Waldie. Rev. A. J. Lovelace of Roseneath Methodist Church performed the ceremony.

The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls, the bridesmaid and pianist each received a silver bar pin, and the groomsman gold cuff links.

A very dainty buffet luncheon was served to the guests after the ceremony.

The happy young couple will reside on a farm near Fenella, Ont.

Putting the line between his teeth he tried to climb up on the stone, but each time the big fish would jerk his hold from the rocks Fishermen coming out of the inlet saw his plight and went to his aid. OLD FOLKS ENJOY ANNUAL OUTING

Beautiful Chemong Lake Evokes Pleasant Recollections of Fifty Years Ago.

Thursday, July 31st, was a day looked forward to with very pleasant anticipations by the inamtes of the Protestant Home, for on that day they had been invited by the Royal Arthur Lodge, A. F. and A. M. through the Master, Mr. C. B. Adair, to be their guests for the afternoon.

This is an admirable custom which the Lodge instituted several years ago, and has been observed annually ever since.

The objective chosen was Chemong Park, where Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle had most kindly put their cottage af the disposal of hosts and guests.

The day was perfect and the drive out was much enjoyed.

On arrival a motor boat was on hand to take all who cared to go, for a ride on the clear waters of the lake

Water sports had als.. been arranged, which were very interesting.

Interesting also it was to listen to the reminiscences of the old people.

"It is fifty years since I was here last," "I used to come here over sixty years ago," and accounts of mighty fish caught in these waters—fish which one suspects have, like their captors, taken on weight with the years!

Finally, all sat down to a delicious hot dinner, and when one mentions that the Laidies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church had taken the contract of catering, the excellence of the repast goes without saying—

"And the wish that our mouths were too full to express, Swells our hearts—that their shadows may never grow less."

Many were the expressions of satisfaction from the guests, and many the heartfelt and sincere thanks to their generous and kindly entertainers.

Early Morning Vigour Right Through the Day

TO retain the vigour of early morning right through these warm summer days you must select your foods carefully. You must avoid foods which are difficult to digest—which consume more energy in their assimilation than they actually supply to the body.

Grape-Nuts is a food which is easy to digest, its highly concentrated nourishment easily taken up by the body.

Grape-Nuts is made from the essential elements of whole wheat and malted barley. A long process of baking concentrates all the food value in a readily assimilated form. These Carbohydrates, along with phosphorus and iron, form 75 per cent of Grape-Nuts. They are a most necessary part of the daily diet. They are highly energizing. They are builders of bone and muscle.

Crisp, crunchy Grape-Nuts forms a most delicious summer-time breakfast. Serve it tomorrow morning with milk or cream and perhaps a little sugar. Four teaspoonfuls is sufficient for a serving. Costs 1c per serving. Your grocer has it.

GRAPE-NUTS RAISIN PIE

¾ cup Grape-Nuts, ¾ cup raisins, seeded and chopped, 1½ cups brown sugar, 2¼ cups hot water, ½ cup vinegar, 3 tablespoons butter. Mix in order given, and cook for 10 minutes. Cool. Put into a paste-lined plate and cover with half-inch strips of paste, placed half an inch apart to form a lattice top. Trim edges neatly, moisten and finish with a half-inch strip of paste around the edge. Bake about 40 minutes. The oven should be hot for the first 15 minutes and then the heat should be reduced. This recipe will serve six persons.

WARNINGS NEEDED.

The death of a worker in an Oshawa automobile plant as a result of a fellow-workman placing the nozzle of a compressed air hose in contact with his body, indicates that there is plenty of work for organizations such as the Ontario Safety League.

It seems almost impossible to believe that a man familiar with compressed air would be foolish enough to attempt a practical joke on a fellow-being with such an instrument.

He might just as well have pressed a loaded rifle against the victims body and pulled the trigger.

In fact, the man might have had a better chance for life if a rifle had been the weapon used, for the medical testimony at the inquest showed that the dead workman was so inflated by the compressed air that his heart was stopped.

The Examiner does not know whether there are any notices prominently displayed in places where compressed air is used warning the workers of danger, but if there are no such placards there should be no time lost in preparing them.

The Oshawa tragedy emphasizes the necessity of careful instructions in industrial concerns generally how to avoid accidents, and the fact that during July an average of over $21,000 a day was paid under the Workmen's Compensation Act in this Province to injured workers adds force to this argument.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Reference was made in these columns recently to the conference on unemployment which is to be held in Ottawa shortly.

This question has, since the war, grown to be a serious matter in Canada.

It is somewhat surprising to find that the Dominion Government since the winter of 1920-21 has paid out $6,699,745 in unemployment helief in industrial centres throughout Canada.

The amount was distributed as follows: Montreal, $1,773,592; Vancouver, $1,232,378; Toronto and Hamilton, $2,960,645, and Winnipeg and district, $733,-126.

What is to be the policy this winter?

The conference is expected to go a long way toward answering that question, and representatives of smaller industrial centres are likely to take the attitude that unemployment relief if given at all must be divided among the municipalities on a basis of population.

If there are grants to relieve the situation in Toronto then Peterborough has a right to expect similar assistance.

If Hamilton is helped why not Oshawa?

This angle of the situation is likely to be a prominent topic for discussion at the conference.

THE PRICE OF IDLENESS.

Not much stress was placed on the testimony of a nurse in the home of one of those Chicago youths who murdered little Robert Franks, and perhaps from a legal viewpoint it was not of great important, yet the Examiner feels that her evidence does much to explain the tragedy.

One of this precious pair, his former nurse explains that the boy did not even lace his own shoes.

He was pampered and petted and made to think that his chief mission in life was to have other people do things for him—in other words, he was spoiled by over-indulgent parents.

While they not all reach the stage arrived at by the Chicago millionaires' sons, there are undoubtedly far too many young people who are being brought up under similar conditions.

The greatest danger confronting the boys and girls, not only of the United States but of Canada, not only of Chicago but of Peterborough, is idleness and the spending of unearned money.

Idleness is a curse to the young as well as to the old, and when it is accompanied as it so often is nowadays with plenty of spending money, big cars to drive and every indulgence, it is no wonder so many young people "go wrong."

The Chicago tragedy should cause many parents to take stock of their own household.

Are the conditions which led the footsteps of Leopold and Loeb down the pathway to murderers' dock duplicated in many a Canadian home?

It is a question worth investigating.

TEN YEARS AGO AND NOW.

Bulgarian raiders and Greek soldiers are doing their best to stir up war in that world's hot-bed of trouble, the Balkans, says the London Advertiser.

Groups of unattached Bulgarians have conducted raids into Greek territory, and Greece excuted nineteen of these raiders by way of retaliation.

Official despatches from Jugo-Slavia admit nothing, and the same attitude is reported from Rumania. Reports from other sources say that both Rumania and Jugo-Slavia are ready to join Greece against Bulgaria.

It is ten years ago since the world was set on fire from the same corner.

Bulgaria and Greece have not learned the lesson. Otherwise, they would be spending their energies in a constructive way, instead of flirting with war.

They will find that the other powers which ten years ago were ready to look on with a view of participation are very far removed from that old position.

Russia is busy trying to fight her way back to a national standing on a new basis; Austria is but a section of her former self, powerless to fight even if she so desired; Germany is disarmed, and France is concerned chiefly with collecting reparations from Germany for the war that started in the Balkans ten years ago. Britain has problems that are greater than those of war, rebuilding her trade and commerce. Her mind is set on the League of Nations.

The Balkan trouble has not the ground of ten years ago on which to work. The nations have too many war scars not yet healed to lend their aid to a flame-fanning contest.

The troublemakers in the Balkans should understand that they are on dangerous ground, and that if they get hurt there will be few to rush to their rescue. The trend of the times has changed.

THE MEMBERS CAN HELP.

As a measure of economy Senator McCoig, speaking at a Liberal picnic not long ago, advocated doing away with Hansard, the official record of what is said in the House of Commons.

Each year the publication of this record costs in the neighborhood of $60,000, and many people wonder with Senator McCoig whether the game is worth the candle.

Hansard nevertheless is of considerable value, even if it is not generally read, and it is doubtful whether it would be a wise step to abolish it completely.

But the members themselves could do much to cut down the cost and curtail the size of the publication if they would only refrain from talking too long and too often.

Instead of the snappy fifteen or twenty-minute speech of the British member of Parliament, our Federal legislators seem to regard it as necessary that in their contribution to the debate they should cover as many subjects as possible, always, of course, keeping one eye firmly fixed upon topics of interest in their own particular constituency.

It matters not whether these particular topics have any logical connection with the debate itself.

For these speeches, as a rule, are for home consumption, not for general use, and so the member drones away hour after hour to a House not one-third filled.

There is not the slightest justification for all this talking, and if the members persist in keeping it up sooner or later there will be enough pressure of public opinion behind Senator McCoig's suggestion to put it into effect.

"BIG BUSINESS" AND THE NICKEL PLANTS.

There is cumulative evidence that the failure of the British-American Nickel Company and the closing down of its great plants at Deschenes and Sudbury have been due to the familiar ruthless tactics of "big business" in the United States.

The International Nickel Company draws practically the whole of its supplies of raw material from Canada. It has to. It exports nickel matte from this country without let or hindrance in the shape of duty to its vast refineries in the United States that employ thousans. The company has a refining plant at Port Colborne, Ont., but its principal product is finished in the United States.

When the British-American Nickel Company was formed with British capital and proceeded not only to mine nickel ore and make nickel matte at Sudbury but to complete the finishing process at Deschenes in the most modern plant then in existence, the International company found itself facing competition from a serious rival.

Because of its exceptional facilities and the thorough research work of a remarkably expert metallurgical staff in Canada, the British-American Company was salving from the refuse large quantities of precious metals that the American Company throws on the dump.

By reason of this expert management, the British company was able to produce and sell refined nickel at a cost considerably lower than the American company and it secured a number of large contracts that had hitherto gone to the American company.

That was the point where friendship ceased and murder was justified—according to the creed of "big business." The British company must be put out of the game, so the price of nickel was depressed by the American company to a mark lower than it could be profitably produced by the British company. This meant great loss also to the American company, but it was only temporary loss, whereas the alternative, the continuance in business of the British company, meant permanent loss if not disaster.

The longest purse was made the test not the best operators.

Grossly unfair and nasty, of course, but what are we going to do about it? Ordinarily nothing could be done but swallow the nauseous dose common in competitive business. The British company would be down and out and that was all there was to it.

In this particular case it seems, however, first, that the Canadian people generally have an interest in seeing that our natural resources, the products of our mines and forests, shall be brought to the finished stage in Canada so that Canadian citizens may be given employment and Canadian trade generally enjoy the benefit therefrom, and, second, that we have in our possession weapons to prevent foreign firms that use our raw material and finish it elsewhere from sending to the wall domestic firms that lack only the backing of huge financial syndicates who have no concern with Canada's well being.

It is predicted that the American company will buy the plant of the British-American Nickel Company and will scrap it in order that their home plants may again enjoy a monopoly with freedom to fix prices. The action of International Nickel shares on the New York Stock Exchange would indicate that traders in this particular stock regard the outcome of the British-American Nickel difficulties as a bull factor and the volume of transactions in International shares has increased very much since the failure of the big Canadian plant.

The Dominion Government is to hold a Cabinet Council in a few days. It is to be hoped that at that meeting someone will be deputed to make it known to all concerned that the Canadian Government will not be uninterested in any such development and that should it seem to be imminent it will proceed to use weapons of which it is undoubtedly in possession.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Canada is the loser by the death of such citizens as Sir Edmund Osler, noted financier, who had been identified with the financial life of this country for more than half a century.

The United States fliers have reached Iceland. Not a bad spot either to drop into during the dog days.

Honduras is having another revolution. Such disturbances are as natural there as hot weather.

"Canadian ale is seized after a sensational chase," says a newspaper heading. There are usually lots of people ready to chase such a product.

The Inter-Allied Conference has at last come to an agreement. It would be premature, however, to ring the joy bells until the programme has been completed.

Offerings of stockers and feeders were fairly liberal and the best type sold generally steady to strong at last week's 25 cent advance.

On the hog market prices declined 25 to 35 cents over last week's close. Thick smooths generally were $8.65 to $8.75, and the few select bacons $9.51 1-2 to $9.62 1-2.

A few lambs were weighed up from $10.00 to $12.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 5 (Canadian Press). — Influenced largely by the estimates that the 1924 yield of wheat in the United States would be 67,000,000 bushels more than was expected a month ago, the wheat market yesterday eased somewhat, whereas other grains advanced.

Wheat closing prices were unsettled, 3-8c to 3-4c net lower, September $1.31 1-2 to $1.31 3-4 and December $1.35 1-8 to $1.35 3-8.

Corn touched the highest prices yet this season and finished with 1-8c to 2 1-8c gain; oats 5-8c to 1c up; and provisions at a rise varying from 7c to 30c.

Although black rust reports both from Manitoba and North Dakota lifted wheat values at times, the market was finally weighed down by the bearish domestic crop figures which were current. The total production of wheat in the United States this season was put at 807,000,000 bushels as against 786,000,000 bushels harvested last year.

Besides, Chicago receipts yesterday aggregated about 1,000,000 bushels, and the United States visible supply total showed 5,298,000 bushels increase, although this increase was partly due to the fact that for the first time the stock on hand at Wichita, Kansas, was included.

Eight Silver Cups and an Abundance of Cut Glass and Silverware.

McCRACKEN'S LANDING, Aug. 5.—Mr. A. F. Choate has added a very attractive ice cream parlor to his store, it is square and faces the lake, giving a fine view of Juniper with glimpses of Mount Julian and the upper lake. It is the largest ice cream parlor on the lake and will be in demand for bridge parties by the ladies of the vicinity, as it is well adapted for the purpose. Mr. Choate has installed a soda fountain and the place is very popular.

Attractive Prizes.

The display of prizes at McCracken's Landing on Monday drew a large crowd. Never in the history of this popular regatta was there ever such a valuable collection, eight silver cups were to be seen and many articles in silver and cut glass which were well worth competing for. Several were unique, viz: two handsome pens with long plumes on the handles, a useful and most ornamental toasting fork for marshmallows and a couple of "snappy" looking Japaneses parasols.

STIRLNG RATE DOWN ONE MILL FOR THIS YEAR

Village Council Last Night Set the Tax Rate at 45 Mills—Last Year Was 46 Mills.

TO IMPROVE ROAD.

Municipalities Concerned Are Moving To Have Belleville to Marmora Road Named a Highway.

STIRLING, Aug. 5.—The village council met last night and after routine business, passed a few accounts. Then came their most important work of the year, the passing of the by-law which provides for the levying of the taxes for the year.

The total assessment for 1924 is $441,5531.26, and the rate fixed for this year is 45 mills on this assessment, which is one mill less than that of 1923 and is divided as follows:

Schools	19.90 mills
County	11.825 mills
Library	1.00 mills
Local purposes	.625 mills
Debentures	10.65 mills

44.

Improve Road.

There is a possibility of the road from Belleville to Marmora being made a county provincial highway. The western part of the county is without a road of this class, while the eastern part has the road leading from Belleville to Tweed and the centre has the Belleville to Madoc road, so the representatives of the municipalities are suggesting that the Belleville to Marmora road should be so classed. All the facts were brought out at a meeting of those concerned, held in Belleville yesterday, and they await the pleasure of the power that be to act in the matter now.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: I will greatly appreciate if you allow me some space in your valuable paper to enable me to make several remarks about the information furnished to the public through the columns of your paper by certain tourists of Campbellford regarding the Holy Land.

Among others one statement reads: "The landscape is covered with huge rocks, soil not productive, in fact the country as a rule is not the land flowing with milk and honey ..... Ploughing is done by a most primitive way.....Butter is made from the milk of sheep and goats, as cows are practically unknown."

As one who spent two and a half years in Palestine I may take the liberty of asking the lady tourists whether they visited that country in the year of 1924 or 1824? Because it is impossible for any civilized person to see Palestine in 1924 without having noticed the most up-to-date city of Tel-Aviv, with its artistically structured palaces, its parks and paved streets, modern educational institutions, theatre, opera house, beautiful electric plant, business centre, etc., populated and built entirely by twenty thousand Jews recently returned to Palestine.

May I also ask the worthy lady tourists—Where have disappeared the hundreds of Jewish colonies, some of which contain a population of from one to five thousand souls, who are producing by means of modern machinery,the famous Palestinoan oranges, the best sorts of wines, abundance of wheat, barley, clover, tobacco, water melons, as well as great quantities of milk and butter from the best imported Damascus and Holstein cows? Or have they not tasted the delicious orange-honey produced in every Jewish settlement?

Though the native is still tilling his land according to the method of our forefather Abraham, and the wild Bedouin, in the vicinity of Bethlehem is still churning his butter from the milk of sheep and goats, which sounds indeed very Biblical, but it is a well known fact that it is more difficult to induce an Arab to keep a good cow or use a modern plow than to encourage him to kill a British officer or a Jewish pioneer.

The Arab has been in possession of the country for many centuries, so has the Indian been the sole owner of Canada for thousands of years, but it was due to the energy and determination of the white man to make the Canada of to-day, as it is up to the Jew who is returning to Palestine to bring light and civilization into the country, things that have not penetrated there since the destruction of the Holy Temple.

The statement says: "Such Jews as have already returned ot Palestine have been segregated in settlements prepared exclusively for them."

By whom? The fact is that the Jews returning to Palestine are buying the land, drying out the swamps, building roads and irrigation canals, planting vast areas of eucalptus forests and building their own homes, and the glorious future of the House of Israel.

A few words about the hotels of Jerusalem. There are plenty of comfortable hotels in Jerusalem where no more than 5 or 6 dollars is charged for a good room and three square meals. It is no one's fault if people with limited means are eager to stay at the expensive Alenby Hotel, and likewise. Furthermore, if Switzerland can depend upon the tourist as her main source of existence, why cannot Palestine?. Respectfully,

REV. PHINEHAS LEVINE,
324 Water street, Peterboro.

STERLING GAINS

Advanced Two Cents Monday on London News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Departure of the German delegates to the Inter-Allied Conference, prepared to accept the Dawes plan with certain revisions, infused fresh strength into the European currencies to-day. Sterling again mounted two cents to a new 1924 top price at $4.45 5-8, the highest level reached since last November, and 25c. above the low mark set early this year.

Trading activities, particularly in Sterling, were expanded as a result of the bank holiday which diverted many foreign orders to this market. French and Belgian francs responded to the improved reparations outlook, with Swiss francs and Dutch guilders attaining new peak prices for the year.

MARX DECLARES HIS INTENTION TO FORCE PLAN

German Chancellor Arriving in England Welcomed By Prime Minister MacDonald.

DESIRE TO HELP.

Delegation Comes to England to Help Toward Discovery of Best Method.

(By Lloyd Allen—United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Allied Conference on Reparations entered its second and most important stage when the Allied and German delegates met at the Foreign Office in plenary session at noon to-day.

The arrival of the German delegation lent a touch of color and excitement to the scenes around the Foreign Office as the delegates gathered for the full session. Prime Minister MacDonald walked across from 10 Downing Street, cheered by a large crowd. After the Allied leaders had arrived came the Germans, Chancellor Marx, Foreign Minister Stresemann, and Dr. Luther, the economic.

Police Precautions.

The London police had taken extraordinary precautions to prevent any demonstrations.

The Germans arrived in London only this morning, and were greeted at the station by Sir Ronald Waterhouse, representing the Government. They drove to the Ritz Hotel.

Previously the delegation which landed from the Channel boat at Harwich had been met by a special Government representative, and on that occasion a spokesman for the Germans declared: "We come with a sincere desire to contribute to the discovery of the best method of putting the experts' plan into action, unaltered and in the spirit of the authors.

"We desire that the plan should be in effect as soon as possible, and intend to contribute our part to loyal fulfilment.

"We do not doubt that we shall find the same spirit prevailing agreement."

When the plenary session was opened, MacDonald made a little speech of welcome to the German delegates, and expressed the hope that London would furnish an atmosphere conductive to amicable agreement.

Speaking in German, Chancellor Marx replied, thanking the British Prime Minister, and expressing the determination to accept the provisions of the experts' plan and to force through the Reichstag any necessary legislation.

WHAT THE WORLD EATS.

Statistics gathered by the Restaurant Owners' Association of New York reveal some little known facts concerning world diet.

The average American eats 150 pounds of meat a year and leads all the world in this doubtful distinction by a wide margin, the average Italian bringing up the rear among flesh-consuming peoples with about twenty-four pounds a year.

Ireland is an easy winner in the eating of potatoes. The average per capita consumption in the Emerald Isle is four pounds a day. The United States is second in this class, with a record of 200 pounds yearly for each inhabitant.

In wheat consumption France is in the van, with 467 pounds a year for every Frenchman. In this respect the United States is again second, and even goes ahead of France when all bread-making products, including wheat, rye and bran, are considered.

The American eats 150 eggs a year, many more than any other national, but he consumes only four pounds of rice a year, as compared with 550 pounds for the average native of the Province of Bombay, India, who seems to have few other articles of food.

MEXICANS DENY

an engineer who abandoned his contracting business in Mexico City four months ago to go to the Evans' hacienda and assist the owner in her battle against agrarian aggressions, still are unknown. It has been learned, however, that he left the ranch several days ago when Strauss was employed as manager. The testimony of Camp is expected to figure prominently in the inquiries into the murder, since he is said to have first hand information regarding evidence Mrs. Evans declared she had obtained on the agrarian plots against her. The plotters, it is said, planned to dispossess her from her hacienda and kill her if she persisted in resistance.

Camp is also said to have helped Mrs. Evans on various occasions when, at the points of pistols, she drove off armed agrarinans who had invaded her property.

TRUSTEES MAKE NO DEMAND FOR TAX THIS YEAR

Godolphin District No. 13 Representatives Made Provision in Bountiful Years.

PERCY RATE HIGHER.

Warkworth Pays Extra One and a Half Mills For Privilege of Separate Existence.

(By a Staff Reporter).

WARKWORTH, Aug. 5.—In those fat years not so long ago, when crops were good and the prices for all kinds of farm produce were high, Peter Fairman, George Herriott and James Grant, trustees of School Section No. 13, at Godolphin, decided that it would be the part of wisdom to make provision for the lean seasons that follow every period of inflation. With that end in view they raised each year a sum more than sufficient for actual school purposes, and in this way accumulated a surplus.

When the Percy Township Council met here yesterday in regular session, and proceeded to strike the rate for the year, the trustees of S.S. No. 13 reported that they required no levy as with the surplus on hand the usual grants, they have enough to carry them over. The ratepayers in a season of low prices are relieved of at least a portion of the burden of taxes by the foresight of the men whom they selected to manage their school affairs.

Mr. Fairman is not a school trustee now, being a member of the Council, but the system described above was launched when he was in the former. While his colleagues congratulated him on his policy, some of them thought the plan might work an injustice to tenants, but Mr. Fairman explained that in the section there was only one man living on rented property, and he was a sufficient fixture as a resident to be benefited just as freeholders were.

Increase in Rates.

Percy Township raiesd $18,056.28 by taxation for all purposes in 1923, and this year a total of $18,556.72 will be required. The township rate was increased from 7 to 7½ mills, and the general school rate was fixed at 8 1-10 mills, an increase of one mill. The county rate is 10 1-10mills.

The gross expenditure of the township up to August 1st from the beginning of the year was $12,003.36 but of this $3,400.00, $7,350 for schools and $1,060 for the municipal telephone system, will be paid back, so that the net outlay up to the present is $3,603.36. There is due an interest account for the first seven months of the year, the sum of $1,070.

Part of the levy this year is the usual one mill on all rateable property in the township to meet the payments on the Community Hall, no debentures having been issued for the purpose.

The police village of Warkworth pays an extra one and a half mills for the privilege of leading an existence to some extent at least separate from the township. The village enjoys some temporal blessings to which the rural residents are strangers. It has Hydro light and police protection for instance. While the village sleeps the light burns brightly, and the vigilant Constable Phillips, if not actually on guard until the morning, is at least within call. The electric lights burning on the streets cost the villagers $75 a month, but in the public accounts there is nothing to show that the preserver of the peace receives any salary.

Since the Hydro current was turned on here, less than a year ago, the system has been extended to residences that are not included in the police village. Two street lights beyond the village limits have been set up. The Township Council was asked to pay for these, but the request was turned down, although this is a matter which is likely to be brought up again. The residents point to the neighboring Township of Seymour, where the Municipal Council has agreed to pay for two street lights at Hoard's Station. In the meantime the street lights outside Warkworth village are paid for by money subscribed by residents interested, and who are tired of trusting to the moon for illumination.

Without Debate.

The session of the Council yesterday was unusual in at least one particular. The bill for $20.30 for the maintenance of the Community Hall during the months of June and July was passed without a challenge. Usually one or more members of the Council have contended when this item of business was reached that the account shall be paid by the village and not by the township as a whole.

As the next regular session of the Council falls on the first Monday in September, which is Labour Day, this meeting has been postponed until Wednesday, 3rd September, at 10 a.m.

Shipments of Cheese.

The Warkworth cheese factory shipped 114 boxes of cheese this week, and as usual secured the top price. During the month of June the average weekly shipments were 100 boxes, and the total value of the cheese sold was $7,000.

The figures for July are not yet available. At present the factory is turning out 17 boxes a day.

The Warkworth factory is owned and operated by William Drewery, known all over the province as one of the most expert cheese makers in Ontario. Mr. Drewery also operates a factory where he manufactures the boxes required for his output of cheese, and also supplies other packers in the district.

E. Skitch, of Rear Street, who has been ill for some time, is improving. Hs son Ernest, who was called from Toronto some time ago, left for that city on Monday.

CHINESE BEATS A TIN PAN TO DRIVE OFF 'FIRE DEMONS'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Aug. 5. —Firemen responding to an alarm at 516 Madison Avenue early Sunday, found Wong Sing beating furiously on a tin pan to scare the fire demons away from his laundry.

The Chinese whirled like a dervish and uttered strange cries as he struck his improvised gong. Still wielding his washstick, he was pulled out by the firemen and taken to City Hospital, where he was treated for burns The firemen saved most of the laundry.

There are 400 Fairs in Canada and there combined attendance is little more than that of the Canadian National Exhibition alone.

SINGULAR SIGNS WARN MOTORISTS

Cobourg Branch of the Motor League Erects Warning at Railway Crossing.

COBOURG, Aug. 5.— The Cobourg Motor League has placed large signs adorned with the skull and cross bones on the William street crossing of the Canadian National Railway, a few hundred feet from the crossing. This is a spot where several fatalities have occurred and the object is, of course, to warn the travelling public and place them on their gaurd. The C. P. R. railway is only a short distnace from this level crossing and those unacquainted with the locality are liable to conclude that when they have passed under the subway there are no tracks to cross.

Death at Brighton.

The death took place at Brighton at the week end of Mrs. Phillips, widow of the late James H. Phillips, of that village, and mother of Mrs. Harry B. Phillips, an ex-Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. Mrs. Phillips was in her 76th year.

Death of Mrs. J. Munroe.

On Saturday last Mrs. John Monroes died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. D. Allport here. She had been in poor health for some time owing to advancing years. Mrs. Munroe, who was 82 years of age, was born in Perth and lived at Almonte for the greater part of her life. A funeral service was held at the residence of her daughter, after which the remains were taken to Almonte for interment. Mrs. Munroe is survived by five other daughters, besides Mrs. Allport, Mrs. Lowe, Winnipeg, Mrs. Calder, Stonewall, Man., Mrs. Simpson, of Almonte, Mrs. Templeman, Mrs. J. C. Rosevear, of Cobourg.

A good deal of satisfaction is expressed by local motorists because of the action of the Highways Department in letting a contract for the paving of the Cobourg-Port Hope road. The cost is estimated at $73,000 for a section not quite six miles in length. The paving will connect up with the paving in Cobourg to the Canadian Northern tracks on William street, the western entrance to this town, and with the main streets in Cobourg paved, will afford motorists quite along stretch of good roads.

UNIQUE CRAFT ON THE RIVER

Eighteen Foot Skiff Made Trent Waterway Route—Newspaper Man is Pilot.

OTHER VISITORS.

A recent visitor to the Trent Valley route who passed through Peterborough on the Otonabee on his way, was Lewis R. Freeman, who went from Chicago to Montreal via the water route, in an open 18-foot skiff, the 'Inshallah.

Mr. Freeman made the voyage up the Trent in his skiff, which is more of a canoe with broad stern than a boat, while its forward portion is protected from heavy seas by a light tarpaulin stretching amidships. It is essentially a one-man outfit, as there is little room for paddles, life-preservers, and a scanty supply of food. Yet in two weeks' actual traveling time this eggshell outfit negotiated the vast expanse of waters between Chicago and Montreal — a distance of 1,500 miles, running all the rapids until reaching the Long Sault, with not a single mishap of any kind.

Her motive power consisted of a 3 horse-power outboard motor, and the motor propelled the craft safely here without repair or part replacement. The boat covered 15 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Lewis R. Freeman, the navigator, is an author, newspaper man, and big game hunter, who makes these hazardous trips because he says he wants to get the kinks out of his back put there during the winter months of bending over a desk.

Mr. Freeman, who was official correspondent with the Grand Fleet during the war, accompanied the National Geographic Survey in its explorations of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and on 15th August expects to join an expedition which intends to explore the fastnesses of interior British Columbia, and hopes to bring back some valuable material which he intends to recount to audiences in Great Britain.

He has ranged all over the world from Alaska to the Southern Pacific and from Argentina to Thibet, and hunted big game in many of the countries of the world.

BIG PARTY HERE.

On Saturday there pased through the city twenty or more young men from the Cleveland Y.M.C.A., canoeing to Stoney Lake on their first annual excursion to Central Ontario. Their route lay through Jack's Creek and around the County of Peterborough.

Reeve H. B. Rye arranged for canoes for the party, and mapped out the route.

W. Bell and H. Bowen are in charge of the party, which was given an official welcome by His Worship Mayor Turner through the cards issued by the Motor League. They carried away samples of Peterborough advertising literature.

As a direct result of the exhibition at the New York Motor Show, M. T. Clarke of Chicago and W. Wraith of New York were attracted to the Waterway and passed through Peterborough over the week-end.

The former has a 48-foot cruiser, the Sabot, and is on his way to Georgian Bay, while the latter, in the 36-foot cruiser Milo is spending a month cruising the waterway.

These gentlemen are in search of tunge and bass, such as were shown at the Motor Boat Show in New York.

Both parties are pleased with the trip so far, and declare that the courtesy shown them in Canada has far surpassed that they received anywhere else.

AUTOMOBILE PARTIES.

Automobile tourist parties are passing through the city daily, attracted by the advertisng done by the Trent Waterway Development Association and the publicity given the district through the New York Motor Boat Show.

On two occasions parties that this year came by automobile have secured charts of the waterway, with the intention of coming by water next year.

THREE PIECES

The three-piece idea, with a coat or cape for every costume, is to be exploited further this fall than it has been during the summer. When the wraps are not exactly matching they harmonize.

Healthy babies thrive on Eagle Brand and doctors recommend it in stubborn feeding cases. It is the natural food when mother's milk is not available because it is pure country milk with sugar added. Always uniform, digestible, nourishing.

NEW SAW-MILL HELPS APSLEY

Logs That Hitherto Were Floated to Peterborough Will Be Sawn Nearer Forest.

1,600 WAITING

APSLEY, Aug. 5.—A new industry affecting Apsley and district was quietly and unostentaously launched last week when R. H. Knox started operations with his new saw mill. The mill, which is the result of Mr. Knox's enterprise is situated on Eels Creek on the Burleigh Road, four miles south of Apsley and with a good head of water is capable of cutting 10,000 feet of lumber a day. The Rev. C. Spence had the privilege of being present at the proceedings and assisted in the sawing of the first twenty-six foot log. He congratulated Mr. Knox on his success attending the erection of the mill and the construction of the dam on which he had been engaged all spring and in wishing him and his partner George Kilborne prosperity in the venture expressed the hope that eventually he would be in a position to handle all the timber cut in this part of the county which hitherto had had to be floated to Peterboro. Mr. Knox has a present about 1600 logs waiting to be cut.

BRITISH BREAD DEARER

Price Soars With Recent Increase of Wheat in Canada.

LONDON, August 5 (Canadian Press Cable). — Discussing the increase in the price of bread in the House of Commons yesterday a member asked the Government to follow the example of the Canadian Government and do something to remedy the situation by ordering an investigation or by some other means.

Sidney Webb, President of the Board of Trade, said the advance in prices was due to the prospect of the Canadian harvest rather than the United States harvest. The Government could do nothing but keep the matter under consideration, he said. He would be surprised to learn if the Canadian Government were able to do anything else, he added.

Won Aggregate Prize.

The grand aggregate prize to the Kawartha Park resident scoring the highest number of points was won by Jim Pierdon.

Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, of Burleigh Falls, presented the prizes at the close of the afternoon.

The attendance on the whole was gratifying to the Regatta Committee. Other sections of the lake were well represented, and Toronto's civic holiday added many visitors to the happy crowd.

Among the contestants who distinguished themselves were the Wallace sisters, of Toronto, who came up from their cottage at Rice Lake.

A feature of the competitions that contributed a special element of interest was the representation of the many families by at least two, and in some instances more than that number of their young folk in the races. In that respect the regatta at times gave the semblance of a family contest, adding keenness to the prevailing fine sportsmanship.

Another feature was Mr. Braden Blewett's exhibition of canoe stunts that displayed his mastery of the craft and its element.

The Kawartha Park Association, who richly earned the congratulations paid them upon the smooth progress of the regatta, is directed by the following officers;

Kawartha —Take 8.

Pres.—George E. Zimmerman, Toronto.

Vice-pres.—H. W. Morphet, Peterborough.

Sec.-Treas.—H. L. Beal, Peterborough.

Committee—T. H. Glover, convenor, H. W. Morphet, H. G. Fitzgerald, H. L. Beal.

Starter—J. C. Budreo, Toronto.

Recorder—W. G. Pierdon, Toronto.

House committee—Heber Rogers, convenor, Dudley Jessop, Chicago, Robert Beal and Dr. Wilfrid Adams.

Rain finally fell between five and six o'clock, but the sky cleared with the coming of evening and the regatta dance.

Watch for railroad crossings, and road breaks and curves.

CHANGED PLANS WORRY BRITAIN

Colonial Secretary and Home Secretary Move to Dublin—Cause Forebodings.

CRISIS THREATENED.

LONDON, August 5. Canadian Press. — The sudden and unexpected journey to Dublin over night of te British Colonial Secretary, J. H. Thomas, and Home Secretary Arthur Henderson, caused forebodings in political quarters, and the newspapers to-day, where it was regarded as a dramatic development, portending a graver turn to the Irish boundary crisis.

The officials would not talk for publication but it is the consensus of opinion of well informed newspaper men, that T. Cosgrave, head of the Free State government, had found on his return from London that his ministerial colleagues were not prepared to support the British government's proposal to introduce at the present session of parliament a bill amending the Anglo-Irish treaty but to defer its passage until October.

According to this version the Free State ministers insisted that immediate action was necessary to prevent the Republicans taking things into their own hands, and over-turning the Dublin government.

SENATOR BELCOURT OFFERED POSITION

Report From London Says Canadian Government Selects Senator as Minister in Washington.

—Officially Denied Here.

LONDON, August 5 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian Government has offered the post of Minister in Washington to Senator the Hon. N. A. Belcourt of Ottawa, who at present is Canadian representative at the Inter-Allied Conference here, according to the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph.

DENIAL ISSUED.

OTTAWA, August 5. — An official denial of the reports that Hon. A. A. Belcourt has been selected for the post of Canadian minister at Washington, was made this morning. It was stated that no decision had yet been arrived at in regard to filling the position.

CONFERENCE OVER IN HALF AN HOUR

MacDonald Asked Germans To Be Ready To Express Opinions To-morrow.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—"Upon this conference depends the fate of Germany, the fate of Europe.

"Good will and thorough sincerity are necessary to success, and in that spirit the German delegates propose to negotiate."

Replying in these words to a speech of welcome delivered by Premier Ramsay MacDonald, Chancellor Marx touched off a burst of optimism and good feeling at the Inter-Allied Reparations Conference to-day. The applause was spontaneous and enthusiastic, and the conference adjourned with the delegates in high spirits.

The Germans, who arrived here this morning and went at once to the plenary session, were handed a draft of the Inter-Allied agreements reached during the last fortnight. They promised to be as speedy as possible in studying these agreements. Another plenary session, possibly to-morrow, but more likely Thursday, will hear their views.

Urged Speed.

Premier MacDonald, presiding at the plenary session of the Inter-Allied Conference at noon, formally handed to the German delegation a protocol embodying the programme of the conference for putting the reparations experts' report into effect. He asked the Germans to be ready to express their opinions to-morrow, as he wanted to bring the conference to an end by Friday night.

The session was held at 10 Downing Street, the British Premier delivering the welcoming address. The meeting was over in thirty minutes. Replying for the Germans, Chancellor Marx said the German Government had accepted Dawes' plan and was putting through a necessary legislation to make it effective. The German representatives, he said, hoped to maintain the friendly spirit of the original experts, and hoped the Allies would do the same.

MAN FOUND DEAD.

Went To Inspect Summer Home, But Never Returned.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Lieut. Col. William W. Burleigh, shoe merchant, was found dead in his summer cottage on the shore of Lake Ontario on Sunday night where he had gone alone in the afternoon to inspect the place prior to the family moving into it for the balance of the summer. Col. Burleigh was found on a lounge with a cigar in one hand and two matches in the other, having apparently sunk to the lounge for rest after being seized by a weak spell.

He took command of the 19th regiment in 1912 and was in charge at the outbreak of the war when his unit was transferred into the Welland Canal as a protective force, continuing during the war's duration.

THE CIRCUS WILL BE HERE AUG. 14TH

There will be noise and hurry and rustling down at the Exhibition ground, Peterborough, on Thursday, August 14. There will be the unpacking of trunks in the dressing room. There will be the wild waving of other trunks in the "menagerie top" where the elephants are quartered. There'll be hurrying "razorbacks," canvas and seat men, and gaudy wagons with gilt and glitter sprinkled all over them. There will be horses and camels and polar bears and leopards and flags and cook houses and excitement, and lions with deep voices, and—

But why not come to the point? For Thursday, August 14th, there bobs into the life of Peterboro for a single day's stay, the Sparks Circus. That's the reason that on Thursday morning, there will wind through the downtown streets the long twistling lines of red and gold wagons, the troops of horses, the strung out files of elephants—the inevitable parade.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock there will begin the first of the two performances in which the announcer will call forth the acts that range all the way from the famous Flying Walters group of dexterous aerialists, to pretty Naida Miller, the world's greatest exponent of high wire evolutions whose act is so wonderful that she rivals the Flying Walters as an attraction.

And of course there will be plenty of clowns, and the Sparks dancing and high jumping horses, two herds of elephants, acrobatic seals, pigs who shoot the chutes, trained lions, tigers, leopards, polar and grizzly bears, trained ostriches and all that sort of thing. And besides, there'll be a genuine English fox-hunt with real fox hounds, and the champion long distance and high jumping horses of the world and—and—the parade. More than that the parade will be of wondrous length, and all wild animal cages open for public inspection.

Seats can be secured Circus Day at Payne's Drug Store same price as at show grounds.

Circus prices: Children under nine years of age 30c; adults 75c.

Sparks Circus will exhibite at the Exhibition grounds. dw

DOUBLE DROWNING.

Youth Drowned in Attempt To Save Drowning Boy.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 5.—(Canadian Press).—Locked in each others arms the bodies of James Rider aged 20, of Fesserton, Ontario and Walter Albert Hunt aged 14, son of George Hunt of Merriton, were taken from the Old Welland Canal at Lock 13, an Sunday evening.

The Hunt boy had been in bathing and was apparently seized with a cramp. Rider who had just arrived at Merriton on the Canadian National Railways train, observed the lads distress and jumped in to try and save him. The struggling boy frantically threw his legs and arms about his rescuer, rendering him helpless. Both sank to their deaths.

Children Sailed Their Boats Into Eternity In Bath Tub Their Mother Thought Was Safe

CHICAGO, August 5 (Canadian Press). — Ruth Siegel, aged 5 years, and her brother Edward, aged 6, were drowned in a bath tub yesterday while their mother chatted with a neighbour in an adjoining room.

The lake was too far away from their home and too deep and too dangerous, so daily she would fill the tub half full of water, put on their bathing suits, and permit them to sail their boats in the tub.

For half an hour their laughter reached their mother as she went about her duties.

Mrs. Martha Haas ,next door neighbour, dropped in for a chat, and departed.

Then alarmed at the sudden silence, the mother dashed to the bathroom.

The children lay in each other's arms, their heads under the water. The girl presumably had slipped over the edge and the boy had been dragged in while trying to help her out.

WINDSOR, August 5 (Canadian Press). — Sola Formack, a 17-year-old girl, was restrained twice on Sunday night when she attempted to end her life by jumping from the deck railing of the ferry Promise into the Detroit River.

Record day's attendance at the Canadian National Exhibition, the Annual World's Fair, is 230,000, reached on Young Canada's Day, 1921. The attendance on the same day this year, Exhibition officials think, should be 250,000.

ROSENEATH WON GAME AND HALF IN ITS LEAGUE

Colborne Fell Before Winners by 16 Runs to 1 at Roseneath.

OSHAWA NEXT

Double Error Gave Visitors Their Only Run—They Went Hitless.

ROSENEATH, Aug. 5. — Roseneath defeated Colborne in a postponed game on the home grounds on Friday, 16-1, and are now undisputed champions of the first half and co-operation shown gives every berland Baseball League in the O.B.A. play-offs. They will meet the winners of the Oshawa Church League in home and home games in the course of a couple of weeks. The home team played like champions and clouted three Colborne pitchers for a total of eighteen hits, which with three walks and a few errors netted them 16 runs. Leach pitched five innings for Roseneath, striking out seven, hitting one, and holding Colborne hitless. He was then relieved by Dunnet, who struck out two and also held his opponents without a hit during the rest of the game. Colborne should have been held scoreless, but in the fourth inning, after Myles had reached first on an error, he romped clean home on another error and a wild throw.

Ives started on the mound for Colborne, and just lasted one inning when he was touched for six hits and a walk, netting six runs. He was then replaced by McCracken, who lasted just the same as the former, allowing six hits and five runs in the second. Myles then took up the task, and held the homesters to six hits, one walk and hitting one man during the balance of the game. Colborne only got three men to first, and only one any farther during the entire game, one receiving a walk, another being hit, and the other on an error. Roseneath slugged the ball all over the grounds, Bates and Thackeray getting a two-bagger each. Moore led his team-mates in run-getting, crossing the plate four times, while all the rest helped along with one or two. The game was handled by Jack Lems of Cobourg as umpire-in-chief, while Macklin handled the bases, and both did their job to perfection.

The line-up:

Colborne—Hawkins cf, McCracken p and 2b, Myles p and ss, Ross 1b, Mayhew c, Osborne lf, Ives p and ss, McDonald rf, Dudley 3b.

Roseneath — Davey ss, Bates 2b, B. Thackeray 1b, Moore cf, R. Thackeray c, Montgomery rf, Armstrong lf, Shearer 3b, Leach p and 3b, Dunnett p.

Score by innings:

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. What does the letters T. B. as used in box scores by certain papers mean?—W. V. R.

2. The rules state that a runner or runners shall be entitled to three bases if a fielder throws his glove and hits a batted ball and two bases if a thrown ball. What is the ruling if a fielder throws his glove at a batted or thrown ball and it fails to come into contact with the ball? In other words, must there be contact with the ball before the fielder can be punished for his act?—F. G.

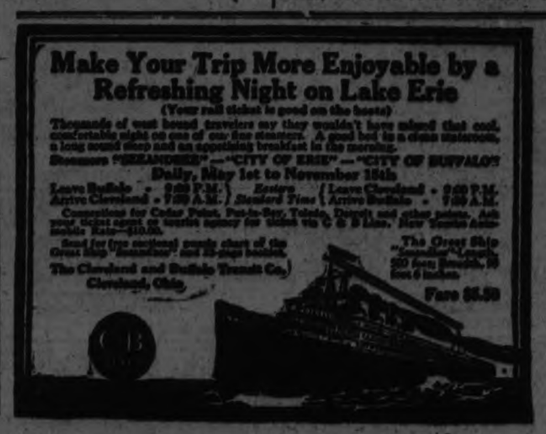
3. There are runners on second and third and two out. The batsman hits safely to left field. Runners dash for the plate on the hit while batsman tries to make second base. He is retired at that base on a throw from left fielder, making final out of the inning. The plate umpire ruled runner from second had crossed the plate a step before batsman was retried at second. Does the run count?

ANSWERS

1. The letters T.B., used in certain box scores, refer to total bases. Thus if a batter made two hits, a triple and home run, his total bases would be seven.

2. When a fielder throws his glove at a batted or thrown ball, there must be actual contact with the ball or no penalty is inflicted.

3. The runs certainly count, provided they were over the plate, before the batsman who tried to stretch a single into a double was retired at second base.



KAWARTHA PARK AGGREGATE WON BY JIM PIERDON

Annual Regatta Monday Was Speeded Up By Threat of Rain.

LIST OF WINNERS

Attendance Included Many Toronto Civic Holiday Visitors.

The annual field day of the Kawartha Park Cottagers' Association was held on Saturday afternoon at Sandy Point, with a large attendance of cottagers and their friends present. The committee were on the spot in excellent time, and had roped off the course, and when the crowd gathered at 3 o'clock, the hour appointed for the sports, all was in readiness.

Every event was well contested, so well in fact, that nearly all the races were run off in sections, with the winners of each section competing for the prize. A number of young men present requested a special 100-yard dash, not for a prize, but for the sport of racing. This request was granted, and a number of athletic girls followed up with a similar request, which was also acceded to. These extra events added considerably to the programme. The boys from the Rotary Camp were present in full force, and were eager contestants in all the races for which they were eligible. The potato race for boys brought out nearly every boy who was of the age required, and it required several sections to accommodate the entries. The nail-driving and ball-throwing contests brought out especially large entries. The race for girls of 6 years and under had a unique feature when the mothers were lined up to receive the little ones, who had become somewhat confused with the excitement, and were told by Dr. Zimmerman to "run to mother." It was a pretty sight as little ones understood that order, and the mothers' arms gathered in the youthful runners. Dr. G. F. Zimmerman acted as starter and Mr. H. W. Morphet as recorder. Dr. J. H. Edmison was chairman of the land events. Mr. T. H. Glover thoughtfully brought down several benches from the tent to provide accommodation for the ladies.

The interest in the races was keen and the programme dispersed of in the efficient manner for which Kawartha Park has earned a reputation all over the Kawartha Lakes.

The following is the programme and the winners of each event:

Girls' running race, 6 years and under—1 Isobel Rae, 2 Alice Pierdon.

Boys' running race, 6 years and under—1 John Bodley, 2 Douglas Zimmerman.

Girls' running race, 10 years and under—1 Minnie Pierdon, 2 Helen Pennell.

Boys' runnig race, 10 years and under—1 John Maudsley, 2 Walter Jones.

Thread the needle race, girls, 14 years and under—1 Arlie Comstock, 2 Doris Budreo.

Potato race, boys, 14 years and under — 1 Jim Ellis, 2 John Playford.

Mixed relay race, married men and women—1 Mr. and Mrs. Price, 2 Mr. and Mrs. Bodley.

Peanut race for girls — 1 Miss Helen Edmison, 2 Miss Maxine Rayson.

Balloon race for married ladies—1 Mrs. Hill, 2 Mrs. T. H. Glover.

100-Yard dash, men — 1 Gordon Smith, 2 Dr. George Zimmerman.

100-Yard dash, girls—1 Miss Lilian Cutcliffe, 2 Miss Elinor Cutcliffe.

Nail-driving contest for married ladies — 1 Mrs. Pennell, 2 Mrs. Townshend.

Ball-throwing contest for ladies—1 Mrs. Hill, 2 Miss Florence Adams.

Baseball Game.

After the races Dr. J. H. Edmison, chairman of the committee, presented the prizes, and reminded the crowd that Monday is the day of the annual regatta.

Only one accident is recorded during the afternoon, and that though painful, was not dangerous. Don. Weir broke his thumb while playing ball, but after having it dressed, he pluckily acted as umpire for the softball game which was played as a climax to the afternoon's program, between the Rotary Camp team and the Kawartha Park team. The latter won easily, but the Rotary boys put up a good game, and played to the finish in true sporting fashion.

The following is the line-up for the teams:

Kawartha—McDuffy c, Killaly p, J. Pierdon 1b, Adams 2b, White 3b, Langley ss, Smith ss, B. Pierdon rf, Edmison lf.

Rotary—Woodcock c, Budd p, Trebilcock 1b, Graham 2b, Griffin 3b, Dorrington ss, McBride ss, Francis rf, Wilson lf.

The score by innings was:

Kawartha .. ..500115x—12
Rotary .. ..0030000— 3

REGATTAS MAKE UP A BIG WEEK AT EVERY LAKE

Programme Started Yesterday and Will End Next Monday.

DOUBLE EVENTS.

News of Stoney Lake Holiday Makers — Entertainments and Amusements.

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 5.—This week is Gala Week at the lakes and plans are made to celebrate it in proper style.

The following is the program:

Monday, August 4 — Kawartha Park Regatta.

Wednesday, August 6th— Children's Regatta at Juniper in the afternoon; masquerade at Crowe's Landing in the evening.

Thursday, August 7—Boat trip to Chemong Regatta.

Friday, August 8—Illuminated Flotilla at Juniper.

Saturday, August 9—Race round Juniper—Gordon Grahame cup in the afternoon; masquerade dance at night.

Monday, August 11—Juniper Regatta.

Pleasant Tea.

Mrs. Gordon Smith of "Shota" was the hostess of a delightful tea last Sunday afternoon (July 27th) at which a large number were present and spent a delightful afternoon. Mrs. Smith had prepared a surprise for her guests and when all were assembled she announced the engagement of her guest, Miss Mary Watson of Chicago to Mr. Kennedy Jones of Texas. At the announcement Miss Watson appeared, in a dainty white gown and carrying a boquet of water lilies, the personification of a charming bride. The news was a very great surprise and everyone immediately crowded about the bride elect offering good wishes for many years of wedded bless. Miss Watson is one of the most popular girls of the summer colony in which she is well known and friends all over the lake unite in good wishes.

Owing to the summer being so cool there are not as many swimming parties as usual but if August reverses July's programme and is very hot no doubt there will be a series of these delightful events. One of the most popular entertainments in the summer colony is the swimming party and these are usually large and jolly, often fifty people disporting themselves in the cool waters of the lake.

Bonfires Coming.

Up to date there have not been as many bonfires as usual at the lake and probably the extremely cool evenings constitute the principal cause of this; however, one can see preparation made for them at a great many places and one infers that the few spare hours in Gala Week may be used this way.

Thirty or forty years ago the [illegible] was a great social event among the campers and was always accompanied by a sing-song, very informal and very enjoyable.

Many Tents.

There are even more tents than usual this season which considering that there are rather less people at the lake than usual, is rather surprising. The cold, backward season combined with industrial depression all over the country, has seriously effected the vacation resorts and in consequence there are not as many people as usual on the lake.

The "Sabot" of Chicago, a trim cruiser, passed through the lakes this week and is one of the most luxurious boats we have seen, being finished in mahogany and with every comfort and modern appliance which makes a long water trip enjoyable.

That aristocrat of water flowerdom, the white pond lily, has made its appearance and it is as eagerly sought as ever, but, like a bashful beauty, it loves the secluded spots and is difficult to obtain. The little marshy bays are the best spots to capture these elusive beauties.

Fireplace Popular.

During the cool mornings and evenings which have characterized this unusual summer, the fireplace is a very popular institution in a cottage and one which is steadily growing in popularity. An open fireplace has now become rather the rule than the exception in the modern cottages.

Personals.

Mrs. C. O. Crawford of Lakefield is spending a couple of weeks at "Belle View," Stoney Lake.

Miss Annie Elliott of Peterboro spent a couple of wee spent Thursday at Stoney Lake.

Mrs. A. E. Dawson and family of Toronto are at "Ivanhoe" for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Wyley Grier of Toronto have taken 'Point o' Rocks' for the month of August.

R. H. Loosemore of Toronto is spending the week-end at the lake.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Is the baseball prowess of the American youth at a low ebb?

Is the national pastime suffering from a temporary dearth of material due to a number of causes?

It is the history of baseball that certain years are very prolific in producing real stars.

Then there comes an era of several years when the baseball crop is only ordinary. It runs in cycles.

During the past month I have talked with a dozen major league scouts, all of them discouraged and disgusted with the prospective material offered by the minors.

"The best ball players I have seen in action this summer are the old-timers, players who have either served in the majors or the better minor leagues."

So remarked a well-known major league scout, who for years has piloted big league clubs in both the American and National.

It is a rather interesting fact that a number of the leading stars of the American League made their debut about the same time. Most of these players will pass out together and their exit will be felt.

Ty Cobb, one of the outstanding stars, is playing his twentieth season. He says it will be his last as a regular.

Tris Speaker, brilliant outfielder and manager of the Cleveland club, has played almost as long. He cannot go on forever.

Eddie Collins, game's greatest second baseman has been performing sensationally for 19 years.

Walter Johnson, wonder pitcher, has been at it for 18 campaigns, and is having one of his best years. However, he threatens to retire and buy a minor league club.

These four great players are just a few of the many veteran stars in the American League who haven't long to go. A similar condition exists in the National.

Stars are made from the recruits. American League scouts have several big jobs ahead to fill the places of these veteran stars who will soon pass out of the picture.

Here are just a few of the reasons the scouts have advanced to me for the present dearth of big league material.

Lack of playing space in the larger cities, which prevents many youngsters from indulging in the game.

Tennis has also retarded the development of baseball material.

The attitude of many college coaches, who advise against a baseball career, unless the player is capable of stepping into the big league and making good.

Whatever the reason, major league scouts are unanimous in the opinion that the bushes have but little to offer in the way of big league stars in the rough.

GROVES IS REPORTED SOLD TO REDS FOR $50,000

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5.—An announcement of the sale of Bob Groves, crack Baltimore southpaw, to the Cincinnati Reds, may be momentarily expected, says a Baltimore despatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The purchase price is said to be $50,000. Groves will be retained by the Orioles until the close of the present season.

More than 700,000 invitations to attend the Canadian National Exhibition are sent out annually for Young Canada's Day, largely among the primary schools pupils of Ontario.

Belleville added two more and their last to be recorded in the official box score in the third, and they came in as the result of two home runs, the [illegible] by Mickey Ross, with [illegible] ls following on the first ball pitched to him.

Oshawa showed one across in the third when P. Fair singled; Morrison sacrificed him to second and he scored on Rowden's wallop to left field.

From the third to the eighth Belleville only looked dangerous once but Dainty with good support behind him pulled out of a hole.

In the ninth Casey and Ouellet both walked on four balls and Weir hit safe filling the bases; then Dainty issued a charity to Ross and Casey was forced across the plate. W. Mills hit a long fly to centre and Ouletto scored on the throw in and with Jup. Pluv. next up he sent along enough rain to make skinned part of the diamond look like a lake and the umps called the game, and the score reverted back to the end of the eighth with the score 3 to 3 in Oshawa's favor.

A walk, an error and three hits in the fourth netted Oshawa four runs, and enough to put the old ball game away in the bat bag and make a tie up between Belleville and Peterboro for first place in the race for the second section honors of the Central Ontario League.

"Echo Alarms" and "Escorts" to Fight the Iceberg Terror

How the "Safety First" Radio Is Being Used to Guard Ocean Liners Against Frozen Sea Monsters

ANOTHER victory of man, science and mechanics over the "unconquerable" forces of Nature—

Amid the North Atlantic of the dreadful iceberg terror that drifts down to the steamship lanes each Spring and Summer from the Arctic, a fleet of Uncle Sam's fine revenue cutters, equipped with "iceberg alarms" and radios, is now patrolling the sea and will continue its dangerous duty until the middle of July, when the annual danger will be over.

It is called the "International Ice Patrol," and is financed jointly by all the nations of the world which have transatlantic shipping.

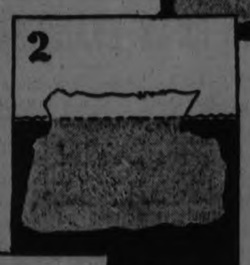
The actual work is entirely under the direction of the U. S. Coast Guard. It is being carried out so efficiently that the experts hope there will never be a repetition of the "Titanic" disaster.

Early each Spring the great glaciers, solid rivers of slow-moving ice that descend from the mountainous western slopes of Greenland into Baffin Bay, break off huge masses of ice, which topple into the water.

The glaciers are "calving," and the great broken-off mass of ice is called the glacier's "calf."

These terrifying though beautiful monster-children of the glaciers are caught in the swirls around Baffin Bay and southward along its west coast, and are borne in endless procession down past Labrador, melting slowly and taking jagged shapes as they make their journey, until they drift past Newfoundland into the Grand Banks, and there cross directly the chief lanes of ocean traffic between England, the United States and most of the northern ports of Europe.

1 — An Iceberg Just After It Has Broken from a Glacier, with Seven-eighths of Its Bulk Under Water.



2 — As It Drifts Into Warmer Waters, the Frozen Monster Begins to Melt.

3 — When the Sun's Rays Rot the Upper Part, the Iceberg Tilts, Becoming a Still Greater Menace to Navigation.

4 — The Deadly Iceberg, Melted and Tilted, with a Jagged Projection Extending Several Hundred Feet Under Water.

Here the Labrador current runs into the Gulf Stream, and the icebergs, gradually drifting through the steamship lanes, are finally caught by the warmer current, which takes them out into mid-ocean, where they finally melt away.

The only great danger to shipping is while they are passing through the ocean lanes in the course of this long drift.

Without the "Echo Alarm," This Ship Might Turn to Pass the Iceberg and Be Wrecked on the Jagged Hidden Projection.

with cruel jagged spurs that often run for hundreds of feet under water, far distant from the towering, glittering peaks that project above the surface.

At night or even in the daytime when there is a fog, as is often the case, an iceberg is invisible. What happens if an ocean liner strikes one? The ship is almost sure to be smashed, with the probable loss of many lives.

That was what happened to the mighty "Titanic," April 15, 1912. An underwater spur of an immense iceberg ripped through her side as she turned in an effort to escape, and inflicted a death wound.

That frightful disaster caused fourteen nations to get together and establish the "International Ice Patrol," which has been steadily increasing in efficiency from year to year.

The cutters of the Ice Patrol lie in wait for these great icebergs slightly to the northward, off the coast of Newfoundland, and "sight" them, before they drift into the steamship lanes.

It is impossible to melt them or divert them or destroy them, so the cutters become their "escorts," following and watching over them from day to day, charting their positions and their drift, and continually sending out radio warnings to all ships of their exact location and progress.

This escort is continued until the icebergs have passed through the busy ocean lanes and drifted on out with the Gulf Stream to mid-ocean, where there is not one chance in a million of their doing any harm.

April, May, June and the first days of July are the times when the icebergs are most numerous and dangerous. Great ice mountains are afloat, monster icebergs, some of them ten times the size of the Woolworth Building.

Two of Uncle Sam's finest cutters, the "Tampa" and "Modoc," electrically driven and capable of keeping the sea in all kinds of weather, are "flag-ships" of the ice patrol.

They are now off the Grand Banks, and will return with their season's work finished about the middle of July, when the danger of icebergs drifting through the steamer lanes will have practically ceased.

For experimental purposes, these two cutters have been provided with a newly invented device called an iceberg alarm. It is a modification of the apparatus recently used by the navy for ascertaining ocean depths by echoes. In the latter case, a sound wave is sent to the bottom by a transmitter, and returning as an echo, is heard in the receiver. The interval of time between sending and receiving determines the distance of the bottom from the ship's hull, the rate at which the sound travels through water being comparatively slow and easily measured, only 1,100 feet a second.

Maps Showing Where Icebergs Break Away from the Glaciers in the Arctic and Float Southward with the Labrador Current and Into the Steamship Lanes Off Newfoundland. The Star Shows Where the Titanic Was Sunk.

Of course, in fair weather and daytime, an iceberg can be seen from a great distance, a gorgeously beautiful sight despite the sinister danger it represents.

But at night or in a fog, the berg may not be visible until the ship is right upon it. Furthermore, as seven-eighths of the berg is under water, and as it melts and tilts regularly, there may be a sort of underwater plateau of the berg jutting out hundreds of feet from the visible part, with a spur only slightly submerged, that could rip through the side of a vessel before the projecting part of the berg could be seen.

It is thought that by the iceberg alarm, echoes may be obtained from icebergs if any happen to be lurking around and precautionary signals may be continually sent by the transmitter. The efficiency of this device for vessels in general is still in question, though it has been used with excellent results by the cutters. In the case of the small electrically driven cutters, there is less "interference" from vibration and machinery aboard. If it does serve in the case of great liners to obtain sound reflections from floating ice mountains, notifying the ship of the distance and direction of the danger, it will mark a great step in making North Atlantic navigation safer.

Previous to the invention of the echo device, no means had been found whereby the nearness of an iceberg in fog or darkness could be detected. The claim made by some shipmasters, that warning under such circumstances may be given by a damp and vault-like chill of the air in the neighborhood of the berg, is not believed to have much foundation in scientific fact. There is always a damp and vault-like chill off the Grand Banks in the Spring, except when the sun is shining.

It is an interesting fact that the iceberg "echo alarm" with which the International Ice Patrol is now experimenting was not originally designed for this sort of work at all.

It was a product of the scientific effort of the hydrographic department to perfect a better method of ascertaining ocean depths than the old weights and wires heretofore used.

Until the invention of this echo device, the only practical way of measuring depths was to send down a heavy weight of lead; like a sort of gigantic window-weight, at the end of a long steel piano-wire wound on a drum. For depths of over three miles, which is the average depth of the ocean far off shore, the weight of the wire itself added considerable difficulty to the work, and the wire often actually broke.

When it came to the greater depths, which in some places approximate as far as six miles, the apparatus was exceedingly difficult to manage.

U. S. Cutter "Tampa," One of the Flag-Ships of the International Ice Patrol.

In addition it had the disadvantage that each sounding only gave the depth for a tiny location, and it would take millions of them to construct anything like an accurate topographical map of the ocean floor

A still further disadvantage was that the old method was inaccurate, as it was never possible to tell exactly how much allowance to make for the dragging of the sounding apparatus this way and that by deep ocean currents.

With the invention of the echo device, greater accuracy and speed were achieved and almost immediately new discoveries began to be made about the ocean depths.

Steaming slowly over a given area and continually sending down echoes that came back at regular intervals from the bottom, it was possible to measure the exact gradations and extent of the slopes and hills and valleys and mountains that make up the ocean, just as they do the dry land.

In the meantime the echo device has been put to secondary experimental use as an "iceberg alarm." The exact degree of its success for this purpose is still to be determined.

Up to now, the International Ice Patrol itself, picking up and "escorting" icebergs whenever they drift directly into the steamship lanes, and continually sending out radio warnings giving the exact location of the bergs, is the best and most adequate protection against this annual terror of the northern seas.

CONSTRUCTION BY-LAWS CARRY —BUY SWEEPER

City Fathers Broke New Ground and Had Most Progressive Meeting in Months.

LIVELY PROCEEDINGS.

Two Aledrmen in Tilt When City Contractors Were Made a Subject of Censure.

Startling changes in matters of civic policy resulted from last night's meeting of the City Council.

Peterboro will have a dustless sweeper, despite the resolution embodied in the report of the Committee of the whole deferring the purchase of a machine.

It was the shortest meeting experienced by the City Fathers in many months, but in-so-far as progress is concerned, it was also most decisive and successful session in many months. Co-operation and com promise of individual policy were responsible for the marked accomplishment.

Amongst other things, the proceedings were enlivened by a heated discussion which fortunately ended before the situation became serious as a result of the calming suggestions of Mayor Turner. City Contractors were made a subject of censure by Alderman Stocker, and James Gates, City Dog Catcher, was scored by Alderman Crowe for improper methods, followed in the course of his season's engagement which expires at the end of the present week.

Purchased Sweeper

Those, who strongly favoured the purchasing of a Dustless Sweeper this year at last weeks' meeting when the proposal was rejected, triumphed last night, when a by-law providing for the issuing of debentures for the purpose of purchasing a Dominion Dustless Sweeper received its third reading on a unanimous vote.

According to the agreement that will be executed, the Company will operate and store the machine until November 30th of the present year and will guarantee to service the machine for one year, making all necessary repairs, with the exception of those resulting from ordinary wear and tear and the replacement of bushes, during that period.

Construction By-Laws

A most peculiar incident occurred after Alderman Morrison introduced a by-law, authorizing the construction of paving on Water street, from the C.N.R. crossing north to Langton street.

The by-law received its first reading, Aldermen Maher, Morrison, Fife Jones and Phelan voting yea and Aldermen Stocker and Crowe nay.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole to discuss and give the by-law its second reading.

Aldermen Crowe observing that he members had been appraised of his view of further paving proposals on other occasions stated that it would be unnecessary for him to out ne again his reasons for opposing te proposition.

Earlier in the evening, a deputation led by Mr. Alfred Nichol who addressed the Council advocated the completion of Water street north, at an early date.

As the vote stood one more was required to obtain a two-third vote, necessary to carry the by-law and Mayor Turner in an effort to obtain the required majority explained that ne only would employment be provided by further construction work but that in default of the paving, it would be necessary to expend a sum of $750.00 to put Water street in shape for the balance of the season.

Alluding to the deputation, he stressed the necessity for an immediate remedy of either a permanent or temporary character.

Alderman Phelan pointed out that the sum of $750, which would be spent on the road this year, if the paving programme was not proceeded with, would pay the interest on the debentures and part of the sinking fund, if a permanent concrete road was laid.

"It's a commercial road too," stated the Mayor, "carrying the bulk of the traffic from Smith and Douro."

"But they don't pay for it," replied Alderman Crowe.

"No, but they spend money in the city, and it is all these tributaries that keep the city going," said Mayor Turner.

It was shown that the next by-law to be considered, which was a by-law authorizing the execution of an agreement between the city and John Carrol to pave Water Street, would afford Aldermen Stocker and Crowe an opportunity of defeating the proposal providing for the paving of Water Street this year, as the one by-law depended upon the other and the object of the proposal could be defeated by the rejection of either by-law. On this basis Aldermen Crowe and Stocker agreed to vote for the by-law authorizing the construction of Water Street, resting assured that they would grasp their opportunity to block the work when the next by-law was considered.

Caught Napping.

As a result, the by-law received its three readings and duly passed. Alderman Morrison then proceeded to introduce the by-law authorizing the execution of an agreement between the city and John Carrol, accepting the latter's offer to pave Water Street North at $2.30 per square yard.

The by-law received its first, second and third readings, and Mayor Turner declared the by-law carried.

Apparently Aldermen Stocker and Crowe had been caught napping, as they raised a storm of protest, alleging they had not been given an opportunity to express their opposition to the by-law.

Addressing the Mayor, Alderman Crowe stated that he didn't think that Mayor Turner would take advantage of Alderman Stocker and himself in that manner.

Mayor Turner: "I fully expected that you would raise your objections on the second reading, and you never said a word."

Aldermen Crowe and Stocker both opined that they were opposed to letting the work by contract, and wished to have the road constructed by day labor.

Alderman Phelan: "It's a small job and I think we should do it with a contractor, who has his gang employed and his forces organized. It's late in the year, and if we do it under the City Engineer, we will have to buy a plant. However, next year we could include the price of a mixer in our appropriations and be able to do some work by day labor."

Alderman Stocker: "We can do it ourselves at 50c a yard cheaper. I'd like to ask Mr. Parsons."

Alderman Phelan: "How does Mr. Stocker say that, when the City Engineer tendered higher than Mr. Carrol."

Alderman Stocker: "I'm speaking about the profits. These men are not in it for nothing. You are just bringing a bunch of U.F.O.'s to camp here."

Alderman Crowe: "Can't we go back to the second reading?"

Mayor Turner: "If the Council are in favor of it."

Alderman Phelan: "Why not discuss it right now; I maintain you can discuss it in the third reading."

Aldermen Crowe and Stocker moved that the Council go back into Committee of the Whole to reconsider the by-law and the motion lost, only its mover and seconder supporting it.

Alderman Crowe: "Look here, I am sorry you have acted this way toward us."

Mayor Turner: "You have no one to blame but yourself."

Alderman Phelan pressed the Mayor to record the yeas and nays on the third reading, which resulted as follows:

Yeas—Aldermen Fife, Morrison, Maher, Jones, Phelan and Mayor Turner.

Nays — Aldermen Stocker and Crowe.

Strong Speech

Upon Mayor Turner announcing again that the by-law passed, Alder said "I understand it's said on the said "I understand its said on the street that they can't stop us. Certain contractors can get just what they want. I hope the people get wise to this thing."

Mayor Turner—"O! Don't listen to gossip Alderman Stocker."

Alderman Maher—"I'd like Alderman Stocker to name some of the people who made those statements?"

Alderman Stocker —Reliable authorities."

Alderman Phelen — "Alderman Stocker has got his knife into Mr. Carroll. He talks about outsiders working for the contractors. The Warren people came in here and Aldermen Stocker never opened his mouth. Alderman Stocker would like to dictate to contractors and everybody else in Peterboro."

Alderman Stocker—"In reference to these remarks and I think I know something about concrete, all you need is a foreman, a couple of fin ishers and the rest is all labour.

I have no confidence in the man.'

Murray and Antrim

By-laws introduced by Alderman Morrison, Chairman of the Board of Works, authorizing the execution of an agreement between the City and the Warren Bituminous Paving Co., acepting the latter's tender to pave Murray street from Aylmer east to 116 feet east of Water street and Antrim street from George to Water, passed receiving their three readings.

The price accepted is at the rate of $2.85 per square yard. The filling used will be Warrenrite bituminous paving.

When the advisability of continuing with further paving was being discussed Mayor Turned observing that it is so long since the City has had a paving programme it is necessary to do a considerable portion each year, now that the work has gotten behind, as other than the approaches to Hunter street bridge and a little construction on George street south, no paving has been done in the city since 1914.

Petitions

Permission was given to the I.O.O.F. to hold their annual picnic in King Edward Park on civic holiday, August 11.

Three eating house licenses were renewed, provided they obtained the approval of the Sanitary Inspector, and J. E. A. Fitzgerald was granted permission to erect a scale house on Bethune street on the west side of the road, just south of the bridge between Murray and Brock street.s

Mr. Lorne Webster asked permission to erect four concrete approaches to the garages built on his property on the corner of Rubidge and Charlotte which are built very close to the sidewalk stated Alderman Phelan who further stated that they appeared like a bunch of henhouses situated in the midst of a residential section of the City.

Mayor Turner opined that the city would have to grant the request since Mr. Webster obtained building permits, explaining that the city couldn't stop a citizen from obtaining access to his premises.

"You don't have to grant approaches," stated City Solicitor J. W. Wearing.

On motion of Aldermen Phelan and Stocker a resolution was passed which provided that the City should not approve of the approaches until the garages were moved back at least six feet, from the street line.

Instal Hydrant

On the recommendation of Alderman Stocker, chairman of Fire, Water and Light Committee, the Council approved of the installation of a hydrant on Lansdowne street, about half way between Lock and Sherbourne.

Re-surfacing George

The matter of re-surfacing George street, from Charlotte to the C.P.R. crossing again came up for discussion.

It was decided at a meeting of the Board of Works to patch the worst spots at a cost of a few hundred dollars, in the belief that such a remedy would be sufficient for two or three years ,as in this area there were large portions of the pavement sound and in good condition.

"It would be a pity to tear it up," said Mayor Turner, "while we can take advantage of the Warren Company, while they are here, to patch the worst places and put the road in fair condition."

Ald. Fife maintained that to patch it up would cost up in the thousands and stated that although he advocated re-surfacing and a progressive programme, he was willing to compromise by patching, but that if George street is not looked after this year and properly resurfaced he was through with paving.

He was strongly supported by Alderman Jones, who pointed out that although he had drawn the Council's attention to George street's condition many times during the last two or three years, nothing has been done. "We must patch it properly, even if it does take a little more," he concluded.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Jones, the City Engineer was instructed to bring in an estimate of the cost of the proposed patching.

Sidewalk Granted.

Mr. Carpenter's request for a concrete sidewalk on Armour Road between Douro and Clifton streets, was granted, on a resolution sponsored by Ald. Maher, who in support of the motion stated that the city had on other occasions made grants where there were no residences, pointing out that Mr. Carpenter filled the ditch as requested by the council.

Ald. Fife opined that the building of concrete sidewalks, bordering vacant property, encouraged building.

Gasoline Tanks.

The applications of W. Watson, 446 George street, and Mr. P. Harrison, corner of Smith and Water Sts., were granted after a prolonged discussion, during which many ideas were advanced as to the curtailment and control of gasoline tanks, which are rapidly being acquired by merchants of all classes, as well as service stations.

Ald. Maher advocated that gas tanks be assessed pointing out that in some other centres gas tanks are assessed. A preference should be given to the service stations, who are rendering a service to the community, stated Ald. Maher. Tanks are being erected on every street corner with the resit that every individual can continue in the business but if the tanks are assessed the owners who are not conducting service stations would not be allowed to escape their duty.

Some years ago, said Ald. Maher, the city had several good hat stores. The fixed assessment on hat stores was removed, with the result that we have only one hat store in the city to-day, as everyone jumped into the business, and the city is losing a certain fixed assessment now as a consequence.

He urged that the council meet the garagemen of the city with a view to regulating the situation, so that a satisfactory solution could be reached as a basis to deal with the problem.

The suggestion of Ald. Maher met with general approval but it was thought because of lateness of the season and because several application had geen granted recently the city would be discriminating to refuse further applications. For that reason the matter was deferred until next year, when a uniform policy would be inaugurated.

James Gates Scored.

Ald. Crowe pointed out that the city dog catcher had been collecting a dollar for every information laid at the police station, in reference to stray dogs wandering about the streets.

It was shown that Alderman Crowe, when fined for not purchasing a dog license some time ago was taxed this extra dollar, which was later refunded to him.

"I want the same treatment meted out to everybody," said Alderman Crowe "and the many other parties who had this dollar illegally collected from them, should have it refunded."

"He was doing all right at first when he would bring a dog to the pound and if canine was not claimed, he would be shot. But later, without catching a dog he would go up to the owner and demand a dollar, which he had no right to do and we don't know how much money he has collected illegally in this way," said Alderman Crowe.

"I understand that this money that was collected by the Police Department is being refunded," stated Mayor Turner, remarking that Mr. Gates' tenure of office concluded this week.

Alderman Phelan pointed out that as the city was indebted to Mr. Gates to the extent of $1.00 for every dog not claimed, the Treasurer could withhold that money until all refunds had been made.

A resolution was passed instructing the Police Department to refund all money collected illegally, in the manner described.

EXHIBITION GAME.

Mackeys and Lakeviews Meet at Riverside To-morrow.

The Mackey Bread Makers nine will have a chance to-morrow evening to show their wares when they clash with the Lakeviews, winners of the Junior series, in an exhibition game at Riverside Park. The game is called for 6 o'clock, and it is sure to be a corker, as both teams will uncork all the stuff they have and try and come through with a win.

It is only an exhibition affair, but the Mackey boys have been waiting for a long time to get a crack at the Lakeviews. The Mackey team has been strengthened a great deal lately, and at present they have a very snappy aggregation that will give the Cogs, the tussle of their lives when they meet. The Lakeviews have the same old lineup, with Frank Whitehouse on the gunning line. The Lakeviews meet Belleville Juniors here next Wednesday in the first game of the Junior series for the Ontario championship.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Manhandled" is the somewhat exotic title of the latest Gloria Swanson feature at the Capitol Theatre, in which the gorgeous star does some excellent work.

"Manhandled" deals with the problems of life in New York as the shop finds them, and Miss Swanson in the role of Tessie McLean, runs the whole gamut of emotions, trying the white lights of Broadway, taking a whirl at being a sculptor's model, spending some time posing in a modiste shop—all for the love of fine clothes and a so-called good time. But she learns in the end that the honest love of Johnny Hogan a hard-working auto mechanic, is far better than the temporary luxuries showered upon her by sculptors, department store owners, modistes and cigarette manufacturers.

Once more the versatile star proves that she can do more than wear clothes well. Not only does she display the flashing dramatic ability that pleased her admirers in her other previous picture productions, but in "Manhandled" she blossoms out as a comediene of the first rank. One of the especially clever bits of comedy imitation she does in the picture in an impersonation of a Russian countess. She puts a Chaplin touch into this scene that undoubtedly adds new laurels to her screen interpretations.

Allan Dwan, the director, has given the picture a de luxe mounting The supporting cast also is splendid. Tom Moore is human and very convincing as the mechanic with whom Tessie finally finds happiness. Others in the cast include Ann Pennington and Brooke Johns, the famfamous Zeigfeld stars; Ian Keith, Frank Morgan, Paul McAllister, Frank Allworth, Lilyan Tashman, Arthur Houseman and Carrie Scott

"Manhandled" is adapted from the story of the same name by Arthur Stringer which ran serially in The Saturday Evening Post.

The facetious Stan Laurel is the hero of a funny comedy which accompanies the big picture, along with the usual run of short reels.

AT THE ROYAL.

NEW COMEDY A ROARING SUCCESS.

A Large Audience Screamed at "Galloping Fish."

Leave it to Thomas H. Ince to discover something new for the "fan" audiences. This time it is a trained seal which plays the title role in 'The Galloping Fish,' Ince's uproarious comedy special, which has just opened at the Royal Theatre.

Every time we remember that fool seal galloping across a crowded street after a fish wagon; tearing on a lope through the lobby of a smart hotel pursued by a timid, panting little man in an agony of embarrassment; romping through a flood with that same sad little chap tangled up in a rope that was attached to the seal, we must roar with laughter.

Literally there are seven reels of fast and furious fun in this new laugh walloper. Besides the furry "fish" who carries the title role, there is a stellar cast of comedians warranted to draw tears of laughter from a turnip. Louise Fazenda, Syd Chaplin, Ford Sterling, Chester Conklin—they need no introduction beyond the fact that they have put over the funniest characterizations of their careers, individually and collectively, in this new Ince triumph.

Miss Fazenda is not only funny but amazingly beautiful as the "Diving Venus," who, with her pet seal, gets Syd Chaplin, playing the role of a timid little newlywed, into twenty-four hours of deep water, including a spectacular flood that is as thrilling as it is humorous. Ford Sterling gets a laugh a minute as the manager-fiance of the bathing beauty, who discovers, as did several mythological gentlemen before him, that managing Venus is a handful.

Del Andrews, who put over the exciting steeplechase scenes of "The Hottentot," the Ince comedy hit of the past season, directed.

New York Herald Tribune: "'Galloping Fish' is one of the funniest pictures we ever saw, and the reason we didn't scream is because we had a sore throat."

Washington Times: "There has never been a picture on the screen that can be said to be in any respect a counterpart of 'Galloping Fish.' The sequence of scenes that marks the picture's climax is as thrilling as it is funny."

Detroit Free Press: "The gales of laughter which swept through the auditorium attest the fact that Mr. Ince has added a laugh-maker to the list of comedy classics that will tickle the risabilities of millions during the months to come."

"Galloping Fish" can be seen at the Royal to-day and to-morrow only.

AT THE REGENT.

"THE SHEPHERD KING" CAST IS ENTERTAINED BY KING. Violet Mersereau, Director Edwards and Others, Dine in Tents of Royalty.

Many thrilling adventures were encountered by the actors and other members of the William Fox motion picture company during their stay in Egypt and the Palestine where scenes were shot for the spectacular picturization of "The Shepherd King." One of the most interesting incidents during the stay in Palestine was a dinner given to J. Gordon Edwards, who directed the picture, and the principal players, including Violet Mersereau, who has the leading feminine role.

"The dinner was tendered by Emir Abdullsh, King of Trans-Jordans, whose realm begins just across the Jordan River from Palestine," wrote Miss Mersereau from the Holy Land. "It was held in the Emir's winter quarters, which is a city of tents sumptuously furnished. The tents were divided into rooms; first in order being the reception room, and back of this the dining-room and sleeping quarters. The latter adjoin the praying tent.

Among the guests at the dinner were:

Sir Herbert Samuel, High Commissioner of Palestine, Governor-General Storrs of Palestine, and 25 or 30 other dignitaries. The dinner was served in true European (and American) style, with linen and silver. Every guest, except members of the King's cabinet, took his cue from the monarch before touching even a fork. Throughout the meal the King's guards, bronzed Bedouins in turbans, stood close at hand.

"Two men attracted our special attention at the beginning of the meal. One held a great brass pitcher with a little red thing hanging from it, and the other had a mysterious looking article over his arm. They approached Emir and waited. The Emir arose, turned and addressed someone, then poured water on his hands and wiped them. The next man went through the same procedure, and so on around the table. We discovered that the thing hanging from the pitcher was soap.

"The dinner was excellent and served in about twenty courses, including rice and chicken. Four hundred sheep were killed to give a feast to the Bedouin tribesmen who had assembled for the photographing of the Fox picture. The natives drink only coffee and water. They do not smoke.

"The King of Trans-Jordania has a wonderful personality. He is a very natural and hospitable man, and is interested in everybody about him. We asked him, through an interpreter, when he would visit America. His reply was, 'When Allah wills.' After the dinner we were entertained by a display of horsemanship."

This marvelous picturization of the stage play by Wright Lorimer and Arnold Reeves comes to the Regent Theatre to-night.

JUST ONE HOUR.

When most timepieces were registering in the neighborhood of 3 o'clock this afternoon, the Post Office clock recorded 2 o'clock and the city timepiece 3 o'clock.

Younger Folk Trip Light Fan tastic On Methodist Picnic Despite Pastor's Protests

Some Methodists have been known to dance, but rarely have they been known to engage in the latest fox trots on board a steamer, in the course of a Methodist picnic, amid vain protests from the pastor of the village they represent.

Yet, such was the situation that arose, when the young people on board the "Stoney Lake" decided to dance on the journey to Garden Hill from Wallace Point, on the occasion of the Union picnic of the Garden Hill Presbyterians and Methodists.

Captain Scollard was urged by a minister aboard to intervene and stop the performance. Finding that the gentlemen who engaged the services of the boat were among the most ardent dancers, the Captain was in a dilemma, and was unable to assist the reverend gentleman.

Thus the dance continued, while the non-participants took opposing sides, discussing the propriety of the performance while viewing the younger folk trip the light fantastic, to the strains of the latest jazz selections.

PRESBYTERIAN CONFERENCE

Some Presbyterians Are Arranging To Conduct an Aggressive Campaign.

ANTI-UNION.

Now that the Church Union Bill has been passed by Parliament, word received in the city of Toronto indicates that the Presbyterian Church Association is arranging to conduct an aggressive campaign throughout the Province with the object of inducing as many Presbyterian congregations as possible to vote against entering the new United Church.

One of the provisions of the Church Union Bill as amended gives every congregation that wishes not to enter the United Church the privilege of voting not to concur before the United Church is incorporated on 10th June, 1925.

In the Peterborough Presbytery, it is proposed to hold three conferences in September, one in Hastings, for the points north and east, one in Peterborough for the city and the rural parts surrounding, and one at Colborne for the towns along the front.

Presbyterian ministers in the Presbytery are assisting in the arrangements for these meetings.

At these meetings directions will be given to representatives from the difference congregations on how to arrange for the taking of votes in their different congregations and such other information as they may desire.

The Examiner is informed that as a considerable number of the congregations in the Peterborough Presbytery have indicated their objection to church union, it is anticipated that these meetings will be well attended.

SIDNEY LANDON GAVE GENIUSES A PERSONALITY

Master Impersonator Held Large Audience Enthralled at Chautauqua Entertainment.

GREAT CHARACTERS.

World's Master-Writers Appeared to Speak Their Imperishable Thoughts.

Out of the pages of the books that have made them famous and beloved stepped some of the world's master-writers, to linger for an all too brief moment on the Chautauqua platform last evening.

Under the spell of Sidney Langdon, his audience of about four hundred men and women watched and listened to several of the noted literary geniuses of the past and the present. Rudyard Kipling, "the idealist and the materialist," with his precise brown head, his glasses and his heavy moustache, stood before them to recite in dignified fashion his ideal of life, as contained in some of his own verses, those famed lines that visualise his idea of the New Jerusalem, and end: "And each in his separate star, shall draw the thing as he sees it, for the God of Things they are."

There, too, was Samuel Langhorne Clemens, the beloved Mark Twain, an old man with bushy white head and long white moustaches, speaking in his old, cracked, twanging, cheerful voice to those who had tendered him a dinner at Delmonico's restaurant in New York on the occasion of the celebration of his seventieth birthday.

The tragic figure of Edgar Allan Poe dominated the stage momentarily. The artiste, who created an initial atmosphere for his characterisations by his brief recital of their histories, was evidently an ardent admirer of the gloomy poet, but he found his audience slightly out of tune with this characterisation. Possibly a reading of Poe's "Raven," for instance, might have suited better the melancholy gentleman, with his dark-rimmed, mournful eyes and sorrowful voice, but Mr. Landon chose instead the lines of "Annabel Lee," with their reiterated, rather artificial rhyming measures.

Suited eminently to the picture of Edgar Wilson Nye, the "Bill Nye" who carved out a place for himself in the hearts of his countrymen by his broad, ridiculous humour, was the recital of Nye's famous speech on "Our Boy." The jester, with the cap and bells, the "Delsartian" orator with flapping white gloves, prim countenance and bald, red-fringed head, stood before his auditors in a characteristic attitude, and with characteristic modulation of voice and characteristic gestures, convulsed them with his appreciation of "Our Boy."

The final living picture, the "benediction" of the impersonator to his hearers, was that of Alfred, Lord Tennyson, the beloved Poet-Laureate of an older England, with his wealth of dark grey hair and benign countenance, his gentle voice repeating the stanzas of "Crossing the Bar."

With an art that created a wonderful impression on his audience, Sidney Landon projected his impersonations through the medium of make-up and voice and atmosphere. He interspersed his unique pictures with a swift and striking type of address that touched lightly on many subjects. Speaking of the place in life of wit and humour, he quoted Charles Lamb, who said: "I think God Almighty Himself must enjoy a joke, otherwise He never would have created some of us."

"Literary appreciation in many families seems to be mostly in the wife's name," was another pronouncement who was commenting at the moment on "the Packard face and Tin Lizzie brain" of many self-styled lovers of literature.

Mr. Landon spoke of many of the younger war poets, of Joyce Kilmer, of Allan Seger, who wrote the prophetic "I Have a Rendezvous With Death," of Rupert Brooke, and of Colonel John McCrae, author of "Flanders Fields." He excoriated such publications as "True Confessions," stamping them as the work of "pot boilers" who were ready to dip their pens in filth fo rthe sake of well-filled purses, and recommended, instead of dependence on publicly-appointed censorship boards the construction of censorship methods "right in our own homes." He said: "I have found in libraries, both public and private, books which are read by young people who would hesitate thereafter to discuss their contents with their own fathers and mothers, and characters that you wouldn't tolerate inside your door, and speeches that you wouldn't allow repeated within your home, walk in and make their abode there between the covers of books."

A fitting accompaniment to an extremely interesting evening was the the musical prelude by the Betty Booth Concert Company, with the vivacious Betty Booth as vocalist and entertainer, Professor Brandt as pianist, and Mr. Paul Clark, violinist. The three musicians were of a high type. Their numbers were of the semi-classical order that is popular with any audience and their various numbers met with enthusiastic appreciation. In the afternoon, the entire programme was given by the three talented artists.

The charming Miss Booth, who possesses a sweet, clear, expressive voice, and whose dramatic interpretation of her various characters added much to their attraction, appeared in Swedish costume in the afternoon, to sing "Longing," and a dainty little encore. With two dolls, she gave the pretty duet, "The Keys of Heaven," sang "Mighty Lak a Rose," against a violin obligato, and finished her afternoon programme with two pretty bits of Oriental music; two Mother Goose rhymes in Chinese dresses, and Yum Yum's aria from "The Mikado," in Japanese costume.

In the evening, Miss Booth sang several lovely numbers, with a tiny encore in "A Bashful Beau." An especially pretty selection was "The Butterfly Valse," composed and sung by Miss Booth, and violin obligato.

Professor Brandt, the pianist, was a musician whose skill and ability was outstanding. He played in admirable fashion Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso," and with Miss Booth in duet, in the evening, gave Edward German's "Torch Dance," from the incidental music to "King Henry Eighth."

Mr. Paul Clark, the violinist, had a mastery of his difficult instrument that was displayed to the fullest advantage in several exacting selections Technical grasp of a very high order was evidenced in "The Dance of the Goblins," a thing of tricky, swift intervals, with much harmonic work, and sudden pizzicati. "Midnight Bells" was an old Viennese melody, aranged by Fritz Kreisler, with an encore in "Canzonetta," a Spanish serenade. A brilliant, staccato duet for piano and violin was another composition of Kreisler's, "A Chinese Tambourine." Professor Brandt proved an able accompaniist for the violin and vocal selections.

The children are having their usual special programmes during three mornings of this week, with diversified entertainment for each.

Yesterday morning about one hundred and twenty five of the children of the city attended the first session, "A Day in Storyland," when the Misses Meyhew and Haneman were in charge. "The Romance of a Toy Soldier," "A Bunnies' Playtime," and a Dutch wooden shoe dance were items that kept the children interested and amused. To-morrow evening the Columbia Marionettes will entertain the juniors. This evening, the sparkling comedy, "Six Cylinder Love" will be the attraction at the big tent, and to-morrow afternoon and evening there is a Ladies' Quartette, and a lecture by Captain T. D. Upton on "The Four-Square Builder."

BANDITS SWEEP DOWN TO-DAY ON HOARD'S STATION

Three Men and a Woman Reported in Party That Even Stole Milk.

TWO CAPTURED.

Held Up Garage Man at the Point of a Gun—Stopped Farmer Delivering Milk.

(Special to The Examiner).

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6.—An automobile containing three men and a woman stopped at a garage of Charles Todd at Hoard's Station at 5 o'clock this morning, and the driver woke up the proprietor, saying that he wanted a supply of gasoline. Todd gave him three gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil. When he went back into the garage with the can containing the oil one of the men followed him, and holding a revolver to his head, took all the money, about $38, which he had in the till.

The auto, the license number on which was obscured by grease, was headed in the direction of Menie. A short distance from that village, the party met a farmer, William Hutchins, who was going to the cheese factory with a load of milk. They held him up with the revolver. He had no money, but they took a pail of milk out of one of his cans. They stopped at the Menie cheese factory and enquiring the way to Stirling were directed to go by way of Hoards' station, the way they had come. They left Menie, however, by way of Warman's Corners.

(By a Staff Reporter).

Two Captured.

Chief Duncalfe of Campbelford was notified of the holdup about 5.30 this morning, and at once reported the matter to Stirling and other neighboring towns and to the Provincial Police at Belleville.

Inspector Bumstead and Provincial Officers Elliott and Nugent were in Stirling when the bandits' car stopped at William Hulin's garage for some minor repairs. Hulin recognized the party from the description received from Campbelford, and the Provincial officers were notified. Two of the autoists who had gone for a walk were captured near the residence of Dr. Sine. The other man and the woman jumped in the car and made their escape, taking a road to the north. The police, with their two prisoners, started in pursuit. At 1 o'clock no further captures were reported.

Wanted Elsewhere.

To-day is Civic Holiday in Stirling and a large crowd was on the street when the prisoners were taken. The bandit car was a Ford, and the license number on the rear was 68950. There was no marker on the front. Inspector Bumstead notified Chief Duncalfe at noon to-day that a party of autoists answering the description of those wanted for the Hoard's Station holdup are also wanted at Lindsay, for the theft of money and other offences. They are all young people, the two prisoners not being over 20 years old. At midnight last night a resident of Stirling was aroused by a party of autoists, who enquired the way to Rosebush, a few miles from the village, where a dance was in progress. It is thought that the car was the same as that now wanted by the police. The fugitives have no chance of escape, as the farmers all through the district are on the lookout for them, and a large posse of Stirling residents are in pursuit.

DETECTIVES SEARCH FOR SEAMAN WHO WAS SENTENCED TO MONTREAL JAIL

Relatives Located Him In Spite of Assurances From Jail Official That He Was Not a Prisoner.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6—(Canadian Press).—Listed on detective headquarters as missing since Monday of last week, John W. McLean, deck engineer of the steamer Dorie, was found Monday in Bordeaux Jail, where relatives located him, despite assurances from a jail officials that the man was not a prisoner.

McLean, an officer with 15 years' experience at sea, and a spotless record, was sentenced to eight days in jail after having been arrested on the night he disappeared on a charge of drunkenness. He claims he was doped and robbed in the house of a man he met on Bleury Street after he had accepted an invitation to go to the stranger's home.

Strong criticism of the Bordeaux jail system and of the lack of proper liaison between the jail and the Montreal detective bureau was voiced last night by McLean's brother-in-law, who found the missing man through information that came from the father of a man serving time in Bordeaux jail.

The engineer will go back to England on the Megantic.

AUTO UPTURNED PARTY ESCAPED

Light Touring Car Bowled Over In Ditch East of Blenheim.

DRIVER PINNED.

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 6.—(Canadian Press).—Six persons had a narrow escape from injury and possible death when the light touring car in which they were travelling turned turtle into a ditch on the Provincial Highway east of Blenheim Monday.

The car was in charge of E. C. McKinley Park street, other occupants were his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reid and there two children. The party was returning to the city from Government Park.

The machine plunged into the ditch and turned over backwards. Mr. McKinley was pinned under the car, but escaped serious injury. At least six cars slewed into the ditch on the middle road between Charing Cross and Tilbury during the heavy rain storm which visited this locality Monday night.

BANDITS ROBBED TRANSFER WAGON

Picked Bag Containing the Money From Lot of Twenty and Escaped.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.— (Canadian Press.)—Three armed bandits each masked with a grey handkerchief, held up a Canadian transfer wagon on St. James' street last night in the financial section of the city, selected a locked pouch containing registered mail from the twenty sacks in the wagon and escaped.

Victor Gaudet, Montreal postmaster, stated last night that the contents of the stolen pouch will not be known until to-day as it will be necessary to ascertain from several clerks what they put into the pouch. He understood, however, that the contents were ten registered letters and two packages of money destined for Ottawa. The bandits were in an automobile which they drove into the path of the transfer wagon, halting it, and one of them got out of the car, pointed a revolver at the driver and the mail clerk and shouted "hands up." Another man then jumped into the wagon and took the pouch. Thereafter the bandits drove away westward.

One of the bandits who was acting as a scout on the street, tried to hold up a second transfer wagon that was with the first. The driver, however, whipped up his horses and succeeded in escaping.

CONFERENCE SUCCESSFUL.

Free State Officials Agreed To Imperial Government's Proposal.

LONDON, Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press).—During the crossing from Dublin to England, Mr. Thomas, according to the Daily Mail, said the results of the conference were highly successful and that the agreement had been reached.

The Daily Mail understands that the Free State officials agreed to the Imperial Government's proposal to introduce the bill in Parliament on Wednesday and to summon the Parliament to deal with it on October 14, instead of October 28.

MANITOBA RYE HARVEST BEGUN

First Cutting of Season Monday Probably Record For Province.

RAIN IN ALBERTA.

WINNIPEG, August 6 (Canadian Press). — Rye harvesting commenced on Monday in the Bird's Hill district, ten miles east of Winnipeg.

This is believed to be the first cutting operation of the season, and is probably a record for Manitoba.

CALGARY, Alta., August 6 (Canadian Press). — Returns received by the Canadian Pacific on Tuesday show that the rain on Monday extended right through the eastern section of the province to Saskatchewan and south to the international boundary from Red Deer while the remainder of the province further north than Red Deer was also practically blanketed.

In some quarters frost was anticipated while on Tuesday morning the mountains were white, the Government thermometers here did not fall below 38 during the night.

CUT WHEAT BY 15TH.

WINNIPEG, August 6 (Canadian Press). — In some sections of Alberta the feed situation is relieved, and from 8 to 12 bushels is expected in the Calgary district.

Cutting is expected to commence about 15th August in Manitoba, where conditions are now excellent.

Red rust was reported at few points in that province, but much was washed off by the rain and little or no damage resulted.

Saskatchewan expects to start harvesting about 20th August, according to the report.

PRESIDENT COURTS THE PEACE LOVERS

Coolidge Preparing To Call An International Disarmament Conference.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—(Canadian Press).—President Coolidge is preparing to call an international disarmament conference which would discuss the limitation of arms by land and sea, it is said. It is expected the President will call the conference after the reparations settlement and before the Presidential elections. The result of such a move, it is said, would greatly strengthen the President with the voters, who are strongly for world peace.

CHICAGO YOUTHS DEVOID OF SOUL ALIENIST AVERS

Leopold Could Contemplate Murdering Without More Concern Than Selecting Pie.

STIFLED AFFECTION.

Alienist Refused To Speak in Terms of Sanity or Insanity.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Another expert witness for the defence took the stand Monday in the hearing before Judge John R. Caverly to determine the punishment for Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, the kidnappers and murderers of Robert Franks, and he stripped from the youths any vestige of soul, interpreted in terms of consideration for society, which was left by the first psychiatrist who testified Saturday.

"Leopold told me he could contemplate committing a murder with no more conscience than was necessary in selecting the sort of pie for dinner," said the witness, Dr. William Healy, of Boston, Mass.

"Loeb told me they had considered kidnapping and slaying members of his own family and that he would delight in killing, for instance, Walter Bachrach of his counsel if he thought he would gain anything by it in the manner of publicity or pleasure of anticipation or execution of the plan.

"Leopold told me that he reveled in the fact that he had no ground for conscience," the mental pathologist went on. "He said that at an early age he began trying to kill affection, to break down any feeling for his family, and began to develop his selfish, egotistic superman idea."

The expert was testifying in furtherance of the "childish phantasy" conclusions as set forth by the defence's first alienist, Dr. William A. White of Washington, D.C., who advanced the idea of a merger of personalities as leading to the Franks murder.

Dr. Healy asserted "an incredible, absurd childish compact" bound the boys together from an early age and "had a bearing on the ultimate acts of the youths."

Testimony Kept From Public.

Judge Caverly refused to permit Dr. Healy to testify as to the conditions of the "childish compact" when the witness hesitated at speaking plainly in the presence of the women, who predominated as spectators in the courtroom. The attorneys and the Judge bent over the court reporters as Dr. Healy in a low voice put into the record an outline of the compact between the two boys.

"This is unfit for publication," the Judge asserted sternly, as he motioned away newspaper men, who crowded forward. "There will be nothing brought out here that is not fit for publication."

The boys for the most part were solemn, smiling and whispering to each other only when the witness would make some pointed criticism of them or praise their intellectual attainments.

However, in an interview in the jail, Leopold said that he would prefer death on the gallows to having to sit and hear alienists analyze his character.

"What's a measly thing like hanging?" he demanded. "What's death, for that matter? Don't you like to go to sleep? That's all death is."

Dr. Healy termed Leopold a "paranoid," and "thoroughly unbalanced in mental life," but resisted State Attorney Crowe's effort to have him admit that Leopold was "insane."

It was another effort by the State's Attorney to have the hearing for punishment of Leopold and Richard Loeb turned into a jury trial on a plea of legal insanity.

"Doesn't what you have said mean you think he is insane?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"I did not use the term sane or insane and do not think in those terms," replied Dr. Healy.

There was a visible relaxation of interested persons after the defence got past that danger signal of "possible jury trial."

Intellectual attainments of the youths Dr. Healy referred to as exceptional, particularly those of Leopold. He read into the record various lengthy tests given Leopold and Loeb. Leopold also invariably achieved perfect marks, while in Loeb's case, his marks in some instances graded as failures.

Dr. Healy will resume on the witness stand this morning with an indicated thirty minutes more of direct testimony. Mr. Crowe said his cross-

GERMAN SPEED HELPS ALLIES

Marx and His Delegates Worked Until Three O'clock This Morning —Completed Reply To Protocol.

EXPEDITION URGED.

LONDON, Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press).—The German memorandum replying to the Allied protocol outling the plans for putting the Dawes reparations programme into effect was handed to the allied representatives this morning by Chiefs of the German delegation. In consequence Premier Macdonald is urging all possible expedition so that another plenary session of international conference can be held to-day. Germans completed their reply at three o'clock this morning.

Meet To-Night

LONDON, Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press).—The leading Allied and German delegates now referred to as "the big fourteen" are scheduled to meet at 9 p.m. to discuss Germany's answer to the Allied proposals. It is significant that the fourteen leaders are holding their sessions like a committee as this will make possible bringing up the question of evacuation of the Ruhr which could not be taken up in a formal plenary session, because the conference technically must confine its deliberations to application of the Dawes report.

ENNISMORE ROAD BAD.

Motorists Complain of Approach to Bridge at the West Side—Dangerous Turn.

Motorists to and from Ennismore are complaining about the condition of the approach to the bridge on the Ennismore side. It appears that the roadside at this point is heavily banked with trees and shrubs which combine with the slight turn in the road just before it strikes the bridge and its narrow dimensions, to make the approach dangerous for pedestrians and motorists alike. That the road should be widened and cleared of its surplus undergrowth at this section is the contention of several car owners who have narrowly escaped serious collisions at the western approach recently.

THE WEATHER.

Highest temperature yesterday 87 degrees. The air was full of humidity, or moisture, and felt as warm as any day this summer. Another gentle shower early this morning will be welcomed by some. The outlook for the farmer this fall is said to be bright as the crops generally in this section have seldom looked better. A few days ago I heard a story of a farmer (I will not mention his name, but he lives in this county) who had a chronic habit of grumbling, and was a thorough-going pessimist. One year when crops were abundant, two of his farmer neighbors, had a little side bet between them that —— would not acknowledge that Nature had crowned his labors with success and that his crops were abundant. They approached him tactfully and congratulated him warmly on well-filled barns. "Yes boys," he said, "the crops are good, but it has been awful hard on the land!"—W. P.

MONTREAL'S BALANCE.

Receipts For 1923 Exceed Expenses By More Than a Million.

MONTREAL, August 6 (Canadian Press). — After paying all its bills for administration for loans and special expenditures, the City of Montreal had a balance on hand on 1st January of $1,182,875.86, according to the annual report of the city treasurer, which is just off the press.

The total receipts of the city during the year 1923 were $73,102,339.73, while the disbursements amounted $71,919,763.87.

Mr. P. Collins, the assistant city treasurer, who prepared the report precedes his series of tabular matter by the statement that receipts on general revenue in 1923 exceeded the similar receipts of 1922 by $1,464,292.88, they also exceeded the original and supplementary budget estimates for the year 1923 by $860,730.31.

MATTHEWS STARTS HOMEWARD TO-DAY

Now Declares He Will Not Fight Deportation—May Arrive Next Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press). — Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former Deputy Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, who is held here for the Canadian authorities, will not fight deportation, United States immigration officials announced yesterday. The Matthews hearing has been held and he merely awaits the necessary papers from Washington ordering his official return to Canada.

MAY COME TO-NIGHT.

TORONTO, Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press).—Matthews, wanted here to answer charges laid under the Secret Commissions Act, may commence his journey from California to Toronto to-night. His friends are expecting him here at the beginning of next week.

J. W. Seymour Corley, K.C., is already at work on preparation of the defence to the charge under the Secret Commissions Act.

THE WINDOW CLEANER

Consider the fellow who hangs by a rope and polishes windows all day. It's only his business but he's got the dope, for his work sends real brightness your way.

He climbs to the heights with his bucket and sponge and fastens himself to a sill. Then into his work he will cheerfully plunge while the watchers below get a thrill.

Water will spash if he sometimes gets rash, and splattering comes like the rain. Often we'll say that he gets in the way when he's working inside on a pane.

Still it's a calling; a worthy one, too, is the shining and rubbing all day. Give every cleaner the credit that's due, for his labor is work and not play.

For he is the man who erases the smudge and makes dirty windows like new. He opens the way for a more cheerful day just by letting the sunshine through.

STONES STOLEN MAYOR CHARGED

William Brault, Mayor of Sherbrooke, Accused of Appropriating 24 Loads.

TRIAL ON SATURDAY.

SHERBROOKE, Que., August 6 (Canadian Press). — The charge against Mayor William Brault, of this city, of theft of stones from the city came before the District Magistrate's Court here yesterday, and the Court decided that there was sufficient evidence submitted to warrant the case being proceeded with.

The case was accordingly continued to next Saturday afternoon.

Judge Merin, in weighing the evidence, gave it as his view that the Mayor took 24 loads of stone belonging to the city without colour or right to do so.

While not prepared to state that the intention of fraud appears, the proof was, he thought, sufficient to make him suspect the intentions of the Mayor.

The Court then read the charge against the Mayor, and asked the accused if he had anything to say.

Mayor Brault: "I am not guilty."

The Mayor added that he was not quite ready with his witnesses, and it was decided to continue the case next Saturday.

EXCHANGE STIFFENS.

Sterling Moves Up to New High Level For Year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Gathering momentum as the London conference progressed, the advance in Sterling exchange yesterday carried the rate to a new high record for the year at $4.46 3-4 a gain of more than a cent over yesterday's high mark. French francs at the same time jumped about fifteen points, crossing 5 1-2 cents, and Belgian francs rose 23 points to 5.03 cents. Profit-taking, however, caused a late reaction to 4.45 1-2 and 5.42 cents for Sterling and francs, respectively.

Accumulation of buying orders, due to the London bank holiday, contributed to the early strength of the Allied currencies.

TREATY FAILURE AFFECTS FRANCE

Believed That French Will Hesitate at Same Point That Broke Down Russo-British Negotiations.

PARIS, Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press).—The failure of the Russo-British negotiations will have an important re-action in France.

While there is some talk here that Herriot is not sorry to see the British parleys fail because he seeks to carry favor with Moscow by giving it recognition, the general feeling here is that the London negotiations broke down on the same print on which France would insist.

TWO U. S. PLANES CROSS ICELAND TO WEST COAST

Distance of 300 Miles Covered in Five Hours Less Two Minutes.

REACH CAPITAL.

Lieut. Wade Forced To Abandon Flight Almost In Sight of America.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 6.—Skirting the southeastern, southern and southwestern coasts of Iceland, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson yesterday drove their round-the- world planes from Hoefn Hornafjord to Reykjavik, a distance of some three hundred miles in four hours and fifty-eight minuates. The take-off from Hoef Hornafjord was made under good weather conditions and these continued throughout the journey, except for a heavy headwind encountered by the planes as they turned northward from the southern point of Iceland.

Virtually the entire population of the quaint little hamlet of Reykjavik assembled on the pier to watch the two great planes as they circled above the harbor inside the sea wall searching for their buoys. As the machines hit the water, with Lieut. Smith leading the way, a small boat put out from the shore and took off the fliers.

Arriving at the pier the Lord May of the town and members of the Town Council welcomed the flyers and women presented each of them with o bouquet of flowers.

Wade Chagrined

The Boston, the airplane piloted by Lieutenant Wade in the American army world flight, was abandoned on Monday.

U. S. Destroyer

Lieutenant Wade, on board the Richmond, was naturally chagrined over the ill fate that had brought his plane to grief and stopped the participation of him and Sergeant Ogden in the flight when it was so near a conclusion, but he took the disappointment well. Describing his experiences, Lieutenant Wade said:

"It was the first time we had had trouble with the oil pump and our second forced landing in the 19-000 mile flight. The first was on the Japanese coast when we came down for water.

"On yesterday's flight, when the trouble came, we signalled Lieutenant Smith by waving that we were forced down; also that the engine was out of commission, requesting him to advise the patrol. We expected to remain in the water until the Richmond arrived. We saw a merchant vessel at two o'clock in the afternoon, but could not attract its attention. An hour later the trawler which rescued us, was sighted. We had to signal her with pistol and rifle before she noticed us."

Lieutenant Wade said he and Ogden were afraid at first to eat the sandwiches and drink the water they had, not knowing how long it would be before they were rescued They were confident all along, however that they would sight a vessel and eventually reach land, and kept the plane constantly before the wind

They suffered from the cold, but did not at any time consider their position critical. Their main anxiety was to save the plane and continue the flight after repairs had been made. Wade added:

"It was a tough break after the five months' flight as when the four planes left America the Army hoped all four would return. But it's all in the game. We did our best."

A heavy sea and a freshening wind made it difficult to bring the disabled airplane alongside the Richmond Finally a line was floated to the Billingsley by a buoy and then pass

CHARLIE PONZI OUT.

Left Portsmouth Prison Today for Boston To $14-000 Bail.

PORTSMOUTH, Mass., August 6 (Canadian Press).—Charles Ponzi, his term as a Federal prisoner ended, left the jail here to-day.

Accompanied by a deputy sheriff, he went to Boston to try to arrange for the furnishing of $14,000 for bail required of him on charges brought in the State Courts in connection with his financial schemes.

Four years ago Ponzi attracted the attention of the continent by his offer to pay a huge interest on short investments in his Securities Exchange Company of Boston.

Thousands of persons entrusted millions to him, and many of them received promised profits.

CROPS BADLY DAMAGED.

Severe Hail, Rain and Electrical Storm Struck Saskatchewan.

WINNIPEG, August 6 (Canadian Press). — One man was killed and heavy damage to the crops and property resulted from a severe hail, rain, and electrical storm that struck the Estevan and Bienfait districts of Saskatchewan on Sunday, according to reports received here last night.

While bathing in the Souris River during the storm, Walter T. Neilson, of Flaxton, N.D., was killed by the lightning.

In Bienfait the stores and residences were flooded, and the hail smashed dozens of windows.

The property loss is estimated at $1,500.

The crops were the finest since 1915, and the hail cut many fields down, making them a total loss, while others were damaged from 40 to 90 per cent.

ESKIMOS LACK GRAZING LANDS.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 6. — (Associated Press)—Alaska Eskimos with their large reindeer herds on the Seward Peninsula are facing the same problem that sheep men did in the western states years ago, according to William T. Lopp, superintendent of the Alaska division of the bureau of education.

"There are no land leasing or grazing laws in the north, and, regardless of the natives' prior rights to the land, their reindeer herds are being slowly crowded out," said Superintendent Lopp.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

HALLE, Germany, Aug. 6.—Fencing matches, which have been popular in many German universities but with which there has been a growing dissatisfaction on the part of the public, will probably be discontinued as a result of a fatal accident recently at the University of Halle.

Herbert Hovelor, son of a wealthy manufacturer, bled to death after receiving a stab below the belt.

HYDRO RATES IN BURNBRAE AREA ARE EXPLAINED

Schedule of Charges Submitted to Seymour Township Council.

SAVING SUGGESTED

Patrons of Hoard's Line Retain Service—Estimates to Be Considered.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6.—At the meeting of the Seymour Township Council yesterday a communication was received from the Hydro Commission regarding the proposed new scale of prices to be charged Hydro patrons in the Burnbrae and Menie districts, a question that has given rise to so much discussion recently.

The communication sets out with the statement that when the transmission line was built to Hoards' Station and Burnbrae in 1912 the cost of construction was $13,800. It is estimated that owing to the increas in price of labour and material an extension of the line to serve prospective customers in Menie and on the Fifth concession would involve an outlay of fully $26,000. For that reason the consumption charge to patrons on the latter extension would necessarily be greater.

Estimate of Cost

The Hydro submits a table of figures estimating the cost to consumer on the proposed new line, this to be based on the meter system. It is as follows, this total annual cost for consumption and service; accord ing to the horse power, being given

Hamlet charges one horse power, consumption, $7.44; service $13.14; total $20.58.

House lighting 1 1-3 horse power, $9.24 a year for consumption, $18.26 for service, total $27.50.

Small farm, 2 2-3 horse power, $16.20 for consumption, $32.52 for service total $48.72.

Medium single phase farm service $35.92 for consumption $45.16 for service, total $71.92 for 4 horse power. For 6 2-3 horse power in this class the cost is estimated at $45.36 for consumption $54.34 for service, total $99.70 a year.

Heavy farm service, 12 horse power, $74.88 for consumption, $85.56 for service total $160.44.

Special farm service, 20 horse power $101.52 for consumption, $126.96 for service, total $228.48.

The scale of charges per kilowatt hour has been revised since the first 42 kilowatt horse and 2 cents for all in excess of that amount. In the new schedule the 42 is reduced to 14.

The above figures, the communication states, are of course, only estimates but are based on the amount of power used by consumer in other parts of the country. The patrons of Hydro on the Hoard's Station line have always been charged a flat rate but there have been meters in their premises for the last two years and a record has been kept of the amount of power actuallly consumed. It is probable that the estimate of what will be used by the prospective customers on the proposed extension is based on the meter showings on the older branch.

Comparison of Cost

A patron of the Hoard line can light his house for $35 a year on the flat rate. The estimated cost under the meter system for this class of service is only $27.50 a year, a saving of $7.50.

Will Continue

The meters of all the patrons on the Hoard line were read on July 31st so that a record can be kept of the amount consumed during August All of the patrons have decided to give the meter system a trial for a month at least. Just what those residents of the Menie district who are anxious to secure power will do remains to be seen. The schedule and estimates just received from the Hydro will be given due consideration.

Set Tax Rate

The Council set the tax rate for this year, the County rate to be 11.6 mills, the township rate 12 and the general school rate 7.2 mills. The new road machinery purchased this year made a lighter township rate necessary.

Dancing Pavilion

Clerk Hay was instructed to prepare a by-law providing that the dancing pavillion at Trent River shall close at 11 o'clock Saturday night until 6 o'clock Monday morning. The Council has had this matter before it on several previous occasions. A year ago 248 residents joined in a petition that the place be compelled to close at 11 o'clock Saturday nights and only recently 47 of these petitioners asked that the pavilion be permitted to remain open an hour longer.

Address by Major Belford

Major Belford, M.L.A., addressed the council with regard to the boundary road between the townships of Seymour, Rawdon, Belmont and Marmore which is in need of repair. During the last session of the Legislature the Government offered to grant $4,000 for the improvement of this highway provided that each of the four municipalities interested would raise $250 for the same purpose.

It was decided to have a meeting of the Councils of the four municipalities on the road near Allan's Mills next Saturday.

The Canadian National Exhibition was visited by double the attendance of any of the great State Fairs across the line last year, or 1,493,000 people in all.

WHY PAY AN AMUSEMENT TAX

Are Theatre Owners and Others Permitted to Vary the Amount of the Tax at Will?

Some people have never been appraised of the system adopted by the Ontario Treasury Department in levying amusement taxes.

The amount of the tax always varies and with an air of suspicion they wonder if the managers of places of amusement can increase or decrease the amount of the tax in a haphazard manner.

A fixed schedule has always been in existence, although amended from time to time and a tax is payable by all persons attending a place of amusement and a person entering a place of amusement without paying the required tax, and any owner or employee of a place of amusement permitting any person to so enter is liable to a fine.

According to the present regulations, a tax is payable by all persons attending a place of amusement as follows:

1 cent, when the price of admission is not more than 15 cents.

2 cents, when the price of admission and reserved seat is more than 15 cents and not more than 45 cents.

3 cents, when price of admission and reserved seat is more than 45 cents and not more than 49 cents.

5 cents, when price of admission and reserved seat is more than 49 cents and not more than 95 cents.

10 cents, when price of admission and reserve seat is more than 95 cents and not more than $1.45.

15 cents, when price of admission and reserved seat is more than $1.45 and not more than $1.95.

20 cents, when price of admission and reserved seat is more than $1.95 and not more than $2.00.

25 cents, when price of admission and reserved seat is more than $2.00.

At professional boxing and wrestling matches 10 cents, when price of admission and reserved seat is not more than 75 cents and 25 cents when price of admission and reserved seat is more than 75 cents.

TRENT MEMORIAL WILL BE FENCED

A. H. McKeel Promoting Improvement to Monument at Resort.

TRENT BRIDGE, Aug. 6. — Ground has been broken for the new fence which it is proposed to erect around the memorial, and A. H. McKeel, of Campbellford, who is spending the summer in his cottage here, spent Civic Holiday preparing for this improvement.

Another entertainment will be held in the Pavilion for the purpose of raising funds for the memorial, as besides erecting the fence and improving the grounds, it is proposed to erect a Scotch granite slab, bearing the name of Charles Cowain, who died in Campbelford recently as a result of injuries received in the Great War. He was a brother of Richard Oliver Cowain, in whose memory the monument at Trent Bridge was erected.

Mr. McKeel feels gratified at the assistance which he has received in this movement, not only from the residents of and visitors to Trent River, but from the people of Campbellford. When the monument was unveiled the Northumberland Regimental Band of Campbellford donated their services, and by the excellency of their musical performance brought credit to their town.

Stover Brothers of Campbellford made a substantial donation to the monument fund a year ago. This year they baked a huge cake, which was raffled off to raise further funds and refused to accept anything for it, recognizing as they did the patriotic object of the movement.

Little Agnes Wight won the prize for selling the greatest number of tickets for this raffle.

WILD GEESE FLOCK WITH TAME PEKINS

Wood Ducks Also Transient Visitants on Moira River.

MARMORA, August 6. — The waters of Moira River below the Deloro Falls have lost for the while their languid appearance. A beautiful flock of nineteen white Pekin ducks may be daily seen disporting themselves thereon with great delight Mr Arthur Hart, the versatile chef at the Hub Dining Room, is the proud possessor of these fine birds.

He tells how quite recently his pets received a visit from five wild geese and three wood ducks.

Arthur, as he is affectionately termed, has also lately taken up rabbit breeding.

Improving the Road.

A vast improvement is being effected on the Marmora-Deloro road between the farm owned by Mr. Matthew O'Connor and the noted Devine's Corners. The road hitherto more or less narrow and winding, is to be straightened out and widened. An additional road gang has been entrusted with the commencement of the work. Such improvements as these on country roads prove very satisfying to the public.

CARS COLLIDED NEAR MIDNIGHT

Marmora Men Returning From Deloro Narrowly Escaped Death.

MONTH OF ROSES

MARMORA, Aug. 6. — What might have been a fatal accident occurred shortly after midnight on the Deloro road at the eastern extremity of Marmora village. Earl and Bruce McInroy, Owen Trumble and Charles Gardinier were returning to Marmora at the conclusion of the 4 to 12 shift at Deloro. Near the residence of Thomas Doyle, they collided with the car of G. E. Sanders, who was returning home to Deloro with two friends. The McInroy car was completely overturned and smashed as a result of the impact, the other car also being badly damaged in front. Earl McInroy and C. Gardinier received cuts and bruises, which fortunately were not of a serious nature. During the following day scores of people visited the wreckage to wonder at the miracle of there being no fatality.

Month of Roses.

Has June, the month of roses, allowed this honour to fall upon August this year? Judging by the beautiful blooms in local gardens, it would appear so. Mrs. David Knox has a bush which is a picture to behold, despite the many nosegays she has out of her generosity given to admirers of the old time floral favorite.

Personals.

Mr. R. A. Elliott, works superintendent of Deloro, is spending his vacation with his family at London, Ont.

JURY.

"No, I don't know what the Volstead Act is," admits a man accepted for jury service. Pressed, he says he had heard something about the country being dry.

Some think this is a joke on prohibition. It's more a joke on the jury system. However, a defendant who doesn't care to take a chance before that magnificent product of democracy—the average jury—can waive his right to trial by jury and let the judge take the jury's place.

CAN BE OF SERVICE.

Charles Matthews, the former Ontario Deputy Provincial Treasurer, has decided not to fight deportation from the United States, and will return to Canada to stand his trial in the charges brought against him, and it is hoped to reveal what he knows of the general administration of Ontario's financial affairs.

His friends will agree with this decision, feeling that his fight would have been a losing one in any case, and that he is in a position to be of service to the people of this Province in clearing up some of the transactions but dimly revealed during the inquiry of the Public Accounts Committee.

Mr. Matthews was in the Department of Finance before the advent of Peter Smith and during the regime of that Treasurer.

More than anybody else, he should be able to explain features of the previous administration that are at present puzzling, as well as to throw fresh light upon what transpired while Mr. Smith was in the saddle.

He is wise to come back and face the issue squarely.

Probably he is glad that the suspense is over, and that dodging and concealment are no longer necessary.

THE PAVING PROGRAMME.

The City Council has at last decided to enlarge its paving programme for the present summer, and the decision will be favourably received by those who realize how far behind the procession Peterborough has fallen in this matter of permanent roadways.

The section on Water street north included in the programme is in very bad shape, and it is a much cheaper matter in the long run to pave this thoroughfare than it would be to continue patching it up year after year with temporary repairs.

It carries a very heavy traffic from the townships of Douro and Smith, from Lakefield and the district north, as well as the bulk of the tourist traffic en route to the Kawartha lake district, and nothing less substantial than pavement would stand up very long.

Peterborough, as a matter of fact, has neglected street paving too long.

Instead of adding a quantity every year, comparatively little was done over a long period, with the result that it becomes necessary now to launch a definite programme each year to make up for the lost time.

The best is the cheapest ultimately, and the paving done this year represents the application of good business principles to the administration of the city's affairs.

SHORTER SPEECHES.

John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President of the United States, declares that he will not make any political speeches of over thirty minutes in length.

All other things being equal, that policy should elect Mr. Davis.

The public man on this Continent who will voluntarily restrict his utterances to thirty minutes deserves a niche in the hall of fame.

The tendency is all the other way.

Nearly every politician, whether on this side of the international line or the other, seems to say to himself when he sees his victims in row after row of seats before him, "Here is my opportunity."

And he goes on embracing his opportunity for a couple of hours.

The audience is overwhelmed with words until, when the torrent of oratory finally ends, the average listener goes away somewhat dazed and retaining little of the meat of the speech.

Its just as the Wall St. Journal puts it: "If all the political speeches of the country were laid out in a line they would reach from here to nowhere in particular, which is what they do anyway."

The man who can drive home his facts in a snappy twenty-minute speech carries a real punch—and so far as the Examiner is concerned, will get the newspaper decision every time.

OLD HOME WEEK.

With so many communities holding old home weeks and old boys' reunions there is some interesting discussion in some of the newspapers as to the success of such occasions.

From the viewpoint of the town or city itself there is little room for argument.

The old boys come back, there is a week's programme of sports and parades and music and fireworks, and a lot of money is put into circulation at a time of the year when trade is stagnant.

So far, so good.

But what about the "old boys and the old girls?"

Does the whole thing live up to their expectations.

You, for example, are coming back to Peterborough after an absence of fifteen or twenty years.

The thrill of anticipation increases as your train nears the destination where your childhood was staged.

You find many new buildings, the Public Library, the Armouries, new schools, new churches, though a lot of the old landmarks remain.

The big change is in the people.

Friends of long ago have scattered to the far points of the compass.

Many have passed on.

Of those who have remained in Peterborough only a few are "the same as ever." Others have changed so much that you hardly recognize them.

It is interesting to note how Jones has improved and Smith has deteriorated. The brightest boy in the old Central School when you toiled up the hill day after day may be holding down an unimportant job at low pay, and the supposed dunce of those days may startle you by the evidence of prosperity he presents.

You meet a childhood chum, and after a little coaching he remembers your identity, and you talk over the old days and exchange ideas and philosophies of life.

Gradually you realize that you are talking to a person who is almost completely different from the one you used to know.

The years have changed his body, his thinking, his character.

And you to him have undergone as great a change.

That is the big feature of old home weeks—and it is not always pleasant—for the visitor.

DEFEAT THEIR OBJECT.

The Germans are a wily race, but, like all slick people, frequently overreach themselves. Their dodge to capture vast sums of foreign money, through the sale of depreciated marks abroad, was largely successful, says the Hamilton Spectator. Speculators rose to the alluring bait in all quarters of the globe, and depreciation brought a rich harvest to the German financiers. But that is only one side of the story. People, especially those who have suffered losses through buying worthless German paper currency, are sellers; but that is a great mistake. Inflation brought tremendous hardship to the great bulk of the German people, while it increased the wealth of the few. There is another phase to be considered also. Tourists were able to go into the country and buy goods for absurdly low prices, in terms of their own money. The amount of such purchases was very large, though not, of course, large enough to counterbalance the huge sums sunk in the purchase of marks for speculative investment. It is a matter which rankled sorely in the minds of the German people, the fact that these foreigners were able to come in and make their dollars and pounds go so far, and a tax on tourists was introduced, but it has signally failed of its intention as a revenue-producer.

The tax came too late, for one thing. The gold prices in Germany are now as high as those outside, and the economic inducement to travelers is gone. Moreover, the tax has had the effect of withdrawing patronage from the German hotels. The Berlin hotelkeepers have bitterly protested against the imposition of the tax—only about one-third of the accommodation in the Berlin hotels has been taken up, they allege. To attract customers the hotel proprietors have been compelled to lower their rates, so that, even with the 25 per cent. tax added to the forgeiner's bill, prices remain cheaper than those for similar accommodations in Paris and London. Which means that the hotelkeepers themselves are, in reality, paying the tax.

A FAVOURABLE OUTLOOK.

With the approach of harvest, western crop reports are moderately more favourable, but recent obvious attempts to accelerate the price rise by exaggerated statements with regard to drouth and rust have made the business public extremely wary in accepting any statements on the subject. While the yield will be measurably below the bumper crop of 1923, taking the country as a whole, insufficient attention is usually given to the favourable outlook in the central and eastern Provinces which jointly produce a much larger volume of agricultural produce than the West. The operating departments of the railways are now busily engaged in completing plans for the expeditious movement of the crop, and it is estimated that from 25,000 to 50,000 men will be needed for harvest operations in the West. Wheat cutting will commence about the middle of August, but harvesting will not be general until the end of the month.

While the interest of the country is centred upon the radical upward swing of grain prices, a similarly important factor as far as business is concerned, has to do with what may be called secondary production. The grain price rise is bound to be reflected in the prices of the by-products of grain as well as the prices of livestock to which the grain is fed. Our export surplus of flour last year was worth $63,035,000, and the total output was worth close to $100,000,000. Taking into account the annual increase, the lower wheat yield and current price movements, the outlook is for a larger gross revenue from flour this year. The same may be said of other staple by-products of grain. The feed question is still more important. Higher grain prices have already reacted in increased cattle prices in the United States and this will inevitably be the case in Canada after a probable temporary tendency to sell off stock because of the higher feed prices. Last year's revenue from farm animals was $82,402,000. Taking into account the large increase in animal sales this year to date, there is strong probability that the total revenue from stock this year will be close to, or about $100,000,000. While what has been said applies particularly to oats and other coarse grains, it applies equally to hay. Last year's hay was worth $174,796,000 at an average price of $11.58 per ton. The price is now much higher, and increasing stock prices will bring it nearer $20, according to indications. The present yield compares favourably with that of last year, and, with higher prices, the gross revenue will be much larger. In this way the farmer's position is being measurably improved, and this is a significant factor in the general business outlook. Last year's gross agricultural revenue was $1,342,123,000 and the figure may easily be exceeded this year.

In addition to increased revenue, the above has a very far-reaching implication in the fact that Canada exports the bulk of her farm products. In the United States the products of the farm are largely consumed at home and the increase in the grain prices, rather than increasing the purchasing power of the country, merely shifts purchasing power from the consuming public to the farmer. In Canada the situation is quite different. The fact that most of our grain products are exported, or fed to livestock, which is later exported, means that the purchasing power of the country at large will benefit rather than any one group. It is not a case of transferring, but actually increasing the buying power. At the same time, the farmer is placed in a better working position.—Financial Post.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Oshawa old boys must miss the holes in the King street paving.

The drowning of two Chicago youngsters in the family bath-tub was a tragedy that could not be foreseen by the most ardent safety first advocate.

The destruction of another summer hotel by fire calls renewed attention to the inflammable nature of these structures and emphasizes the necessity of careful supervision.

The bush fire situation is again serious in British Columbia, and as usual, it is stated, the majority of these fires have been caused by carelessness. Ontario campers should see to it that the forests of this Province escape a similar fate.

OLD OMEMEE BOY HAS FOUND COAL

J. A. Mitchell, Now of Saskatchewan, Has Lignite Coal On His Farm.

OMEMEE, Aug. 6.—A week or so ago an item concerning Mr. J. A. Mitchell of Saskatchewan, an old Omemee boy, appeared in the Examiner. Since that time further investigation has been made and the following item will be read with interest:

Lignite coal of a good grade, contained in a seam 15 feet in thickness has been found on the farm of J. A. Mitchell a couple of miles from the town of Lawson on the Canadian National, Moose Jaw-Riverhurst branch W. H. Hastings, engineer of the department of labor and industries Regina, has made an examination of the deposit and states the fuel to be of comparable grade with lignite from the Alberta fields. If development carries out the early promise of the field the mill city will be benefitted greatly by the discovery.

Discovery of the coal seam was made during the process of sinking a well on the Mitchell farm. At the point where the deposit was tapped the over burden was only 14 feet. Mr. Hastings has recommended to the government that a limited amount of prospect drilling be conducted in the area for the purpose of determining the extent laterally and also if there are deeper and harder seams beneath the one discovered.

If the coal proves of as good quality and if the quantity of the deposit is as good as indicated a mining industry is predicted at Lawson which will render the big markets in the cities of Regina and Moose Jaw more or less independent of outside importation of fuel, to say nothing of satisfying a large demand from farming areas nearby. Riverhurst is 60 miles to the north and east of Moose Jaw and the coal on the Mitchell farm is the only discovery of the kind reported in the central section as well as being the only large deposit known in the settled farming areas of the province.

SQUADRON HELD OFF HALIFAX BY BARRIER OF FOG

Three Warships Detained Until Late In Afternoon When Bank Lifted.

PROGRAM UPSET.

Vice-Admiral Field Would Not Risk Seeking the Harbor.

HALIFAX, N.S., August 6 (Canadian Press).— Thousands of people lined the waterfront of Halifax and stood on all the points of vantage that overlooked the harbour for hours on Tuesday scanning the fog-rimmed horizon of Chebucto Head where the mightiest of all battleships H.M.S. Hood, the Repulse and the Adelaide lay at anchor. with Vice-Admiral Field waiting for the cloud bank to life before entering the harbour.

But when the three ships, the Hood leading, loomed up against the thinning fog bank and steamed up the harbour, late yesterday afternoon, the weary watchers seemed well satisfied ,and the city rang with the din of steam whistles, automobile horns, and human voices as the world-cruising squadron passed George's Island and dropped anchor in the inner harbour.

It was too late for the official ceremonial that had been planned, involving the visits of the Lieutenant-Governor, Military and Naval Commanders, but Vice-Admiral Sir F. L. Field, K.C.B., C.M.G, commanding this special service squadron, gave an interview to a party of newspapermen almost at once, on his flagship the Hood.

"We are very sorry to be late," said the Admiral, "but we are lucky to be here at all. I had decided to wait five minutes more for the fog to lift ,and that failing, I was going back out of sea to wait for better luck in the morning. It is all right to take chances in time of war necessity, but not in peace time. The Hood is of too great a length to navigate safely from buoy to buoy in a fog. We want to be able to see several miles. tA times in that fog-bank we could not see the Repulse just astern of us."

While the warships were in the fog-bank the city and harbour were bathed in sunshine. One mariner said it was probably the only fog-bank within miles of Halifax.

Admiral Field said he would go to Quebec after the 15th, and thence to Toronto, where he will open the Canadian National Exhibition, "If I last that long," he added, humorously, referring to the extraordinary round of festivities that are arranged for him at every port.

EAST PETERBORO LEAGUE FINALS

First Game of Play-off Is Called For Friday Night.

The first game in the East Peterborough League play-off for the league championship takes place on Friday night at Riverside Park between the Cognawagas and Bob Mackey's bread punchers.

The Cogs have been leading the league all summer, but the Breadmakers of late have been coming along by leaps and bounds, trimming everything in front of them.

Mackey's have a good chance for the championship if they play ball and get down to business, but the Cogs are a team that is composed of those never-give-in players, who would fight any team with high hopes of a win. If they are at their best they are unbeatable by any team in the league, but they will have to go the limit to outdo the Mackey's team.

The game is sure to be a fast exhibition and will start at six o'clock sharp.

Both teams are requested to be on the field not later than 5.45.

Bob Ross and Ed. LeBarr will do the umpiring.

OFF BEATEN PATHS.

Get off the much-travelled highways if you want to see some of the beauty spots of nature. Driving on dirt roads, especially on a dry day, is easier than any other kind of motoring. And there's not so much congestion.

The value of the Canadian National Exhibition plant is placed at 11,000,000, made up of $6,000,000 in buildings and $5,000,000 in grounds.

HOLMES MISSING FROM THE LINE-UP

Campbellford Forced to Play Without Redoubtable Second Baseman.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 6.—The Campbellford baseball nine play a league fixture with Colborne at the latter town this afternoon. but Charlie Holmes, second baseman, will not be with the home team, being detained at home by a broken bone in his foot. Holmes, who has come through many a strenuous lacrosse contest and who has been two seasons in the Northumberland baseball league, without sustaining any injury to speak of, has by the irony of fate been crippled by taking part in that supposedly inocuous pastime, a game of softball . It was at the Oddfellows' picnic at Percy Boom on Civic Holiday that he met with his disaster, while running bases.

Holmes is now in the same class as the man who came scatheless through the Great War, only to be run down by a milk waggon or a bicycle on his return to civilisation.

Known in Campbellford.

J. Gordon Moffatt, the Belleville banker who attempted suicide after his arrest in Midland on a charge of appropriating the funds of the Union Bank in his home city, is well known in Campbellford. He spent some time in this town about five years ago when he organised the local branch of the bank of which S. H. Neale was appointed manager.

SWEET GRADUATE PREDICTS CAREER

And She Becomes Queen of the Wire in Spark's Circus.

When the class prophecy was read before the graduates of the East Boston, Mass., high school, class of 1919, the following highly imaginative account was given of Miss Naida Miller, the prettiest of girl graduates

". . . . and as the circus band stops playing, all eyes are centered upon Mlle. Naida Miller, queen of the wire, gracefully performing at the dome of the mammoth canvas."

Of course, Naida blushed and everybody laughed, and the prophecy was thought to be highly absurd. Only it really wasn't. Because a few weeks ago some of Naida's classmates were amazed to discover the fair lady herself dancing upon a slender wire, high over their heads during a performance of the Sparks circus.

Naida, who is the youngest member of the circus family just naturally took to doing stunts at an early age and the class prophet had chanced to see her balancing upon a back yard clothes line while holding an umbrella above her head. To-day she is universally considered the daintest and most talented wire artist in the world of "white tops." But the best of it is that her success had not turned her head, and her friends found her to be the same school girl pal who blushed when the prophecy was read.

Famous as the "Circus of beautiful women," the Sparks Circus which will exhibit in Peterboro, Thursday August 14, prides itself on the fact that its lady performers are exceptionally talented as well as pretty. Comely clever young women appear in nearly all the notable acts and even the herds of elephants have been trained by girls and these girls present their huge pupils during the performance.

The Sparks Circus is noted for its hundreds of fine horses and large well-selected menagerie and these features, Manager Sparks announces will be evidence in the mile-long street parade, which will leave the grounds at 10.30 a.m. circus day. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m. the doors being open one hour earlier.

Seats can be secured Circus Day at Payne's Drug Store, 362 George street, same price as at the show grounds. Circus prices Children under 9 years of age 30c; Adults: 75c. Sparks Circus will exhibit at Exposition Grounds.

DROPE-COYLE FAMILY RE-UNION NEAR HASTINGS

Over One Hundred and Fifty Members Attended Big Affair.

MARKS SETTLEMENT.

One Hundred Years Ago William Drope Came From Ireland To Settle Here.

HASTINGS, Augut 6. — The Drope-Coyle family reunion, held on Trent Valley lodge grounds on Monday was a splendid success. The reunion was in a measure to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement in this country of the Drope family. In 1824 William Drope came from Coote Hill, county Cavan, Ireland, and settled in Baltimore, Ont.

On March 13, 1833, Jane Coyle came to this country a ' likewise with her relatives settled in Baltimore.

About this time Jane Coyle met William Drope and these two were married in Cobourg by the Rev. Neil Alexander Bethune, afterwards Bishop Bethune.

In 1848 they went to Alnwick Township, and settled in Roseneath, where the homestead still remains in the family, and where Mr. Thomas Drope resides.

The older members of the family living, are Mr. Thomas Drope, and W. J. Drope of Grimsby, the youngest son of the late William and Jane Drope.

There are four sisters still alive, namely Mrs. John Coyle, Roseneath, Mrs. John McConnell, Rochester, N. Y., Mrs. J. H. Williams, Toronto and Mrs. T. Cuffe, Peterboro.

Miss Margaret Brown was the oldest member of the Coyle family present at the reunion.

Al Fresco Dinner

Two large tables were placed on the lawn and at noon a sumptuous dinner was served. After dinner two games of ball were played, one game being soft ball for the ladies. The Coyles vs the Dropes. The other was for the men the sides chosen for this being those who married Drope ladies on one side and those who married Coyles on the other.

Before the guests finished their tea several toasts were given. Mr. W. J. Drope of Grimsby acted as toast master. Before proposing the first toast, the toast master spoke a few words in which he said that frineds had met at the present gathering who had not met for thirty or forty years.

The first toast was to the King, and "God Save the King", was sung by everyone.

Mrs. Williams proposed the toast to the forefathers and was responded to by the first bride who left the Alnwick Anglican Church, more than fifty-one years ago.
